A person who fails to comply with head (1) above is, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court that he did not know and could not with reasonable diligence ascertain who the driver of the vehicle was, liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>8</sup>. A person who fails to comply with head (2) above<sup>9</sup> is liable<sup>10</sup> on summary conviction to a fine<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 207 ante.

2 A person required to give information has no right to ask for information about the alleged offence before complying with the requirement: see Pulton v Leader [1949] 2 All ER 747, 113 JP 537; applied in Jacob v Garland [1974] RTR 40, 117 Sol Jo 915.

As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante.

9 An owner of a vehicle, at least if he has not previously objected on that ground, cannot complain on a case stated that he was charged in respect of the second requirement instead of the first: Pulton v Leader [1949] 2 All ER 747, 113 JP 537. The words 'any other person' mean any person other than the person keeping the vehicle, not any person other than the driver: Bingham v Bruce [1962] 1 All ER 136, [1962] 1 WLR 70. Those words include a doctor who may be required to give information about a patient which may lead to the identification of the driver: cf Hunter v Mann [1974] QB 767, [1974] 2 All ER 414.

10 It is a defence for a person charged to prove that there was a reasonable excuse for the act or omission in respect of which he is charged: Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 68(1), (2).

11 Ibid s 70(3); Transport Act 1985 s 127(5), (6). The fine must not exceed level 3 on the standard scale: Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 70(3) (as amended: see note 7 supra); Transport Act 1985 s 127(5), (6). Where a person keeping a vehicle is charged with failure to give information as to the identity of the driver, and disputes that the vehicle was driven at the time and place stated, the first question for the justices to decide is whether they are satisfied according to the ordinary standard of proof in a criminal case that the vehicle involved was the vehicle kept by that person; if they are not so satisfied the information should be dismissed; if they are so satisfied they must then go on to consider whether the person keeping the vehicle has shown on the limited burden of proof on him that he did not know and could not with reasonable diligence have ascertained who the driver was: Neal v Fior [1968] 3 All ER 865, [1968] 1 WLR 1875. As to the burden of proof in criminal cases see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) PARA 1368 et seq.

1310. Evidence by certificate.

In any proceedings for an offence under Part II of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>1</sup> or Part I or Part II of the Transport Act 1985<sup>2</sup>, a certificate in the prescribed<sup>3</sup> form, purporting to be signed by a constable<sup>4</sup> and certifying that the person specified in the certificate stated to the constable<sup>5</sup>:

- 1983 (1) that a particular motor vehicle<sup>6</sup> was being driven<sup>7</sup> or used by, or belonged to, that person on a particular occasion<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1984 (2) that a particular motor vehicle on a particular occasion was used by or belonged to a firm in which that person also stated that he was at the time of the statement a partner<sup>9</sup>; or
- 1985 (3) that a particular motor vehicle on a particular occasion was used by or belonged to a company of which that person also stated that he was at the time of the statement a director, officer or employee<sup>10</sup>, is admissible as evidence for the purpose of determining by whom the vehicle was being driven or used or to whom it belonged, as the case may be, on that occasion<sup>11</sup>.

The above provision<sup>12</sup> is not deemed to make a certificate admissible as evidence in proceedings for an offence<sup>13</sup>:

- 1986 (a) except in a case where and to the like extent to which oral evidence to the like effect would have been admissible in those proceedings<sup>14</sup>;
- 1987 (b) unless a copy of it has, not less than seven days before the hearing or trial, been served in the prescribed manner on the person charged with the offence<sup>15</sup>; or
- 1988 (c) if that person, not later than three days before the hearing or trial or within such further time as the court may in special circumstances allow, serves a notice in the prescribed form and manner on the prosecutor requiring attendance at the trial of the person who signed the certificate<sup>16</sup>.

Where on a summary trial of an information for an offence under Part II of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>1</sup> or Part I or Part II of the Transport Act 1985<sup>2</sup>:

- 1989 (1) it is proved to the satisfaction of the court, on oath or in a manner prescribed by rules<sup>3</sup>, that a requirement to give information as to the identity of the driver<sup>4</sup> of a particular vehicle on the particular occasion to which the information relates has been served on the accused by post<sup>5</sup>; and the court may accept that statement as evidence that the accused was the driver of that vehicle on that occasion<sup>7</sup>.

1312. Time within which summary proceedings for certain offences may be commenced.

Summary proceedings for an offence relating to forgery and misuse of documents<sup>1</sup> or an offence relating to false statements made to obtain a licence<sup>2</sup> may be brought within a period of six months from the date on which evidence sufficient in the opinion of the prosecutor to warrant the proceedings came to his knowledge<sup>3</sup>. However, no such proceedings may be brought more than three years after the commission of the offence<sup>4</sup>.

A certificate signed by or on behalf of the prosecutor and stating the date on which such evidence as stated above came to his knowledge is conclusive evidence of that fact, and a certificate stating that matter and purporting to be so signed is deemed to be so signed unless the contrary is proved<sup>5</sup>.

1313. Offences by companies.

Where an offence under Part II of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>1</sup> or Part I or Part II of the Transport Act 1985<sup>2</sup> committed by a company<sup>3</sup> is proved to have been committed with the consent<sup>4</sup> or connivance<sup>5</sup> of, or to be attributable to any neglect<sup>6</sup> on the part of, any director<sup>7</sup>, manager<sup>8</sup>, secretary or other similar officer of the company, or any person who was purporting to act<sup>9</sup> in any such capacity, he, as well as the company, is guilty of that offence and is liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly<sup>10</sup>.

Where the affairs of a company are managed by its members, the above provision applies in relation to the acts and defaults of a member in connection with his functions of management as if he were a director of the company<sup>11</sup>.

4 There is authority for saying that this presupposes knowledge: see Re Caughey, ex p Ford (1876) 1 Ch D 521 at 528, CA, per Jessel MR; Lamb v Wright & Co [1924] 1 KB 857 at 864 per McCardie J. It seems, however, that actual knowledge is not necessary: cf para 1161 note 20 ante.

5 Although there are many decisions on the meaning of 'connivance' in matrimonial law (see eg Godfrey v Godfrey [1965] AC 444, [1964] 3 All ER 154, HL) there is little authority as to its meaning in the context in which it appears in this provision: see Gregory v Walker (1912) 77 JP 55, 29 TLR 51; and Glanville Williams Criminal Law: The General Part (1953) PARA 222. It is thought that the word implies knowledge of, and acquiescence in, the offence committed. It seems that positive knowledge is not necessary and suspicion is enough although not mere negligence or inattention: Rogers v Rogers (1830) 3 Hag Ecc 57. See also note 6 infra.

6 'Neglect' implies failure to perform a duty of which the person knows or ought to know: see Re Hughes, Rea v Black [1943] Ch 296 at 298, [1943] 2 All ER 269 at 271 per Simmonds J. For circumstances in which an offence was held to be attributable to neglect on the part of a director see Crickitt v Kursaal Casino Ltd (No 2) [1968] 1 All ER 139 at 146-147, [1968] 1 WLR 53 at 67-68, HL, per Lord Pearson. For circumstances where the opposite was held see Huckerby v Elliott [1970] 1 All ER 189, (1969) 113 Sol Jo 1001.

7 For the meaning of 'director' see PARA 1147 note 11 ante.

8 The intended scope of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 74(1) (as amended) is to fix with criminal liability only those who are in a position of real authority and who are responsible for putting proper procedures in place, that is the decision-makers within the company who have both the power and responsibility to decide corporate policy and strategy; a person who is only responsible for the day to day running of a business is therefore not a 'manager' for the present purposes: R v Boal [1992] QB 591, [1992] 3 All ER 177, CA.

9 The reference to any person who was purporting to act in any such capacity is introduced in view of Dean v Hiesler [1942] 2 All ER 340, 106 JP 282, where a person who had not been duly appointed a director, although performing some of the duties of a director and who described himself as such was held not to be a director of the company.

1316. Small public service vehicles subject to regulation as private hire vehicles.

If a small bus<sup>1</sup> is being provided for hire with the services of a driver for the purpose of carrying passengers otherwise than at separate fares, it is not to be regarded as a public service vehicle<sup>2</sup> for the purpose of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>3</sup> or of any local Act applying in any area in England and Wales which regulates the use of private hire vehicles provided for hire with the services of a driver for the purpose of carrying passengers and excludes public service vehicles from the scope of that regulation<sup>4</sup>. If a small bus is being made available with a driver to the public for hire for the purpose of carrying passengers otherwise than at separate fares, it is not to be regarded as a public service vehicle for the purpose of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>5</sup>; but the provisions above<sup>6</sup> do not apply where the vehicle is being so provided or made available in the course of a business of carrying passengers by motor vehicles all but a small part of which involves the operation of large buses<sup>7</sup>.

Under the Health Act 2006, the appropriate national authority<sup>1</sup> may make regulations providing for vehicles<sup>2</sup> to be smoke-free<sup>3</sup>. The regulations may in particular make provision: (1) for the descriptions of vehicle which are to be smoke-free; (2) for the circumstances in which they are to be smoke-free; (3) for them to be smoke-free only in specified<sup>4</sup> areas, or except in specified areas; and (4) for exemptions<sup>5</sup>. Regulations have been made providing that, subject to the following provisions, an enclosed<sup>6</sup> vehicle and any enclosed part of a vehicle is to be smoke-free if it is used: (a) by members of the public or a section of the public (whether or not for reward or hire); or (b) in the course of paid or voluntary work<sup>7</sup> by more than one person (even if those persons use the vehicle at different times, or only intermittently)<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations made by the appropriate national authority may provide for a duty to be imposed on persons, or on persons of a description, specified in the regulations to make sure that no-smoking signs complying with the statutory requirements<sup>9</sup> are displayed in smoke-free<sup>10</sup> vehicles in accordance with those requirements<sup>11</sup>. A person who fails to comply with such duty commits an offence<sup>12</sup>. However, it is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to show: (a) that he did not know, and could not reasonably have been expected to know, that the vehicle was smoke-free; or (b) that he did not know, and could not reasonably have been expected to know, that no-smoking signs complying with the statutory requirements were not being displayed in accordance with those requirements; or (c) that on other grounds it was reasonable for him not to comply with the duty<sup>13</sup>.

A person who smokes in a smoke-free place<sup>14</sup> commits an offence<sup>15</sup>. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to show that he did not know, and could not reasonably have been expected to know, that it was a smoke-free place<sup>16</sup>.

Regulations made by the appropriate national authority may provide for a duty to be imposed on persons, or on persons of a description, specified in the regulations to cause a person smoking in a smoke-free<sup>17</sup> vehicle to stop smoking<sup>18</sup>. A person who fails to comply with such duty commits an offence<sup>19</sup>. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to show: (i) that he took reasonable steps to cause the person in question to stop smoking; or (ii) that he did not know, and could not reasonably have been expected to know, that the person in question was smoking; or (iii) that on other grounds it was reasonable for him not to comply with the duty<sup>20</sup>.

Provision is made as to the enforcement of the statutory provisions and regulations<sup>21</sup>.

1 In the Health Act 2006, 'the appropriate national authority' means: (1) in relation to England, the Secretary of State; and (2) in relation to Wales, the Welsh Ministers: s 82(1). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante. As to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

2 In ibid Pt 1 Ch 1 (ss 1-12), 'vehicle' means every type of vehicle, including train, vessel, aircraft and hovercraft: ss 5(5), 12(1).

3 See ibid s 5(1); and PROTECTION OF THE ENVIRONMENT AND PUBLIC HEALTH. In Pt 1 Ch 1: (1) 'smoking' refers to smoking tobacco or anything which contains tobacco, or smoking any other substance; and (2) smoking includes being in possession of lit tobacco or of anything lit which contains tobacco, or being in possession of any other lit substance in a form in which it could be smoked: s 1(2). In Pt 1 Ch 1, 'smoke' and other related expressions are to be read in accordance with s 1(2): s 1(3). As to regulations under the Health Act 2006 see s 79.

4 'Specified', in relation to regulations, means specified in the regulations: s 12(1).

5 Ibid s 5(2). The power to make regulations is not exercisable in relation to: (1) any ship or hovercraft in relation to which regulations could be made under the Merchant Shipping Act 1995 s 85 (safety and health on ships), including s 85 as applied by any Order in Council under the Hovercraft Act 1968 s 1(1)(h) (as amended); or (2) persons on any such ship or hovercraft: Health Act 2006 s 5(3). The Smoke-free (Exemptions and Vehicles) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/765 (which apply only in England: see reg 1(2)), have been made under the Health Act 2006 s 5.

6 A vehicle or part of a vehicle is enclosed for these purposes where it is enclosed wholly or partly by a roof and by any door or window that may be opened: Smoke-free (Exemptions and Vehicles) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/765, reg 11(2). 'Roof' in reg 11(2) includes any fixed or moveable structure or device which is capable of covering all or part of the vehicle, including any canvas, fabric or other covering: reg 11(3). However, in relation to a vehicle that is engaged in conveying persons, 'roof' does not include any fixed or moveable structure or device which is completely stowed away so that it does not cover all or any part of the vehicle: reg 11(4).

7 A vehicle is not used in the course of paid or voluntary work for the purposes of ibid reg 11(1)(b) where it is used primarily for the private purposes of a person who: (1) owns it; or (2) has a right to use it which is not restricted to a particular journey: reg 11(5).

8 Ibid reg 11(1). Regulation 11 applies to all vehicles other than: (1) aircraft; or (2) ships or hovercraft in respect of which regulations could be made under the Merchant Shipping Act 1995 s 85 (safety and health on ships), including s 85 as applied by any Order in Council under the Hovercraft Act 1968 s 1(1)(h) or to persons on any such ships or hovercraft: Smoke-free (Exemptions and Vehicles) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/765, reg 11(6).

9 Ie the Health Act 2006 s 6.

10 The references in ibid s 6, however expressed, to vehicles which are smoke-free, are to those vehicles so far as they are smoke-free under or by virtue of Pt 1 Ch 1: s 6(9).

11 Ibid s 6(1), (2). The signs must be displayed in accordance with any requirements contained in regulations made by the appropriate national authority: s 6(3). The signs must conform to any requirements specified in regulations made by the appropriate national authority (eg requirements as to content, size, design, colour, or wording): s 6(4). See the Smoke-free (Signs) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/923. Any person with management responsibilities for a smoke-free vehicle is under a duty corresponding to that in the Health Act 2006 s 6(1) to ensure that at least one no-smoking sign is displayed in a prominent position in each compartment of his vehicle: Smoke-free (Signs) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/923, reg 3(1). 'No-smoking sign' means a sign which displays the no-smoking symbol: reg 3(2). 'Compartment' includes each part of a vehicle which: (1) is constructed or adapted to accommodate persons; and (2) is, or may from time to time be, wholly or partly covered by a roof; and 'roof' includes any fixed or moveable structure or device which is capable of covering all or part of a compartment, including any canvas, fabric or other covering, but where a vehicle is engaged in conveying persons, it does not include any fixed or moveable structure or device which is completely stowed away so that it does not cover all or any part of a compartment: reg 3(2).

12 Health Act 2006 s 6(5). A person guilty of an offence under s 6(5) is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a level on the standard scale specified in regulations made by the Secretary of State: s 6(8). The level specified for the purposes of s 6(8) is level 3: see the Smoke-free (Penalties and Discounted Amounts) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/764, reg 2(1). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante.

13 Health Act 2006 s 6(6). If a person charged with an offence under s 6(5) relies on a defence in s 6(6), and evidence is adduced which is sufficient to raise an issue with respect to that defence, the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not: s 6(7).

14 For these purposes, 'smoke-free place' means a vehicle, so far as it is smoke-free by virtue of ibid s 5 (see the text and notes 1-5 supra): s 7(1).

15 Ibid s 7(2). A person guilty of an offence under s 7 is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a level on the standard scale specified in regulations made by the Secretary of State: s 7(6). The level specified for the purposes of s 7(6) is level 1: see the Smoke-free (Penalties and Discounted Amounts) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/764, reg 2(2). In respect of an offence alleged under the Health Act s 7(2), the amount of the penalty specified for the purposes of Sch 1 para 5 (fixed penalty) is £50 and the discounted amount specified for the purposes of Sch 1 para 8 is £30: Smoke-free (Penalties and Discounted Amounts) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/764, reg 7(5). As to fixed penalties under the Health Act 2006 see s 9; and PROTECTION OF THE ENVIRONMENT AND PUBLIC HEALTH.

16 Health Act 2006 s 7(4). If a person charged with an offence under s 7 relies on a defence in s 7(4), and evidence is adduced which is sufficient to raise an issue with respect to that defence, the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not: s 7(5).

17 The references in ibid s 8, however expressed, to vehicles which are smoke-free, are to those vehicles so far as they are smoke-free under or by virtue of Pt 1 Ch 1: s 8(8).

18 Ibid s 8(1), (3). See the Smoke-free (Vehicle Operators and Penalty Notices) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/760.

19 Health Act 2006 s 8(4). A person guilty of an offence under s 8 is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a level on the standard scale specified in regulations made by the Secretary of State: s 8(7). The level specified for the purposes of s 8(7) is level 4: see the Smoke-free (Penalties and Discounted Amounts) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/764, reg 2(3).

20 Health Act 2006 s 8(5). If a person charged with an offence under s 8 relies on a defence in s 8(5), and evidence is adduced which is sufficient to raise an issue with respect to that defence, the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not: s 8(6).

1320. Transitional provision.

The substitution of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 for the provisions repealed and revoked by it does not affect the continuity of the law<sup>1</sup>. In so far as any thing done (including any subordinate legislation made or other instrument issued) under a provision repealed or revoked by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 could have been done under the corresponding provision of that Act, it has effect as if done under that corresponding provision<sup>2</sup>. Any reference (express or implied) in the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 or any other enactment, instrument or document to any provision of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, or things done or falling to be done under or for the purposes of any provision of that Act, is, so far as the nature of the reference permits, to be construed as including, in relation to the times, circumstances or purposes in relation to which the corresponding provision repealed or revoked by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 had effect, a reference to that corresponding provision or (as the case may be) to things done or falling to be done under or for the purposes of that corresponding provision<sup>3</sup>. Any reference (express or implied) in any enactment, instrument or document to a provision repealed or revoked by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, or things done or falling to be done under or for the purposes of such a provision, is, so far as the nature of the reference permits, to be construed as including, in relation to the times, circumstances or purposes in relation to which the corresponding provision of that Act has effect, a reference to that corresponding provision or (as the case may be) to things done or falling to be done under or for the purposes of that corresponding provision<sup>4</sup>.

1 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 59(1), Sch 6 para 1. See note 4 infra.

2 Ibid Sch 6 para 2. See note 4 infra.

3 Ibid Sch 6 para 3. See note 4 infra.

4 Ibid Sch 6 para 4. Schedule 6 paras 1-4 have effect, in relation to the substitution of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 for the provisions repealed and revoked by it, in place of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2) (see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) PARA 1303) (but without prejudice to any other provision of the Interpretation Act 1978): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 6 para 5. Without prejudice to the generality of Sch 6 paras 2-4, an existing licence continues in force as if it had been issued under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995; and in that Act or any other enactment, instrument or document, any reference to, or including a reference to, an operator's licence issued under the Act is, so far as the nature of the reference permits, to be construed as including a reference to an existing licence: s 59(2). For these purposes, 'existing licence' means any operator's licence within the meaning of the Transport Act 1968 Pt V (ss 59-94) (repealed) which was in force immediately before the commencement of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995: s 59(3). For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 post. As to the commencement of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 see PARA 1319 note 1 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(1) INTRODUCTION/1321. Regulations and orders.

1321. Regulations and orders.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may make regulations<sup>2</sup> for any purpose for which regulations may be made under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, and for prescribing<sup>3</sup> anything which may be prescribed under the Act, and generally for carrying the Act into effect<sup>4</sup>. In particular, the Secretary of State may make regulations with respect to the following matters:

- 1991 (1) the procedure on applications for, and the determination of questions in connection with, the issuing and variation of operators' licences<sup>5</sup> and the procedure under, and the determination of questions for specified purposes<sup>6</sup>;
- 1992 (2) the issue of operators' licences and the issue on payment of the prescribed fee of copies of such licences in the case of licences lost or defaced<sup>7</sup>;

- 1993 (3) the forms which operators' licences are to take in order to show a distinction:
- 117
201. (a) between a standard licence<sup>8</sup> and a restricted licence<sup>9</sup>; and
202. (b) between a licence covering both international and national transport operations<sup>10</sup> and a licence covering national transport operations only<sup>11</sup>;
- 118
- 1994 (4) the means by which vehicles may be identified, whether by plates, marks or otherwise, as being used or authorised to be used under an operator's licence<sup>12</sup>;
- 1995 (5) the custody, production, return and cancellation of operators' licences and of documents, plates and any other means of identification prescribed under head (4) above<sup>13</sup>;
- 1996 (6) the payment of a prescribed fee in respect of any document, plate or other means of identification so prescribed that has been lost, defaced or broken<sup>14</sup>;
- 1997 (7) the notification to a traffic commissioner<sup>15</sup> of vehicles which have ceased to be used under an operator's licence<sup>16</sup>;
- 1998 (8) the repayment (or partial repayment) in the prescribed circumstances of fees paid under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>17</sup>;
- 1999 (9) the circumstances in which goods<sup>18</sup> are to be treated for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as carried for hire or reward and the circumstances in which goods are to be treated for those purposes as carried by any person for or in connection with a trade or business carried on by him<sup>19</sup>.

The power under head (1) above includes power to require a person applying for an operator's licence to state in his application whether his application is for a standard licence or a restricted licence<sup>20</sup>, and, if his application is for a standard licence, whether his application is for a licence to cover both international and national transport operations or for one to cover national transport operations only<sup>21</sup>.

The power under head (4) above includes power to require that any means of identification prescribed for a vehicle must be carried notwithstanding that for the time being the vehicle is not being used for a purpose for which an operator's licence is required<sup>22</sup>. The power under head (4) above also includes power to make provision with respect to the means by which:

- 2000 (i) any vehicle may be identified as being used under a standard licence or, as the case may be, a restricted licence<sup>23</sup>; and
- 2001 (ii) any vehicle which is being used under a standard licence may be identified as being used under a licence that permits it to be used for both international and national transport operations<sup>24</sup>, or for national transport operations only<sup>25</sup>.

The Secretary of State may make regulations for providing that any provision of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, in relation to vehicles brought temporarily into Great Britain, has effect subject to such modifications<sup>26</sup> as may be prescribed<sup>27</sup>. Regulations under the Act may make different provision for different cases or classes of case and different circumstances<sup>28</sup> and regulations made by virtue of head (4) above may make different provision for different traffic areas<sup>29</sup>. Regulations may make transitional provisions<sup>30</sup>. A definition or description of a class of vehicles for the purposes of any regulation under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 may be framed by reference to any characteristic of the vehicles or to any other circumstances whatever<sup>31</sup>.

Any person who contravenes<sup>32</sup> a provision of regulations<sup>33</sup>, a contravention of which is declared by the regulations to be an offence, is guilty of an offence<sup>34</sup>. Any regulations made by the Secretary of State under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>35</sup> are subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament<sup>36</sup>. Before making any regulations under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 the Secretary of State must consult with such representative organisations as he thinks fit<sup>37</sup>. Any power to make orders or regulations conferred on the Secretary of State by any provision of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 is exercisable by statutory instrument<sup>38</sup>.

1325. Operators' licences not to be transferable or assignable.

Subject to regulations<sup>1</sup>, an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> is neither transferable nor assignable<sup>3</sup>. Regulations may make provision enabling a traffic commissioner<sup>4</sup>, where the holder of an operator's licence issued by him has died or has become a person who lacks capacity within the meaning of the Mental Capacity Act 2005<sup>5</sup> to use a vehicle under the licence, to direct that the licence be treated:

- 2002 (1) as not having terminated at the time when the licence holder died or became a person who lacked capacity in that respect but as having been suspended (that is, as having remained in force but subject to the limitation that no vehicles were authorised to be used<sup>6</sup> under it) from that time until the time when the direction comes into force<sup>7</sup>; and
- 2003 (2) as having effect from the time when the direction comes into force for a specified<sup>8</sup> period and as being held during that period (for such purposes and to such extent as may be specified) not by the person to whom it was issued but by such other person carrying on that person's business, or part of that person's business, as may be specified<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations may make provision enabling a traffic commissioner in prescribed<sup>10</sup> circumstances to direct that any operator's licence issued by him is to be treated (for such purposes, for such period and to such extent as may be specified) as held not by the person to whom it was issued but by such other person carrying on that person's business, or part of that person's business, as may be specified<sup>11</sup>.

Regulations may make provision enabling a traffic commissioner to direct, for the purpose of giving effect to or supplementing a direction given by him<sup>12</sup>, that the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 is to apply with specified modifications<sup>13</sup> in relation to the person who is to be treated under the direction as the holder of an operator's licence, but nothing in any such regulations permits the commissioner to modify the operation of any of the excepted provisions<sup>14</sup>.

5     As to persons who lack capacity see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARA 641 et seq. In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 48(2), references to a person becoming a person lacking capacity include references to a curator bonis being appointed in respect of him in Scotland on the ground that he is incapable, by reason of mental disorder, of adequately managing and administering his property and affairs: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 48(5) (amended by the Mental Capacity Act 2005 s 67(1), Sch 6 para 40). By virtue of the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000 s 88(2), Sch 5 para 1, the reference to a curator bonis is to be construed as a reference to a guardian with similar powers appointed under that Act.

8     For these purposes, 'specified', in relation to a direction, means specified in the regulations under which the direction was given (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 48(6)(a)), or in the direction in accordance with those regulations (s 48(6)(b)).

9     Ibid s 48(2)(b). As to the continuance of licence on death, bankruptcy etc see the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/2869, reg 31 (amended by SI 2003/2096).

The traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> for any traffic area constituted for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>2</sup> is to exercise the functions<sup>3</sup> conferred on him by the Goods

In considering any financial question which appears to him to arise in relation to the exercise of his functions<sup>1</sup> under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, the traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> may be assisted by an assessor drawn from a panel of persons appointed for the purpose by the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup>. 1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(1) INTRODUCTION/1328. Dissolution of the National Freight Corporation and establishment of the National Freight Co Ltd.

1328. Dissolution of the National Freight Corporation and establishment of the National Freight Co Ltd.

With a view to privatisation, the National Freight Corporation<sup>1</sup> was dissolved in 1980 and its property, rights, liabilities and obligations were transferred to the National Freight Co Ltd<sup>2</sup>. Road haulage of freight is now a private sector industry.

1 The National Freight Corporation was established by the Transport Act 1968 s 1, Sch 1 (repealed), to exercise its powers, in conjunction with the British Railways Board, so as to provide properly integrated services for the carriage of goods by road and rail: see s 1(1) (repealed). It was empowered to carry goods by road, to arrange for the carriage of goods by rail, to act as agents for the railways board, to consign and store goods, to provide goods depots, to operate harbours, to hire vehicles and vessels, and, with ministerial consent, to provide transport services by sea: see s 2 (repealed). Certain securities, rights and liabilities of the former Transport Holding Company were transferred to the corporation by s 4, Sch 3 (repealed)

2 See the Transport Act 1980 ss 45, 51(1), Sch 6 (amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 2004; and prospectively amended by the Transport Act 2000 s 274, Sch 31 Pt IV); and the National Freight Corporation (Transfer of Undertaking) Order 1980, SI 1980/1380. See also the Transport Act 1980 s 48 (repealed). There was an initial government holding in the National Freight Co Ltd: see s 46 (amended by the Finance Act 1988 s 148, Sch 14 Pt XI; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 2004). Transitional provision was made with respect to reserves of the National Freight Corporation: see the Transport Act 1980 s 47 (repealed). Particular provision was made for the transfer to the National Freight Co Ltd of certain obligations of the National Freight Corporation relating to pensions and travel concessions: see the Transport Act 1980 ss 49, 50.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(i) Licensing of Operators/1329. Obligation to hold operator's licence.

(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING

(i) Licensing of Operators

1329. Obligation to hold operator's licence.

- 2004 (1) the use of a small goods vehicle<sup>10</sup>;
- 2005 (2) the use of a goods vehicle for international carriage by a haulier established<sup>11</sup> in a member state other than the United Kingdom<sup>12</sup> and not established in the United Kingdom<sup>13</sup>;
- 2006 (3) the use of a goods vehicle for international carriage by a haulier established in Northern Ireland and not established in Great Britain<sup>14</sup>; or
- 2007 (4) the use of a vehicle of any class specified in regulations<sup>15</sup>.

1 le the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2(2) (see the text and notes 10-15 infra), s 4 (see PARA 1331 post): see s 2(1).

2 For the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, the driver of a vehicle, if it belongs to him or is in his possession under an agreement for hire, hire-purchase or loan, and in any other case the person whose servant or agent the driver is, is deemed to be the person using the vehicle; and references to using a vehicle are to be construed accordingly: s 58(2). See also Sykes v Millington [1953] 1 QB 770, [1953] 1 All ER 1098, DC; Tribe v Burton (1956) 31 Traf Cas 1; Ready Mixed Concrete (East Midlands) Ltd v Yorkshire Traffic Area Licensing Authority [1970] 2 QB 397, [1970] 1 All ER 890.

The Divisional Court of the High Court has expressed the view that where the driver of an unlicensed vehicle is an employee not responsible for the licensing of the vehicle, it is not the driver but the owner of the vehicle who should be prosecuted: Carpenter v Campbell [1953] 1 All ER 280. The Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(2) was applied in Interlink Express Parcels Ltd v Night Trunkers Ltd [2001] EWCA Civ 360, [2001] RTR 338 (where under an agreement with the claimant the defendant supplied drivers to drive the claimant's vehicles but as the defendant allocated the drivers to particular routes and remained responsible for their wages, holiday entitlement and discipline, correctly applying the test of control to the facts of the case, the drivers were temporary deemed employees of the claimant, so that the defendant did not need to hold the relevant operator's licence). For the meanings of 'driver' and 'drive' see PARA 207 ante. For the meaning of 'motor vehicle' see PARA 210 ante.

3 'Goods vehicle' means a motor vehicle constructed or adapted for use for the carriage of goods, or a trailer so constructed or adapted, but does not include a tramcar or trolley vehicle within the meaning of the Road Traffic Act 1988 (see PARA 219 ante): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1). For the meaning of 'trailer' see PARA 210 ante. As to the meaning of 'constructed or adapted' see PARA 1174 text and note 4 ante.

The question whether an adaptation of a vehicle has rendered it a goods vehicle is answered by assuming that the vehicle was originally constructed in the form to which it has been adapted, and then considering, objectively, if such vehicles are usually used to carry goods or passengers and goods: Flower Freight v Hammond [1963] 1 QB 275, [1962] 3 All ER 950, DC; Vincent v Whitehead [1966] 1 All ER 917, [1966] 1 WLR 975, DC. A goods vehicle may include a vehicle used to empty and clean septic tanks: Sweetway Sanitary Cleaners Ltd v Bradley [1962] 2 QB 108, [1961] 2 All ER 821, DC.

'Carriage of goods' includes haulage of goods: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1). 'Goods' includes goods or burden of any description: s 58(1). 'Goods' have been held to include tools connected with trade, such as window cleaners ladders and buckets (Clarke v Cherry [1953] 1 All ER 267, [1953] 1 WLR 268, DC); effluent from septic tanks (Sweetway Sanitary Cleaners Ltd v Bradley supra); building site rubbish (Spittle v Thames Grit and Aggregates Ltd [1937] 4 All ER 101, 107 LJB 200, DC; Hammond v Hall and Ham River Ltd [1965] AC 1049, [1965] 2 All ER 811, HL); and telegraph poles (North West Traffic Area Licensing Authority v Post Office [1982] RTR 304, DC). In Booth v DPP [1993] RTR 379, DC, a trailer was held to be 'goods' because the defendant's business was that of repairing and testing trailers.

4 For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante.

5 A vehicle is being used for the carriage of goods for hire or reward where the carriage is for a consideration, whether direct or indirect, which benefits the owner or user of the vehicle: Wurzel v Houghton Main Home Delivery Service Ltd [1937] 1 KB 380, [1936] 3 All ER 311, DC; Siddle C Cook Ltd v Service Engines (Newcastle) Ltd (1962) 112 Ljo 306, Transport Tribunal; Hammond v Hall and Ham River Ltd [1965] AC 1049, [1965] 2 All ER 811, HL. In the context of passenger insurance under the Road Traffic Act 1960 s 203(4) (repealed), 'hire or reward' was held to be disjunctive: Albert v Motor Insurers Bureau [1972] AC 301 at 319, [1971] 2 All ER 1345 at 1254, HL, per Lord Donovan. As to the carriage of goods by mutual benefit societies for their members see Wurzel v Houghton Main Home Delivery Service Ltd supra. As to the carriage of effluent by a vehicle used to empty and clean septic tanks for a standard charge see Sweetway Sanitary Cleaners Ltd v Bradley [1962] 2 QB 108, [1961] 2 All ER 821, DC. Quaere whether a person can carry his own goods 'for hire or reward' within the meaning of this provision: see Sweetway Sanitary Cleaners supra. Regulations may prescribe the circumstances in which goods are to be treated for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as carried for hire or reward (see s 57(2)(i); and PARA 1321 ante), but at the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made.

6 A vehicle is being used for or in connection with the user's trade or business when it is carrying any goods, tools or equipment for that purpose: Clarke v Cherry [1953] 1 All ER 267, [1953] 1 WLR 268, DC; Hammond v Hall and Ham River Ltd [1965] AC 1049, [1965] 2 All ER 811, HL. As to the meaning of 'trade or business' see Stirk v McKenna [1984] RTR 330, DC. The words 'carry on business' denote something of a permanent character, not merely an isolated transaction and a business is carried on only where there is some degree of management or control: see Brown v London and North-Western Rly Co (1863) 32 LJB 318; Graham v Lewis (1888) 22 QBD 1, CA; Cain v Butler [1916] 1 KB 759 at 762, DC, per Lush J; but contrast Cornelius v Phillips [1918] AC 199, HL. See also Kirkwood v Gadd [1910] AC 422 at 423, HL, per Lord Loreburn LC; Newman v Oughton [1911] 1 KB 792; Transport and General Credit Corp Ltd v Morgan [1939] Ch 531, [1939] 2 All ER 17;

Re Brauch (a debtor), ex p Britannic Securities and Investments Ltd [1978] Ch 316, [1978] 1 All ER 1004, CA; Re Sarflax Ltd [1979] Ch 592, [1979] 1 All ER 529. Although there is some authority for saying that the expressions 'trade' and 'business' are synonymous (see, in particular, Grainger & Son v Gough [1896] AC 325 at 343, HL, per Lord Morris), the balance of authority is to the effect that 'business' is a wider term than 'trade' (see, in particular, Re A Debtor (No 3 of 1926) [1927] 1 Ch 97 at 103, CA, per Lord Hanworth MR; Re A Debtor (No 490 of 1935) [1936] Ch 237 at 239, CA, per Lord Wright MR). In fact it has been said that 'the word 'business' means almost anything which is an occupation, as distinguished from a pleasure - anything which is an occupation or duty which requires attention is a business' (Rolls v Miller (1884) 27 ChD 71 at 88, CA, per Lindley LJ) and it has also been said that neither the making of a profit nor any commercial activity is essential (Rael-Brook Ltd v Minister of Housing and Local Government [1967] 2 QB 65, [1967] 1 All ER 262, DC). Yet the term 'business' has perhaps to be confined to a regularly conducted commercial enterprise: see IRC v Marine Steam Turbine Co Ltd [1920] 1 KB 193 at 202-204; Re A Debtor (No 3 of 1926) supra at 106 and 341 per Scrutton LJ; Lord Advocate v Glasgow Corp 1958 SLT 2 at 8, 1958 SC 12; Abernethie v AM & J Kleiman Ltd [1970] 1 QB 10, [1969] 2 All ER 790, CA; Customs and Excise Comrs v Royal Exchange Theatre Trust [1979] 3 All ER 797; Customs and Excise Comrs v Lord Fisher [1981] 2 All ER 147, [1981] STC 238. On the other hand, the term 'business' is clearly wide enough to include a profession: see Re Williams' Will Trusts, Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China v Williams [1953] Ch 138, [1953] 1 All ER 536; R v Breeze [1973] 2 All ER 1141, [1973] 1 WLR 994, CA; but see Stuchbery v General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance Corp Ltd [1949] 2 KB 256, [1949] 1 All ER 1026, CA. For the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, the performance by a local or public authority of its functions constitutes the carrying on of a business: see s 2(4). For the meaning of 'functions' see PARA 1326 note 3 ante.

7 Ibid s 2(1). As to the legality of a contract performed in contravention of this provision see Archbalds (Freightage) Ltd v S Spanglett Ltd (Randall, third party) [1961] 1 QB 374, [1961] 1 All ER 417, CA.

8 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2(1).

9 Ie ibid s 2(1): see the text and notes 1-8 supra.

10 Ibid s 2(2)(a). For the purposes of s 2 a small goods vehicle is a goods vehicle within the meaning given in s 2, Sch 1: s 2(2)(a). For the purposes of s 2, a small goods vehicle is a goods vehicle falling within any of Sch 1 paras 2-4: Sch 1 para 1.

A goods vehicle falls within Sch 1 para 2 if it does not form part of a vehicle combination and: (1) it has a relevant plated weight not exceeding 3.5 tonnes (Sch 1 para 2(a)); or (2) if it does not have a relevant plated weight, it has an unladen weight not exceeding 1525 kg (Sch 1 para 2(b)). 'Vehicle combination' means a combination of goods vehicles made up of one or more motor vehicles and one or more trailers all of which are linked together when travelling: s 58(1). In any provision of Sch 1 paras 2-4, 'relevant plated weight' means a plated weight of the description specified in relation to that provision by regulations: Sch 1 para 5. 'Plated weight', in relation to a vehicle, means a weight required to be marked on it by means of a plate in pursuance of regulations made by virtue of the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 41 (as amended) (see PARA 260 ante) or required to be so marked by s 57 (as amended) (see PARA 705 ante) or s 58 (see PARA 706 ante): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1). For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 1321 note 2 ante. As to the relevant plated weight specified in relation to Sch 1 by regulations see the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Regulations 1995, SI 1995 2869, reg 33(2). As to regulations and orders see PARA 1321 ante.

A goods vehicle falls within the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 1 para 3 if it forms part of a vehicle combination, other than an articulated combination, and the combination is such that:

- 1293 (a) in a case where all the vehicles comprised in it, or all of those vehicles except any small trailer, have relevant plated weights, the aggregate of the relevant plated weights of those vehicles, exclusive of any such trailer, does not exceed 3.5 tonnes (Sch 1 para 3(1)(a)); or
- 1294 (b) in any other case, the aggregate of the unladen weights of the vehicles comprised in the combination, exclusive of any small trailer, does not exceed 1525 kg (Sch 1 para 3(1)(b)).

'Articulated combination' means a combination made up of a motor vehicle which is so constructed that a trailer may by partial superimposition be attached to the vehicle in such a manner as to cause a substantial part of the weight of the trailer to be borne by the vehicle, and a trailer attached to it as so described: s 58(1). In Sch 1 para 3, 'small trailer' means a trailer having an unladen weight not exceeding 1020 kg: Sch 1 para 3(2).

A goods vehicle falls within Sch 1 para 4 if it forms part of an articulated combination which is such that:

- 1295 (i) in a case where the trailer comprised in the combination has a relevant plated weight, the aggregate of the unladen weight of the motor vehicle comprised in the combination, and the relevant plated weight of that trailer, does not exceed 3.5 tonnes (Sch 1 para 4(a)); or
- 1296 (ii) in any other case, the aggregate of the unladen weights of the motor vehicle and the trailer comprised in the combination does not exceed 1525 kg (Sch 1 para 4(b)).

11 In ibid s 2(2)(b), (c), 'established', 'haulier' and 'international carriage' have the same meanings as in EEC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) concerning access to the market in the carriage of goods by road within the Community to or from the territory of a member state or passing across the territory of one or more member states: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2(3). As to the meaning of 'member state' see PARA 1149 note 18 ante.

12 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 224 note 5 ante.

13 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2(2)(b).

15 Ibid s 2(2)(d). As to the classes of exempt goods vehicles see the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/2869, reg 33(1), Sch 3 Pt I.

16 'Contravention', in relation to any condition or provision, includes a failure to comply with the condition or provision; and 'contravenes' is to be construed accordingly: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1).

17 Ie ibid s 2 (as amended): see s 2(5).

18 Ibid s 2(5). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale: s 2(5) (amended by the Transport Act 2000 s 261(1)). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. It is an essential ingredient of an offence under this provision that the vehicle is carrying goods at the relevant time: Robertson v Crew [1977] RTR 141, DC (a case under similar legislation (now repealed)). The offence is regarded as one of absolute or strict liability, accordingly no mens rea is required to be proved and mistake is no defence: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARAS 8, 15, 18.

Provision is made with respect to the detention, removal and disposal of goods vehicles in respect of which it appears that the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2 (as amended) is contravened: see s 2A, Sch 1A (added by the Transport Act 2000 s 262, Sch 30); and the Goods Vehicles (Enforcement Powers) Regulations 2001, SI 2001/3981.

1330. 'Standard' and 'restricted' licences.

An operator's licence<sup>1</sup> may be either a standard licence<sup>2</sup> or a restricted licence<sup>3</sup>. A company may use a goods vehicle<sup>4</sup> on a road for the carriage of goods for hire or reward under a restricted licence instead of a standard licence if (but only if) the goods concerned are the property of a company which is a subsidiary<sup>5</sup> of the first company<sup>6</sup>, a holding company<sup>7</sup> for the first company<sup>8</sup>, or a subsidiary of a company which is a holding company both for that subsidiary and for the first company<sup>9</sup>. A standard licence may authorise a goods vehicle to be used for the carriage of goods<sup>10</sup> on both national and international transport operations<sup>11</sup>, or on national transport operations only<sup>12</sup>.

Subject to specified exceptions<sup>13</sup>, a person who uses a goods vehicle under a restricted licence for carrying goods for hire or reward is guilty of an offence<sup>14</sup>. A person who uses a goods vehicle for carrying goods for hire or reward on international transport operations under a standard licence which covers the carriage of goods on national transport operations only is guilty of an offence<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

2 A 'standard licence' is an operator's licence under which a goods vehicle may be used on a road for the carriage of goods for hire or reward (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 3(2)(a)), or for or in connection with any trade or business carried on by the holder of the licence (s 3(2)(b)). As to the meaning of 'trade or business' see PARA 1329 note 6 ante.

3 Ibid s 3(1). A 'restricted licence' is an operator's licence under which a goods vehicle may be used on a road for the carriage of goods for or in connection with any trade or business carried on by the holder of the licence, other than that of carrying goods for hire or reward: s 3(3).

4 Ie notwithstanding ibid s 3(2), (3): see s 3(4).

5 For the meaning of 'subsidiary' see the Companies Act 1985 s 736 (as substituted); and COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 25 (definition applied by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1)). For the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as it applies in relation to licences granted before 11 November 1990 (ie the date on which the Companies 1989 s 144(1) came into force), the expressions 'holding company' and 'subsidiary' have the meanings given by the Companies Act 1985 s 736 (as originally enacted): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 59, Sch 6 para 7.

6 Ibid s 3(4)(a).

7 For the meaning of 'holding company' see the Companies Act 1985 s 736 (as substituted); and COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 25 (definition applied by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1)). See also note 5 supra.

11 Ibid s 3(5)(a). The Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1) provides that 'international transport operations' and 'national transport operations' have the same meanings as in EEC Council Directive 74/561 (OJ L308, 19.11.74, p 18), but this Directive has been repealed: see now EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.05.96, p 1) (as amended).

A traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> may, for the purpose of enabling an emergency to be dealt with, or enabling some other special need to be met, by notice in writing<sup>2</sup> grant to a person<sup>3</sup> a temporary exemption from any requirement to hold a standard licence<sup>4</sup> which would otherwise be imposed on him<sup>5</sup> in respect of any vehicle specified in the notice or any vehicle of a class so specified<sup>6</sup> if that person is engaged exclusively in national transport operations<sup>7</sup> which have only a minor impact on the transport market because of the nature of the goods<sup>8</sup> carried or the short distances over which goods are carried<sup>9</sup>. A temporary exemption granted<sup>10</sup> permits the person to whom it is granted to use the specified vehicle or (as the case may be) any vehicle of the specified class for the carriage of goods<sup>11</sup> for hire or reward for the purposes of certain transport operations<sup>12</sup>.

1331 Temporary exemptions from requirements to hold a licence

NOTE 6--Directive 96/26 replaced with effect from 4 December 2011: European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1071/2009 (OJ L300, 14.11.2009, p 51).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/ (ii) Vehicles Authorised to be used under a Licence/1332. Vehicles authorised to be used under operator's licence.

(ii) Vehicles Authorised to be used under a Licence

1332. Vehicles authorised to be used under operator's licence.

Subject to certain provisions<sup>1</sup>, the vehicles authorised to be used<sup>2</sup> under an operator's licence<sup>3</sup> are any motor vehicle<sup>4</sup> in the lawful possession of the licence holder (whether that motor vehicle is specified in the licence or not)<sup>5</sup> and any trailer<sup>6</sup> in the lawful possession of the licence holder<sup>7</sup>.

An operator's licence may provide:

2009 (2) that no trailers are authorised to be used under the licence<sup>10</sup>; or 2010 (3) that no motor vehicle that is not specified in the licence is authorised to be used under it<sup>11</sup>.

An operator's licence must not authorise the use of any vehicle unless the place which is for the time being its operating centre<sup>12</sup> is in the area<sup>13</sup> of the traffic commissioner by whom the licence was issued<sup>14</sup>, or is outside that area but has not been the operating centre of that vehicle for a period of more than three months<sup>15</sup>. A motor vehicle specified in an operator's licence cannot, while it remains so specified, be capable of being effectively specified in any other operator's licence<sup>16</sup>. Where it comes to the knowledge of the traffic commissioner by whom an operator's licence ('the first licence') was issued that a vehicle specified in that licence has ceased to be used under the licence (otherwise than because of a fluctuation in business or because it is undergoing repair or maintenance)<sup>17</sup>, or is specified in another operator's licence<sup>18</sup>, he may vary the first licence by directing that the vehicle be removed from it<sup>19</sup>.

1 le subject to the provisions of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995.

2 As to the meaning of 'using a vehicle' see PARA 1329 note 2 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'motor vehicle' see PARA 210 ante.

5 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 5(1)(a). See note 7 infra.

6 For the meaning of 'trailer' see PARA 210 ante.

7 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 5(1)(b).

A motor vehicle which is not specified in an operator's licence is not authorised to be used under that licence by virtue of s 5(1) after the period of one month beginning with: (1) the day on which the vehicle was first in the lawful possession of the licence holder (s 5(6)(a)); or (2) if later, the day on which the licence came into force (s 5(6)(b)), unless, during that period, the licence holder has given to the traffic commissioner by whom the licence was issued a notice in such form and containing such information about the vehicle as the commissioner may require, and has paid to him a prescribed fee (s 5(6)). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations: s 58(1). At the date at which this volume states the law no regulations had been made for the purposes of s 5(6). Where notice of a vehicle has been duly given and the prescribed fee has been duly paid under s 5(6), the traffic commissioner must vary the licence by directing that the vehicle be specified in it: s 5(7). As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

As from a day to be appointed, a motor vehicle which is not specified in an operator's licence is not authorised to be used under that licence by virtue of s 5(1) unless the licence holder: (a) has given to the traffic commissioner by whom the licence was issued a notice in such form and containing such information about the vehicle as the commissioner may require; and (b) has paid to him a prescribed fee: s 5(6) (substituted by the Transport Act 2000 s 263). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

8 'Relevant weight', in relation to a motor vehicle or trailer of any prescribed class, means a weight of the description specified in relation to motor vehicles or trailers of that class by regulations: see the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 5(3); and the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/2869, reg 36.

9 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 5(2)(a).

10 Ibid s 5(2)(b).

11 Ibid s 5(2)(c).

12 Ibid s 5(4). 'Operating centre', in relation to any vehicle, means the base or centre at which the vehicle is normally kept; and references to an operating centre of the holder of an operator's licence are references to any place which is an operating centre for vehicles used under that licence: s 7(3).

13 For the meaning of 'area' see PARA 1326 note 1 ante.

14 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 5(4)(a).

15 Ibid s 5(4)(b). For the purposes of s 5(4)(b), two or more successive periods which are not separated from each other by an interval of at least three months are to be treated as a single period having a duration equal to the total duration of those periods: s 5(5).

16 Ibid s 5(8).

17 Ibid s 5(9)(a).

18 Ibid s 5(9)(b).

1335. Convictions subsequent to the making of an application.

A person who has made an application for an operator's licence<sup>1</sup> must forthwith<sup>2</sup> notify the traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> to whom it was made if, in the interval between the making of the application and the date on which it is disposed of<sup>4</sup>, there occurs a notifiable conviction<sup>5</sup>. A person who has made an application for a standard licence<sup>6</sup>, and has included in that application particulars of a transport manager<sup>7</sup>, must forthwith notify the traffic commissioner to whom the application was made if, in the interval between the making of the application and the date on which it is disposed of, there occurs any event affecting any information about the transport manager given to the commissioner<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'forthwith' see TIME vol 97 (2010) PARA 352.

3 As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

4 For the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 9, an application is to be taken to be disposed of:

1318 (1) in a case where the traffic commissioner is required, by virtue of regulations under s 57(2) (a) (see PARA 1321 ante), to cause a statement containing his decision on the application to be issued, on the date on which that statement is issued (s 9(4)(a)); and 1319 (2) in any other case, on the date on which the applicant receives notice from the traffic commissioner of his decision on the application (s 9(4)(b)).

As to regulations and orders see PARA 1321 ante.

5 Ibid s 9(1). The text refers to a notifiable conviction within the meaning given in s 8, Sch 2 para 4: see PARA 1334 note 22 ante.

As from a day to be appointed, there is also a requirement to notify the traffic commissioner if there is issued a notifiable fixed penalty notice: s 9(1) (amended by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 6(1), (2)). For the meaning of 'notifiable fixed penalty notice' see PARA 1334 note 23 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

A person is guilty of an offence if he knowingly fails to comply with the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 9(1): s 9(3)(a). A person who is guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 9(3). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. Knowledge is an essential ingredient of the offence and must generally be proved by the prosecution: see, in particular, Gaumont British Distributors Ltd v Henry [1939] 2 KB 711, [1939] 2 All ER 808. As to when the court may infer that the defendant had the requisite knowledge, however, see Westminster City Council v Croyalgrange Ltd [1986] 2 All ER 353 at 359, [1986] 1 WLR 674 at 684, HL, per Lord Brightman. As to the meaning of 'knowledge' see PARA 1161 note 20 ante. As to when the knowledge of an employee or agent may be imputed to his employer or principal see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARAS 59-64. 'Transport manager', in relation to a business, means an individual who is in, or who is engaged to enter into, the employment of the holder of a standard licence and who, either alone or jointly with one or more other persons, has continuous and effective responsibility for the management of the transport operations of the business in so far as they relate to the carriage of goods: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1). For the meaning of 'carriage of goods' see PARA 1329 note 3 ante.

The Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 s 6 (see PARA 1031 ante) (time for bringing summary proceedings for certain offences) applies to an offence under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 9(3)(a) or (b): s 51.

6 Ibid s 9(2)(a). For the meaning of 'standard licence' see PARA 1330 note 2 ante.

7 Ibid s 9(2)(b).

8 Ibid s 9(2). The text refers to the giving of information about the transport manager to the commissioner under s 8 (see PARA 1334 ante): see s 9(2). A person is guilty of an offence if he knowingly fails to comply with s 9(2) in a case where the event which occurs as mentioned in s 9(2) is the conviction of the transport manager of an offence such as is mentioned in s 8, Sch 2 para 5 (see PARA 1334 note 22 ante): s 9(3)(b). A person who is guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 9(3). See also note 5 supra.

As from a day to be appointed, knowingly failing to comply with s 9(2) in a case where the event which occurs is the issue to the transport manager of a fixed penalty notice or conditional offer under the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 Pt III (ss 51-90) (as amended) (see PARA 1093 et seq ante) in respect of such an offence is also an offence: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 9(3)(b) (amended by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 6(3)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(iii) Applications for Operators' Licences/1338. Objections to, and representations against, issue of operators' licences.

1338. Objections to, and representations against, issue of operators' licences.

Any of the persons mentioned in heads (a) to (d) below<sup>1</sup> may make an objection to the grant of an application for an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> on the ground:

2026 (1) that any of specified requirements<sup>3</sup> are not satisfied in the case of the application<sup>4</sup>; or

2027 (2) that any place in the traffic commissioner's<sup>5</sup> area<sup>6</sup> which, if the licence is issued, will be an operating centre<sup>7</sup> of the holder of the licence<sup>8</sup> will be unsuitable on environmental grounds for use as such<sup>9</sup>.

The persons who may make such an objection are: (a) a prescribed<sup>10</sup> trade union<sup>11</sup> or association<sup>12</sup>; (b) a chief officer of police<sup>13</sup>; (c) a local authority<sup>14</sup>; and (d) a planning authority<sup>15</sup>. The trade unions and associations which may be prescribed for the above purposes are trade unions or associations<sup>16</sup> whose membership consists of or includes persons holding operators' licences<sup>17</sup>, or employees of any such persons<sup>18</sup>.

Where an application for an operator's licence is made, any person who is the owner<sup>19</sup> or occupier of land in the vicinity of any place in the traffic commissioner's area which, if the licence is issued, will be an operating centre of the holder of the licence may make representations against the grant of the application on the ground that that place will be unsuitable on environmental grounds for use as such<sup>20</sup>. A person may not make such representations<sup>21</sup> unless any adverse effects on environmental conditions arising from the use of the place in question as an operating centre of the holder of the licence would be capable of prejudicially affecting the use or enjoyment of the land so mentioned<sup>22</sup>.

Where the traffic commissioner considers there to be exceptional circumstances that justify his doing so, he may direct that an objection or representations be treated for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as duly made<sup>23</sup>, notwithstanding that the objection was not, or the representations were not, made within the prescribed time or in the prescribed manner<sup>24</sup>. Any objection under head (1) or head (2) above must contain in the case of an objection under head (1) above, particulars of the ground on which it is made<sup>25</sup>, and in the case of an objection under head (2) above, particulars of any matters alleged by the person making the objection to be relevant to the issue to which it relates<sup>26</sup>. Any representations<sup>27</sup> must contain particulars of any matters alleged by the person making the representations to be relevant to the issue to which they relate<sup>28</sup>.

9 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 12(1)(b). Any objection under head (2) above or representations under s 12(4) (see the text and note 20 infra) must be made within the prescribed time after the making of the application to which they relate (s 12(7)(a)), and in the prescribed manner (s 12(7)(b)).

In Crewe and Nantwich Borough Council v Yoxall (1993) RLR 208, the following propositions were stated: it is not a pre-condition to a valid objection that the relevant section and subsection should be quoted; it is essential, if the objection is to be accepted as valid, that it is so worded that it makes clear whether: (1) it is made under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 12(1)(a), in which case it must go on to identify which of the requirements of s 13 the objector says that the applicant cannot meet; or (2) it is made under s 12(1)(b). In every case, if the objection is to be accepted as valid, it must also set out sufficient details of what the objector proposes to say to enable the applicant to know the case that he will have to meet. Where the objector wishes to advance more than one ground of objection the better practice is to set out each ground of objection in a separate paragraph, and failure to do so runs the risk that the objection will be ruled to be invalid on the grounds of ambiguity or uncertainty. Where an objector has advanced different grounds which have been set out in separate paragraphs, each paragraph should be treated as a separate objection, and if one paragraph discloses a valid objection but another is ruled to be invalid the valid objection should be allowed to stand while the invalid objection should be struck out. Once a valid objection has been made it is permissible to add 'further and better particulars' (ie a preliminary request for further information or clarification) at a later date, subject to the over-riding consideration that the object of the exercise is to give proper notice of the case which the applicant has to meet. The ability to add further and better particulars (ie a preliminary request for further information or clarification) is not to be treated as a licence to take the applicant by surprise by furnishing those particulars at a very late stage. It is not possible, after the time for objecting has expired, to amend or add to an invalid objection in order to convert it into a valid objection.

11 For these purposes, 'trade union' has the same meaning as in the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 (see EMPLOYMENT vol 40 (2009) PARA 846); definition applied by the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 12(12).

(iv) Determination of Applications

1339. Determination of applications for operators' licences.

Subject to specified provisions<sup>1</sup>, on an application for a standard licence<sup>2</sup> a traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> must consider<sup>4</sup>:

- 2028   (1)   whether he is satisfied that the applicant is:
- 119
- 203.   (a)   of good repute<sup>5</sup>;
- 204.   (b)   of the appropriate financial standing<sup>6</sup>; and
- 205.   (c)   professionally competent<sup>7</sup>;
- 120
- 2029   (2)   whether he is satisfied that it is possible (taking into account the traffic commissioner's powers<sup>8</sup> to issue a licence in terms that differ from those applied for) to issue a licence on the application in relation to which the following requirements apply<sup>9</sup>:
- 121
- 206.   (a)   there are satisfactory arrangements for securing that Part VI of the Transport Act 1968<sup>10</sup> (drivers' hours), and the applicable Community rules<sup>11</sup>, are complied with in the case of the vehicles used under the licence<sup>12</sup>;
- 207.   (b)   there are satisfactory arrangements for securing that the vehicles used under the licence are not overloaded<sup>13</sup>;
- 208.   (c)   there are satisfactory facilities and arrangements for maintaining the vehicles used under the licence in a fit and serviceable condition<sup>14</sup>;

209. (d) at least one place in the traffic commissioner's area<sup>15</sup> is specified in the licence as an operating centre<sup>16</sup> of the licence holder<sup>17</sup>, and each place so specified is available and suitable for use as such an operating centre (disregarding any respect in which it may be unsuitable on environmental grounds)<sup>18</sup>;
210. (e) the capacity of the place so specified (if there is only one) or both or all the places so specified taken together (if there are more than one) is sufficient to provide an operating centre for all the vehicles used under the licence<sup>19</sup>;
- 122
- 2030 (3) if he thinks fit, whether he is satisfied the provision of such facilities and arrangements as are mentioned in head (2)(c) above are not prejudiced by reason of the applicant's having insufficient financial resources for that purpose<sup>20</sup>.

Subject to specified provisions<sup>21</sup>, on an application for a restricted licence<sup>22</sup>, a traffic commissioner must consider<sup>23</sup>:

- 2031 (i) whether he is satisfied that the applicant is not unfit to hold an operator's licence<sup>24</sup> by reason of any activities or convictions of which particulars may be required to be given<sup>25</sup>, or any conviction required to be notified<sup>26</sup>;
- 2032 (ii) whether the requirements of head (2) above are satisfied<sup>27</sup>;
- 2033 (iii) if he thinks fit, whether the requirements of head (3) above are satisfied<sup>28</sup>.

In considering whether any of the requirements of heads (1) to (3) above are satisfied, the traffic commissioner must have regard to any objection duly made<sup>29</sup> in respect of the application<sup>30</sup>. In considering whether the requirements of head (2) above are satisfied, the traffic commissioner may take into account any undertaking given by the applicant (or procured by him to be given) for the purposes of the application, and may assume that those undertakings will be fulfilled<sup>31</sup>.

In considering whether head (2)(d) above will apply in relation to a licence, the traffic commissioner may take into account any conditions that could be attached to the licence<sup>32</sup>, and may assume that any conditions so attached will not be contravened<sup>33</sup>.

In considering whether head (2)(d) or head (2)(e) above will apply in relation to a licence, the traffic commissioner may take into account (if that is the case) that any proposed operating centre of the applicant would be used as an operating centre of the holders of other operators' licences as well as of the applicant<sup>34</sup>, or by the applicant or by other persons for purposes other than keeping vehicles used under the licence<sup>35</sup>.

If the traffic commissioner determines that any of the requirements that he has taken into consideration<sup>36</sup> are not satisfied he must refuse the application, but in any other case he must<sup>37</sup> grant the application<sup>38</sup>.

See also James Irlam & Sons Ltd (1993) RLR 26, in which the Transport Tribunal said: 'It was clearly the object of the legislation [ie the Transport Act 1968] that the authorised vehicles should be kept at their operating centre when not in use; and it is probable that in most cases the Licensing Authority will need to be satisfied that all can be accommodated at the operating centre if that objective is to be achieved. But in some cases it may be clear from the pattern of business activity that the objective can be achieved notwithstanding that the operator's operating centre or centres cannot accommodate his entire fleet at any one time'.

In deciding the suitability of a proposed operating centre, the safety and suitability of any private road or track connecting the operating centre to the public highway must be considered: Crewe and Nantwich Borough Council v Yoxall (1993) RLR 208.

In considering whether the requirements of Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 13(5) are satisfied, the traffic commissioner may take into account any undertakings given by the applicant (or procured by him to be given) for the purposes of the application, and may assume that those undertakings will be fulfilled: s 13(8).

In determining whether an individual is of good repute, a traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> may have regard to any matter<sup>2</sup> but must, in particular, have regard to any relevant convictions<sup>3</sup> of the individual or of his servants or agents<sup>4</sup>, and any other information in his possession which appears to him to relate to the individual's fitness to hold a licence<sup>5</sup>.

In determining whether a company is of good repute, a traffic commissioner must have regard to all the material evidence including, in particular, any relevant convictions of the company or of any of its officers, servants or agents<sup>6</sup>, and any other information in his possession as to the previous conduct of any of the company's officers, servants or agents, or any of its directors, in whatever capacity, if that conduct appears to him to relate to the company's fitness to hold a licence<sup>7</sup>.

Without prejudice to the generality of a traffic commissioner's power<sup>8</sup> to determine that a person is not of good repute, a commissioner must determine that an individual is not of good repute if that individual has more than one conviction of a serious offence<sup>9</sup>, or has been convicted of road transport offences<sup>10</sup>.

1 As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

2 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 13, Sch 3.

3 For the purposes of ibid Sch 3 para 1, the relevant convictions of any person are:

1322 (1) any conviction of that person of an offence such as is mentioned in s 8, Sch 2 para 5 (see PARA 1334 note 21 ante) (Sch 3 para 1(3)(a));

1323 (2) any conviction of that person of an offence under the law of Northern Ireland or of the law of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom corresponding to an offence such as is mentioned in Sch 2 para 5 (see PARA 1334 note 22 ante) (Sch 3 para 1(3)(b));

1324 (3) any conviction of that person of a serious offence within the meaning given in Sch 3 para 3 (Sch 3 para 1(3)(c)); and 1325 (4) any conviction of that person of a road transport offence given in Sch 3 para 4 (Sch 3 para 1(3)(d)).

Any reference in Sch 3 paras 1-4 to an offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom includes a reference to a civil offence (wherever committed) within the meaning of the Army Act 1955, the Air Force Act 1955 or (as the case may be) the Naval Discipline Act 1957 (see ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) PARA 422): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 5(1). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 224 note 5 ante. As from a day to be appointed, the following provisions will apply. In Sch 3 para 1(3)(a) (see head (1) supra), the reference to an offence mentioned in Sch 2 para 5 includes an offence under the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 43 as respects which the corresponding offence under the law of England and Wales (within the meaning given by s 43) is an offence mentioned in the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 2 para 5: Sch 3 para 5(1) (Sch 3 para 5(1) substituted, and Sch 3 para 5(1A), (1B) added, by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378(1), Sch 16 para 131). In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 paras 3, 4, references to an offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom include an offence under the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 42: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 5(1A) (as so added). In Sch 3 para 3(2)(c) the reference to a community order includes a service community order or overseas community order under the Armed Forces Act 2006: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 5(1B) (as so added). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

A person has a conviction of a 'serious offence' if he has been convicted of any offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom or under the law of a country or territory outside the United Kingdom (Sch 3 para 3(1)(a)), and on such conviction there was imposed on him for that offence a punishment falling within Sch 3 para 3(2) (Sch 3 para 3(1)(b)). The punishments falling within Sch 3 para 3(2) are:

- 1326 (a) a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding three months (Sch 3 para 3(2)(a));
- 1327 (b) a fine exceeding level 4 on the standard scale (Sch 3 para 3(2)(b));
- 1328 (c) a community order requiring him to perform work for more than 60 hours (Sch 3 para 3(2)(c) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 para 68(1), (3))); and
- 1329 (d) in the case of an offence committed under the law of a country or territory outside the United Kingdom, any punishment corresponding to those mentioned in heads (a)-(c) supra (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 3(2)(d)).

In head (a) supra the reference to a sentence of imprisonment includes a reference to any form of custodial sentence or order, other than one imposed under the enactments relating to mental health (Sch 3 para 3(3)(a)); and in head (c) supra 'community order' means a community order under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 177 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 163) or a community punishment order made under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 46 (see CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS vol 5(4) (2008 Reissue) PARA 1371) (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 3(3)(b) (substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 para 68(1), (4))). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. As to the meaning of 'have regard' see PARA 1339 note 29 ante. As from a day to be appointed, head (a) supra is amended so that, instead of the reference to 'imprisonment for a term exceeding three months' it refers to 'imprisonment of 12 months or more or, before the commencement of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 181, a term exceeding three months': Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 3(2)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 32 Pt 1 para 68(4)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

If a penalty notice does not involve an obligatory endorsement, then fulfilment of the notice discharges any liability to conviction; however, a licensing authority should take into account any behaviour which results in the repeated issue of penalty notices: MacPherson and Colburn Ltd (1992) RLR 243. See also J Aldridge (1993) RLR 139.

'Road transport offence' means: (i) an offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom relating to road transport including in particular: (A) an offence relating to drivers' hours of work or rest periods, the weights or dimensions of commercial vehicles, road or vehicle safety, or the protection of the environment; and (B) any other offence concerning professional liability; or (ii) any corresponding offence under the law of a country or territory outside the United Kingdom: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 4 (substituted by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 2). For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante. For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 207 ante.

For the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 paras 1-4, convictions which are spent for the purposes of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 661) must be disregarded: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 5(2) (a). A traffic commissioner may also disregard an offence if such time as he thinks appropriate has elapsed since the date of the conviction: Sch 3 para 5(4)(b).

NOTE 3--Appointed day for commencement of the Armed Forces Act 2006 Sch 16 para 131 is 31 October 2009: SI 2009/1167.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(iv) Determination of Applications/1341. Appropriate financial standing.

1341. Appropriate financial standing.

An applicant for, or the holder of, a standard licence<sup>1</sup> is of the appropriate financial standing if he has available to him sufficient financial resources to ensure the establishment and proper administration of the road transport undertaking<sup>2</sup> carried on, or proposed to be carried on, under the licence<sup>3</sup>. An applicant for, or the holder of, a standard licence is not to be considered to be of the appropriate financial standing unless he has available to him capital and reserves of an amount equal to or exceeding the aggregate of:

- 2034 (1) 9000 euros for the first or only vehicle which is to be or is authorised under the licence; or
- 2035 (2) 5000 euros for each additional vehicle which is to be or is so authorised<sup>4</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'standard licence' see PARA 1330 note 2 ante.

2 'Road transport undertaking' means an undertaking which involves the use of goods vehicles under an operator's licence, or in accordance with the law of Northern Ireland or the law of any member state other than the United Kingdom: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 58(1). As to the meaning of 'using' a vehicle see PARA 1329 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'goods vehicle' see PARA 1329 note 3 ante. For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante. As to the meaning of 'member state' see PARA 1149 note 18 ante.

3 Ibid Sch 3 para 6(1).

4 Ibid Sch 3 para 6(2) (substituted by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 3; and amended by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) (Amendment) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/3222, reg 2).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(iv) Determination of Applications/1342. Professional competence.

1342. Professional competence.

The requirement of professional competence<sup>1</sup> falls to be satisfied by an individual<sup>2</sup>. Accordingly, where a company is required to satisfy that requirement, it does so if and so long as it has in respect of its road transport undertaking<sup>3</sup> a transport manager<sup>4</sup> or managers, and such number of them as the traffic commissioner<sup>5</sup> concerned may require<sup>6</sup>, and that transport manager, or (as the case may be) each such manager, is of good repute<sup>7</sup>, and professionally competent<sup>8</sup>. Where an individual is not himself professionally competent, he is regarded as satisfying the requirement of professional competence if and so long as he has as the transport manager of the transport undertaking which he carries on an individual who is of good repute<sup>9</sup>, and professionally competent<sup>10</sup>.

Where the holder of a standard licence<sup>11</sup> relies on a single transport manager to satisfy the requirement of professional competence and that manager: (1) dies; (2) ceases, by reason of physical disability or mental disorder, to be capable of discharging his duties as transport manager; (3) ceases to work for the business; or (4) ceases to be of good repute, the holder of the licence is not to be treated as failing to satisfy the requirement of professional competence until the expiry of such period (not exceeding 18 months) as, in the opinion of the traffic commissioner by whom the licence was issued, is reasonably required for the appointment of a new transport manager<sup>12</sup>.

Where the holder of a standard licence is a company which has two or more transport managers<sup>13</sup>, and any of those managers ceases to be of good repute<sup>14</sup>, the company is not to be treated as failing to satisfy the requirement of professional competence until the expiry of such period as, in the opinion of the traffic commissioner by whom the licence was issued, is reasonably required for that manager's removal or the appointment of another transport manager in his place<sup>15</sup>.

1 In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 13, Sch 3 references to 'the requirement of professional competence' are references to any requirement imposed by a provision of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 that a person be (or continue to be) professionally competent: Sch 3 para 7. An individual is to be regarded as professionally competent if, and only if:

1330 (1) he has demonstrated that he possesses the requisite skills by passing a written examination organised by an approved body and is the holder of a certificate to that effect issued by that body (Sch 3 para 13(1)(a)); or 1331 (2) he is the holder of any other certificate of competence, diploma or other qualification recognised for these purposes by the Secretary of State (Sch 3 para 13(1)(b)).

'The requisite skills' means knowledge corresponding to the level of training, for either national or international transport operations as the case may be, provided for in EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.05.96, p 1) Annex I (as substituted) in the subjects there listed: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(3) (amended by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 4(2) (b)). 'Approved body' means: (a) a body approved by the Secretary of State for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(1) (see heads (1), (2) supra); (b) a body approved by the Department of the Environment for Northern Ireland for the purposes of the Transport Act (Northern Ireland) 1967 s 46A(5)(c) (as added and amended); or (c) a body or authority designated for the purposes of EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.05.96, p 1) art 3(4) (as amended) by a member state other than the United Kingdom: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(3) (amended by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 4(2)). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante.

The written examination mentioned in the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(1)(a) (see head (1) supra) may be supplemented by an oral examination organised by the approved body in the form set out in EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.05.96, p 1) Annex I (as substituted): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(2) (amended by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 4(1)). The certificate mentioned in the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(1)(a) must take the form of the certificate set out in EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.05.96, p 1) Annex 1a (as added): Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 Sch 3 para 13(2A) (added by the Goods Vehicle Operators (Qualifications) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2430, reg 4(1)).

1342 Professional competence

NOTE 1--Directive 96/26 replaced with effect from 4 December 2011: European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1071/2009 (OJ L300, 14.11.2009, p 51).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(iv) Determination of Applications/1343. Transport manager to be notified of proceedings.

1343. Transport manager to be notified of proceedings.

A traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> must not in any proceedings under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 make a finding that a transport manager<sup>2</sup> is not of good repute<sup>3</sup> or is not professionally competent<sup>4</sup> unless the commissioner is satisfied that the transport manager has been served with a notice<sup>5</sup>:

- 2036 (1) stating that the question whether he is of good repute or (as the case may be) professionally competent is an issue in the proceedings<sup>6</sup>;
 2037 (2) setting out the nature of the allegations against him<sup>7</sup>; and 2038 (3) stating that he is entitled to make representations within 28 days beginning with the date on which the notice is served on him<sup>8</sup>.

Where a transport manager makes representations<sup>9</sup>, the traffic commissioner must consider the representations in considering whether or not to hold an inquiry<sup>10</sup>, and in determining whether the transport manager is of good repute or (as the case may be) professionally competent<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'transport manager' see PARA 1335 note 5 ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'good repute' see PARA 1340 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'professionally competent' see PARA 1342 note 1 ante.

5 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 13, Sch 3 para 15(1).

6 Ibid Sch 3 para 15(1)(a).

7 Ibid Sch 3 para 15(1)(b).

8 Ibid Sch 3 para 15(1)(c). A notice is deemed for the purposes of Sch 3 para 15(1) to have been served on a transport manager on the date on which it would have been delivered in the ordinary course of post if it was sent by post addressed to him at his last known address, notwithstanding that the notice was returned as undelivered or was for any other reason not received by him: Sch 3 para 15(3). 'Ordinary course of post' means the general course of post with regard to the delivery of letters to persons resident in the district: see Kemp v Wanklyn [1894] 1 QB 583, CA. The words 'sent by post' bring into operation the provisions of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 7 (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 946) to the effect that service is deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying and posting a letter containing the document and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post. Service may be effected by ordinary or registered letter: T O Supplies (London) Ltd v Jerry Creighton Ltd [1952] 1 KB 42, [1951] 2 All ER 992. It follows that it is permissible to use the recorded delivery service. In regard to the 'last known address', as a general rule an address which the person concerned is known to have left is not a proper address for service (White v Weston [1968] 2 QB 647, [1968] 2 All ER 842, CA), although the position is otherwise where the use of the last known address is expressly authorised (see Re Follick, ex p Trustee (1907) 97 LT 645). However, service at the last known address in England or Wales is not good if a later address abroad is known: R v Farmer [1892] 1 QB 637, CA. For other relevant cases see Hanrott's Trustees v Evans (1887) 4 TLR 128; R v Webb [1896] 1 QB 487; Berry v Farrow [1914] 1 KB 632; Stylo Shoes Ltd v Prices Tailors Ltd [1960] Ch 396, [1959] 3 All ER 901; McGlynn v Stewart 1974 SLT 230.

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(iv) Determination of Applications/1344. Determinations where objections are made on environmental grounds.

1344. Determinations where objections are made on environmental grounds.

A traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> may refuse any application for an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> in respect of which any objection is duly made<sup>3</sup>, or any representations are duly made<sup>4</sup> on the ground that, as respects any place in his area<sup>5</sup> which, if the licence were issued, would be an operating centre<sup>6</sup> of the holder of the licence<sup>7</sup>:

- 2039 (1) the parking of vehicles used<sup>8</sup> under the licence at or in the vicinity of the place in question would cause adverse effects on environmental conditions in the vicinity of that place<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2040 (2) the place in question would be unsuitable for use as an operating centre of the holder of the licence on other environmental grounds<sup>10</sup>.

The traffic commissioner may not refuse an application for an operator's licence on the ground that any place would be unsuitable as mentioned in head (2) above<sup>11</sup> if:

- 2041 (a) on the date the application was made, that place was already specified in an operator's licence issued by the commissioner as an operating centre of the holder of that licence<sup>12</sup>; or
- 2042 (b) the applicant has produced to the commissioner a certificate in force in respect of that place under the Town and Country Planning Act 1990<sup>13</sup>, stating that its use as an operating centre for vehicles used under any operator's licence<sup>14</sup> is or would be lawful<sup>15</sup>.

Where in the case of any application for an operator's licence the traffic commissioner has power to refuse the application<sup>16</sup>, and any place other than a place that will be unsuitable for use as an operating centre is mentioned in the statement given by the applicant<sup>17</sup> as a proposed operating centre of his<sup>18</sup>, the commissioner may, instead of refusing the application, issue the licence but specify in it only such place or such places mentioned in that statement as will not be unsuitable for use as an operating centre<sup>19</sup>.

1345. Issue of operators' licences.

Subject to certain provisions<sup>1</sup>, on granting an application for an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> a traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> must issue that licence in the terms applied for<sup>4</sup>. Any undertakings taken into account by the traffic commissioner<sup>5</sup> that he considers to be material to the granting of the application must be recorded in the licence issued<sup>6</sup>. A statement must appear on the face of every operator's licence indicating whether it is a standard licence<sup>7</sup> or a restricted licence<sup>8</sup>. A statement must also appear on the face of every standard licence indicating whether it covers both national and international transport operations<sup>9</sup> or national transport operations only<sup>10</sup>.

3     As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

4     Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 15(1). If a traffic commissioner has determined that any of the requirements of s 13(5) (see PARA 1339 ante) or s 13(6) (see PARA 1339 ante) that he has taken into consideration in accordance with s 13(1) (see PARA 1339 ante) or (as the case may be) s 13(2) (see PARA 1339 ante) would not be satisfied unless he were to exercise any of his powers under s 15(3), he must exercise those powers accordingly: s 15(2). However, a traffic commissioner may issue the licence in terms that differ from the terms applied for in any of the following respects:

1346. Duration of operators' licences.

The date on which an operator's licence<sup>1</sup> is to come into force must be specified in the licence<sup>2</sup>. Subject to its revocation or other termination under any provision of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 or any other statutory provision<sup>3</sup>, an operator's licence (other than an interim licence<sup>4</sup>) continues in force indefinitely<sup>5</sup>. If the holder of an operator's licence requests the traffic commissioner<sup>6</sup> by whom it was issued to terminate it at any time, the commissioner must, subject to certain provisions<sup>7</sup>, comply with the request<sup>8</sup>. The traffic commissioner may refuse to comply with the request if he is considering giving a direction in respect of the licence<sup>9</sup>. An operator's licence held by an individual terminates if he dies, or if he becomes a person who lacks capacity within the meaning of the Mental Capacity Act 2005<sup>10</sup>.

An operator's licence held by an individual also terminates if, in Scotland, a curator bonis is appointed in respect of him on the ground that he is incapable, by reason of mental disorder, of adequately managing and administering his property and affairs: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 16(5). By virtue of the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000 s 88(2), Sch 5 para 1, the reference to a curator bonis is to be construed as a reference to a guardian with similar powers appointed under that Act.

(v) Variation of Licences

1347. Variation of operators' licences.

Subject to certain provisions<sup>1</sup>, on the application of the holder of an operator's licence<sup>2</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> by whom the licence was issued may vary the licence by directing:

2043 (1) that additional motor vehicles<sup>4</sup> be specified in the licence or that any maximum number specified in it<sup>5</sup> be increased<sup>6</sup>;

2044 (2) that any vehicle cease to be specified in the licence or that any maximum number specified in it<sup>7</sup> be reduced<sup>8</sup>;

2045 (3) that any provision in the licence concerning vehicles authorised to be used under an operator's licence<sup>9</sup> cease to have effect<sup>10</sup>;

2047 (5) that any provision in the licence concerning the maximum number of vehicles<sup>13</sup> cease to have effect<sup>14</sup>;

- 2048 (6) that a provision concerning the maximum number of vehicles<sup>15</sup> be included in the licence<sup>16</sup>;
- 2049 (7) that a new place in the traffic commissioner's area<sup>17</sup> be specified in the licence as an operating centre<sup>18</sup> of the licence holder<sup>19</sup>, or that any place cease to be so specified<sup>20</sup>;
- 2050 (8) that any undertaking recorded in the licence be varied or removed<sup>21</sup>;
- 2051 (9) that any condition attached to the licence be varied or removed<sup>22</sup>;
- 2052 (10) in the case of a restricted licence<sup>23</sup>, that it be converted into a standard licence<sup>24</sup> or, in the case of a standard licence, that it be converted into a restricted licence<sup>25</sup>;
- 2053 (11) in the case of a standard licence, that it cover both international and national transport operations<sup>26</sup> instead of national transport operations only, or vice versa<sup>27</sup>.

A person applying for the variation of an operator's licence<sup>28</sup> must give to the traffic commissioner, in such form as he may require, such information as he may reasonably require for disposing of the application<sup>29</sup>. The traffic commissioner must publish notice of any application for the variation<sup>30</sup> of an operator's licence (and must do so in the manner prescribed<sup>31</sup> for the publication of notices)<sup>32</sup> except:

- 2054 (a) where the application is for a direction under head (1) above that additional motor vehicles be specified in the licence<sup>33</sup>;
- 2055 (b) where the application is for a direction under head (2), (4) or (6) above<sup>34</sup>;
- 2056 (c) where the application is for a direction under head (7) above that a place cease to be specified in a licence as an operating centre of the licence holder<sup>35</sup>;
- 2057 (d) where the application is for a direction under head (10) above that a standard licence be converted into a restricted licence<sup>36</sup>;
- 2058 (e) where the application is for a direction under head (11) above that a licence cover national transport operations only, instead of both national and international transport operations<sup>37</sup>;
- 2059 (f) where the traffic commissioner is satisfied that the application is of so trivial a nature that it is not necessary that an opportunity should be given for objecting to it or making representations against it<sup>38</sup>.

1348. Publication of notice of applications for variation in any locality affected.

Subject to certain exceptions<sup>1</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> to whom an application for any of specified directions<sup>3</sup> is made must refuse the application without considering the merits unless he is satisfied that in respect of each locality affected by the application<sup>4</sup> within the period beginning 21 days<sup>5</sup> before the date on which the application is made and ending 21 days after that date, notice of the application in such form and containing such information as may be prescribed<sup>6</sup> has been published in one or more local newspapers circulating in the locality<sup>7</sup>. The traffic commissioner is not required<sup>8</sup> to refuse an application if he is satisfied as to the above<sup>9</sup>, save only that the form or contents of the notice of application as published in any newspaper did not comply with the prescribed requirements<sup>10</sup>, and he is satisfied that no person's interests are likely to have been prejudiced by the failure to comply with those requirements<sup>11</sup>.

1349. Objection to, and refusal of, applications to vary operators' licences on environmental grounds.

- 2060 (1) any of specified persons<sup>7</sup> may object to the grant of the application on the ground that the use of that operating centre in any manner which would be permitted if the application were granted would cause adverse effects on environmental conditions in the vicinity of that centre<sup>8</sup>;
- 2061 (2) subject to certain exceptions<sup>9</sup>, any person who is the owner<sup>10</sup> or occupier of any land in the vicinity of that operating centre may make representations against the grant of the application on the ground mentioned in head (1) above<sup>11</sup>; and
- 2062 (3) whether or not anyone objects or makes representations under head (1) or head (2) above, the traffic commissioner may refuse the application on the ground mentioned in head (1) above<sup>12</sup>.

Where the application is for a place in the traffic commissioner's area to be specified in the licence as an operating centre of the licence holder:

- 2063 (a) any of specified persons<sup>13</sup> may object to the grant of the application on the ground that that place will be unsuitable on environmental grounds for use as an operating centre of the licence holder<sup>14</sup>; and
- 2064 (b) subject to certain exceptions<sup>15</sup>, any person who is the owner or occupier of any land in the vicinity of that place may make representations against the grant of the application on that ground<sup>16</sup>.

If any person duly objects or makes representations<sup>17</sup> against an application for a place in the traffic commissioner's area to be specified in the licence as an operating centre of the licence holder, the commissioner may refuse the application:

- 2065 (i) on the ground that the parking of vehicles used<sup>18</sup> under the licence at or in the vicinity of that place would cause adverse effects on environmental conditions in the vicinity of that place<sup>19</sup>; or
- 2066 (ii) subject to certain provisions<sup>20</sup>, on the ground that that place would be unsuitable on environmental grounds other than the ground mentioned in head (i) above for use as an operating centre of the licence holder<sup>21</sup>.

The traffic commissioner may not refuse the application on the ground mentioned in head (ii) above if on the date the application was made, the place in question was already specified in an operator's licence<sup>22</sup> issued by the commissioner as an operating centre of the holder of that licence<sup>23</sup>, or the applicant has produced to the commissioner a certificate in force in respect of that place under the Town and Country Planning Act 1990<sup>24</sup>, stating that its use as an operating centre for vehicles used under any operator's licence is or would be lawful<sup>25</sup>.

Any objection or representations<sup>26</sup> must contain particulars of any matters alleged by the person making the objection or representations to be relevant to the issue to which the objection relates or the representations relate<sup>27</sup>, and must be made in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed time after the making of the application to which the objection relates or the representations relate<sup>28</sup>. Where the traffic commissioner considers there to be exceptional circumstances that justify his doing so, he may direct that an objection or representations be treated for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as duly made<sup>29</sup>, notwithstanding that the objection was not, or the representations were not, made within the prescribed time or in the prescribed manner<sup>30</sup>.

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(vi) Conditions attached to Licences/1351. Conditions for securing road safety.

(vi) Conditions attached to Licences

1351. Conditions for securing road safety.

- 2069 (1) at any point where vehicles first join a public road<sup>6</sup> on their way from an operating centre<sup>7</sup> of the licence holder<sup>8</sup> (or last leave a public road on their way to such an operating centre)<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2070 (2) on any road<sup>10</sup> (other than a public road) along which vehicles are driven<sup>11</sup> between such a point and the operating centre<sup>12</sup>.

On varying an operator's licence<sup>13</sup> a traffic commissioner may vary or remove any condition attached to the licence<sup>14</sup>. The traffic commissioner must not attach to an operator's licence any condition<sup>15</sup>, or vary in such manner as imposes new or further restrictions or requirements any condition attached to an operator's licence<sup>16</sup>, without first giving the applicant for the licence or (as the case may be) the licence holder an opportunity to make representations to the commissioner with respect to the effect on his business of the proposed condition or variation<sup>17</sup>. The traffic commissioner must give special consideration to any such representations<sup>18</sup> in determining whether to attach the proposed condition or make the proposed variation<sup>19</sup>.

Any person who contravenes<sup>20</sup> any condition attached<sup>21</sup> to a licence of which he is the holder is guilty of an offence<sup>22</sup>.

1352. Conditions as to matters required to be notified to traffic commissioner.

On issuing an operator's licence<sup>1</sup>, a traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> may attach to the licence such conditions as he thinks fit<sup>3</sup> for requiring the holder to inform him:

- 2071 (1) of any change of a kind specified in the conditions in the organisation, management or ownership of the trade or business<sup>4</sup> in the course of which vehicles are used<sup>5</sup> under the licence<sup>6</sup> or, if the licence is at any time suspended<sup>7</sup>, were used under the licence immediately before its suspension<sup>8</sup>;
- 2072 (2) where the licence holder is a company, of any change, or of any change of a kind specified in the conditions, in the persons holding shares in the company<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2073 (3) of any other event of a kind specified in the conditions which affects the licence holder and which is relevant to the exercise of any powers of the traffic commissioner in relation to the licence<sup>10</sup>.

On issuing a standard licence<sup>11</sup>, a traffic commissioner must attach to it the following conditions, namely:

- 2074 (a) a condition requiring the licence holder to inform the commissioner of any event which could affect the fulfilment by the licence holder of any of specified requirements<sup>12</sup>, and to do so within 28 days of the event<sup>13</sup>; and
- 2075 (b) a condition requiring the licence holder to inform the commissioner of any event which could affect the fulfilment by a relevant transport manager<sup>14</sup> of specified requirements<sup>15</sup>, and to do so within 28 days of the event coming to the licence holder's knowledge<sup>16</sup>.

In a case where the licence holder is a company, no condition attached<sup>17</sup> is to be taken to require the company to inform the traffic commissioner of any change in the identity of the persons holding shares in the company unless the change is such as to cause a change in the control of the company<sup>18</sup>.

Any person who contravenes<sup>19</sup> any condition attached<sup>20</sup> to a licence of which he is the holder is guilty of an offence<sup>21</sup>.

Where the traffic commissioner has power to give a direction in respect of a licence under s 26(1) (see PARA 1356 post), the commissioner also has power to direct that a condition, or additional condition, such as is mentioned in s 22(1) be attached to the licence: s 26(2). GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(vi) Conditions attached to Licences/1353. Conditions as to use of operating centres.

1353. Conditions as to use of operating centres.

On issuing an operator's licence<sup>1</sup>, or on varying such a licence on an application of which notice has been published<sup>2</sup>, a traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> may attach to the licence such conditions as he thinks fit for preventing or minimising any adverse effects on environmental conditions arising from the use of a place in his area<sup>4</sup> as an operating centre<sup>5</sup> of the licence holder<sup>6</sup>. The conditions which may be attached to a licence<sup>7</sup> must be of such description as may be prescribed<sup>8</sup>, and the descriptions which may be prescribed include conditions regulating:

- 2076 (1) the number, type and size of motor vehicles<sup>9</sup> or trailers<sup>10</sup> which may at any one time be at any operating centre of the licence holder in the area of the traffic commissioner for any prescribed purpose<sup>11</sup>;
- 2077 (2) the parking arrangements to be provided at or in the vicinity of any such centre<sup>12</sup>; and
- 2078 (3) the hours at which operations of any prescribed description may be carried on at any such centre<sup>13</sup>.

On varying an operator's licence on an application of which notice has been published<sup>14</sup>, a traffic commissioner may vary or remove any condition attached to the licence<sup>15</sup>. The traffic commissioner must not attach any such condition to an operator's licence<sup>16</sup>, or vary in such manner as imposes new or further restrictions or requirements any condition attached<sup>17</sup> to an operator's licence<sup>18</sup>, without first giving the applicant for the licence or (as the case may be) the licence holder an opportunity to make representations to the commissioner with respect to the effect on his business of the proposed condition or variation<sup>19</sup>. The traffic commissioner must give special consideration to any such representations in determining whether to attach the proposed condition or make the proposed variation<sup>20</sup>.

1354. Interim operators' licences.

On an application for an operator's licence<sup>1</sup> (a 'full' licence), a traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> may, if the applicant so requests, issue to him an interim licence<sup>3</sup>. The traffic commissioner may issue an interim licence in the same terms as those applied for in relation to the full licence or in terms that differ from those terms in certain respects<sup>4</sup>. If the traffic commissioner grants the application and issues to the applicant a full licence that is in the terms applied for<sup>5</sup>, or is in those terms subject only to the attachment<sup>6</sup> of any conditions that are also attached to the interim licence<sup>7</sup>, the interim licence terminates on the date on which the full licence comes into force<sup>8</sup>.

If, on an appeal<sup>9</sup> arising out of the application, the Transport Tribunal orders the traffic commissioner to issue a full licence to the applicant, the interim licence terminates on the date on which the full licence issued in pursuance of the order comes into force<sup>10</sup>, or at the time at which the application is withdrawn or treated as withdrawn<sup>11</sup>. Where, in a specified case<sup>12</sup>, the application is granted, the full licence issued to the applicant is of no effect before the interim licence terminates (notwithstanding any statement in it to the contrary)<sup>13</sup>.

If neither s 24(4) nor s 24(5) applies, the interim licence terminates on the date on which the application is finally disposed of or such earlier date as the applicant may specify in a written request to the traffic commissioner: s 24(6). In ss 24, 25 references to the date on which an application is finally disposed of are references, subject to s 24(9)(b), to the earliest date by which the application and any appeal to the Transport Tribunal arising out of the application have been determined and any time for bringing such an appeal has expired (s 24(9)(a)), or, if the application is withdrawn or any such appeal is abandoned, to the date of the withdrawal or abandonment (s 24(9)(b)).

1355. Interim variations.

On an application for the variation<sup>1</sup> of an operator's licence<sup>2</sup>, if the applicant so requests the traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> may, before he has determined the application, vary the licence by giving an interim direction<sup>4</sup> in respect of it<sup>5</sup>. If on determining the application the traffic commissioner varies the licence by giving a direction in the terms applied for and does not also attach or vary any conditions<sup>6</sup>, the interim direction ceases to have effect on the date on which the direction given on the application comes into force<sup>7</sup>. Otherwise<sup>8</sup>, the interim direction ceases to have effect on the date on which the application is finally disposed of<sup>9</sup> or such earlier date as the applicant may specify in a written request to the traffic commissioner<sup>10</sup>. Where, in that case<sup>11</sup>, on determining the application the traffic commissioner gives a direction varying the licence, that direction can be of no effect before the interim direction ceases to have effect<sup>12</sup>.

(viii) Revocation, Suspension and Curtailment of Licences and Disqualification

1356. Revocation, suspension and curtailment of operators' licences.

The traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> by whom an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> was issued may direct that it be revoked, suspended or curtailed<sup>3</sup> on any of the following grounds<sup>4</sup>:

- 2079 (1) that a place in the commissioner's area<sup>5</sup> has, at a time when it was not specified in the licence as an operating centre of the licence holder<sup>6</sup>, been used as an operating centre for vehicles authorised to be used under the licence<sup>7</sup>;
- 2080 (2) that the licence holder has contravened<sup>8</sup> any condition attached to the licence<sup>9</sup>;
- 2081 (3) that during the five years ending with the date on which the direction is given there has been:
  - 123 211. (a) a conviction of the licence holder of a certain type of offence<sup>10</sup>;
  212. (b) a conviction of a servant or agent of the licence holder of any such offence other than an excepted offence<sup>11</sup>; or

- 2082 (4) that during those five years, on occasions appearing to the commissioner to be sufficiently numerous to justify the giving of a direction<sup>16</sup>, there has been a conviction of the licence holder or a servant or agent of his of a specified offence<sup>17</sup>;
- 2083 (5) that the licence holder made, or procured to be made, for the purposes of:
214. (a) his application for the licence<sup>18</sup>;
215. (b) an application for the variation of the licence<sup>19</sup>; or
216. (c) a request for a direction<sup>20</sup>,
126
- 2084 a statement of fact that, whether to his knowledge or not, was false, or a statement of expectation that has not been fulfilled<sup>21</sup>;
- 2085 (6) that any undertaking recorded in the licence has not been fulfilled<sup>22</sup>;
- 2086 (7) that the licence holder, being an individual, has been adjudged bankrupt or, being a company, has gone into liquidation, other than voluntary liquidation for the purpose of reconstruction<sup>23</sup>;
- 2087 (8) that since the licence was issued or varied there has been a material change in any of the circumstances of the licence holder that were relevant to the issue or variation of the licence<sup>24</sup>;
- 2088 (9) that the licence is liable to revocation, suspension or curtailment by virtue of a direction<sup>25</sup>.

Where the existence of any of the grounds mentioned in heads (1) to (9) above is brought to the notice of the traffic commissioner in the case of the holder of any licence issued by him, the commissioner must consider whether or not to give such a direction in respect of that licence<sup>26</sup>.

Where the traffic commissioner directs that an operator's licence be suspended or curtailed, the commissioner may order:

- 2089 (i) in the case of a suspension, that any motor vehicle<sup>27</sup> specified in the licence may not be used under any other operator's licence notwithstanding the rules<sup>28</sup> as to the vehicles authorised to be used under an operator's licence<sup>29</sup>; or
- 2090 (ii) in the case of a curtailment having the effect of removing any motor vehicle from the licence, that the motor vehicle may not be used as mentioned in head (i) above and is not capable of being effectively specified in any other operator's licence<sup>30</sup>.

Such an order<sup>31</sup> ceases to have effect on such date, not being more than six months after the order is made, as may be specified in the order<sup>32</sup>, or if, before that date, the licence which is directed to be suspended or curtailed ceases to be in force, on the date on which it ceases to be in force<sup>33</sup>.

The traffic commissioner by whom any direction suspending or curtailing a licence under heads (1) to (9) above was given may at any time: (A) cancel the direction together with any order<sup>34</sup> that was made when the direction was given<sup>35</sup>; (B) cancel any such order<sup>36</sup>; or (C) with the consent of the licence holder, vary the direction or any such order (or both the direction and any such order)<sup>37</sup>.

Where an operator's licence is suspended<sup>38</sup>, the licence remains in force during the time of its suspension subject to the limitation that no vehicles are authorised to be used under it<sup>39</sup>.

1 As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

3 In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 references to directing that an operator's licence be curtailed are references to directing (with effect for the remainder of the duration of the licence or for any shorter period) all or any of the following, that is to say:

- 1351 (1) that one or more of the vehicles specified in the licence be removed from it (s 26(11)(a));
- 1352 (2) that a provision such as is mentioned in s 5(2) (see PARA 1332 ante) or s 6(1)(b) or s 6(2)(b) (see PARA 1333 ante) be included in the licence (s 26(11)(b));
- 1353 (3) that any maximum number specified in the licence under s 6 (see PARA 1333 ante) be reduced (s 26(11)(c));
- 1354 (4) that any one or more of the places specified in the licence as operating centres be removed from it (s 26(11)(d)).

For the meaning of 'operating centre' see PARA 1332 note 12 ante.

4 Ibid s 26(1), which is expressed to be subject to ss 26(2)-(11), 29 (see PARA 1359 post). On the revocation of an operator's licence, it is for the traffic commissioner to establish the grounds of revocation, not for the licence holder to satisfy the commissioner to the contrary: Re Muck It Ltd [2005] EWCA Civ 1124, [2006] RTR 91.

9 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 26(1)(b).

10 Ibid s 26(1)(c)(i). The reference in the text to a certain type of offence is to an offence such as is mentioned in s 26, Sch 2 para 5(a)-(i): see PARA 1334 note 22 ante. Where, in a case falling within s 26(1)(c)(i):

- 1355 (1) the conviction in question is a conviction of the licence holder of an offence under s 3(6) (see PARA 1330 ante) or of the corresponding offence under the Goods Vehicles (Operators' Licences, Qualifications and Fees) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/176, reg 33(2) (revoked) (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 26(5)(a)); and
- 1356 (2) there has been, within the five years preceding that conviction, a previous conviction of the licence holder of an offence under either of those provisions (s 26(5)(b)), the traffic commissioner must give a direction under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 26(1) to revoke the licence: s 26(5).

In Thomas Muir (Haulage) Ltd v Secretary of State for Environment, Transport and the Regions 1999 SLT 666, Ct of Sess, the court considered the scope of the traffic commissioner's power to revoke, suspend or curtail an operator's licence under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 26, and held that the proper question was whether the direction was appropriate in the public interest; although a direction was not to be treated as though it were a punishment, that did not prevent the traffic commissioner from taking into account disciplinary considerations in seeking to deter the operator from failing to comply with statutory obligations. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(viii) Revocation, Suspension and Curtailment of Licences and Disqualification/1357. Revocation of standard licences.

1357. Revocation of standard licences.

The traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> by whom a standard licence<sup>2</sup> was issued must direct that it be revoked if at any time it appears to him that the licence holder is no longer of good repute<sup>3</sup>, of the appropriate financial standing<sup>4</sup>, or professionally competent<sup>5</sup>.

Before giving such a direction in respect of a licence, the traffic commissioner must give to its holder notice in writing<sup>6</sup> that he is considering giving such a direction<sup>7</sup>. Such a notice must state the grounds on which the traffic commissioner is considering giving such a direction and must also state that written representations with respect to those grounds may be made to the commissioner by the licence holder<sup>8</sup>, and that any such representations must be received by the commissioner within 21 days of the date of the notice<sup>9</sup>, and the traffic commissioner must consider any representations duly made<sup>10</sup>.

<sup>10</sup> Ibid s 27(3). The reference in the text to representations duly made is a reference to those so made under s 27(3). Section 27 has effect subject to s 29 (see PARA 1359 post): s 27(4). Nothing in s 27(3) is to be taken to affect a person's right under s 29(1) to require the holding of an inquiry: s 27(4).

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(viii) Revocation, Suspension and Curtailment of Licences and Disqualification/1358. Disqualification.

1358. Disqualification.

Where a traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> directs that an operator's licence<sup>2</sup> be revoked<sup>3</sup>, the commissioner may order the person who was the holder of the licence to be disqualified (either indefinitely or for such period as the commissioner thinks fit) from holding or obtaining an operator's licence<sup>4</sup>, and so long as the disqualification is in force any operator's licence held by him at the date of the making of the order (other than the licence revoked) must be suspended<sup>5</sup>, and, notwithstanding the provisions relating to the determination of applications for operators' licences and interim operators' licences<sup>6</sup>, no operator's licence may be issued to him<sup>7</sup>. If a person applies for or obtains an operator's licence while he is so disqualified<sup>8</sup> he is guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>; and any operator's licence issued to him on the application, or (as the case may be) the operator's licence obtained by him, is void<sup>10</sup>.

Where the traffic commissioner makes an order<sup>11</sup> in respect of any person, the commissioner may direct that if that person, at any time or during such period as the commissioner may specify is a director of, or holds a controlling interest in, a company<sup>12</sup> which holds a licence of the kind to which the order in question applies<sup>13</sup>, or a company of which such a company is a subsidiary<sup>14</sup>, or operates any goods vehicles<sup>15</sup> in partnership with a person who holds such a licence<sup>16</sup>, that licence of that company or, as the case may be, of that person, is liable to revocation, suspension or curtailment<sup>17</sup>.

The powers of disqualification conferred<sup>18</sup> in relation to the person who was the holder of a licence are exercisable also where that person was a company, in relation to any director of that company<sup>19</sup>, and where that person operated vehicles under the licence in partnership with other persons, in relation to any of those other persons<sup>20</sup>.

The traffic commissioner by whom any such order disqualifying a person was made may at any time cancel that order together with any direction that was given<sup>21</sup> when the order was made<sup>22</sup>, cancel any such direction<sup>23</sup>, or, with the consent of the person disqualified, vary the order or any such direction (or both the order and any such direction)<sup>24</sup>. Where an operator's licence is suspended<sup>25</sup>, the licence remains in force during the time of its suspension subject to the limitation that no vehicles are authorised to be used under it<sup>26</sup>.

The periods of review in relation to an operator's licence are the period of five years beginning with the date specified in the licence as the date on which it came into force<sup>7</sup>, and each consecutive period of five years<sup>8</sup>. If, having served notice<sup>1</sup> in respect of a place specified in an operator's licence<sup>2</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> determines that the place is unsuitable: (1) on grounds other than environmental grounds<sup>4</sup>; or (2) on the ground that the parking of vehicles used<sup>5</sup> under the licence at or in the vicinity of the place causes adverse effects on environmental conditions in that vicinity, for use as an operating centre<sup>6</sup> of the licence holder<sup>7</sup>, he may<sup>8</sup> direct that it cease to be specified in the licence<sup>9</sup>. Where the only ground for giving a direction is the ground mentioned in head (2) above<sup>10</sup>, the traffic commissioner may not give such a direction unless during the period of review in question representations were made to him by a specified person<sup>11</sup>, or by a person who is the owner<sup>12</sup> or occupier of any land in the vicinity of the place in question<sup>13</sup>, as to the unsuitability of the place on environmental grounds for continued use as an operating centre for vehicles used under any operator's licence<sup>14</sup>. Any representations<sup>15</sup> must be made in the prescribed<sup>16</sup> manner<sup>17</sup>, and must contain particulars of any matters alleged by the person making the representations to be relevant to the issue to which they relate<sup>18</sup>, but where the traffic commissioner considers there to be exceptional circumstances that justify his doing so, he may direct that representations be treated for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 as duly made<sup>19</sup> notwithstanding that they were not made in the prescribed manner or within the period of review in question<sup>20</sup>.

If, having served notice<sup>1</sup> in respect of a place specified in an operator's licence<sup>2</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>3</sup> does not give a direction in respect of the place<sup>4</sup>, he may direct that conditions (or additional conditions)<sup>5</sup> be attached to the licence<sup>6</sup>, and that any conditions already attached to the licence<sup>7</sup> be varied<sup>8</sup>.

2 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

3 As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante.

4 Ie under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 31: see PARA 1362 ante.

5 Ie such as are mentioned in ibid s 21 (see PARA 1351 ante), s 22(1)(c) (see PARA 1352 ante) or s 23 (see PARA 1353 ante). In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 any reference, in relation to an operator's licence, to a condition attached to the licence under s 21, s 22 or s 23 includes a reference to any condition such as is mentioned in s 21, s 22 or (as the case may be) s 23 attached to the licence under s 32(1)(a): s 32(5).

6 Ibid s 32(1)(a). Any conditions attached to the licence under s 32(1)(a) must relate or, in the case of conditions such as are mentioned in s 22(1)(c) (see PARA 1352 ante), must only require the traffic commissioner to be informed of events that relate: (1) only to the place referred to in s 32(1) (s 32(2)(a)); or (2) only to that place and any other places in respect of which the commissioner has power to attach conditions under s 32(1)

(s 32(2)(b)). Where the traffic commissioner gives a direction in respect of an operator's licence under s 31 (see PARA 1362 ante) or s 32(1)(a), he may also vary the licence by directing:

- 1357 (a) that any vehicle cease to be specified in the licence (s 32(4)(a));
- 1358 (b) that any maximum number specified in the licence under s 6 (see PARA 1333 ante) be reduced (s 32(4)(b));
- 1359 (c) that a provision such as is mentioned in s 5(2) (see PARA 1332 ante) be included in the licence (s 32(4)(c));
- 1360 (d) that a provision such as is mentioned in s 6(1)(b) or s 6(2)(b) (see PARA 1333 ante) be included in the licence (s 32(4)(d)).

7 le such as are mentioned in ibid s 21 (see PARA 1351 ante), s 22(1)(c) (see PARA 1352 ante) or s 23 (see PARA 1353 ante).

8 Ibid s 32(1)(b). Any variation under s 32(1)(b) must be such as imposes new or further restrictions or requirements only in relation to the place referred to in s 32(1) (s 32(3)(a)), or only in relation to that place and any other places in respect of which the commissioner has power to attach conditions under s 32(1) (s 32(3)(b)).

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(ix) Operating Centres/1364. Transfers of operating centres in connection with new licences.

1364. Transfers of operating centres in connection with new licences.

Where in the case of any application for an operator's licence<sup>1</sup> the following requirements<sup>2</sup> are satisfied at the time when the application is made<sup>3</sup>, and the applicant so requests<sup>4</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>5</sup> may direct that certain provisions<sup>6</sup> are to apply in relation to the application<sup>7</sup>. The requirements to be satisfied are as follows:

- 2091 (1) each place referred to in the statement<sup>8</sup> as a proposed operating centre<sup>9</sup> of the applicant must already be specified in an operator's licence<sup>10</sup> as an operating centre of its holder<sup>11</sup>;
- 2092 (2) that licence must be the same in the case of each such place, and no such place may be specified in more than the one operator's licence<sup>12</sup>;
- 2093 (3) where any conditions<sup>13</sup> relating to any such place are attached to that licence, the applicant must have consented to conditions in the same terms being attached to the licence he is applying for<sup>14</sup>;
- 2094 (4) where any undertakings relating to any such place are recorded in that licence, undertakings in the same terms must have been given by the applicant (or have been procured by him to be given) for the purposes of the application<sup>15</sup>.

In determining whether to give a direction<sup>16</sup>, the traffic commissioner must take account of whether any new adverse effects on environmental conditions are likely to arise from the use as an operating centre of the applicant of any such place, and he may take account of any other matters he considers relevant<sup>17</sup>.

The provisions which apply in relation to any application for an operator's licence in respect of which such a direction has been given<sup>18</sup> provide as follows<sup>19</sup>: (a) the notice published<sup>20</sup> must state that the direction has been given<sup>21</sup>; (b) certain provisions of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 do not apply<sup>22</sup>; (c) the traffic commissioner may refuse the application<sup>23</sup> if any statement of fact made by the applicant (or procured by him to be made) for the purposes of the request for the direction<sup>24</sup> was false, whether to his knowledge or not<sup>25</sup>, or any undertaking given or statement of expectation made by the applicant (or procured by him to be given or made) for those purposes has not been fulfilled<sup>26</sup>; (d) if the application is granted, the traffic commissioner must attach to the licence issued to the applicant any conditions in respect of which the applicant has consented<sup>27</sup>, and must not attach any other conditions to the licence<sup>28</sup>; (e) if the application is granted, the traffic commissioner must record in the licence any undertakings given or procured to be given<sup>29</sup>, and any other undertakings given by the applicant (or procured by him to be given), whether for the purposes of the application or for the purposes of the request for the direction<sup>30</sup>, that the traffic commissioner considers to be material to his decision to give the direction (and that would not otherwise be required<sup>31</sup> to be recorded in the licence)<sup>32</sup>.

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(ix) Operating Centres/1365. Transfers of operating centres in connection with the variation of licences.

1365. Transfers of operating centres in connection with the variation of licences.

Where in the case of an application for the variation of an operator's licence<sup>1</sup>: (1) the only direction applied for is that one or more new places be specified in the licence as an operating centre of the licence holder<sup>2</sup>; (2) the requirements set out in heads (a) to (d) below<sup>3</sup> are satisfied at the time when the application is made<sup>4</sup>; and (3) the applicant so requests<sup>5</sup>, the traffic commissioner<sup>6</sup> may direct that the provisions contained in heads (i) to (iii) below<sup>7</sup> are to apply in relation to that application<sup>8</sup>. The requirements referred to above are as follows:

- 2095 (a) each new place that is proposed to be specified in the licence<sup>9</sup> must already be specified in another operator's licence as an operating centre<sup>10</sup> of its holder<sup>11</sup>;
- 2096 (b) that other licence must be the same in the case of each such place, and no such place may be specified in more than the one other operator's licence<sup>12</sup>;
- 2097 (c) where any conditions<sup>13</sup> relating to any such place are attached to that other licence, the applicant must have consented to conditions in the same terms being attached to the licence he is applying to have varied<sup>14</sup>;

- 2098 (d) where any undertakings relating to any such place are recorded in that other licence, undertakings in the same terms must have been given by the applicant (or have been procured by him to be given) for the purposes of the application<sup>15</sup>.

In determining whether to give a direction<sup>16</sup>, the traffic commissioner must take account of whether any new adverse effects on environmental conditions are likely to arise from the use as an operating centre of the applicant of any such place, and may take account of any other matters he considers relevant<sup>17</sup>.

The following provisions have effect in relation to any application for the variation of an operator's licence in respect of which such a direction has been given<sup>18</sup>:

- 2099 (i) specified provisions of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 do not apply<sup>19</sup>;
- 2100 (ii) if the application is granted, the traffic commissioner must attach to the licence as varied any conditions in respect of which the applicant has consented<sup>20</sup>, and must not attach any other conditions to the licence<sup>21</sup>;
- 2101 (iii) if the application is granted, the traffic commissioner must record in the licence as varied any undertakings given or procured to be given<sup>22</sup>, and any other undertakings given by the applicant (or procured by him to be given), whether for the purposes of the application or for the purposes of the request for the direction<sup>23</sup>, that the traffic commissioner considers to be material to his decision to give the direction<sup>24</sup>.

(x) Environmental Matters

1366. Determinations as to environmental matters.

In making any determination of a description mentioned in heads (1) to (3) below<sup>1</sup>, a traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> must have regard to such considerations as may be prescribed<sup>3</sup> as relevant to determinations of the description<sup>4</sup>. The determinations referred to are:

- 2102 (1) any determination with respect to the suitability of any place on environmental grounds for use as an operating centre<sup>5</sup> of the holder of an operator's licence<sup>6</sup>;
- 2103 (2) any determination with respect to attaching to an operator's licence any condition<sup>7</sup> or varying or removing any such condition attached to an operator's licence<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2104 (3) any determination with respect to the effect on environmental conditions in any locality of the use in any particular manner of any operating centre of the holder of an operator's licence<sup>9</sup>.

In making any such determination for the purposes of exercising any of his functions<sup>10</sup> in relation to an application for, or for the variation of, an operator's licence<sup>11</sup>, or any of the functions relating to the review of operating centres<sup>12</sup>, a traffic commissioner may take into account any undertakings given by the applicant or licence holder (or procured by him to be given) for the purposes of the application or the review<sup>13</sup>, and may assume that those undertakings will be fulfilled<sup>14</sup>.

In making for those purposes a determination of a description mentioned in head (1) or head (3) above, a traffic commissioner may take into account any of specified conditions<sup>15</sup> that could be attached to the licence in question, and may assume that any conditions so attached will not be contravened<sup>16</sup>.

Where a traffic commissioner grants an application for, or for the variation of, an operator's licence<sup>17</sup>, or having served notice<sup>18</sup> in respect of any place specified in such a licence, exercises or determines not to exercise any of his powers<sup>19</sup> in relation to that place<sup>20</sup>, any undertakings taken into account by the commissioner<sup>21</sup> that he considers to be material to the application or (as the case may be) to his decision<sup>22</sup> must be recorded in the licence in question<sup>23</sup>.

1367. Power of traffic commissioners to hold inquiries.

A traffic commissioner<sup>1</sup> may hold such inquiries as he thinks necessary for the proper exercise of his functions<sup>2</sup> under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>3</sup>. Where, as respects the proposed exercise on any occasion of any of his powers with regard to the revocation, suspension and curtailment of operators' licences and the disqualification of holders of such licences<sup>4</sup>, a traffic commissioner receives a request for an inquiry<sup>5</sup> from two or more persons, he may hold a single inquiry in response to both or all of those requests<sup>6</sup>. Subject to any provision made by regulations<sup>7</sup>, any inquiry held by a traffic commissioner for the purposes of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 must be held in public<sup>8</sup>. Information with respect to any particular trade or business<sup>9</sup> which is given at any such inquiry while admission to the inquiry is restricted in accordance with regulations must not, so long as that trade or business continues to be carried on, be disclosed<sup>10</sup> except:

- 2105 (1)   with the consent of the person for the time being carrying on that trade or business<sup>11</sup>;
- 2106 (2)   for the purpose of the discharge by any person of his functions under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>12</sup>; or
- 2107 (3)   with a view to the institution of, or otherwise for the purposes of, any legal proceedings pursuant to or arising out of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995, including proceedings before the Transport Tribunal<sup>13</sup>.

Any person who discloses any information in contravention of the above provisions<sup>14</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>15</sup>.

1367 Power of traffic commissioners to hold inquiries

NOTE 7--SI 1995/2869 Sch 4 amended: SI 2009/1307.

TEXT AND NOTE 13--Reference to Transport Tribunal is now to Upper Tribunal: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 35(4)(c) (amended by SI 2009/1885).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(xi) Inquiries, Reviews and Appeals/1368. Review of decisions.

1368. Review of decisions.

Subject to the restrictions in heads (1) to (3) below<sup>1</sup>, a traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> may review and, if he thinks fit, vary or revoke any decision of his to grant or refuse an application for an operator's licence<sup>3</sup>, or an application for the variation of such a licence in a case where notice of the application to be published is required<sup>4</sup>, if he is satisfied that a procedural requirement imposed by or under any enactment has not been complied with in relation to the decision<sup>5</sup>. However, the traffic commissioner may review a decision<sup>6</sup> only:

- 2108 (1) if, within such period after taking the decision as may be prescribed<sup>7</sup>, he has given notice to the applicant or (as the case may be) the licence holder that he intends to review the decision<sup>8</sup>;
- 2109 (2) if, within that period, a person who appears to him to have an interest in the decision has requested him to review it<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2110 (3) where neither head (1) nor head (2) above applies, if he considers there to be exceptional circumstances that justify the review<sup>10</sup>.

Regulations may make provision as to the manner in which notices under head (1) above are to be or may be served, including provision as to the circumstances in which, and the time at which, any such notice is to be treated as having been duly served (whether or not it has in fact been served)<sup>11</sup>.

The variation or revocation<sup>12</sup> of any decision cannot make unlawful anything done in reliance on the decision before the variation or revocation takes effect<sup>13</sup>.

An applicant for, or for the variation of, an operator's licence<sup>1</sup> may appeal to the Transport Tribunal<sup>2</sup> against the refusal of the application or (as the case may be) against the terms of the licence or of the variation<sup>3</sup>. The holder of an operator's licence may appeal to the tribunal against any of certain directions<sup>4</sup> given in respect of the licence<sup>5</sup>. ### 1369 Rights of appeal to the [Upper Tribunal] in connection with operators' licences

TEXT AND NOTES--References to Transport Tribunal are now to Upper Tribunal: Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 37 (amended by SI 2009/1885).

NOTE 12--SI 2000/3226 further amended: SI 2008/2142.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131; VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/ (xii) Forgery and False Statements/1370. Forgery of documents, etc.

(xii) Forgery and False Statements

1370. Forgery of documents, etc.

A person is guilty of an offence<sup>1</sup> if, with intent to deceive, he:

2111 (1) forges<sup>2</sup>, alters or uses a document or other thing<sup>3</sup>;

2112 (2) lends to, or allows to be used by, any other person a document or other thing<sup>4</sup>; or

2113 (3) makes or has in his possession any document or other thing so closely resembling a document or other thing as to be calculated to deceive<sup>5</sup>.

The documents and other things to which this applies are:

- 2114 (a) any operator's licence<sup>6</sup>;
- 2115 (b) any document, plate, mark or other thing by which, in pursuance of regulations<sup>7</sup>, a vehicle is to be identified as being authorised to be used<sup>8</sup>, or as being used, under an operator's licence<sup>9</sup>;
- 2116 (c) any document evidencing the authorisation of any person for certain purposes<sup>10</sup>;
- 2117 (d) any certificate of qualification<sup>11</sup>; and
- 2118 (e) any certificate or diploma<sup>12</sup>.

1 A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 38(3)(a)), and on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to a fine or to both (s 38(3)(b)). As to the statutory maximum see PARA 359 note 11 ante. The Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 s 6 (see PARA 1031 ante) (time for bringing summary proceedings for certain offences) applies to an offence under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 38: s 51.

2 'Forges' means makes a false document or other thing in order that it may be used as genuine: ibid s 38(4).

3 Ibid s 38(1)(a). There is authority for saying that the words 'with intent to deceive' are not to be construed in any narrow sense, as deceiving any particular person: R v Greenberg [1942] 2 All ER 344 at 347, CA. See also R v Clarke (1918) 82 JP 295; Brend v Wood (1946) 175 LT 306; and cf Welham v DPP [1961] AC 103 at 134, [1960] 1 All ER 805 at 816, HL. As to proof of criminal intent generally see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 13. To deceive is 'to induce a man to believe that a thing is true which is false, and which the person practising the deceit knows or believes to be false': Re London and Globe Finance Corp'n Ltd [1903] 1 Ch 728 at 732 per Buckley J; cited with approval in R v Wines [1953] 2 All ER 1497, [1954] 1 WLR 64, CCA. This definition must now be read in the light of the observations of Lord Radcliffe in Welham v DPP supra at 126-127, from which it appears that deceit may involve inducing an individual to believe a thing to be false which is true as well as to believe to be true what is false.

9 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 38(2)(b).

10 Ibid s 38(2)(c). The specified purposes are purposes of s 40 (see PARA 1372 post) and s 41 (see PARA 1373 post). As from a day to be appointed, s 38(2)(c) will provide that s 38 applies to any document evidencing the authorisation of any person for the purposes of s 40 (see PARA 1372 post), s 41 (see PARA 1373 post), and Sch 5 para 3 (see PARA 1378 post): s 38(2)(c) (amended by Sch 5 para 5(1)). ### 1371. False statements.

A person is guilty of an offence<sup>1</sup> if he knowingly makes a false statement<sup>2</sup> for the purpose of:

- 2119 (1) obtaining the issue to himself or any other person of an operator's licence<sup>3</sup>;
- 2120 (2) obtaining the variation of any such licence<sup>4</sup>;
- 2121 (3) preventing the issue or variation of any such licence<sup>5</sup>;
- 2122 (4) procuring the imposition of a condition or limitation in relation to any such licence<sup>6</sup>; or
- 2123 (5) obtaining the issue to himself or any other person of a certificate of qualification<sup>7</sup> or a certificate or diploma<sup>8</sup>.

1 A person guilty of an offence under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 39(2) is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 39(2). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. The Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 s 6 (see PARA 1031 ante) (time for bringing summary proceedings for certain offences) applies to an offence under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 39: s 51.

GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(xiii) Administration and Enforcement/1372. Inspection of maintenance facilities.

(xiii) Administration and Enforcement

1372. Inspection of maintenance facilities.

An officer<sup>1</sup> may, at any time which is reasonable<sup>2</sup> having regard<sup>3</sup> to the circumstances of the case, enter any premises of an applicant for an operator's licence<sup>4</sup> or of the holder of such a licence and inspect any facilities on those premises<sup>5</sup> for maintaining the vehicles used<sup>6</sup> under the licence in a fit and serviceable condition<sup>7</sup>. Any person who obstructs<sup>8</sup> an officer in the exercise of his powers<sup>9</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>10</sup>.

1 In the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 ss 40, 41 (see PARA 1373 post), 'officer' means: (1) an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante) (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 42(1)(a)); or (2) any person authorised for the purposes of ss 40, 41 by the traffic commissioner for any area (s 42(1)(b)). As from a day to be appointed, 'officer' means: (a) an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante) (Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 42(1)(a)); or (b) any person authorised for the purposes of ss 40, 41, 50, Sch 5 para 3 by the traffic commissioner for any area (s 42(1)(b) (amended by s 50(1), Sch 5 para 5(1))). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the functions of traffic commissioners see PARA 1326 ante. For the meaning of 'area' see PARA 1326 note 1 ante. The powers conferred by ss 40, 41 on an officer are exercisable also by a police constable: s 42(2). As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

2 The time during which the premises in question are open for business will normally be deemed reasonable (cf Davies v Winstanley (1930) 144 LT 433) and presumably an officer would not be justified, except in special circumstances, in demanding that premises should be opened at an unusual time (Small v Bickley (1875) 32 LT 726).

3 As to the meaning of 'regard' see PARA 1339 note 29 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'operator's licence' see PARA 1329 ante.

5 The term 'premises', though originally possessing a very limited meaning (ie the parts of a deed which precede the habendum) is widely used in the popular sense as including land, houses, buildings etc: see eg Metropolitan Water Board v Paine [1907] 1 KB 285; Whitley v Stumbles [1930] AC 544, HL; Bracey v Read [1963] Ch 88, [1962] 3 All ER 472; Maunsell v Olins [1975] AC 373, [1975] 1 All ER 16, HL. In general, 'premises' would seem to have been construed as meaning a whole property in either one occupation or one ownership according to the context in which it is used: see eg Cadbury Bros Ltd v Sinclair [1934] 2 KB 389 at 393 (revsd on other grounds (1933) 103 LJB 29, CA); Brickwood & Co v Reynolds [1898] 1 QB 95, CA.

6 As to the meaning of 'using a vehicle' see PARA 1329 note 2 ante. As to being authorised to use a vehicle under an operators' licence see PARA 1330 note 10 ante.

7 Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 40(1).

8 Obstruction need not involve physical violence: see, in particular, Borrow v Howland (1896) 74 LT 787; Hinchcliffe v Sheldon [1955] 3 All ER 406 at 408, [1955] 1 WLR 1207 per Lord Goddard CJ. In fact there is authority for saying that anything which makes it more difficult for a person to carry out any his duty amounts to obstruction: see Hinchcliffe v Sheldon supra. Thus merely giving a warning to some other person may amount to obstruction of the person carrying out his duty: see Green v Moore [1982] QB 1044, [1982] 1 All ER 428; Moore v Green [1983] 1 All ER 663. Yet standing by and doing nothing is not obstruction unless there is a legal duty to act: see Swallow v LCC [1916] 1 KB 224; and contrast Baker v Ellison [1914] 2 KB 762; but see Rice v Connolly [1966] 2 QB 414, [1966] 2 All ER 649. However, a positive act does not cease to be obstructive just because it is lawful in itself: see Dibble v Ingleton [1972] 1 QB 480, sub nom Ingleton v Dibble [1972] 1 All ER 275.

9 Ie under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 40(1): see the text and note 7 supra.

10 Ibid s 40(2). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: s 40(2). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante.

1372 Inspection of maintenance facilities

NOTES--Certain persons or indorsements mentioned in this paragraph are specified for the purposes of Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 37, Schs 5, 6 (meaning of 'regulator' for the purposes of imposing civil sanctions): see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 196A.

1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/(xiii) Administration and Enforcement/1373. Power to seize documents etc.

1373. Power to seize documents etc.

If an officer<sup>1</sup> has reason to believe<sup>2</sup> that a document or article carried on or by the driver<sup>3</sup> of a vehicle<sup>4</sup>, or a document produced to him in pursuance of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>5</sup>, is a document or article in relation to which an offence has been committed<sup>6</sup>, he may seize that document or article<sup>7</sup>. Where a document or article is so seized<sup>8</sup>, no person has, within six months of the date<sup>9</sup> on which the document or article was seized, been charged since that date with an offence in relation to it<sup>10</sup>, and the document or article is still detained<sup>11</sup>, then any of the following persons may make an application to a magistrates' court<sup>12</sup>:

- 2124 (1) an officer<sup>13</sup>;
- 2125 (2) the driver or owner<sup>14</sup> of the vehicle<sup>15</sup>; or
- 2126 (3) the person from whom the document was seized<sup>16</sup>.

On such an application, the magistrates' court must make such order respecting the disposal of the document or article<sup>17</sup>, and award such costs<sup>18</sup> as the justice of the case may require<sup>19</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 1372 note 1 ante.

2 It is submitted that the words 'reason to believe' require not only that the person in question has reasonable cause to believe but also that he does actually believe: see R v Banks [1916] 2 KB 621, CA; R v Harrison [1938] 3 All ER 134, 159 LT 95, CA. See also Nakkuda Ali v MF De S Jayaratne [1951] AC 66, PC. ### 1375. Fees.

Such fees, payable at such times, and whether in one sum or by instalments, as may be prescribed<sup>1</sup> are charged by a traffic commissioner<sup>2</sup> in respect of:

- 2136 (1) applications for, or for the variation of, operators' licences<sup>3</sup>;

- 2139 (4) any arrangements made with the holder of an operator's licence to treat the licence for certain administrative purposes as if it were two or more licences<sup>6</sup>.

A traffic commissioner may decline to proceed with any application for, or for the variation of, an operator's licence<sup>7</sup>, or the issue or variation of any operator's licence<sup>8</sup>, until any fee or instalment of a fee in respect of the application, issue or variation (as the case may be) is duly paid<sup>9</sup>. If, in the case of any application for, or for the variation of, an operator's licence, any fee or instalment of a fee in respect of the application or the issue or variation of the licence is not duly paid by the prescribed time, the application must be treated as withdrawn at that time<sup>10</sup>; and any decision made or direction given on the application, and any licence issued or variation effected in pursuance of such a direction, ceases to have effect or terminates at that time<sup>11</sup>. If any fee or instalment of a fee in respect of the continuation in force of an operator's licence is not duly paid by the prescribed time, the licence terminates at that time<sup>12</sup>. All fees payable under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995<sup>13</sup> must be paid into the Consolidated Fund in such manner as the Treasury may direct<sup>14</sup>.

Where, by virtue of such a direction, the effect of s 45(3)(a) is to be disregarded in any case, any termination of an interim licence under s 24(5)(b) or (6) (see PARA 1354 ante), or of an interim direction under s 25(4) (see PARA 1355 ante), by virtue of the operation of s 45(3)(a) in that case before the direction was given must be cancelled with effect from the same time: s 45(6). NOTE 8--Directive 96/26 replaced with effect from 4 December 2011: European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1071/2009 (OJ L300, 14.11.2009, p 51).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/13. GOODS VEHICLES/(2) GOODS VEHICLE LICENSING/ (xiv) Large Goods Vehicles/1377. Consignment notes required for carriage of goods on large goods vehicles.

(xiv) Large Goods Vehicles

1377. Consignment notes required for carriage of goods on large goods vehicles.

The following provisions have effect as from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>.

Subject to certain exceptions<sup>2</sup>, no goods are to be carried on a large goods vehicle<sup>3</sup> unless a document (a 'consignment note') in the prescribed<sup>4</sup> form and containing the prescribed particulars has been completed and signed in the prescribed manner and is carried by the driver<sup>5</sup> of the vehicle<sup>6</sup>. However, this requirement<sup>7</sup> does not apply to the carriage of goods<sup>8</sup> on any journey or on a vehicle of any class exempted by regulations<sup>9</sup>, or to any carriage of goods which is lawful without the authority of an operator's licence<sup>10</sup>. Subject to the provisions of regulations, a traffic commissioner<sup>11</sup> may dispense with the observance, as respects the carriage of goods under an operator's licence issued by him, of any of these requirements<sup>12</sup>, where he is satisfied that it is not reasonably practicable<sup>13</sup> for that requirement to be observed<sup>14</sup>. Such a dispensation may be granted generally<sup>15</sup>, as respects a particular vehicle<sup>16</sup>, or as respects the use of vehicles<sup>17</sup> for a particular purpose<sup>18</sup>. The consignment note relating to the goods carried on a vehicle on any journey must, at the conclusion of that journey, be preserved for the prescribed period by the person who used the vehicle for carrying the goods on that journey<sup>19</sup>.

1 The Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 50 and Sch 5 are to come into force on such day as the Secretary of State may by order appoint, and different days may be appointed for different purposes and different provisions: s 50(2). 1372 (1) a goods vehicle falls within this head if:

45. (a) it has a relevant plated weight exceeding 16,260 kg (Sch 5 para 1(2)(a)); or

46. (b) in the case of a vehicle which does not have a relevant plated weight, it has an unladen weight exceeding 5,080 kg (Sch 5 para 1(2)(b));
46

1373 (2) a goods vehicle falls within this head if it forms part of a vehicle combination, other than an articulated combination, and the combination is such that:

47. (a) in a case where all the vehicles comprised in the combination, or all those vehicles except any small trailer, have relevant plated weights, the aggregate of the relevant plated weights of the vehicles comprised in the combination, exclusive of any such trailer, exceeds 16,260 kg (Sch 5 para 1(3)(a)); or

48. (b) in any other case, the aggregate of the unladen weights of the vehicles comprised in it, exclusive of any small trailer, exceeds 5,080 kg (Sch 5 para 1(3)(b));
48

1374 (3) a goods vehicle falls within this head if it forms part of an articulated combination which is such that:

49. (a) in a case where the trailer comprised in the combination has a relevant plated weight, the aggregate of the unladen weight of the motor vehicle comprised in the combination, and the relevant plated weight of that trailer, exceeds 16,260 kg (Sch 5 para 1(4)(a)); or

50. (b) in any other case, the aggregate of the unladen weights of the motor vehicles and the trailer comprised in the combination exceeds 5,080 kg (Sch 5 para 1(4)(b)).

14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS

(1) IN GENERAL

1380. Introduction.

The hours which drivers engaged in the carriage of goods or passengers by road may drive and work and the records to be kept are regulated in the main by the applicable Community rules<sup>1</sup>. Part VI of the Transport Act 1968, which enacted provisions for the hours of driving and work of, and the records to be kept by, such drivers has been modified to take account of the application of the Community rules so that its provisions as to drivers hours and records apply only to driving or work to which the Community rules are not applicable<sup>2</sup>. However, the provisions in the Transport Act 1968 for inspection, enforcement, offences and penalties, as so modified, are applied to the Community rules<sup>3</sup>.

The Community rules apply to carriage by road within the European Community or between the Community, Switzerland and the countries party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area<sup>4</sup>: (1) of goods where the maximum permissible mass<sup>5</sup> of the vehicle, including any trailer, or semi-trailer, exceeds 3.5 tonnes; or (2) of passengers by vehicles which are constructed or permanently adapted for carrying more than nine persons including the driver, and are intended for that purpose<sup>6</sup>. In the Community rules, 'carriage by road' means any journey made entirely or in part on roads open to the public by a vehicle, whether laden or not, used for the carriage of passengers or goods<sup>7</sup>. 'Vehicle' means a motor vehicle, tractor, trailer or semi-trailer or a combination of these vehicles<sup>8</sup>. 'Motor vehicle' means any self-propelled vehicle travelling on the road, other than a vehicle permanently running on rails, and normally used for carrying passengers or goods; 'tractor' means any self-propelled vehicle travelling on the road, other than a vehicle permanently running on rails, and specially designed to pull, push or move trailers, semi-trailers, implements or machines; 'trailer' means any vehicle designed to be coupled to a motor vehicle or tractor; and 'semi-trailer' means a trailer without a front axle coupled in such a way that a substantial part of its weight and of the weight of its load is borne by the tractor or motor vehicle<sup>9</sup>. In the Community rules, 'driver' means any person who drives the vehicle even for a short period, or who is carried in a vehicle as part of his duties to be available for driving if necessary<sup>10</sup>.

The provisions of Part VI of the Transport Act 1968, in so far as applicable, apply to passenger vehicles and goods vehicles<sup>11</sup>. For these purposes, 'passenger vehicles' means public service vehicles<sup>12</sup> and motor vehicles<sup>13</sup>, other than public service vehicles, constructed or adapted<sup>14</sup> to carry more than twelve passengers<sup>15</sup>. 'Goods vehicles' means: (a) heavy locomotives<sup>16</sup>, light locomotives<sup>17</sup>, motor tractors<sup>18</sup> and any motor vehicle so constructed that a trailer<sup>19</sup> may by partial superimposition be attached to the vehicle in such a manner as to cause a substantial part of its weight to be borne by the vehicle<sup>20</sup>; and (b) other motor vehicles<sup>21</sup> constructed or adapted to carry goods<sup>22</sup> other than the effects of passengers<sup>23</sup>. The provisions of Part VI of the Transport Act 1968 apply to 'a driver' which means<sup>24</sup>: (i) a person who drives<sup>25</sup> a vehicle<sup>26</sup> in the course of his employment (an 'employee-driver')<sup>27</sup>; and (ii) a person who drives a vehicle<sup>28</sup> for the purposes of a trade or business carried on by him (an 'owner-driver')<sup>29</sup>. The provisions of Part VI of the Transport Act 1968 apply to vehicles and persons in the public service of the Crown<sup>30</sup>, but do not apply: (A) in the case of motor vehicles owned by the Secretary of State for Defence and used for naval, military or air force purposes or in the case of vehicles so used while being driven by persons for the time being subject to the orders of a member of the armed forces of the Crown<sup>31</sup>; or (B) in the case of motor vehicles while being used for police or fire and rescue authority purposes<sup>32</sup>. The provisions of Part VI of the Transport Act 1968<sup>33</sup> do not apply to tramcars or trolley vehicles operated under statutory powers<sup>34</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended), 'the applicable Community rules' means any directly applicable Community provision for the time being in force about the driving of road vehicles and includes the European Agreement concerning the Work of Crews of Vehicles engaged in International Road Transport of 1 July 1970, as amended, as applied by the Community Drivers' Hours Regulation art 2(3); Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition substituted by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)(a); and amended by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819, regs 5, 8). The relevant Community rules are European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport; EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport (as amended); and European Parliament and EC Council Directive 2002/15 (OJ L80, 23.3.2002, p 35) concerning the organisation of the working time of persons performing mobile road transport activities (implemented by the Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/639 (see PARA 1398 et seq post)). EEC Regulation 1463/70 (OJ L164, 27.7.70, p 1) has been repealed, but art 3(1) continued, until 31 December 1989, to apply to vehicles and drivers employed in regular international passenger services in so far as the vehicles used for such services are not fitted with recording equipment used as prescribed in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8): art 20. EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport is repealed, but art 5(1) continues to apply until 10 September 2009 and art 5(2), (4) until 10 September 2008, ie the dates from which those provisions are repealed by EC Council Directive 2003/59 (OJ L226, 10.9.2003, p 4) art 15(1): see European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 28.

As to the initial qualification and periodic training of drivers of certain road vehicles for the carriage of goods or passengers see European Parliament and EC Council Directive 2003/59 (OJ L226, 10.9.2003, p 4).

EC Council Directive 93/104 (OJ L307, 13.12.93, p 18) concerning aspects of the organisation of working time does not apply to road transport: art 1(3).

As to the effect of EC Regulations and Directives in United Kingdom law see Case C-8/90 Criminal Proceedings against Willy Kennes and Verkooyen PVBA [1991] ECR I-4391, sub nom Belgium v Verkooyen [1993] 3 CMLR 735, ECJ (where the court ruled that EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 18(2), under which references to EEC Council Regulation 543/69 (OJ L77, 29.3.69, p 49) (repealed by EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1)) were to be construed as references to EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1), was to be interpreted as meaning that it relates to references made by other Community measures but not to references to the repealed regulation appearing in provisions of national law for the implementation of it).

2 The Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) has effect with a view to securing the observance of proper hours or periods of work by persons engaged in the carriage of passengers or goods by road and thereby protecting the public against the risks which arise in cases where the drivers of motor vehicles are suffering from fatigue, but the Secretary of State may by regulations make such provision by way of substitution for or adaptation of the provisions of Pt VI (as amended), or supplemental or incidental to Pt VI (as amended), as he considers necessary or expedient to take account of any relevant Community provision: s 95(1) (amended by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)(d)). No such regulations may be made unless a draft of the regulations has been laid before, and approved by resolution of, each House of Parliament: Transport Act 1968 s 101(3A) (added by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)(i)). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante. 'Relevant Community provision' means any Community provision for the time being in force about the driving of road vehicles, whether directly applicable or not: Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition added by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)(b)).

Such regulations may, in particular: (1) substitute different requirements for the requirements of the domestic drivers' hours code or add to, make exceptions from or otherwise modify any requirements of that code; (2) apply to journeys and work to which no relevant Community provision applies; (3) include provision as the circumstances in which a period of driving or duty to which a relevant Community provision or the domestic drivers' hours code applies is to be included or excluded in reckoning any period for the purposes of that code or any relevant Community provision respectively; and (4) contain such transitional, supplemental or consequential provisions as the Secretary of State thinks necessary or expedient: Transport Act 1968 s 95(1A) (added by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)).

For these purposes, 'the domestic drivers' hours code' means the provisions of the Transport Act 1968 s 96(1)-(6) (see PARA 1389 et seq post), as for the time being in force and, in particular, as modified, added to or substituted by or under any instrument in force under s 95(1) (as amended), s 96(10) (as amended) or s 96(12): s 96(13) (added by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)); Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition added by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)). As to modification of instruments under the Transport Act 1968 s 96(12) see PARA 1389 post; and for instruments under s 96(10) (as amended) see PARA 1395 post.

In exercise of the power to make regulations under s 95(1) (as amended), the following regulations have been made: the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746 (amended by SI 1984/144; SI 1986/1457; SI 1986/2076; SI 1996/941); the Drivers' Hours (Harmonisation with Community Rules) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1458; and the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment (Amendment) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2006. As to the making of regulations generally see PARA 1382 post.

3 See eg the Transport Act 1968 s 95(2)(c) (as added and substituted) (see note 11 infra), s 96(11) (as amended) (see PARA 1393 post), s 97AA (as added) (see PARA 1425 post), s 97B (as added and amended) (see PARA 1414 post), s 99 (as amended) (see PARA 1426 post). The effect of such amendments is to disapply the domestic drivers' hours code in the case of driving and work to which the Community rules apply but to apply the enforcement provisions of Pt VI (as amended) to the Community rules. EEC Council Directive 88/599 (OJ L325, 29.11.88, p 55) on standard checking procedures for the implementation of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) and EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) lays down standard checking procedures for the enforcement of the Community rules. As to the enforcement of the Community rules see Case C-7/90 Criminal proceedings against Paul Vandevenne [1991] ECR I-4371, sub nom Belgium v Vadevenne [1993] 3 CMLR 608, ECJ (in which the court ruled that neither the Treaty Establishing the European Community (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179) art 10 (renumbered by virtue of the Treaty of Amsterdam: see Treaty Citation (No 2) (Note) [1999] All ER (EC) 646, ECJ) nor EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 17(1) (repealed) (cf European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 18) required a member state to introduce strict criminal liability for breaches of the Regulation provided the penalties imposed are effective, proportionate and dissuasive).

4 European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 2(2). The European Agreement concerning the Work of Crews of Vehicles engaged in International Road Transport (Geneva, 1 July 1970; TS 103 (1978); Cmnd 7401) ('the AETR') applies instead of the Community rules to international road transport operations undertaken in part outside the areas mentioned in the text to: (1) vehicles registered in the Community or in countries which are contracting parties to the AETR, for the whole journey; (2) vehicles registered in a third country which is not a contracting party to the AETR, only for the part of the journey on the territory of the Community or of countries which are contracting parties to the AETR: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 2(3). The provisions of the AETR should be aligned with those of European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1), so that the main provisions in that Regulation apply, through the AETR, to such vehicles for any part of the journey made within the Community: art 2(3). See also: (1) TS 58 (1983) (Cmnd 9037); (2) TS 1 (1996) (Cm 3042); and (3) TS 5 (1996) (Cm 3135). In 1992 the AETR rules were brought into line with the Community rules: TS 5 (1996) (Cm 3135). A breach of the AETR rules has been held to be a breach of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 2(2) (repealed) (see now European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 2(3)) and thus an offence under the Transport Act 1968 s 96(11A) (as added and amended) (see PARA 1393 post): Geldart v Brown [1986] RTR 106, DC. European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 2(2) extends to carriage by road within the Community by vehicles registered in a member state in the course of journeys to or from third countries which are not parties to the AETR or in transit through such countries: Case C-313/92 Criminal proceedings against Van Swieten BV [1994] ECR I-2177, ECJ (referring to EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 2(2) (repealed)).

5 'Maximum permissible mass' means the maximum authorised operating mass of a vehicle when fully laden: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(m); EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 2 (substituted by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(1)). This means, in relation to a vehicle combination, the aggregate of the maximum gross weights of the vehicle and trailer and not their maximum train weight: Small v DPP [1995] RTR 95, DC; but see Laverick v DPP [1999] RTR 417, DC (where it was held that it was the weight marked on the vehicle as the maximum permissible train weight which was decisive and since this was 3.5 metric tons the vehicle was within the exemption from the requirement for a tachograph in EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 4(1) (now repealed); the court added that the definition of 'permissible maximum weight' in the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 108(1) (see PARA 478 note 16 ante) which applied to articulated vehicles was not relevant).

7 Ibid art 4(a); EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 2 (as substituted: see note 5 supra). 11 See the Transport Act 1968 s 95(2)(a), (b). Part VI (as amended) also applies to vehicles not falling within s 95(2)(a) or (b) (see the text and notes 12-23 infra) which are vehicles within the meaning of the Community Drivers' Hours Regulation art 4 (see the text and note 8 supra) and which are not referred to in art 3 (see PARA 1384 note 1 post): Transport Act 1968 s 95(2)(c) (added by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment (Amendment) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2006, reg 2; and substituted by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819, regs 5, 6). 'The Community Drivers' Hours Regulation' means European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) as amended from time to time: Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition added by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819, regs 5, 8).

The Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) does not apply to a person or vehicle in the service of a visiting force or headquarters: Visiting Forces and International Headquarters (Application of Law) Order 1999, SI 1999/1736, art 8(1)(a). See PARA 1384 post for the corresponding provision in respect of the Community rules.

The domestic drivers' hours code does not apply in relation to any Community driving or work of a driver of a vehicle to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) applies: Drivers' Hours (Harmonisation with Community Rules) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1458, reg 2(1).

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(1) IN GENERAL/1384.
Vehicles exempted from the Community rules.

1384. Vehicles exempted from the Community rules.

The carriage by road of goods or passengers in certain vehicles is exempted<sup>1</sup> from the requirements of the Community rules as to drivers' hours and recording equipment<sup>2</sup>. The use of vehicles exempted is, therefore, classified as domestic driving or work<sup>3</sup> and is accordingly subject to the domestic drivers' hours code<sup>4</sup>.

The vehicles exempted from the requirements of the Community rules as to drivers' hours and recording equipment are:

- 2144 (1) vehicles used for the carriage of passengers on regular services<sup>5</sup> where the route covered by the service in question does not exceed 50 kilometres<sup>6</sup>;
- 2145 (2) vehicles with a maximum authorised speed not exceeding 40 kilometres per hour<sup>7</sup>;
- 2146 (3) vehicles owned or hired without a driver by the armed services, civil defence services, fire services, and forces responsible for maintaining public order when the carriage is undertaken as a consequence of the tasks assigned to these services and is under their control<sup>8</sup>;
- 2147 (4) vehicles, including vehicles used in the non-commercial transport of humanitarian aid, used in emergencies or rescue operations<sup>9</sup>;
- 2148 (5) specialised vehicles used for medical purposes<sup>10</sup>;
- 2149 (6) specialised breakdown vehicles operating within a 100 kilometre radius of their base<sup>11</sup>;
- 2150 (7) vehicles undergoing road tests for technical development, repair or maintenance purposes, and new or rebuilt vehicles which have not yet been put into service<sup>12</sup>;
- 2151 (8) vehicles or combinations of vehicles with a maximum permissible mass not exceeding 7.5 tonnes used for the non-commercial carriage of goods<sup>13</sup>;
- 2152 (9) commercial vehicles, which have a historic status according to the legislation of the member state in which they are being driven and which are used for the non-commercial carriage of passengers or goods<sup>14</sup>.

Regular national passenger services and certain regular international passenger services were exempted from the Community rules as to recording equipment but must install such equipment by 31 December 2007<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to the vehicles exempted see European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 3; EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport, art 3 (amended by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(2)); and heads (1)-(9) in the text. Recording equipment must be installed and used in vehicles registered in a member state which are used for the carriage of passengers or goods by road, except the vehicles referred to in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 3: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 3(1) (as so amended). Vehicles referred to in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 16(1) (see PARA 1421 post) and vehicles which were exempt from the scope of application of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) (repealed) but which are no longer exempt under European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) have until 31 December 2007 to comply with this requirement: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 3(1) (as so amended).

The exemptions apply to types of vehicles, not to their use on any occasion: DPP v Guy [1998] RTR 82, (1997) 161 JP 727, CA. The burden of establishing the right to an exemption lies on the defendant on a balance of probabilities: Gaunt v Nelson [1987] RTR 1 at 11, DC.

3 See PARA 1383 ante.

4 See PARA 1380 text and note 2 ante.

5 'Regular passenger services' means national and international services defined in EEC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 1 on the introduction of common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(n); EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 2. A passenger transport service supplied on a number of occasions pursuant to a block reservation made by a tour operator and providing for a single journey from an airport to an hotel with a stop, on occasion, at a tourist attraction, where the precise route taken is not pre-determined, does not constitute a regular service: Case C-47/97 Criminal proceedings against E

A 'specialised breakdown vehicle' means a vehicle whose construction and permanent characteristics are such that it will be used mainly to recover vehicles that have broken down, and this will apply regardless of the use to which such a vehicle is put by its owner: Case 79/86 RT Hamilton v Joseph Stanley Whitelock [1987] ECR 2363, [1987] 3 CMLR 190, ECJ. ### 1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (2) DRIVERS' HOURS ON COMMUNITY DRIVING OR WORK/1386. Drivers' hours on Community driving or work.

(2) DRIVERS' HOURS ON COMMUNITY DRIVING OR WORK

1386. Drivers' hours on Community driving or work.

The daily driving time<sup>1</sup> must not exceed nine hours, although it may be extended to at most ten hours not more than twice during the week<sup>2</sup>. Daily and weekly driving times must include all driving time on the territory of the Community or of a third country<sup>3</sup>. The weekly driving time<sup>4</sup> must not exceed 56 hours and must not result in the maximum weekly working times<sup>5</sup> being exceeded<sup>6</sup>. The total accumulated driving time during any two consecutive weeks must not exceed 90 hours<sup>7</sup>.

1 'Daily driving time' means the total accumulated driving time between the end of one daily rest period and the beginning of the following daily rest period or between a daily rest period and a weekly rest period: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 4(k); EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 2 (substituted by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(1)). 'Driving time' means the duration of driving activity recorded automatically or semi-automatically by the recording equipment as defined in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I (as amended) and Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended), or manually as required by art 16(2): European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(j). 'Daily rest period' means the daily period during which a driver may freely dispose of his time and covers a 'regular daily rest period' and a 'reduced daily rest period': art 4(g). 'Regular daily rest period' means any period of rest of at least 11 hours; alternatively, this regular daily rest period may be taken in two periods, the first of which must be an uninterrupted period of at least three hours and the second an uninterrupted period of at least nine hours; 'reduced daily rest period' means any period of rest of at least nine hours but less than 11 hours: art 4(g). 'Weekly rest period' means the weekly period during which a driver may freely dispose of his time and covers a 'regular weekly rest period' and a 'reduced weekly rest period': art 4(h). 'Regular weekly rest period' means any period of rest of at least 45 hours; and 'reduced weekly rest period' means any period of rest of less than 45 hours, which may, subject to the conditions laid down in art 8(6), be shortened to a minimum of 24 consecutive hours: art 4(h). 'Rest' means any uninterrupted period during which a driver may freely dispose of his time: art 4(f). For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante.

A period of voluntary overtime which a driver spends working in his employer's yard cannot be regarded as a period of 'rest', because while the driver might be free to dispose of his time when he decided to work overtime, once he does so, he comes under the control of his employer: Prime v Hosking [1995] IRLR 143, [1995] RTR 189, DC.

Time spent working for another employer may not be counted as being part of a daily rest period: Pearson v Rutterford [1982] RTR 54, DC. Time spent driving the vehicle home must be included in the daily driving period: DPP v Guy [1997] 3 CMLR 1161, 161 JP 727, DC.

In Kelly v Shulman [1989] 1 All ER 106, [1989] RTR 84, DC, the court reached the following conclusions on the meaning and effect of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 6(1) (now repealed): (1) the term 'day' means successive periods of 24 hours beginning with the driver's resumption of driving after his last weekly rest period; (2) every driver must have a weekly rest period once in every week; (3) in certain circumstances the weekly rest period falls to be taken earlier. Thus any driver who in the course of six consecutive driving periods since his last weekly rest has driven in the aggregate not less than the maximum permitted number of hours in six such periods must begin a weekly rest immediately on conclusion of the sixth period; but any such driver who in those six driving periods has driven for an aggregate of less than the maximum permitted number of hours may postpone the commencement of his weekly rest period until the end of the sixth day and drive during the period of postponement, provided he does not by so doing increase the aggregate of the hours driven since his last weekly rest to a figure exceeding the maximum number of hours permitted in six daily driving periods. As to weekly rest periods see PARA 1387 post.

The term 'day' must be understood as equivalent to 'period of 24 hours' commencing when the driver activates the tachograph following his weekly or daily rest period: see Case C-394/92 Criminal proceedings against Marc Michielsen and Geybels Transport Service NV [1994] ECR I-2497, [1995] IRLR 171, ECJ.

2 European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 6(1).

3 Ibid art 6(4).

4 'Weekly driving time' means the total accumulated driving time during a week: ibid art 4(l). 'A week' means the period of time between 00.00 on Monday and 24.00 on Sunday: art 4(i).

5 le laid down in European Parliament and Council Directive 2002/15 (OJ L80, 23.3.2002, p 35), on the organisation of the working time of persons performing mobile road transport activities.

UPDATE

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (2) DRIVERS' HOURS ON COMMUNITY DRIVING OR WORK/1387. Drivers' breaks and rest periods on Community driving or work.

1387. Drivers' breaks and rest periods on Community driving or work.

After a driving period<sup>1</sup> of four and a half hours, the driver<sup>2</sup> must take an uninterrupted break<sup>3</sup> of not less than 45 minutes, unless he takes a rest period<sup>4</sup>. This break may be replaced by a break of at least 15 minutes followed by a break of at least 30 minutes each distributed over the period in such a way as to comply with these provisions<sup>5</sup>.

A driver must take daily and weekly rest periods<sup>6</sup>. Within each period of 24 hours after the end of the previous daily rest period or weekly rest period a driver must have taken a new daily rest period<sup>7</sup>. If the portion of the daily rest period which falls within that 24 hour period is at least nine hours but less than eleven hours, then the daily rest period in question is to be regarded as a reduced daily rest period<sup>8</sup>. A daily rest period may be extended to make a regular weekly rest period or a reduced weekly rest period<sup>9</sup>. A driver may have at most three reduced daily rest periods between any two weekly rest periods<sup>10</sup>. By way of derogation from the requirement to take daily rest periods, within thirty hours of the end of a daily or weekly rest period, a driver engaged in multi-manning<sup>11</sup> must have taken a new daily rest period of at least nine hours<sup>12</sup>. In any two consecutive weeks a driver must take at least two regular weekly rest periods, or one regular weekly rest period and one reduced weekly rest period of at least 24 hours<sup>13</sup>. However, the reduction must be compensated by an equivalent period of rest taken en bloc before the end of the third week following the week in question<sup>14</sup>. A weekly rest period must start no later than at the end of six 24-hour periods from the end of the previous weekly rest period<sup>15</sup>.

Any rest taken as compensation for a reduced weekly rest period must be attached to another rest period of at least nine hours<sup>16</sup>. Where a driver chooses to do this, daily rest periods and reduced weekly rest periods away from base may be taken in a vehicle, as long as it has suitable sleeping facilities for each driver and the vehicle is stationary<sup>17</sup>.

A weekly rest period that falls in two weeks may be counted in either week, but not in both<sup>18</sup>.

By way of derogation from the above provisions<sup>19</sup>, where a driver accompanies a vehicle which is transported by ferry or train, and takes a regular daily rest period, that period may be interrupted not more than twice by other activities not exceeding one hour in total<sup>20</sup>. During that regular daily rest period the driver must have access to a bunk or couchette<sup>21</sup>. Any time spent travelling to a location to take charge of a vehicle falling within the scope of the Community provisions as to drivers' hours<sup>22</sup>, or to return from that location, when the vehicle is neither at the driver's home nor at the employer's operational centre where the driver is normally based, is not to be counted as a rest or break unless the driver is on a ferry or train and has access to a bunk or couchette<sup>23</sup>. Any time spent by a driver driving a vehicle which falls outside the scope of the Community provisions to or from a vehicle which falls within the scope of those provisions, which is not at the driver's home or at the employer's operational centre where the driver is normally based, counts as other work<sup>24</sup>.

1 'Driving period' means the accumulated driving time from when a driver commences driving following a rest period or a break until he takes a rest period or a break; the driving period may be continuous or broken: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 4(q).

2 For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante.

3 'Break' means any period during which a driver may not carry out any driving or any other work and which is used exclusively for recuperation: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(d).

4 Ibid art 7, 1st para. As to rest periods see PARA 1386 note 1 ante.

5 Ibid art 7, 2nd para. The calculation under art 7 begins afresh without taking into account the driving time and breaks previously completed by the driver: Case C-116/92 Criminal proceedings against Kevin Albert Charlton [1993] ECR I-6755, sub nom Charlton v DPP [1994] RTR 133, ECJ.

6 European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 8(1).

7 Ibid art 8(2), 1st para.

8 Ibid art 8(2), 2nd para. For the meaning of 'reduced daily rest period' see PARA 1386 note 1 ante. These requirements must be observed both by the employer and by the drivers: Case 69/74 Auditeur du Travail v Cagnon and Taquet [1975] ECR 171, [1975] 2 CMLR 68, ECJ. 'Each period of 24 hours' means a period which commences with the activation of the tachograph by the driver after a daily or weekly rest period; the calculation commences at the end of a period of not less than eight hours if the daily rest period is split into two or three different periods: Case C-313/92 Criminal proceedings against Van Swieten BV [1994] ECR I-2177, ECJ.

9 European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 8(3). For the meanings of 'regular weekly rest period' and 'reduced weekly rest period' see PARA 1386 note 1 ante.

10 Ibid art 8(4).

11 'Multi-manning' means the situation where, during each period of driving between any two consecutive daily rest periods, or between a daily rest period and a weekly rest period, there are at least two drivers in the vehicle to do the driving. For the first hour of multi-manning the presence of another driver or drivers is optional but for the remainder of the period it is compulsory: ibid art 4(o).

12 Ibid art 8(5).

13 Ibid art 8(6), 1st para.

14 Ibid art 8(6), 1st para. In proceedings under the Transport Act 1968 s 96(11A) (as added) for breach of the similar provision in EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 8(3) (repealed) it was held that it was necessary for the prosecution to prove first that the driver had worked on the day in question: Douglas v Glass 1990 SCCR 445.

23 Ibid art 9(2).

24 Ibid art 9(3). 'Other work' means all activities which are defined as working time in European Parliament and Council Directive 2002/15 (OJ L80, 23.3.2002, p 35) on the organisation of the working time of persons performing mobile road transport activities, art 3(a) except 'driving', including any work for the same or another employer, within or outside the transport sector: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(e). A driver must record as other work any time spent as described in art 4(e) as well as any time spent driving a vehicle used for commercial operations not falling within the scope of European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1), and must record any periods of availability, as defined in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport, art 15(3)(c) (see PARA 1414 post), since his last daily or weekly rest period; this record must be entered either manually on a record sheet or a print-out or by use of manual input facilities on recording equipment: European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 6(5).

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

1387 Drivers' breaks and rest periods on Community driving or work

TEXT AND NOTES 13-15--Regulation 561/2006 art 8(6a) added: European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1073/2009 (OJ L300, 14.11.2009, p 88).

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (2) DRIVERS' HOURS ON COMMUNITY DRIVING OR WORK/1388. Prohibition of certain payments and exceptions from the Community rules.

1388. Prohibition of certain payments and exceptions from the Community rules.

A transport undertaking<sup>1</sup> must not give drivers<sup>2</sup> it employs or who are put at its disposal any payment, even in the form of a bonus or wage supplement, related to distances travelled and/or the amount of goods carried if that payment is of such a kind as to endanger road safety and/or encourages infringement of the Community rules<sup>3</sup> as to drivers' hours<sup>4</sup>.

Provided that road safety is not thereby jeopardised and to enable the vehicle to reach a suitable stopping place, the driver may depart from the Community provisions as to driving time and rest periods<sup>5</sup> to the extent necessary to ensure the safety of persons, of the vehicle or its load<sup>6</sup>. The driver must indicate the reason for such departure manually on the record sheet of the recording equipment or on a print-out from the recording equipment or in the duty roster, at the latest on arrival at the suitable stopping place<sup>7</sup>.

1 'Transport undertaking' means any natural person, any legal person, any association or group of persons without legal personality, whether profit-making or not, or any official body, whether having its own legal personality or being dependent upon an authority having such a personality, which engages in carriage by road, whether for hire or reward or for own account: Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 4(p). The term 'undertaking' refers to an autonomous natural and legal person, irrespective of legal form, regularly carrying on a transport business, and empowered to organise and control the work of drivers: Case C-7/90 Criminal proceedings against Paul Vandevenne [1991] ECR I-4371, sub nom Belgium v Vandevenne [1993] 3 CMLR 608.

This provision does not authorise a driver to derogate from the provisions of arts 6-9 (see PARAS 1386-1387 ante) for reasons known before the commencement of the journey: Case C-235/94 Proceedings against Alan Geoffrey Bird [1995] ECR I-3933, sub nom R v AG Bird [1996] 1 CMLR 543, [1996] RTR 49, ECJ. A member state may provide for longer minimum breaks and rest periods or shorter maximum driving times than those laid down in arts 6-9 (see PARAS 1380, 1386-1387 ante) in the case of carriage by road undertaken wholly within its territory: art 11. In so doing, member states must take account of relevant collective or other agreements between the social partners: art 11. Nevertheless, European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) remains applicable to drivers engaged in international transport operations: art 11.

(3) DRIVERS' HOURS ON DOMESTIC JOURNEYS OR WORK

(i) Permitted Driving Time and Periods of Duty

1389. Permitted driving time and periods of duty.

A driver<sup>1</sup> must not on any working day<sup>2</sup> drive a vehicle or vehicles<sup>3</sup> for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than ten hours<sup>4</sup>. If on any working day a driver has been on duty for a period of, or for periods amounting in the aggregate to, five and a half hours and: (1) there has not been during that period, or during or between any of those periods, an interval of not less than half an hour in which he was able to obtain rest and refreshment<sup>5</sup>; and (2) the end of that period, or of the last of those periods, does not mark the end of that working day<sup>6</sup>, there must, at the end of that period, or of the last of those periods, be such an interval as aforesaid<sup>7</sup>.

- 2173 (a) except where head (b) or head (c) below apply, must not exceed eleven hours<sup>8</sup>;
- 2174 (b) if during that day he is off duty for a period which is, or periods which taken together are, not less than the time by which his working day exceeds eleven hours, must not exceed twelve and a half hours<sup>9</sup>;
- 2175 (c) if during that day all the time when he is driving vehicles<sup>10</sup> to which Part VI of the Transport Act 1968 applies is spent in driving one or more express carriages or contract carriages, and he is able for a period of not less than four hours to obtain rest and refreshment, must not exceed fourteen hours<sup>11</sup>.

There must be, between any two successive working days of a driver, an interval for rest which: (i) subject to head (ii) below, must not be of less than eleven hours<sup>12</sup>; (ii) if during both those days all or the greater part of the time when he is driving vehicles<sup>13</sup> to which Part VI applies is spent in driving one or more passenger vehicles<sup>14</sup>, may, on one occasion in each working week, be of less than eleven hours but not of less than nine and a half hours<sup>15</sup>. For these purposes a period of time is not to be treated, in the case of an employee-driver, as not being an interval for rest by reason only that he may be called upon to report for duty if required<sup>16</sup>.

A driver must not be on duty in any working week for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than sixty hours<sup>17</sup>.

There must be, in the case of each working week<sup>18</sup> of a driver, a period of not less than 24 hours for which he is off duty, being a period either falling wholly in that week or beginning in that week and ending in the next week, but<sup>19</sup>: (A) where these requirements have been satisfied in the case of any week by reference to a period ending in the next week, no part of that period (except any part after the expiration of the first 24 hours of it) may be taken into account for the purpose of satisfying those requirements in the case of the next week<sup>20</sup>; and (B) those requirements need not be satisfied in the case of any working week of a driver who on each working day falling wholly or partly in that week drives one or more stage carriages if that week is immediately preceded by a week in the case of which those requirements have been satisfied as respects that driver or during which he has not at any time been on duty<sup>21</sup>.

If in the case of the working week of any driver the following requirement is satisfied, that is to say that in each of the periods of 24 hours beginning at midnight which make up that week, the driver does not drive a vehicle<sup>22</sup> for a period of, or periods amounting in the aggregate to, more than four hours, then the above provisions<sup>23</sup> do not apply to him in that week, except that certain provisions<sup>24</sup> nevertheless have effect in relation to the whole of any working day falling partly in that week and partly in a working week in the case of which that requirement is not satisfied<sup>25</sup>.

For these purposes<sup>26</sup> no account is to be taken of any time spent driving a vehicle elsewhere than on a road if the vehicle is being so driven in the course of operations of agriculture<sup>27</sup> or forestry<sup>28</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>29</sup> may by order<sup>30</sup> direct that the above provisions are to be modified<sup>31</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante.

2 'Working day', in relation to any driver, means: (1) any period during which he is on duty and which does not fall to be aggregated with any other such period by virtue of head (2) infra; and (2) where a period during which he is on duty is not followed by an interval for rest of not less than eleven hours or (where permitted by virtue of the Transport Act 1968 s 96(4)(b): see the text and notes 14-15 infra) of not less than nine and a half hours, the aggregate of that period and each successive such period until there is such an interval as aforesaid, together with any interval or intervals between periods so aggregated: s 103(1).

In Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended), references to a driver being on duty are references: (a) in the case of an employee-driver, to his being on duty (whether for the purpose of driving a vehicle to which Pt VI (as amended) applies (see PARA 1380 ante) or for other purposes) in the employment by virtue of which he is an employee-driver, or in any other employment under the person who is his employer in the first-mentioned employment; and (b) in the case of an owner-driver, to his driving a vehicle to which Pt VI (as amended) applies (see PARA 1380 ante) for the purposes of a trade or business carried on by him or being otherwise engaged in work for the purposes of that trade or business, being work in connection with such a vehicle or the load carried thereby: s 103(4). If on any working day a driver does not drive any vehicle to which Pt VI (as amended) applies, the provisions of s 96(2), (3) (see the text and notes 6-11 infra) do not apply to that day, and the period or periods of duty attributable to that day for the purposes of s 96(5) (see the text to note 17 infra) are, if amounting to more than eleven hours, to be treated as amounting to eleven hours only: s 96(8).

18 'Working week' means, subject to ibid s 96(5) (see the text to note 17 supra), a week beginning at midnight between Sunday and Monday: s 103(1) (definition substituted by the Drivers' Hours (Harmonisation with Community Rules) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1458, reg 3). The traffic commissioner for any area may, on the application of an owner-driver or of the employer of an employee-driver, from time to time direct that a week beginning at midnight between two days other than Sunday and Monday is, or is deemed to have been, a working week in relation to that owner-driver or employee-driver; but where by virtue of any such direction a new working week begins before the expiration of a previous working week then, without prejudice to the application of the provisions of the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) in relation to the new working week, those provisions continue to apply in relation to the previous working week until its expiration: s 103(5) (amended by the Transport Act 1985 s 2, Sch 2 Pt II; and the Drivers' Hours (Harmonisation with Community Rules) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1458, reg 3). ### 1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(3) DRIVERS' HOURS ON DOMESTIC JOURNEYS OR WORK/(i) Permitted Driving Time and Periods of Duty/1390. Drivers' hours of drivers of passenger vehicles.

1390. Drivers' hours of drivers of passenger vehicles.

The provisions relating to permitted driving hours and periods of duty are modified in relation to passenger vehicles<sup>1</sup>.

A driver<sup>2</sup> of a passenger vehicle<sup>3</sup> engaged on domestic driving or work<sup>4</sup> is subject, in so far as his hours of driving and work are concerned, to the domestic drivers' hours code<sup>5</sup>. A driver may not, on any working day<sup>6</sup>, drive a vehicle or vehicles<sup>7</sup> for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than ten hours<sup>8</sup>. If, on any working day, a driver has been driving a vehicle or vehicles<sup>9</sup>: (1) for a period of five and a half hours and the end does not mark the end of the working day<sup>10</sup>; or (2) for periods amounting in the aggregate to five and a half hours and there has not been between any of those periods an interval of not less than half an hour in which the driver was able to obtain rest and refreshment and the end of the last of those periods does not mark the end of the day<sup>11</sup>, there must, as respects the period in head (1) above, at the end of the period, or, in the case of head (2) above, at the end of the last of those periods, be an interval of not less than half an hour for rest and refreshment<sup>12</sup>. However, these provisions need not be satisfied in relation to a driver who, within any continuous period of eight and a half hours in the working day, drives for periods amounting in the aggregate to not more than seven and three-quarter hours, being periods of driving between which there is a period of, or there are periods amounting in the aggregate to, not less than 45 minutes during which the driver has not been driving, if the end of the last of those periods of driving marks the end of his working day or at the end of the last of those periods there is an interval of not less than half an hour for rest and refreshment<sup>13</sup>.

The working day of a driver: (a) except where head (b) or head (c) below applies, must not exceed eleven hours<sup>14</sup>; (b) if during that day he is off duty for a period which is, or periods which taken together are, not less than the time by which his working day exceeds eleven hours, must not exceed twelve and a half hours<sup>15</sup>; (c) if during that day all or the greater part of the time when he is driving vehicles<sup>16</sup> is spent driving one or more passenger vehicles, must not exceed sixteen hours<sup>17</sup>. There must be, between any two successive working days of a driver, an interval for rest which must not be of less than ten hours except that on not more than three occasions in any working week<sup>18</sup>, the interval may be of less than ten hours but not of less than eight and a half hours<sup>19</sup>.

There must be, in the case of every two successive working weeks of a driver, a period of not less than 24 hours for which he is off duty, being a period either falling wholly in those weeks or beginning in the second of those weeks and ending in the first of the next two successive weeks<sup>20</sup>. However, where these requirements have been satisfied in the case of any two successive working weeks by reference to a period ending in the first of the next two successive weeks, no part of that period (except any part after the expiration of the first 24 hours of it) may be taken into account for the purpose of satisfying those requirements in the case of the said next two successive weeks<sup>21</sup>.

If in the case of the working week of any driver the following requirements are satisfied, that is to say, that: (i) the driver does not drive any vehicle<sup>22</sup> for a period<sup>23</sup> of, or for periods amounting in the aggregate to, more than four hours in more than two of the periods of 24 hours beginning at midnight which make up that working week<sup>24</sup>; and (ii) certain provisions<sup>25</sup> are complied with in relation to him as respects each full time day in that week<sup>26</sup>, then the provisions relating to the permitted driving time, intervals for rest between periods of duty, the working day of the driver and intervals for rest between working days<sup>27</sup> do not apply to that driver in that week<sup>28</sup>. Where such requirements are satisfied in the case of two successive working weeks of that driver the provisions relating to the off-duty periods in a working week<sup>29</sup> do not apply to him as respects those working weeks<sup>30</sup>.

The period of time must not be treated, in the case of an employee-driver, as not being an interval for rest by reason only that he may be called upon to report for duty if required: Transport Act 1968 s 96(4). The requirement is that there should be a chance to rest, not that rest should be taken: Beer v TM Fairclough & Sons Ltd (1937) 101 JP 157, DC; Witchell v Abbott [1966] 2 All ER 657, [1966] 1 WLR 852, DC. 22 See note 7 supra.

23 For the purposes of the Transport Act 1968 s 96(7) (as modified) and s 96(7B) (as added) (see note 25 infra), any such period of 24 hours in which the driver does drive for a period of, or for periods amounting in the aggregate to, more than four hours is referred to as 'a full time day': s 96(7) (modified by the Drivers' Hours (Passenger and Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1971, SI 1971/818, art 4(1), (7)).

24 Transport Act 1968 s 96(7)(a) (as modified: see note 23 supra).

25 The following provisions apply as respects each full time day in a working week of a driver in the case of which the requirement mentioned in ibid s 96(7)(a) (as modified) is satisfied, that is to say: (1) each period of duty of that driver must fall wholly within the full time day; (2) there must be an interval for rest of not less than ten hours immediately before his first period of duty and immediately after his last period of duty in the full time day or, if there is only one such period of duty in it, immediately before and after that period of duty; (3) the driver must not in the full time day drive a vehicle or vehicles to which Pt VI (as amended) applies for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than ten hours; (4) if in the full time day the driver has been driving a vehicle or vehicles to which Pt VI (as amended) applies: (a) for a period of five and a half hours and the end of that period of driving does not mark the end of his period of duty, or of the last of his periods of duty, in that day; or (b) for periods amounting in the aggregate to five and a half hours and there has not been between any of those periods of driving an interval of not less than half an hour in which the driver was able to obtain rest and refreshment and the end of the last of those periods of driving does not mark the end of his period of duty, or of the last of his periods of duty, in that day, there must be such an interval as aforesaid at the end of the period of driving mentioned in head (4)(a) supra or of the last of the periods of driving mentioned in head (4)(b) supra; provided, however, that these requirements need not be satisfied in relation to a driver who, within any continuous period of eight and a half hours falling wholly within the full time day, drives for periods amounting in the aggregate to not more than seven and three-quarter hours, being periods of driving between which there is a period of, or there are periods amounting in the aggregate to, not less than 45 minutes during which the driver has not been driving, if the end of the last of those periods of driving marks the end of his period, or of the last of his periods, of duty in that day, or at the end of the last of those periods of driving there is such an interval as is mentioned in head (4)(b) supra; and (5) the period during which the driver is on duty in the full time day or, if there is more than one such period, the period between the beginning of his first period of duty in that day and the end of his last period of duty therein, must not exceed sixteen hours: s 96(7B) (added as a modification in relation to passenger vehicles by the Drivers' Hours (Passenger and Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1971, SI 1971/818, art 4(1), (7)).

26 Transport Act 1968 s 96(7)(b) (as modified: see note 23 supra).

27 Ie the provisions of ibid s 96(1)-(4) (as modified): see the text and notes 1-19 supra.

28 Ibid s 96(7) (as modified: see note 23 supra). Where in the case of the working week of a driver the requirements mentioned in s 96(7) (as modified) are satisfied but there is a working day of the driver which falls partly in that working week and partly in a working week in the case of which the said requirements are not satisfied, then the provisions of s 96(1)-(3) (s 69(2), (3) as modified) (see the text and notes 1-17 supra) nevertheless have effect in relation to the whole of that working day: s 96(7A) (added as a modification in relation to passenger vehicles by the Drivers' Hours (Passenger and Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1971, SI 1971/818, art 4(1), (7)).

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(3) DRIVERS' HOURS ON DOMESTIC JOURNEYS OR WORK/(i) Permitted Driving Time and Periods of Duty/1391. Drivers' hours of drivers of goods vehicles.

1391. Drivers' hours of drivers of goods vehicles.

The provisions relating to permitted driving hours and periods of duty are modified in relation to goods vehicles<sup>1</sup>.

Where a driver is engaged<sup>2</sup> on domestic driving or work<sup>3</sup> then, unless otherwise exempted<sup>4</sup>, he is subject to the domestic drivers' hours code<sup>5</sup>.

A driver may not, on any working day<sup>6</sup>, drive a vehicle or vehicles<sup>7</sup> for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than ten hours<sup>8</sup>. The working day of a driver: (1) must not exceed eleven hours<sup>9</sup>; and (2) if during that day all the time when he is driving vehicles<sup>10</sup> is spent in driving one or more express carriages or contract carriages and he is able for a period of not less than four hours to obtain rest and refreshment, must not exceed fourteen hours<sup>11</sup>.

If in the case of the working week<sup>12</sup> of any driver the following requirement is satisfied, that is to say that, in each of the periods of 24 hours beginning at midnight which make up that week, the driver does not drive a vehicle<sup>13</sup> for a period of, or periods amounting in the aggregate to, more than four hours, then the above provisions do not apply to him in that week, except that certain provisions<sup>14</sup> nevertheless have effect in relation to the whole of any working day falling partly in that week and partly in a working week in the case of which that requirement is not satisfied<sup>15</sup>.

1 See the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, which applies where during any working day a driver spends all or the greater part of the time when he is driving vehicles to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) applies in driving goods vehicles: see the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 2. For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante. For the meaning of 'goods vehicle' see PARA 1380 ante. As to vehicles to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) applies see PARA 1380 ante.

2 Where a driver is engaged on work which is a mixture of domestic driving or work and Community driving or work, the Drivers' Hours (Harmonisation with Community Rules) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1458, also apply: see PARA 1394 post.

3 For the meaning of 'domestic driving or work' see PARA 1383 ante.

4 As to exemptions for the purpose of enabling drivers to deal with cases of emergency see PARAS 1395-1397 post.

5 For the meaning of 'the domestic drivers' hours code' see PARA 1380 note 2 ante. As to contravention of the domestic drivers' hours code see PARA 1393 post.

6 'Working day', in relation to any driver, means: (1) any working period (that is to say, any period during which he is on duty) which does not fall to be aggregated with the whole or part of any other such period or periods by virtue of head (2) infra; and (2) where a working period is followed by one or more other such periods beginning within the 24 hours next after the beginning of that working period, the aggregate of that working period and so much of the other such period or periods as fall within those 24 hours: Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition modified by the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 2(d)). See Lawson v Fox [1974] AC 803, [1974] 1 All ER 783, HL; and PARA 1390 note 10 ante. As to a driver being on duty see PARA 1389 note 2 ante. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(3) DRIVERS' HOURS ON DOMESTIC JOURNEYS OR WORK/(i) Permitted Driving Time and Periods of Duty/1392. Drivers' hours code for light goods vehicles.

1392. Drivers' hours code for light goods vehicles.

The provisions relating to permitted driving hours and periods of duty are modified in relation to light goods vehicles<sup>1</sup>.

A driver may not, on any working day<sup>2</sup>, drive a vehicle or vehicles<sup>3</sup> for periods amounting in the aggregate to more than ten hours<sup>4</sup>. The working day of a driver, if during that day all the time when he is driving vehicles<sup>5</sup> is spent in driving one or more express carriages or contract carriages and he is able for a period of not less than four hours to obtain rest and refreshment, must not exceed fourteen hours<sup>6</sup>.

If in the case of the working week<sup>7</sup> of any driver the following requirement is satisfied, that is to say that, in each of the periods of 24 hours beginning at midnight which make up that week, the driver does not drive a vehicle<sup>8</sup> for a period of, or periods amounting in the aggregate to, more than four hours, then the above provisions do not apply to him in that week<sup>9</sup>.

1 See the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 3, which applies where during any working week a driver spends all of the time when he is driving vehicles to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) applies (see PARA 1380 ante) in driving light goods vehicles and, in so far as he drives such a vehicle during that week otherwise than for social, domestic or pleasure purposes, he does so: (1) solely in connection with the carrying on by him or his employer of the profession of medical practitioner, nurse, midwife, dentist or veterinary surgeon; (2) wholly or mainly in connection with the carrying out of any service of inspection, cleaning, maintenance, repair, installation or fitting; (3) solely while he is acting as a commercial traveller and is carrying in the vehicle, apart from any effects of any person carried in it, no goods other than goods carried for the purpose of soliciting orders; (4) solely whilst acting in the course of his employment by the Automobile Association, the Royal Automobile Club or the Royal Scottish Automobile Club; or (5) solely in connection with the carrying on by him or by his employer of the business of cinematography or of radio or television broadcasting: Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 3(1). For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante. For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 1389 note 18 ante.

'Light goods vehicle' means a vehicle which is a goods vehicle with a permissible maximum weight within the meaning of the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 108(1) (see PARA 478 note 16 ante) not exceeding 3.5 metric tons or a dual purpose vehicle (see PARA 271 note 28 ante) within the meaning of the Road Vehicles (Construction and Use) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1078, and in either case is a vehicle to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) applies (see PARA 1380 ante): Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 3(2); Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). For the meaning of 'goods vehicle' see PARA 1380 ante.

2 'Working day', in relation to any driver, means: (1) any working period (ie any period during which he is on duty) which does not fall to be aggregated with the whole or part of any other such period or periods by virtue of head (2) infra; and (2) where a working period is followed by one or more other such periods beginning within the 24 hours next after the beginning of that working period, the aggregate of that working period and so much of the other such period or periods as fall within those 24 hours: Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition modified by the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, arts 2(d), 3(1)). See PARA 1391 note 6 ante. See also Lawson v Fox [1974] AC 803, [1974] 1 All ER 783, HL; and PARA 1390 note 10 ante. As to a driver being on duty see PARA 1389 note 2 ante.

3 Ie a vehicle to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) applies: see PARA 1380 ante. As to references to driving a vehicle see PARA 1380 note 25 ante.

5 See note 3 supra.

6 Transport Act 1968 s 96(3)(c).

7 For the meaning of 'working week' see PARA 1389 note 18 ante.

8 See note 3 supra.

9 Transport Act 1968 s 96(7) (modified by the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 2(b), art 3(1)). This provision applies with the exception that the Transport Act 1968 s 96(1), (3) (a) nevertheless has effect in relation to the whole of any working day falling partly in that week and partly in a working week in the case of which that requirement is not satisfied: s 96(7) (as so modified). It is submitted that, following the modification of the Transport Act 1968 s 96 by the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Modifications) Order 1986, SI 1986/1459, art 3(1) (which modified the Transport Act 1968 s 96 as if s 96(3)(a) were omitted) the reference in s 96(7) (as modified) to s 96(3)(a) ought also to have been omitted.

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

1392 Drivers' hours code for light goods vehicles

NOTES--Certain persons or indorsements mentioned in this paragraph are specified for the purposes of Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 37, Schs 5, 6 (meaning of 'regulator' for the purposes of imposing civil sanctions): see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 196A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(3) DRIVERS' HOURS ON DOMESTIC JOURNEYS OR WORK/(i) Permitted Driving Time and Periods of Duty/1393. Contravention of the domestic drivers' hours code.

1393. Contravention of the domestic drivers' hours code.

If any of the requirements of the domestic drivers' hours code<sup>1</sup>, is contravened in the case of any driver: (1) that driver<sup>2</sup>; and (2) any other person, being that driver's employer<sup>3</sup> or a person to whose orders that driver was subject, who caused or permitted the contravention<sup>4</sup>, is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>5</sup>. However, a person is not liable to be convicted under these provisions if he proves to the court: (a) that the contravention was due to unavoidable delay in the completion of a journey arising out of circumstances which he could not reasonably have foreseen<sup>6</sup>; or (b) in the case of a person charged under head (2) above, that the contravention was due to the fact that the driver had for any particular period or periods driven or been on duty otherwise than in the employment of that person or, as the case may be, otherwise than in the employment in which he is subject to the orders of that person, and that the person charged was not, and could not reasonably have become, aware of that fact<sup>7</sup>.

Where, in the case of a driver of a motor vehicle, there is a contravention of any requirement of the international rules as to periods of driving, or distance driven, or periods on or off duty, then the offender and the offender's employer, and any other person to whose orders the offender was subject, is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>8</sup>. However, a person is not liable to be so convicted if: (i) he proves the matters specified in head (a) above; or (ii) being charged as the offender's employer or a person to whose orders the offender was subject, he proves the matters specified in head (b) above; or (iii) being charged as mentioned in head (ii) above, he proves that at the time of the contravention he was complying with certain European legislation<sup>9</sup> and that he took all reasonable steps to avoid the contravention<sup>10</sup>.

2 Transport Act 1968 s 96(11)(a) (s 96(11) amended by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(1)). For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 1380 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 1389 note 18 ante.

4 Transport Act 1968 s 96(11)(b) (as amended: see note 2 supra). Unlawfully permitting a driver to exceed his daily driving period, contrary to s 96(11)(b) (as amended) is an offence which requires mens rea: Licensing Authority for Goods Vehicles in the Metropolitan Traffic Area v Coggins (1985) Times, 28 February, DC. As to mens rea see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARAS 8-9 et seq.

5 Transport Act 1968 s 96(11) (as amended: see note 2 supra). The fine must not exceed level 4 on the standard scale: s 96(11) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 38, 46). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante.

An offence under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) may be treated for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction on a court (but without prejudice to any jurisdiction it may have apart from this provision) as having been committed in any of the following places, that is to say: (1) the place where the person charged with the offence was driving when evidence of the offence first came to the attention of a constable or vehicle examiner; (2) the place where that person resides or is or is believed to reside or be at the time when the proceedings are commenced; or (3) the place where at that time that person or, in the case of an employee-driver, that person's employer or, in the case of an owner-driver, the person for whom he was driving, has his place or principal place of business or his operating centre for the vehicle in question: s 103(11) (substituted by the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 3). For these purposes, 'vehicle examiner' means an officer within the meaning of the Transport Act 1968 s 99 (as amended) (see PARA 1426 post): s 103(11) (as so substituted). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 1389 note 18 ante. For the meanings of 'employee-driver' and 'owner-driver' see PARA 1380 ante. As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

8 Ibid s 96(11A) (added by the European Communities 1972 s 4, Sch 4 para 9(2)(a); and amended by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1457, reg 2; and the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819, regs 5, 7(a)). The fine must not exceed level 4 on the standard scale: Transport Act 1968 s 96(11A) (as so added; and amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 38, 46).

As to the meaning of 'causes or permits' see PARA 261 note 6 ante; and see also Lovelace v DPP [1954] 3 All ER 481, [1954] 1 WLR 1468; Shulton (Great Britain) Ltd v Slough Borough Council [1967] 2 QB 471, [1967] 2 All ER 137; Sidcup Building Estates Ltd v Sidery (1936) 24 Ry & Can Tr Cas 164; Knowles Transport Ltd v Russell [1975] RTR 87, DC; Tophams Ltd v Earl of Sefton [1967] 1 AC 50, [1966] 1 All ER 1039, HL. For a corporation to be liable for 'causing' or 'permitting' it must be shown that some person for whose criminal act the corporation would be liable caused or permitted the commission of the offence. Unless the offence is one for which the corporation may be vicariously liable, knowledge on the part of an ordinary employee is not sufficient, it has to be that of someone exercising a directing mind over the company's affairs: James & Son Ltd v Smee [1955] 1 QB 78, [1954] 3 All ER 273, DC; Ross Hillman Ltd v Bond [1974] QB 435, [1974] 2 All ER 287. The offences of causing or permitting may be committed by a company through the alter ego or person of its transport manager: Worthy v Gordon Plant (Services) Ltd [1989] RTR 7n, DC.

If repeated warnings to drivers about breaches of the Community rules on drivers' hours are ignored it may be necessary for an employer to move to disciplinary action if he is not to be considered to be permitting the breaches: Light v DPP [1994] RTR 396, DC. In Redhead Freight Ltd v Shulman [1988] Crim LR 696, [1989] RTR 1, DC, it was held that while acquiescence by the employer in the driver's record keeping failures could amount to 'permitting' it fell short of what was required for 'causing' as charged.

A person who: (1) is subject to the requirement imposed by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 10(4) (undertakings etc to ensure that contractually agreed transport time schedules respect that Regulation); and (2) fails to take all reasonable steps to comply with that requirement, is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: Transport Act 1968 s 96(11B) (added by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819, regs 5, 7(c)).

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (4) HOURS AND RECORDS OF PERSONS PERFORMING MOBILE ROAD TRANSPORT ACTIVITIES/1400. Calculation of working time.

1400. Calculation of working time.

The working time<sup>1</sup>, including overtime, of a mobile worker<sup>2</sup> must not exceed 60 hours in a week<sup>3</sup>. In any reference period<sup>4</sup> which is applicable to his case, a mobile worker's working time must not exceed an average of 48 hours for each week<sup>5</sup>. A mobile worker's average weekly working time during a reference period is to be determined according to a specified formula<sup>6</sup>.

An employer<sup>7</sup> must take all reasonable steps, in keeping with the need to protect the health and safety of the mobile worker, to ensure that the limits specified above are complied with in the case of each mobile worker employed by him<sup>8</sup>.

The times of breaks, rests<sup>9</sup> and periods of availability<sup>10</sup> are not to be included in the calculation of working time<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'working time' see PARA 1398 note 11 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'mobile worker' see PARA 1398 note 2 ante.

3 Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/639, reg 4(1). 'Week' means a period of seven days beginning at midnight between Sunday and Monday: reg 2.

4 For the meaning of 'reference period' see PARA 1398 note 12 ante.

5 Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/639, reg 4(2). The reference periods which apply in the case of a mobile worker are:

1384 (1) where a collective agreement or a workforce agreement provides for the application of reg 4 in relation to successive periods of 17 weeks, each such period (reg 4(3)(a));

1385 (2) in a case where: (a) there is no such provision; and (b) the employer gives written notice to the mobile worker in writing that he intends to apply this provision, any period of 17 weeks in the course of the worker's employment (reg 4(3)(b)); or

1386 (3) in any other case, the period ending at midnight between Sunday 31 July 2005 and Monday 1 August 2005 and thereafter, in each year, the successive periods beginning at midnight at the beginning of the Monday which falls on, or is the first Monday after, 1 December, and ending at midnight at the beginning of the Monday which falls on, or is the first Monday, after 1 April, 1 August and 1 December respectively (reg 4(3)(c)).

'Collective agreement' means a collective agreement within the meaning of the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 s 178, the trade union parties to which are independent trade unions within the meaning of s 5 (see EMPLOYMENT vol 40 (2009) PARA 859); Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/639, reg 2. For the meaning of 'workforce agreement' see PARA 1399 ante. For the meaning of 'worker' see PARA 1398 note 2 ante.

The reference period may be extended in relation to particular mobile workers or groups of mobile workers for objective or technical reasons or reasons concerning the organisation of work, by a collective agreement or a workforce agreement, by the substitution for 17 weeks of a period not exceeding 26 weeks in the application of reg 4(2) and reg 4(3)(a) (see head (1) supra): reg 4(4).

6 Ibid reg 4(5). The formula is based on the aggregate number of hours comprised in the mobile worker's working time during the course of the reference period plus the number of excluded hours during the reference period, divided by the number of weeks in the reference period: see reg 4(5). For these purposes, 'excluded hours' means hours comprised in: (1) any period of annual leave taken by the mobile worker in exercise of entitlement under the Working Time Regulations 1998, SI 1998/1833, reg 13 (see EMPLOYMENT vol 39 (2009) PARA 267); (2) any period of sick leave taken by the mobile worker; (3) any period of maternity, paternity, adoption or parental leave taken by the mobile worker: Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/639, reg 4(6). For the purposes of reg 4(5), the number of hours in a whole day is eight and the number of hours in a whole week is 48: reg 4(7).

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (4) HOURS AND RECORDS OF PERSONS PERFORMING MOBILE ROAD TRANSPORT ACTIVITIES/1401. Periods of availability.

1401. Periods of availability.

'Period of availability' means a period during which the mobile worker<sup>1</sup> is not required to remain at his workstation<sup>2</sup>, but is required to be available to answer any calls to start or resume driving or to carry out other work, including periods during which the mobile worker is accompanying a vehicle<sup>3</sup> being transported by a ferry or by a train as well as periods of waiting at frontiers and those due to traffic prohibitions<sup>4</sup>.

A period is not to be treated as a period of availability unless the mobile worker knows before the start of the relevant period about that period of availability and its reasonably foreseeable duration<sup>5</sup>. The time spent by a mobile worker, who is working as part of a team, travelling in, but not driving, a moving vehicle as part of that team is a period of availability for that mobile worker<sup>6</sup>. A period of availability does not include a period of rest or a break<sup>7</sup>; but a period of availability may include a break taken by a mobile worker during waiting time or time which is not devoted to driving by the mobile worker and is spent in a moving vehicle, a ferry or a train<sup>8</sup>.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (4) HOURS AND RECORDS OF PERSONS PERFORMING MOBILE ROAD TRANSPORT ACTIVITIES/1404. Agency workers and individuals carrying on trade or business.

1404. Agency workers and individuals carrying on trade or business.

The following provision applies in any case where an individual ('the agency worker'): (1) is supplied by a person ('the agent') to do the work of a mobile worker<sup>1</sup> for another ('the principal') under a contract or other arrangements made between the agent and the principal; but (2) is not, as respects that work, a worker<sup>2</sup>, because of the absence of a worker's contract between the individual and the agent or the principal; and (3) is not a party to a contract under which he undertakes to do the work for another party to the contract whose status is, by virtue of the contract, that of a client or customer or any profession or business undertaking carried on by the individual<sup>3</sup>.

In a case where this provision applies, the other provisions of the Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005<sup>4</sup> have effect as if there were a contract for the doing of the work by the agency worker made between the agency worker and: (a) whichever of the agent and the principal is responsible for paying the agency worker in respect of the work; or (b) if neither the agent nor the principal is so responsible, whichever of them pays the agency worker in respect of the work, and as if that person were the agency worker's employer<sup>5</sup>.

In the case of an individual who, for the purpose of a trade or business carried on by him, drives a vehicle<sup>6</sup> of a specified description<sup>7</sup>, and is neither a self-employed driver<sup>8</sup> nor an agency worker<sup>9</sup> as described above<sup>10</sup>, the Regulations have effect as if: (i) the individual were both a mobile worker and the employer of that mobile worker; and (b) certain provisions as to information and records<sup>11</sup> were omitted<sup>12</sup>.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (4) HOURS AND RECORDS OF PERSONS PERFORMING MOBILE ROAD TRANSPORT ACTIVITIES/1406. Appointment and powers of inspectors.

1406. Appointment and powers of inspectors.

It is the duty of the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> to enforce the requirements of the Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005<sup>2</sup>.

The Secretary of State may appoint as inspectors<sup>3</sup> (under whatever title he may from time to time determine) such persons having suitable qualifications as he thinks necessary for carrying the regulations into effect, and may terminate any such appointment<sup>4</sup>. Every such appointment of a person as an inspector must be made by an instrument in writing specifying which of the powers conferred on inspectors by the regulations are to be exercisable by the person appointed; and an inspector is in right of his appointment entitled to exercise only such of those powers as are so specified<sup>5</sup>. An inspector must, if so required when exercising or seeking to exercise any power conferred on him by the regulations, produce his instrument of appointment or a duly authenticated copy thereof<sup>6</sup>.

Subject to the terms of his appointment and to the provisions below, an inspector may for the purpose of carrying into effect the Road Transport (Working Time) Regulations 2005 exercise the following powers<sup>7</sup>:

- 2197 (1) at any reasonable time (or in a situation which in his opinion may be dangerous, at any time) to enter any premises which he has reason to believe it is necessary for him to enter for the purpose of carrying the regulations into effect<sup>8</sup>;
- 2198 (2) to take with him a constable if he has reasonable cause to apprehend any serious obstruction in the execution of his duty<sup>9</sup>;
- 2199 (3) without prejudice to head (1) above, on entering any premises by virtue of head (1) above to take with him any other person duly authorised by the Secretary of State and any equipment or material required for any purpose for which the power of entry is being exercised<sup>10</sup>;
- 2200 (4) to make such examination and investigation as may in any circumstances be necessary for the purpose of carrying the regulations into effect<sup>11</sup>;
- 2201 (5) to require any person whom he has reasonable cause to believe to be able to give any information relevant to any examination or investigation under head (4) above to answer (in the absence of persons other than a person nominated by him to be present and any persons whom the inspector may allow to be present) such questions as the inspector thinks fit to ask and to sign a declaration of the truth of his answers<sup>12</sup>;
- 2202 (6) to require the production of, inspect, and take copies of, or of any entry in any records which by virtue of the regulations are required to be kept and any other books, records or documents which it is necessary for him to see for the purposes of any examination or investigation under head (4) above<sup>13</sup>;
- 2203 (7) to require any person to afford him such facilities and assistance with respect to any matters or things within that person's control or in relation to which that person has responsibilities as are necessary to enable the inspector to exercise any of the powers conferred on him by these provisions<sup>14</sup>;
- 2204 (8) any other power which is necessary for the purpose of carrying the regulations into effect<sup>15</sup>.

No answer given by a person in pursuance of a requirement imposed under head (5) above is admissible in evidence against that person or the husband or wife of that person in any proceedings<sup>16</sup>. Nothing in the above provisions<sup>17</sup> is to be taken to compel the production by any person of a document of which he would on grounds of legal professional privilege<sup>18</sup> be entitled to withhold production on an order for disclosure<sup>19</sup> in an action in the High Court<sup>20</sup>.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (4) HOURS AND RECORDS OF PERSONS PERFORMING MOBILE ROAD TRANSPORT ACTIVITIES/1407. Improvement notices and prohibition notices.

1407. Improvement notices and prohibition notices.

If an inspector<sup>1</sup> is of the opinion that a person: (1) is contravening one or more of the regulations<sup>2</sup>; or (2) has contravened one or more of the regulations in circumstances that make it likely that the contravention will continue or be repeated, he may serve on him a notice (an 'improvement notice') stating that he is of that opinion, specifying the provision or provisions as to which he is of that opinion, giving particulars of the reasons why he is of that opinion, and requiring that person to remedy the contravention or, as the case may be, the matter occasioning it within such period (ending not earlier than the period within which an appeal against the notice can be brought<sup>3</sup>) as may be specified in the notice<sup>4</sup>.

The following provisions apply to any activities which are being, or are likely to be, carried on by or under the control of any person, being activities to or in relation to which any of the regulations apply or will, if the activities are so carried on, apply<sup>5</sup>. If as regards any activities to which these provisions apply an inspector is of the opinion that, as carried on by or under the control of the person in question, the activities involve or, as the case may be, will involve a risk of serious personal injury, the inspector may serve on that person a notice (a 'prohibition notice')<sup>6</sup>. A prohibition notice must:

- 2205 (a) state that the inspector is of such opinion;
- 2206 (b) specify the matters which in his opinion give or, as the case may be, will give rise to the risk;
- 2207 (c) where in his opinion any of those matters involves or, as the case may be, will involve a contravention of any of the regulations, state that he is of that opinion, specify the regulation or regulations as to which he is of that opinion, and give particulars of the reasons why he is of that opinion; and
- 2208 (d) direct that the activities to which the notice relates are not to be carried on by or under the control of the person on whom the notice is served unless the matters specified in the notice in pursuance of head (b) above and any associated contraventions of provisions so specified in pursuance of head (c) above have been remedied<sup>7</sup>.

A direction contained in a prohibition notice in pursuance of head (d) above take effect either at the end of the period specified in the notice or, if the notice so declares, immediately<sup>8</sup>.

A notice<sup>9</sup> may (but need not) include directions as to the measures to be taken to remedy any contravention or matter to which the notice relates; and any such directions may be framed to any extent by reference to any approved code of practice and may be framed so as to afford the person on whom the notice is served a choice between different ways of remedying the contravention or matter<sup>10</sup>. Where an improvement notice or prohibition notice which is not to take immediate effect has been served, the notice may be withdrawn by an inspector at any time before the end of the period specified therein<sup>11</sup>; and the period so specified may be extended or further extended by an inspector at any time when an appeal against the notice is not pending<sup>12</sup>.

A person on whom a notice<sup>13</sup> is served may within 21 days from the date of its service appeal to an employment tribunal; and on such an appeal the tribunal may either cancel or affirm the notice and, if it affirms it, may do so either in its original form or with such modifications as the tribunal may in the circumstances think fit<sup>14</sup>. Where an appeal is brought against a notice within the period allowed, then<sup>15</sup>:

- 2209 (i) in the case of an improvement notice, the bringing of the appeal has the effect of suspending the operation of the notice until the appeal is finally disposed of or, if the appeal is withdrawn, until the withdrawal of the appeal<sup>16</sup>;
- 2210 (ii) in the case of a prohibition notice, the bringing of the appeal has the like effect if, but only if, on the application of the appellant the tribunal so directs (and then only from the giving of the direction)<sup>17</sup>.

One or more assessors may be appointed for the purposes of any proceedings brought before an employment tribunal under these provisions<sup>18</sup>.

If authorised in that behalf by the Secretary of State<sup>20</sup>, an inspector may prosecute proceedings for an offence before a magistrates' court even though the inspector is not of counsel or a solicitor<sup>21</sup>.

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1411. Recording equipment in passenger and goods vehicles.

(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)

1411. Recording equipment in passenger and goods vehicles.

Recording equipment (commonly known as 'tachographs') must be installed and used in vehicles<sup>1</sup> registered in a member state of the European Union which are used for the carriage of passengers or goods by road<sup>2</sup>. The recording equipment<sup>3</sup> which is installed must as regards construction, installation, use and testing, comply with certain requirements<sup>4</sup>. The equipment must bear an approval mark<sup>5</sup>, and may only be installed or repaired by fitters or workshops approved by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>. The approved fitter or workshop must place a special mark on the seals which it affixes, and a register of the marks used must be maintained<sup>7</sup>. To certify that installation of the equipment took place in accordance with the requirements<sup>8</sup>, the fitter or workshop must fix a plaque<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'vehicle' in the Community rules see PARA 1380 ante.

2 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport, art 3(1) (art 3(1)-(3) substituted by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(2)). EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 3(1) (as substituted) also provides that the requirement does not apply to vehicles referred to in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 3 (see PARA 1384 ante). A vehicle is used for the carriage of passengers or goods by road where it is constructed or adapted for that use; the purpose of any particular journey is irrelevant: R (on the application of the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency) v North Leicester Vehicle Movements Ltd [2003] EWHC 2638 (Admin), [2004] RTR 499. Member states may exempt vehicles mentioned in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 13(1), (3) from the application of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8): see art 3(2) (as so substituted); the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819; and PARA 1385 ante. Member states may, after authorisation by the European Commission, exempt from the application of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) (as amended) vehicles used for the transport operations referred to in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 14 (see PARA 1385 ante): EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 3(3) (as so substituted). In the case of national transport operations, member states may also require the installation and use of recording equipment in accordance with EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) (as amended) in any of the vehicles for which installation and use are not required by art 3(1) (as substituted): see art 3(4). For the meaning of 'carriage by road' see PARA 1380 ante.

3 In EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8), Annex I (as amended), 'recording equipment' means equipment intended for installation in road vehicles to show and record automatically or semi-automatically details of the movement of those vehicles and of certain working periods of their drivers: Annex I Ch I para (a). Such recording equipment is commonly known as a 'tachograph'. In Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended), 'recording equipment' means the total equipment intended for installation in road vehicles to show, record and store automatically or semi-automatically details of the movement of such vehicles and of certain work periods of their drivers: Annex IB Ch I para (ee) (Annex IB added by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1); and substituted by EC Commission Regulation 1360/2002 (OJ L207, 5.8.2002, p 1)).

4 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 1 (amended by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). The requirements referred to in the text are the requirements of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8), and of Annex I (as amended) or Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended) and Annex II (as amended): see art 1 (as so amended).

Annex I (as amended) makes provision as to:

1387 (1) the general characteristics and functions of recording equipment (see Annex I Ch II (amended by EEC Commission Regulation 3314/90 (OJ L318, 17.11.90, p 20)));

1388 (2) construction requirements for recording equipment, including provisions relating to visual instruments, recording instruments, closing devices, markings and maximum tolerances (see EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I Ch III (amended by EEC Commission Regulation 3314/90 (OJ L318, 17.11.90, p 20)));

1389 (3) record sheets, including provisions relating to recording areas and their graduation, information to be printed on the record sheets and free space for hand written insertions (see EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I Ch IV);

- 1390 (4) installation of recording equipment, including provisions relating to the position of the equipment, installation plaques, and sealing (see Annex I Ch V (amended by EEC Commission Regulation 3688/92 (OJ L374, 22.12.92, p 1); EC Commission Regulation 2479/95 (OJ L256, 26.10.95, p 8); EC Commission Regulation 1056/97 (OJ L154, 12.6.97, p 21))); and
- 1391 (5) checks and inspections, including provisions relating to certification of new or repaired instruments, installation, periodic inspections and measurement of errors (see EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I Ch VI).

Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended) makes provision as to:

- 1392 (a) general characteristics and functions of recording equipment, including provisions relating to recording and storing in the data memory, storing on the driver card, system security and displaying or printing on request for an authorised user (Annex IB Ch II (as added and substituted: see note 3 supra));
- 1393 (b) construction and functional requirements for recording equipment, including provisions relating to visual instruments, warning signals, memory, markings and maximum tolerances (Annex IB Ch III (as so added and substituted));
- 1394 (c) construction and functional requirements for tachograph cards, including card identification and security, driver cards, control cards, workshop cards and company cards (Annex IB Ch IV (as so added and substituted; and amended by the Act concerning the conditions of accession of the Czech Republic, the Republic of Estonia, the Republic of Cyprus, the Republic of Latvia, the Republic of Lithuania, the Republic of Hungary, the Republic of Malta, the Republic of Poland, the Republic of Slovenia and the Slovak Republic and the adjustments to the Treaties on which the European Union is founded (OJ L236, 23.9.2003, p 33); Corrigendum (OJ L077, 13.3.2004, p 71); and EC Commission Regulation 432/2004 (OJ L71, 10.3.2004, p 3) art 1));

- 1398 (g) type approval of recording equipment and tachograph cards, including security certificates, functional certificates, interoperability certificates and type approval certificates (Annex IB Ch VIII (as so added and substituted)).

For the meaning of 'driver card' see PARA 1412 note 1 post. For the meanings of 'calibration', 'data memory', 'control card', 'workshop card', 'company card', 'activation', 'installation', 'card number' and 'type approval' see Annex IB Ch I paras (f), (q), (o), (qq), (l), (a), (x), (g), (ll) (as so added and substituted).

EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1) art 2 provides for a phased introduction of the provisions of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex IB (as added and substituted) relating to digital recording equipment and driver cards.

UPDATE

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

1411 Recording equipment in passenger and goods vehicles

NOTE 6--SI 1986/2128 further amended: SI 2009/866.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131; VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1412. Driver cards.

1412. Driver cards.

The driver card<sup>1</sup> must be issued, at the request of the driver, by the competent authority<sup>2</sup> of a member state where the driver has his normal residence<sup>3</sup>. Where the competent authority issuing the driver card has doubts as to the validity of a statement as to normal residence, or for the purpose of certain specific controls, it may request any additional information or evidence<sup>4</sup>. The competent authority must, as far as this can be done, ensure that the applicant for a driver card does not already hold a valid driver card<sup>5</sup>. Driver cards issued by member states must be mutually recognised<sup>6</sup>.

The competent authority must personalise the driver card<sup>7</sup>, and for administrative purposes, the driver card may not be valid for more than five years<sup>8</sup>. The driver may hold one valid driver card only, and he is authorised to use only his own personalised driver card<sup>9</sup>. The driver must not use a driver card which is defective or which has expired<sup>10</sup>. When a new driver card is issued replacing the old, the new card must bear the same driver card issue number but the index must be increased by one<sup>11</sup>. The competent authority must keep records of issued, stolen, lost or defective driver cards for a period at least equivalent to their period of validity<sup>12</sup>. If a driver card issued by the competent authority is damaged, malfunctions or is lost or stolen, the authority must supply a replacement within five working days of receiving a detailed request to that effect<sup>13</sup>.

If a driver card is damaged or if it malfunctions, the driver must return it to the competent authority of the member state in which he has his normal residence<sup>14</sup>. Theft of the driver card must be the subject of a formal declaration to the competent authorities of the state where the theft occurred<sup>15</sup>. Loss of the driver card must be reported in a formal declaration to the competent authority of the state that issued it and to the competent authority of the member state of normal residence where they are different<sup>16</sup>.

1 For the purposes of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport, Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended), 'driver card' means a tachograph card issued by the authorities of a member state to a particular driver; the driver card identifies the driver and allows for storage of driver activity data: Annex IB Ch I para (t) (Annex IB added by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1); and substituted by EC Commission Regulation 1360/2002 (OJ L207, 5.8.2002, p 1)). 'Tachograph card' means a smart card intended for use with the recording equipment: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex IB Ch I para (kk) (as so added and substituted). Tachograph cards allow for identification by the recording equipment of the identity (or identity group) of the cardholder and allow for data transfer and storage; a tachograph card may be of the following types: driver card, control card, workshop card or company card: Annex IB Ch I para (kk) (as so added and substituted).

2 As to the competent authority in relation to type approval see the Motor Vehicles (Type Approval) Regulations 1980, SI 1980/1182 (as amended).

3 See EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 14(3) (art 14(3), (4), (5) added by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). A member state may require any driver subject to the provisions of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) (repealed: see now European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1)) and normally resident on its territory to hold a driver card: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 14(3) (as so added).

For these purposes, 'normal residence' means the place where a person usually lives, that is for at least 185 days in each calendar year, because of personal and occupational ties, or, in the case of a person with no occupational ties, because of personal ties which show close links between that person and the place where he is living: art 14(3)(a), 1st para (as so added). However, the normal residence of a person whose occupational ties are in a different place from his personal ties and who consequently lives in turn in different places situated in two or more member states must be regarded as being the place of his personal ties, provided that such a person returns there regularly, but this last condition need not be met where the person is living in an member state in order to carry out a fixed term assignment: art 14(3)(a), 2nd para (as so added). Drivers must give proof of their place of normal residence by any appropriate means, such as their identity card or any other valid document: art 14(3)(b) (as so added).

Driver cards must be issued only to applicants who are subject to the provisions of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) (drivers' hours) (repealed: see now European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1)): EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 14(4)(b) (as so added). The driver card is personal, and may not, during its official period of validity, be withdrawn or suspended for whatever reason unless the competent authority of a member state finds that the card has been falsified, or the driver is using a card of which he is not the holder, or that the card held has been obtained on the basis of false declarations and/or forged documents: art 14(4)(c) (as so added). If such suspension or withdrawal measures are taken by a member state other than the member state of issue, the former must return the card to the authorities of the member state which issued it and must indicate the reasons for returning it: art 14(4)(c) (as so added).

Member states must ensure that data needed to monitor compliance with EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) (repealed: see now European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1)) and EEC Council Directive 92/6 (OJ L57, 2.3.1992, p 27) (as amended) on the installation and use of speed limitation devices for certain categories of motor vehicles in the Community which are recorded and stored by recording equipment in conformity with EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended) can be made available for at least 365 days after the date of their recording and that they can be made available under conditions that guarantee the security and accuracy of the data: art 14(5) (as so added). Member states must take any measures necessary to ensure that the resale or decommissioning of recording equipment cannot detract, in particular, from the satisfactory application of this provision: art 14(5) (as so added).

5 Ibid art 14(3)(d) (as added: see note 3 supra).

6 Ibid art 14(4)(d), 1st para (as added: see note 3 supra). Where the holder of a valid driver card issued by a member state has established his normal place of residence in another member state, he may ask for his card to be exchanged for an equivalent driver card; it is the responsibility of the competent authority which carries out the exchange to verify if necessary whether the card produced is actually still valid, and member states carrying out an exchange must return the old card to the authorities of the member state of issue and indicate reasons for doing so: art 14(4)(d), 2nd, 3rd paras (as so added). Where a member state replaces or exchanges a driver card, the replacement or exchange, and any subsequent replacement or renewal, must be registered: art 14(4)(e) (as so added). Member states must take all necessary measures to prevent any possibility of driver cards being falsified: art 14(4)(f) (as so added).

7 In accordance with the provisions of ibid Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended): see PARA 1411 ante.

Ibid art 14(4)(a), 1st, 2nd paras (as added: see note 3 supra).

9 Ibid art 14(4)(a), 3rd para (as added: see note 3 supra).

10 Ibid art 14(4)(a), 3rd para (as added: see note 3 supra).

11 Ibid art 14(4)(a), 4th para (as added: see note 3 supra).

12 Ibid art 14(4)(a), 4th para (as added: see note 3 supra).

13 Ibid art 14(4)(a), 5th para (as added: see note 3 supra). In the event of a request for the renewal of a card whose expiry date is approaching, the competent authority must supply a new card before the expiry date provided that the request was sent not later than 15 working days before the expiry date of the card: art 14(4)(a), 6th para (as so added); art 15(1) (amended by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)).

14 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 16(3), 1st para (art 16(3) added by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). The driver may continue to drive without a driver card for a maximum period of 15 calendar days or for a longer period if this is necessary for the vehicle to return to its premises, provided he can prove the impossibility of producing or using the card during this period: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 16(3), 3rd para (as so added). Where the authorities of the member state in which the driver has his normal residence are different from those which issued his card and where the latter are requested to renew, replace or exchange the driver card, they must inform the authorities which issued the old card of the precise reasons for its renewal, replacement or exchange: art 16(3), 4th para (as so added). If the driver card is damaged, malfunctions or is lost or stolen, the driver must apply within seven calendar days for its replacement to the competent authority of the member state in which he has his normal residence: art 15(1), 4th para (as amended: see note 13 supra).

15 Ibid art 16(3), 1st para (as added: see note 14 supra).

16 Ibid art 16(3), 2nd para (as added: see note 14 supra).

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1413. Use and operation of recording equipment.

1413. Use and operation of recording equipment.

The employer<sup>1</sup> and drivers<sup>2</sup> must ensure the correct functioning and proper use of, on the one hand, the recording equipment and, on the other hand, the driver card<sup>3</sup> where a driver is required<sup>4</sup> to drive a vehicle fitted with recording equipment<sup>5</sup>. In the event of breakdown or faulty operation of the equipment, the employer must have it repaired by an approved fitter or workshop, as soon as circumstances permit<sup>6</sup>. If the vehicle is unable to return to the premises within a period of one week calculated from the day of the breakdown or of the discovery of defective operation, the repair must be carried out en route<sup>7</sup>.

While the recording equipment is unserviceable or malfunctioning, drivers must mark on the record sheet or sheets, or on a temporary sheet to be attached to the record sheet or to the driver card, on which he must enter data enabling him to be identified<sup>8</sup>, including his signature, all information for the various periods of time which are no longer recorded or printed out correctly by the recording equipment<sup>9</sup>. If the driver card is damaged, malfunctions or is lost or stolen, the driver must, at the end of his journey, print out the information relating to the periods of time recorded by the recording equipment and mark on that document the details that enable him to be identified<sup>10</sup>, including his signature<sup>11</sup>.

Where the vehicle is fitted with certain recording equipment<sup>12</sup>, the employer and the driver must ensure that, taking into account the length of the period of service, printing on request<sup>13</sup> can be carried out correctly in the event of an inspection<sup>14</sup>.

The driver must enter in certain recording equipment<sup>15</sup> the symbols of the countries in which he begins and ends his daily work period, and these data entries must be activated by the driver, and may be entirely manual or automatic if the recording equipment is linked to a satellite tracking system<sup>16</sup>.

1 'Employer' in this context means the person who is at that time requiring the driver to drive, albeit that he may not be the person who pays the driver's wages: see Alcock v GC Griston Ltd [1981] RTR 34, [1980] Crim LR 653, DC (where a part-time driver was hired by an employment agency, and the agency paid his wages but did not direct his work).

7 Ibid art 16(1), 2nd para. Measures taken by the member states pursuant to art 19 may give the competent authorities power to prohibit the use of the vehicle in cases where breakdown or faulty operation has not been put right as provided in art 16(1): art 16(1), 3rd para.

8 The data which enables the driver to be identified is his driver card number and/or name and/or driving licence number: see ibid art 16(2), 1st para (art 16(2) substituted by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)).

9 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 16(2), 1st para (as substituted: see note 8 supra). Any entry made on a record sheet or a print-out by a driver for the purposes of art 16(2) (as substituted) is, in any proceedings under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) evidence of the matters appearing from the entry: s 97B(2) (s 97B added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 2(1); and amended by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1457, reg 3(3); and the Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 3).

UPDATE

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1414. Record sheets and driver cards.

1414. Record sheets and driver cards.

The employer<sup>6</sup> must issue a sufficient number of record sheets<sup>7</sup> to drivers of vehicles fitted<sup>8</sup> with recording equipment, bearing in mind the fact that the sheets are personal in character, the length of the period of service, and the possible obligation to replace sheets which are damaged or have been taken by an authorised inspecting officer<sup>9</sup>. The employer must issue to drivers only sheets of an approved model<sup>10</sup> suitable for use in the equipment installed in the vehicle<sup>11</sup>. The undertaking must keep record sheets and print-outs, whenever print-outs have been made<sup>12</sup>, in chronological order and in a legible form for at least a year after their use and must give copies to the drivers concerned who request them<sup>13</sup>. The undertaking must also give copies of downloaded data from the driver cards to the drivers concerned who request them and the printed papers of these copies<sup>14</sup>. The record sheets, print-outs and downloaded data must be produced or handed over at the request of any authorised inspecting officer<sup>15</sup>.

Drivers must not use dirty or damaged record sheets or driver cards, and the sheets or cards must be adequately protected on this account<sup>16</sup>. Drivers must use the record sheets or driver cards every day on which they are driving, starting from the moment they take over the vehicle<sup>17</sup>. The record sheet or driver card must not be withdrawn before the end of the daily working period unless its withdrawal is otherwise authorised<sup>18</sup>. No record sheet or driver card may be used to cover a period longer than that for which it is intended<sup>19</sup>.

Drivers must ensure that the time recorded on the sheet agrees with the official time in the country of registration of the vehicle and operate the switch mechanisms enabling the following periods of time to be recorded separately and distinctly under the prescribed sign<sup>20</sup>: (1) driving time<sup>21</sup>; (2) time spent on other work<sup>22</sup>; (3) other periods of availability<sup>23</sup>; (4) breaks in work and daily rest periods<sup>24</sup>.

The recording equipment must be so designed that it is possible for an authorised inspecting officer, if necessary after opening the equipment, to read the recordings relating to the nine hours preceding the time of the check without permanently deforming, damaging or soiling the sheet<sup>25</sup>. The equipment must, furthermore, be so designed that it is possible, without opening the case, to verify that recordings are being made<sup>26</sup>.

Where the driver drives a vehicle fitted with recording equipment<sup>27</sup> or digital recording equipment<sup>28</sup>, the driver must be able to produce, whenever an inspecting officer so requests, the driver card (if any) and specified records<sup>29</sup>.

In any proceedings under the statutory provisions relating to drivers' hours<sup>30</sup>, any record produced by means of recording equipment is evidence of the matters appearing from the record<sup>31</sup>.

1     The recording equipment complying with the relevant Annexes as defined in the Transport Act 1968 s 97 (as amended). 'The relevant Annexes' to the Community Recording Equipment Regulation: (1) in the case of a vehicle put into service for the first time before 1 May 2006 means: (a) either Annex I (as amended) or Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended); and (b) Annex II (as amended); and (2) in the case of a vehicle put into service for the first time on or after that date means (a) Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended); and (b) Annex II (as amended): Transport Act 1968 s 97(7) (s 97 substituted by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3; definition added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 2(1), (5), (8); and substituted by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) (Fitting Date) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/1117, reg 2). See PARA 1411 ante.

For the purposes of the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) the 'Community Recording Equipment Regulation' means EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport (as amended) as it has effect in accordance with EEC Commission Regulation 3314/90 (OJ L318, 17.11.90, p 20), EEC Commission Regulation 3688/92 (OJ L374, 22.12.92, p 12), EC Commission Regulation 2479/95 (OJ L256, 26.10.95, p 8), EC Commission Regulation 1056/97 (OJ L154, 12.6.1997, p 21), EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.1998, p 1) art 1, EC Commission Regulation 1360/2002 (OJ L207, 5.8.2002, p 1), the Act concerning the conditions of accession of the Czech Republic, the Republic of Estonia, the Republic of Cyprus, the Republic of Latvia, the Republic of Lithuania, the Republic of Hungary, the Republic of Malta, the Republic of Poland, the Republic of Slovenia and the Slovak Republic and the adjustments to the Treaties on which the European Union is founded (OJ L236, 23.9.2003, p 33), European Parliament and Council Regulation 1882/2003 (OJ L284, 31.10.2003, p 1), EC Commission Regulation 432/2004 (OJ L71, 10.3.2004, p 3) and European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1), and as read with the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment (Exemptions and Supplementary Provisions) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1456 (revoked: see now the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819) (see PARA 1385 ante): Transport Act 1968 s 97(7) (s 97 as so substituted; definition substituted by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Community Recording Equipment Regulation) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/3276, reg 2(1), (2)(a)); Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3(7)). 'Recording equipment' means equipment for recording information as to the use of a vehicle: Transport Act 1968 s 97(7) (as so substituted); s 103(1) (definition added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3(7)).

2     See PARA 1411 ante.

3     See PARA 1413 ante.

4 For the meanings of 'passenger vehicle' and 'goods vehicle' see PARA 1380 ante.

5 See the Transport Act 1968 s 98(2A) (added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3(1); and amended by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 4). See Concorde Express Transport Ltd v Traffic Examiner Metropolitan Area [1980] 2 CMLR 221.

6 As to the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 1413 note 1 ante. If an employed driver of a vehicle to which the Transport Act 1968 s 97 (as amended) applies (see PARA 1424 post) fails, where he has two or more employers by whom he is employed as a driver of such a vehicle, to notify each of them of the names and address of the other or others of them, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 97A(1)(b) (s 97A added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 2(1); and amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 39(2), 46, Sch 3; and by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1457, reg 3). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. As to where an offence may be treated as having been committed see PARA 1393 note 5 ante.

7 'Record sheet' means a sheet designed to accept and retain recorded data, to be placed in the recording equipment and on which the equipment's marking devices inscribe a continuous record of the information to be recorded: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8), Annex I Ch I para (b). In the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended), 'record sheet' includes a temporary sheet attached to a record sheet in accordance with EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 16(2) (as substituted) (see PARA 1413 ante): Transport Act 1968 s 103(1) (definition added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3(7); and amended by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1457, reg 3(3)).

8 Ie in conformity with EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I (as amended): see PARA 1411 ante.

9 Ibid art 14(1), 1st para (art 14(1) substituted by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)).

10 For the requirements as to record sheets see EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex I Ch IV.

11 Ibid art 14(1), 1st para (as substituted: see note 9 supra).

12 Ie to comply with ibid art 15(1) (as amended): see the text and note 16 infra.

13 Ibid art 14(2) (substituted by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(3)). This provision requires the employer to keep the record sheets in good order and thus requires him to ensure that the record sheets are used and returned to him since it assumes that that will be done: Murfitts Transport Ltd v Department of Transport [1998] RTR 229, DC.

14 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 14(2) (as substituted: see note 13 supra).

15 Ibid art 14(2) (as substituted: see note 13 supra).

16 Ibid art 15(1), 1st para (art 15(1), (2) amended by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). In the case of damage to a record sheet bearing recordings, drivers must attach the damaged sheet to the spare sheet used to replace it: EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 15(1), 3rd para (as so amended). For the meaning of 'driver card' see PARA 1412 note 1 ante.

Any entry made on a record sheet or print-out by a driver for the purposes of art 15(2) (as amended) or art 15(5) is, in any proceedings under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) evidence of the matters appearing from the entry: s 97B(2) (s 97B added by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 2(1); and amended by the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1457, reg 3(3); and the Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 3).

17 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 15(2), 1st para (as amended: see note 16 supra). See Vehicle Operators and Services Agency v Jones [2005] EWHC 2278 (Admin), [2006] RTR 65 (unlawful interference with tachograph).

18 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 15(2), 1st para (as amended: see note 16 supra).

19 Ibid art 15(2), 1st para (as amended: see note 16 supra). When, as a result of being away from the vehicle, a driver is unable to use the equipment fitted to the vehicle, the entries for the periods of time referred to in heads (2)-(4) in the text must: (1) if the vehicle is fitted with recording equipment in conformity with Annex I (as amended), be entered on the record sheet, either manually, by automatic recording or other means, legibly and without dirtying the sheet; or (2) if the vehicle is fitted with recording equipment in conformity with Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended), be entered onto the driver card using the manual entry facility provided in the recording equipment: art 15(2), 2nd para (substituted by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 26(4)). Where there is more than one driver on board the vehicle fitted with recording equipment in conformity with EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended), each driver must ensure that his driver card is inserted into the correct slot in the tachograph: art 15(2), 2nd para (as so substituted).

The provisions of art 15(2) (as amended) contemplate that there might be more than one driver of a vehicle so the regulation covers not only persons driving the vehicle at the material time but a driver present in the vehicle as a passenger; that driver had therefore 'taken over the vehicle' and commenced his working day when boarding the vehicle: Vehicle Inspectorate v Anelay [1998] RTR 279, DC. Conversely the 'daily working period' for the purposes of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 15(2) (as amended) did not end until, at the earliest, the driver had ceased to drive the vehicle in which the recording equipment was installed; thus when the driver used the vehicle to get home this was part of the 'daily working period': DPP v Guy [1998] RTR 82, (1997) 161 JP 727, DC. The 'daily working period' comprises the driving time, all other periods of work, the period of availability, breaks in work and, where the driver divides his daily rest period into two or three separate periods, such a period, provided that he does not exceed one hour; it commences at the time when the driver activates the tachograph following a weekly or daily rest period, or, if the daily rest is divided into separate periods, following the rest period of at least eight hours' duration; it ends at the beginning of a daily rest period or, if the daily rest is divided into separate periods, at the beginning of a rest period extending over a minimum of eight consecutive hours: see Case C-394/92 Re Michielsen and Geybels Transport Service NV [1994] ECR I-2497, [1995] IRLR 171, ECJ; Case C-313/92 Van Swieten BV [1994] ECR I-2177, ECJ; and PARA 1387 note 8 ante. See also Vehicle Operators and Services Agency v Jones [2005] EWHC 2278 (Admin), [2006] RTR 65.

20 EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 15(3), 1st and 2nd indents. A period of voluntary overtime which a driver spends working in his employer's yard is part of the driver's daily working period because the driver is no longer free to dispose of his time when he has decided to work overtime: Prime v Hosking [1995] RTR 189, [1995] IRLR 143, DC. ### 1414 Record sheets and driver cards

NOTE 1--The 'Community Recording Equipment Regulation' now means EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 on recording equipment in road transport as read with the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1819: Transport Act 1968 s 97(7) (definition substituted by SI 2010/892).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1415. Approval of types of recording equipment or its components, and model record sheets or memory card.

1415. Approval of types of recording equipment or its components, and model record sheets or memory card.

To establish that recording equipment or its components or a model record sheet complies with the Community rules as to recording equipment<sup>1</sup>, provision is made for the type approval of recording equipment and its components, and for model record sheets<sup>2</sup>. Applications for EC approval of a type of recording equipment or its components<sup>3</sup> or of a model record sheet or memory card must be submitted, accompanied by the appropriate specifications, by a manufacturer or his agent to a member state<sup>4</sup>. A member state must grant EC component type approval of a type of recording equipment or its components or of a model record sheet or memory card<sup>5</sup>, provided the member state is in a position to check that production models conform to the approved type<sup>6</sup>. Member states must issue to the applicant an EC approval mark<sup>7</sup>, for each type of recording equipment or its components or model record sheet or memory card which they so approve<sup>8</sup>. The competent authority of the member state to which the application for type approval has been submitted must, in respect of each type of recording equipment or its components or model record sheet or memory card which it approves or refuses to approve, either send within one month to the authorities of the other member states a copy of the approval certificate accompanied by copies of the relevant specifications, or, if such is the case, notify those authorities that approval has been refused; in cases of refusal it must communicate the reasons for its decision<sup>9</sup>.

If a member state which has granted the EC type approval finds that certain recording equipment or its components or record sheets or memory card bearing the EC type approval mark which it has issued do not conform to the prototype which it has approved, it must take the necessary measures to ensure that production models conform to the approved prototype<sup>10</sup>. The measures may, if necessary, extend to withdrawal of EC type approval<sup>11</sup>. A member state which has granted EC type approval must withdraw such approval if the recording equipment or its components or record sheet or memory card is not in conformity with the Community rules as to recording equipment<sup>12</sup> or displays in use any general defect which makes it unsuitable for the purpose for which it is intended<sup>13</sup>.

No member state may refuse to register any vehicle fitted with recording equipment or its components, or prohibit the entry into service or use of such vehicle for any reason connected with the fact that the vehicle is fitted with such equipment or component, if the equipment or a component fitted in a vehicle bears the EC approval mark<sup>14</sup> and the installation plaque<sup>15</sup>.

All decisions refusing or withdrawing approval of a type of recording equipment or its components or model record sheet or memory card must specify in detail the reasons on which they are based, and a decision must be communicated to the party concerned, who must at the same time be informed of the remedies available to him under the laws of the member states and of the time limits for the exercise of such remedies<sup>16</sup>.

1    Ie EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport (as amended), and in particular, Annex I (as amended) and Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended): see PARA 1411 ante. For the meaning of 'recording equipment' in Annex I (as amended) and Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended) see PARA 1411 note 3 ante.

2    See ibid Ch II (arts 4-11) (as amended). For the meaning of 'record sheet' see PARA 1414 note 7 ante.

3    For the purposes of ibid Ch II (as amended), 'recording equipment' means 'recording equipment or its components': art 4, 1st para.

An applicant for EC type approval of a model record sheet must state on his application the type or types of recording equipment on which the sheet in question is designed to be used and must provide suitable equipment of such type or types for the purpose of testing the sheet: art 9(1). The competent authorities of each member state must indicate on the approval certificate for the model record sheet the type or types of recording equipment or its components on which that model sheet may be used: art 9(2). As to the competent authority in relation to type approval see the Motor Vehicles (Type Approval) Regulations 1980, SI 1980/1182 (as amended).

The European Commission, acting in accordance with the procedure laid down in art 18 (as substituted), must ensure that Annex IB (as added, substituted and amended) stipulates that recording equipment may not be granted EC component type approval until the whole system (ie the recording equipment itself, driver card and electrical gearbox connections) has demonstrated its capacity to resist attempts to tamper with or alter the data on driving times, and the tests necessary to establish this must be carried out by experts familiar with up to date tampering techniques: art 5, 2nd para (as so substituted).

Any modifications or additions to an approved model must receive additional EC type approval from the member state which granted the original EC type approval: art 5, 3rd para.

7    Ie which must conform to the model in ibid Annex II: see PARA 1411 ante.

13   Ibid art 8(2) (amended by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). If a member state which has granted EC type approval is notified by another member state of one of the cases referred to in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 8(1), (2) (as amended), it must also, after consulting the latter member state, take the steps laid down in art 8(1), (2) (as amended), subject to art 8(5): art 8(3). A member state which ascertains that one of the cases referred to in art 8(2) (as amended) has arisen may forbid until further notice the placing on the market and putting into service of the recording equipment or its components or record sheets or memory card: art 8(4), 1st para (amended by EC Council Regulation 2135/98 (OJ L274, 9.10.98, p 1)). The same applies in the cases mentioned in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) art 8(1) (as amended) with respect to recording equipment or its components or record sheets or memory which have been exempted from EC initial verification, if the manufacturer, after due warning, does not bring the equipment into line with the approved model or with the requirements of EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) (as amended): art 8(4), 1st para (as so amended). In any event, the competent authorities of the member states must notify one another and the European Commission, within one month, of any withdrawal of EC type approval or of any other measures taken pursuant to art 8(1), (2), (3) (as amended) and must specify the reasons for such action: art 8(4), 2nd para.

If a member state which has granted an EC type approval disputes the existence of any of the cases specified in art 8(1) or (2) (as amended) notified to it, the member states concerned must endeavour to settle the dispute and the European Commission must be kept informed: art 8(5), 1st para. If talks between the member states have not resulted in agreement within four months of the date of the notification referred to in art 8(3), the European Commission, after consulting experts from all member states and having considered all the relevant factors, eg economic and technical factors, must within six months adopt a decision which must be communicated to the member states concerned and at the same time to the other member states, and the European Commission must lay down in each instance the time limit for implementation of its decision: art 8(5), 2nd para.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/(5) RECORDING EQUIPMENT (TACHOGRAPHS)/1417. Use and possession of tachograph cards.

1417. Use and possession of tachograph cards.

A person commits an offence<sup>1</sup>:

- 2235 (1) if he uses, attempts to use or is in possession of, more than one driver card<sup>2</sup> on which he is identified as the holder<sup>3</sup>;
- 2236 (2) if he uses or attempts to use a driver card on which he is not identified as the holder<sup>4</sup>;
- 2237 (3) if, with intent to deceive, he makes a false statement, or forges or alters a document, for the purpose of obtaining a driver card<sup>5</sup>;
- 2238 (4) if he uses, or is in possession of, a driver card issued in consequence of an application which included, with intent to deceive, a false statement or forged or altered document<sup>6</sup>; or
- 2239 (5) if he uses, or is in possession of, a driver card which has been forged or altered<sup>7</sup>.

A person commits an offence if he causes or permits any use or possession of a driver card, or the making of any false statement or forgery or alteration of a document specified in heads (1) to (5) above<sup>8</sup>.

It is not an offence, however, to hold a card which will become time-expired within one month and the card which has been issued by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> in renewal of the former card, or to hold a card, which has become time-expired, in combination with another card<sup>10</sup>.

A person commits an offence<sup>11</sup>:

- 2240 (a) if he uses, attempts to use or is in possession of more than one workshop card<sup>12</sup>, on which he is identified as the holder, or more than one PIN<sup>13</sup>, in respect of the same place of work<sup>14</sup>;
- 2241 (b) if he uses or attempts to use a workshop card, or PIN, of which he is not the identified holder<sup>15</sup>;
- 2242 (c) if he uses or attempts to use a workshop card, or PIN, in circumstances unconnected with the place of work for which that card, or PIN, was issued<sup>16</sup>;
- 2243 (d) if, with intent to deceive, he makes a false statement, or forges or alters a document, for the purpose of obtaining a workshop card or PIN<sup>17</sup>;

- 2246 (g) if he divulges to another person, or permits another person to use, the PIN used in connection with a workshop card of which he is identified as the holder<sup>20</sup>.

A person commits an offence if he causes or permits any use, alteration or possession of a workshop card or PIN, or the making of any false statement or forgery or alteration of a document, specified in heads (1) to (g) above<sup>21</sup>.

It is not an offence, however, to hold a workshop card which will become time-expired within one month and the workshop card which has been issued by the Secretary of State in renewal of the former workshop card, or to hold a workshop card, which has become time-expired, in combination with another workshop card<sup>22</sup>.

If a tachograph card<sup>23</sup> is lost or stolen, the person to whom that card was issued must notify the Secretary of State in writing and must provide such information or documents concerning the loss or theft as the Secretary of State may require<sup>24</sup>. If a tachograph card is found at any time after the Secretary of State has been notified of the loss or theft of it, the person to whom that card was issued, if it is in his possession, must return it to the Secretary of State, or if it is not in his possession, but he becomes aware that it is found, must take all reasonable steps to take possession of it and if successful must return it as soon as may be to the Secretary of State<sup>25</sup>. If a tachograph card is damaged or malfunctions, the person to whom that card was issued must return it to the Secretary of State and must provide such information or documents concerning the damage or malfunction as the Secretary of State may require<sup>26</sup>. A person who fails to comply with these requirements as to lost, stolen or malfunctioning tachograph cards commits an offence<sup>27</sup>.

Where the details of the holder of a tachograph card specified on the card cease to be correct, the holder must: (i) forthwith notify the Secretary of State of the details which require correction; and (ii) surrender the card when required to do so, to such address as may be specified, by the Secretary of State<sup>28</sup>. Where it appears to the Secretary of State that a tachograph card issued by him to any person was issued in error or with an error or omission in the particulars specified in the card, he may serve notice in writing on that person requiring him to surrender that card and it is the duty of that person to comply with the requirement<sup>29</sup>. On surrender of a card by a person in accordance with these provisions the Secretary of State must, if so requested by that person, issue a replacement card to him<sup>30</sup>. The Secretary of State may require the person surrendering the card to provide such information and documents as the Secretary of State may require to enable him to correct the details, error or omission before issuing a new card<sup>31</sup>. A person who fails to comply with the requirements as to notification or surrender<sup>32</sup> commits an offence<sup>33</sup>.

A person in possession of a tachograph card: (A) on which the person using the card is not identified as the holder; (B) which has been falsified; or (C) which has been issued in consequence of an application which included a false statement or forged or altered document must surrender that card to the Secretary of State, by such means and to such address as may be specified by the Secretary of State<sup>34</sup>. A constable or a vehicle examiner<sup>35</sup> may remove and retain such a tachograph card which has not been surrendered to the Secretary of State<sup>36</sup>. A person who does not surrender a card in accordance with these provisions commits an offence<sup>37</sup>.

(6) RECORDS ON DOMESTIC DRIVING OR WORK

1418. Written records.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may make regulations<sup>2</sup>: (1) for requiring drivers<sup>3</sup> to keep, and employers<sup>4</sup> of employee-drivers<sup>5</sup> to cause to be kept, in such books as may be specified in the regulations records with respect to such matter relevant to the enforcement of Part VI of the Transport Act 1968<sup>6</sup> as may be so specified<sup>7</sup>; and (2) for requiring owner-drivers<sup>8</sup> and the employers of employee-drivers to maintain such registers as may be so specified with respect to any such books which are in their possession or in that of any employee-drivers in their employment<sup>9</sup>.

Such regulations may contain such supplementary and incidental provisions including provisions supplementary and incidental to the requirements of the applicable Community rules<sup>10</sup> as to books, records or documents as the Secretary of State thinks necessary or expedient, including in particular provisions<sup>11</sup>:

- 2247 (a) specifying the person or persons from whom books and registers required for the purposes of the regulations or of the applicable Community rules are to be obtained and, if provision is made for them to be obtained from the Secretary of State, charging a fee for their issue by him (which is payable into the Consolidated Fund)<sup>12</sup>;
- 2248 (b) as to the form and manner of making of entries in such books and registers<sup>13</sup>;
- 2249 (c) as to the issue by and return to the employers of employee-drivers of books required to be kept by the latter for the purposes of the regulations<sup>14</sup>;
- 2250 (d) requiring any book in current use for the purposes of the regulations to be carried on, or by the driver of, any vehicle, as to the preservation of any books and registers used for those purposes, and otherwise as to the manner in which those books and registers are to be dealt with<sup>15</sup>;
- 2251 (e) for exemptions from all or any of the requirements of the regulations in respect of drivers of small goods vehicles<sup>16</sup> and for other exemptions from all or any of those requirements<sup>17</sup>.

Subject to the provisions of any regulations made by the Secretary of State, the traffic commissioner<sup>18</sup> for any area may dispense with the observance by any employee-driver or his employer, or by any owner-driver, of any requirement imposed under these provisions, either generally or in such circumstances or to such extent as the commissioner thinks fit, but the traffic commissioner must not grant such a dispensation unless satisfied that it is not reasonably practicable for the requirement dispensed with to be observed<sup>19</sup>.

Any person who contravenes any regulations made under these provisions or any requirement as to books, records or documents of the applicable Community rules is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>20</sup>. However, the employer of an employee-driver is not liable to be convicted by reason of contravening any such regulation whereby he is required to cause any records to be kept if he proves to the court that he has given proper instructions to his employees with respect to the keeping of the records and has from time to time taken reasonable steps to secure that those instructions are being carried out<sup>21</sup>. Any entry made by an employee-driver for the purposes of regulations made under these provisions or of the applicable Community rules is, in any proceedings under Part VI of the Transport Act 1968, admissible in evidence against his employer<sup>22</sup>.

Unless exempted from doing so<sup>1</sup>, the driver of a goods vehicle<sup>2</sup> carrying out domestic driving or work<sup>3</sup> must enter, and where he is an employee-driver, his employer<sup>4</sup> must cause him to enter, in accordance with the instructions to drivers for the completion of sheets, the required information<sup>5</sup> in drivers' record books<sup>6</sup>. The record book must contain a front sheet, instructions to drivers for completion of sheets, notes for guidance on use of the book and weekly records sheets<sup>7</sup>. It must be issued to the employee-driver by his employer from time to time as may be necessary<sup>8</sup>. When a driver has made an entry in a record book he must not, until all the weekly record sheets in the book have been completed, make an entry in another record book<sup>9</sup> and he must not make an entry in a record book which was not supplied to him by his employer unless a record book so supplied to him by his employer was not available<sup>10</sup>. No person may erase or obliterate an entry once made, and corrections must be made by striking the original entry through in such a way that it may still be read, and writing the appropriate correction near to the entry, and any person making such a correction must initial it<sup>11</sup>. When a weekly record sheet has been completed the driver's record book must be delivered (including the duplicate of the weekly record sheet) to the employer who issued it within seven days (or earlier if the employer so requires)<sup>12</sup> and the employer must examine and sign it and its duplicate, detach the duplicate and return the book to the driver when he is next on duty<sup>13</sup>. An owner-driver must preserve the driver's record book intact when it has been completed or he has ceased to use it, and the employer of an employee-driver to whom any driver's record book relating to that employee-driver has been returned must preserve the book intact, for a period of one year<sup>14</sup>. An employee-driver must produce his current driver's record book for inspection by the employer who issued it to him or by any other person in relation to whom he is an employee-driver, whenever required to do so<sup>15</sup>. A driver must have his current driver's record book (including all unused record sheets) in his possession at all times when on duty<sup>16</sup>.

The record book and weekly sheets must be produced for inspection by an officer<sup>17</sup> on request<sup>18</sup>. Any entry made by an employee-driver for the purposes of these provisions is admissible in evidence against his employer in any proceedings under the provisions relating to drivers' hours<sup>19</sup>.

1 The exemptions under the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, regs 12, 13. Exemptions from reg 7 and reg 10 (see the text and note 16 infra) apply to:

1399 (1) the driver, and, if he is an employee-driver, his employer, where a driver does not, on any working day, drive any goods vehicle other than a vehicle the use of which is exempted from any requirement to have an operator's licence or, in the public service of the Crown, would be so exempted by virtue of the Transport Act 1968 s 60(2) (repealed), were it not such a vehicle (see the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 12(1));

1400 (2) the driver, and, if he is an employee-driver, his employer, where, on any working day, a driver does not drive a goods vehicle for more than four hours and does not drive it outside a radius of 50 km from its operating centre (see reg 12(2)(a)); and if a driver drives otherwise than on a road for the purposes of agriculture, forestry, quarrying or in the course of carrying out work in the construction, reconstruction, alteration or extension or maintenance of, or of a part of, a building, or of any other fixed works of construction of civil engineering (including works for the construction, improvement or maintenance of a road), that driving does not count towards the four hour period (see reg 12(2)(b));

1401 (3) the driver, and, if he is an employee-driver, his employer, where a driver during any working day does not spend all or the greater part of his time in driving vehicles to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) applies in driving goods vehicles (see the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 12(3));

1402 (4) the driver, and, if he is an employee-driver, his employer, where the vehicle is used in such circumstances that by virtue of the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment (Exemptions and Supplementary Provisions) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1456, reg 5 (revoked), EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport (as amended) (requiring recording equipment to be installed and used in accordance with the Community rules) applies to the vehicle (see the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 12(4)).

'Operating centre', in relation to any vehicle, means the base or centre at which the vehicle is normally kept; and references to an operating centre of the holder of an operator's licence are references to any place which is an operating centre for authorised vehicles under the licence: Transport Act 1968 s 92 (repealed); Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 12(5)(b). For the meaning of 'goods vehicle' see PARA 1380 ante. For the meaning of 'employee-driver' see PARA 1380 ante.

Subject to reg 12(3), the provisions of reg 7 and reg 10 apply to a driver who in any working week drives goods and passenger vehicles as they apply to a driver who only drives a goods vehicle and the information to be entered in the driver's record book pursuant to reg 7 is information in relation to his employment in connection with both goods and passenger vehicles: reg 13(1). If a driver of both goods vehicles and passenger vehicles has a different employer in relation to his employment in connection with goods vehicles from his employer in relation to his employment in connection with passenger vehicles, his employer for the purpose of reg 6 (see the text and note 8 infra) is his employer in relation to his employment in connection with goods vehicles notwithstanding the provisions of reg 6(2): reg 13(2).

2 Subject to ibid reg 12 and reg 13 (see note 1 supra), the provisions of the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, apply to drivers of goods vehicles and to employers of employee-drivers of such vehicles but they do not so apply in relation to a journey made or work done by a driver in a case where the journey or, as the case may be, the work is a journey or work to which the applicable Community rules apply: reg 4. Where the applicable Community rules apply, subject to exceptions (see PARA 1384 ante), recording equipment must be installed and used (see PARA 1411 ante). For the meaning of 'the applicable Community rules' see PARA 1380 note 1 ante.

3 As to the classification of driving or work see PARA 1383 ante.

4 The employer of an employee-driver or the owner-driver must also make certain entries, namely those relating to the name, address, telephone number and stamp (if any) of the employer or undertaking and the operator's licence number: see reg 7(1)-(3), Schedule. For the meaning of 'owner-driver' see PARA 1380 ante. 'Operator's licence' means a licence granted under the Transport Act 1968 Pt V (repealed): s 60(1) (repealed); Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 3. As to goods vehicles licensing and the licensing of operators see now the Good Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995; and PARA 1329 et seq ante.

5 Details must be entered as to dates the book was first and last used, the name and address of the holder of the book, the operator's licence number, the day on which duty was commenced, the registration number of the vehicle, the place where the vehicle is based, the time of going on and off duty, the time spent driving and the time spent on duty: see the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 7(4), Schedule. A driver when making an entry in the weekly record sheet, including signing such a sheet, must ensure, by the use of carbon paper or otherwise, that the entry is simultaneously reproduced on the duplicate of the sheet: reg 7(5).

6 See ibid reg 7(4). As to the model for the drivers' record book, including the record book for drivers in road transport, instructions to drivers for completion of sheets and notes for guidance on the use of record books see reg 7(4), Schedule. 'Driver's record book' means a book which complies with reg 5 (see the text and note 7 infra), and any reference in relation to a driver's record book to a front sheet, or to instructions to drivers for completion of sheets or to weekly record sheets is a reference to those components of a driver's record book referred to in reg 5: reg 3.

The Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, were made under the Transport Act 1968 ss 98(1), (2), 101(2) (s 98 as amended) (see PARA 1418 ante). For the power of the traffic commissioner for any area to grant dispensations from observance of the regulations see s 98(3); and PARA 1418 ante. As to traffic commissioners see PARA 1139 ante. As to the making of regulations generally see PARA 1382 ante.

7 See the Drivers' Hours (Goods Vehicles) (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 5.

8 See ibid reg 6(1). If the employee-driver has more than one employer in relation to whom he is an employee-driver of a vehicle, it is the employer for whom the employee-driver first acts in the course of his employment who must issue him the record book (see reg 6(2)); and if he stops working for that employer he must return that book to him and his other employer must issue him with a new driver's record book (see reg 6(3)). Where an employer has a driver who has a record book issued by another employer, he must require the driver to produce the record book and must enter on the front sheet his name, address, telephone number and stamp (if any): see reg 9(1).

10 See ibid reg 8(7).

11 See ibid reg 8(8).

12 See ibid reg 8(1). When the weekly record sheet has been completed by the owner-driver he must, within a period of seven days from the date of its being completed, detach the duplicate sheet and deliver it to the required address: reg 8(4).

13 Ibid reg 8(2). When all the weekly record sheets in a driver's record book have been used, the driver must retain the book for a period of 14 days from the date the book was last returned to him under reg 8(2), and must then return the book to the employer as soon as is reasonably practicable: reg 8(3). An employee-driver or an owner-driver is not to be treated as having failed to comply with reg 8(1)-(4) with respect to the period within which the duplicate of a weekly record sheet is to be delivered if he can show it was not reasonably practicable to comply with the requirement and that the duplicate sheet was delivered as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so: reg 8(5).

14 See ibid reg 11(1). A book which is used by a second driver is not preserved intact: see Blakey Transport Ltd v Casebourne [1975] RTR 221, DC. The one-year period is calculated, in the case of an owner-driver, from the day that book was completed or ceased to be used by him, and, in the case of an employee-driver, from the day on which that book was returned to his employer: see the Drivers' Hours (Keeping of Records) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1421, reg 11(3). An employer of an employee-driver or an owner-driver who has detached duplicate sheets must preserve those sheets for the same period: see reg 11(2).

17 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 1426 note 1 post.

18 See the Transport Act 1968 s 99(1) (as amended); and PARA 1426 post. As to offences arising out of this requirement see s 99(4) (as amended); and PARA 1426 post.

19 See ibid s 98(5). The provisions referred to in the text are the provisions of Pt VI (as amended).

1421. Control procedures for certain passenger services.

In the case of regular national passenger services, and certain regular international passenger services<sup>1</sup>, to which the applicable Community rules as to drivers' hours<sup>2</sup> apply, a service timetable and a duty roster must be drawn up by the transport undertaking<sup>3</sup>. The duty roster must show, in respect of each driver<sup>4</sup>, the name, the place where he is based and the schedule laid down in advance for various periods of driving, other work<sup>5</sup>, breaks<sup>6</sup> and availability<sup>7</sup>. Each driver assigned to a service must carry an extract from the duty roster and a copy of the service timetable<sup>8</sup>.

The duty roster must: (1) include all the particulars specified above for a minimum period covering the previous 28 days; these particulars must be updated on regular intervals, the duration of which may not exceed one month; (2) be signed by the head of the transport undertaking or by a person authorised to represent him; (3) be kept by the transport undertaking for one year after expiry of the period covered by it; and (4) be produced and handed over at the request of an authorised inspecting officer<sup>9</sup>.

Vehicles covered by these provisions which are not fitted with recording equipment<sup>10</sup> used in accordance with the Community rules as to recording equipment<sup>11</sup> have until 31 December 2007 to install and use such equipment<sup>12</sup>.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (7) CONTROL PROCEDURES AND INSPECTION/1422. Control procedures for passenger and goods vehicles.

1422. Control procedures for passenger and goods vehicles.

A transport undertaking must organise the work of drivers in such a way that the drivers are able to comply with the Community rules as to drivers' hours and recording equipment<sup>1</sup>. The transport undertaking must properly instruct the driver and must make regular checks to ensure that those rules are complied with<sup>2</sup>. A transport undertaking is liable for infringements committed by drivers of the undertaking, even if the infringement was committed on the territory of another member state or a third country<sup>3</sup>.

Undertakings, consignors, freight forwarders, tour operators, principal contractors, subcontractors and driver employment agencies must ensure that contractually agreed transport time schedules respect the Community rules as to drivers' hours<sup>4</sup>. A transport undertaking which uses vehicles that are fitted with specified recording equipment<sup>5</sup> and that fall within the scope of the rules as to drivers' hours must comply with requirements as to the downloading and storage of data from the vehicle units and driver cards<sup>6</sup>.

1 European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport, art 10(2). The Community rules as to recording equipment referred to in the text are those in EEC Council Regulation 3821/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 8) on recording equipment in road transport (as amended), and the Community rules as to drivers' hours referred to are those in European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) Ch II (arts 5-9): art 10(2). For the meaning of 'recording equipment' see PARA 1411 note 3 ante.

2 Ibid art 10(2). Failure to examine tachograph records in accordance with art 10(2) could amount to recklessly permitting contraventions of the Community rules since a responsible employer would normally check those records and it was his duty to do so: Vehicle Inspectorate v Nuttall [1999] 3 All ER 833, [1999] IRLR 656, HL. In Case-7/90 Criminal proceedings against Paul Vandevenne [1991] ECR I-4371, sub nom Belgium v Vandevenne [1993] 3 CMLR 608, ECJ, the court ruled that neither the Treaty Establishing the European Community (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179) art 10 (renumbered by virtue of the Treaty of Amsterdam: see Treaty Citation (No 2) (Note) [1999] All ER (EC) 646, ECJ) nor EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) art 17(1) (repealed; cf European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 18) requires a member state to introduce strict criminal liability for breaches of the Regulation, provided the penalties imposed are effective, proportionate and dissuasive.

PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (7) CONTROL PROCEDURES AND INSPECTION/1423. Compliance with Community rules.

1423. Compliance with Community rules.

Member states are required to adopt such measures as may be necessary for the implementation of the Community rules as to drivers' hours<sup>1</sup>.

Member states must lay down rules on penalties applicable to infringements of the Community rules as to drivers' hours and the Community rules as to recording equipment<sup>2</sup> and must take all measures necessary to ensure that they are implemented<sup>3</sup>. Those penalties must be effective, proportionate, dissuasive and non-discriminatory; and no infringement may be subjected to more than one penalty or procedure<sup>4</sup>.

A member state must enable the competent authority to impose a penalty on an undertaking and/or a driver for an infringement of the Community rules as to drivers' hours detected on its territory and for which a penalty has not already been imposed, even where that infringement has been committed on the territory of another member state or of a third country<sup>5</sup>. Whenever a member state initiates proceedings or imposes a penalty for a particular infringement, it must provide the driver with due evidence of this in writing<sup>6</sup>.

Member states must ensure that a system of proportionate penalties, which may include financial penalties, is in force for infringements of the Community rules as to drivers' hours and recording equipment on the part of undertakings<sup>7</sup>, or associated consignors, freight forwarders, tour operators, principal contractors, subcontractors and driver employment agencies<sup>8</sup>.

To address cases where a member state considers that there has been an infringement of the Community rules as to drivers' hours which is of a kind that is clearly liable to endanger road safety, it must empower the relevant competent authority to proceed with immobilisation of the vehicle concerned until such time as the cause of the infringement has been rectified<sup>9</sup>. Member states may compel the driver to take a daily rest period<sup>10</sup>. Member states must, where appropriate, also withdraw, suspend or restrict an undertaking's licence, if the undertaking is established in that member state, or withdraw, suspend or restrict a driver's driving licence<sup>11</sup>. The European Commission<sup>12</sup> must develop guidelines with a view to promoting a harmonised application of these provisions<sup>13</sup>.

The driver must produce such evidence upon request: art 20(2). A driver who is employed or at the disposal of more than one transport undertaking must provide sufficient information to each undertaking to enable it to comply with Ch II (arts 5-9) (crews, driving times, breaks and rest periods): art 20(3).

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (7) CONTROL PROCEDURES AND INSPECTION/1424. Installation and use of recording equipment.

1424. Installation and use of recording equipment.

No person may use, or cause or permit to be used, a vehicle to which these provisions apply<sup>1</sup>: (1) unless there is in the vehicle recording equipment which complies with certain requirements<sup>2</sup>; or (2) in which there is recording equipment which has been repaired (whether before or after installation) otherwise than in accordance with the Community Recording Equipment Regulation<sup>3</sup>. Any person who contravenes these provisions<sup>4</sup> is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>5</sup>. A person is not liable to be convicted under these provisions if he proves to the court that he neither knew nor ought to have known that the recording equipment had not been installed or repaired, as the case may be, in accordance with the Community Recording Equipment Regulation<sup>6</sup>.

A person is not liable to be convicted under head (1) above if he proves to the court that the vehicle in question was proceeding to a place where recording equipment which would comply with certain requirements of the Community Recording Equipment Regulation<sup>7</sup> was to be installed in the vehicle in accordance with that Regulation<sup>8</sup>.

A person is not liable to be convicted under head (1) above by reason of the recording equipment installed in the vehicle in question not being in working order if he proves to the court that it had not become reasonably practicable for the equipment to be repaired by an approved fitter or workshop, and that the requirements of the Community Recording Equipment Regulation relating to the driver's duty to record information while the recording equipment is unserviceable or malfunctioning<sup>9</sup> were being complied with<sup>10</sup>.

A person is not liable to be convicted under head (1) above by reason of any seal on the recording equipment installed in the vehicle in question not being intact if he proves to the court that<sup>11</sup>: (a) the breaking or removal of the seal could not have been avoided<sup>12</sup>; (b) it had not become reasonably practicable for the seal to be replaced by an approved fitter or workshop<sup>13</sup>; and (c) in all other respects the equipment was being used as provided by certain requirements<sup>14</sup> of the Community Recording Equipment Regulation<sup>15</sup>.

A person is not liable to be convicted under head (1) above by reason of the driver card<sup>16</sup> not being used with the recording equipment installed in the vehicle in question if he proves to the court that: (i) the driver card was damaged, malfunctioning, lost or stolen; (ii) the requirements of the Community Recording Equipment Regulation<sup>17</sup> were being complied with; and (iii) in all other respects the recording equipment was being used as required<sup>18</sup>.

1 The Transport Act 1968 s 97 (as substituted and amended) applies at any time to any vehicle to which Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) applies if, at that time, the Community Recording Equipment Regulation art 3 (as amended) (see PARA 1384 ante) requires recording equipment to be installed and used in that vehicle: Transport Act 1968 s 97(6) (s 97 substituted by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 2(1)). For the meaning of 'the Community Recording Equipment Regulation' see PARA 1414 note 1 ante. As to vehicles to which the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (as amended) applies see PARA 1380 ante.

1380-1430 Passenger and Goods Vehicles Drivers' Hours

As to offences under the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) alleged to have been committed by partnerships and other unincorporated associations, and by bodies corporate etc, see ss 102B, 102C (added by SI 2008/198).

1425 Further provisions relating to the installation and use of recording equipment

TEXT AND NOTES 1-10--Transport Act 1968 s 97A repealed: SI 2008/198. If a record sheet or manual records and printouts made in accordance with the Community Recording Equipment Regulation (see PARA 660) relate to a person in his capacity as the driver of a vehicle to which the Transport Act 1968 s 97 applies, he must before the end of the delivery period deliver the document to the transport undertaking to whose orders he was subject in driving the vehicle: s 97C(1), (2) (ss 97C-97H added, s 103(1) amended by SI 2008/198). The delivery period is the period of 42 days starting on the day after the latest date to which the document relates: Transport Act 1968 s 97C(3). A person who without reasonable excuse fails to comply with the requirement to deliver a document is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 97C(4). If a transport undertaking fails without reasonable excuse to secure that each driver subject to its orders complies with the requirement to deliver a document, in respect of documents relating to him in his capacity as such a driver, it is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 97C(5). If a person is subject to the orders of two or more transport undertakings in driving a vehicle during a period to which a document relates (1) the requirement to deliver a document has effect as if it were a requirement to deliver that document to the undertaking to whose orders he was first subject in driving the vehicle during that period; (2) the transport undertaking's obligation, in relation to that document, applies only to the undertaking to whose orders he was first subject in driving the vehicle during that period: s 97C(6). 'Transport undertaking' has the meaning given in the Community Drivers' Hours Regulation (see PARA 1398): Transport Act 1968 s 103(1). Provision is also made requiring transport undertakings to download data held electronically on a vehicle unit and a driver card before the expiration of specific periods according to the data concerned (ss 97D, 97E), and requiring transport undertakings to download data held electronically on a vehicle unit or driver card where required by an enforcement officer (s 97F). Failure to comply with ss 97D-97F is an offence: see s 97G. Data which has been downloaded must be made accessible to enforcement officers: see s 97H.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/14. PASSENGER AND GOODS VEHICLES DRIVERS' HOURS/ (7) CONTROL PROCEDURES AND INSPECTION/1426. Inspection of records and documents, vehicles and equipment.

1426. Inspection of records and documents, vehicles and equipment.

An officer<sup>1</sup>, on production if so required of his authority, may require any person to produce, and permit him to inspect and copy<sup>2</sup>:

- 2252 (1) any book or register which that person is required by regulations<sup>3</sup> to carry or have in his possession for the purpose of making in it any entry required by those regulations or which is so required to be carried on any vehicle of which he is the driver<sup>4</sup>;
- 2253 (2) any book or register which that person is required by regulations<sup>5</sup> to preserve<sup>6</sup>;
- 2254 (3) if that person is the owner of a vehicle to which the provisions relating to drivers' hours apply<sup>7</sup>, any other document of that person which the officer may reasonably require to inspect for the purpose of ascertaining whether those provisions or regulations made under them have been complied with<sup>8</sup>.

That book, register or document must, if the officer so requires by notice in writing served on that person, be produced at the office of the traffic commissioner specified in the notice within a specified time, not being less than ten days, from the service of the notice<sup>9</sup>.

An officer may also, on production if so required of his authority: (a) at any time, enter any vehicle to which the provisions relating to drivers' hours applies<sup>10</sup> and inspect that vehicle and any recording equipment<sup>11</sup> installed in it, and inspect and copy any record sheet on the vehicle on which a record has been produced by means of the equipment or an entry has been made<sup>12</sup>; (b) at any time which is reasonable having regard to the circumstances of the case, enter any premises on which he has reason to believe that such a vehicle is kept or that any such record sheets, books, registers or other documents<sup>13</sup> are to be found, and inspect any such vehicle, and inspect and copy any such record sheet, register or document, which he finds there<sup>14</sup>.

Any person who fails to comply with any requirement under the provisions relating to inspection of records and other documents<sup>15</sup>, or who obstructs an officer in the exercise of his powers as to inspection and detention<sup>16</sup>, is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>17</sup>.

Any person who makes, or causes to be made, any entry in a book, register or document kept or carried for the purposes of regulations under the statutory provisions relating to written records<sup>18</sup> which he knows to be false or who, with intent to deceive, alters or causes to be altered any such record or entry is liable<sup>19</sup> on summary conviction to a fine<sup>20</sup>, and on conviction on indictment to imprisonment<sup>21</sup>. If an officer has reason to believe that such an offence has been committed in respect of any record or document so inspected by him, he may seize that record or document<sup>22</sup>. Where a record or document is so seized, and within six months of the date on which it was seized no person has been charged since that date with such an offence in relation to that record or document and the record or document has not been returned to the person from whom it was taken, a magistrate's court may, on an application made for the purpose by that person or by an officer, make such order respecting the disposal of the record or document, and award such costs, as the justice of the case may require<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended), 'officer' means an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante), and any person authorised by the traffic commissioner for any area: Transport Act 1968 s 99(8) (amended by the Transport Act 1985 s 3(5), Sch 2 para 1(4); the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 48, Sch 4 para 2; and the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 5(1), (5)). Such powers may also be exercised by a police constable, who is not, if wearing uniform, required to produce any authority: Transport Act 1968 s 99(9) (amended by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 5(6)). As to traffic commissioners see PARA 1139 ante. As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

2 For these purposes, references to the inspection and copying of any record produced by means of recording equipment installed in a vehicle include references to the application to the record of any process for eliciting information recorded by it and to taking down the information elicited from it: Transport Act 1968 s 99(10) (amended by the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 5(7)). Records may be removed for the purposes of copying and inspection and refusal to allow such removal constitutes an offence: Cantabrica Coach Holdings Ltd v Vehicle Inspectorate [2001] UKHL 60, [2002] 1 All ER 595.

For the purpose of exercising his powers under s 99(2)(a) (as substituted) (see the text and note 12 infra) and (in respect of a document carried on, or by the driver of, a vehicle) his powers under s 99(1)(a), the officer may detain the vehicle for such time as is required for the exercise of that power: s 99(3) (amended by the European Communities Act 1972 s 4(1), Sch 4 para 9(2); and the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 5(3)).

Where any officer who is an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988<sup>9</sup>, or any constable, enters any vehicle he may, if he has reason to believe that any recording equipment in or on the vehicle has been interfered with so as to affect its proper operation or that there is in or on the vehicle any device which is capable of interfering with the proper operation of any recording equipment in or on the vehicle, require the driver or operator of the vehicle to take it to an address specified by the officer or constable for the purposes of enabling an inspection of the recording equipment, the vehicle or any device in or on it to be carried out<sup>10</sup>.

An officer may, on production if so required of his authority, at any time which is reasonable having regard to the circumstances of the case, enter any premises on which he has reason to believe that: (a) a vehicle to which the provisions relating to the installation and use of recording equipment apply is kept; (b) any document relating to recording equipment<sup>11</sup> is to be found; (c) any driver card or copy of data previously stored on a driver card or on recording equipment is to be found; or (d) any digital recording equipment is to be found<sup>12</sup>. - 2270 (iii) make a copy of any such copy of data as is mentioned in head (c) above that he finds there, and remove and retain the copies he makes;
- 2271 (iv) inspect any driver card that he finds there, copy the data stored on it (using any digital recording equipment on the premises or temporarily removing the driver card for the purpose of copying the data) and remove and retain the copy;
- 2272 (v) copy data stored on any digital recording equipment that he finds there and remove and retain that copy;
- 2273 (vi) inspect any recording equipment that he finds there and, if necessary for the purposes of inspection, remove it from the premises;
- 2274 (vii) retain any such recording equipment as evidence if he finds that it has been interfered with;
- 2275 (viii) inspect anything that he finds there which he believes is a device capable of interfering with the proper operation of any recording equipment and, if necessary for the purpose of the inspection, remove it from the premises;
- 2276 (ix) retain any such device as evidence if he finds that it is capable of interfering with the proper operation of recording equipment<sup>14</sup>.

1429. Offences: false records and data.

A person commits an offence:

- 2277 (1) if he makes, or causes or permits<sup>1</sup> to be made, a relevant record or entry<sup>2</sup> which he knows to be false;
- 2278 (2) if, with intent to deceive, he alters, or causes or permits to be altered, a relevant record or entry;

Where an authorised person prohibits the driving of a vehicle under these provisions, he may also direct the driver to remove the vehicle (and, if it is a motor vehicle drawing a trailer, also to remove the trailer) to such place and subject to such conditions as are specified in the direction; and the prohibition will not apply to the removal of the vehicle in accordance with that direction<sup>8</sup>. A prohibition<sup>18</sup> may be removed by any authorised person, if he is satisfied that appropriate action has been taken to remove or remedy the circumstances (as mentioned in head (1), (2) or (3) above) in consequence of which the prohibition was imposed; and on doing so the authorised person must give notice in writing of the removal of the prohibition to the driver of the vehicle<sup>19</sup>.

Any person who: (i) drives a vehicle on a road in contravention of a prohibition<sup>20</sup>; (ii) causes or permits a vehicle to be driven on a road in contravention of such a prohibition; or (iii) refuses or 15. TAXIS AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES*(1) LEGISLATION*1431. In general.

In England and Wales exclusive of the metropolitan police district and the City of London<sup>1</sup>, the principal statute relating to hackney carriages is the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>2</sup>, which provides for the licensing and regulation of hackney carriages<sup>3</sup> (sometimes referred to in modern legislation as 'taxis'<sup>4</sup>) and their drivers. The law relating to hackney carriages is modified by the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>5</sup> in those areas in which that Act applies<sup>6</sup>. The Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>7</sup> also provides for the licensing and regulation in such areas of private hire vehicles, their drivers and operators<sup>8</sup>.

In the metropolitan police district and the City of London a separate set of statutes applies to hackney carriages<sup>9</sup>, and the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>10</sup> provides for the licensing of private hire vehicles.

There are in addition certain statutory provisions which apply to taxis in all parts of England and Wales<sup>11</sup>.

1432. Application of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847.

The Town Police Clauses Act 1847 originally applied to towns and districts by incorporation in local Acts but has subsequently been extended to the whole of England and Wales outside the metropolitan police district by public general Acts<sup>1</sup>. The provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>2</sup> relating to hackney carriages were applied to all urban sanitary districts by the Public Health Act 1875<sup>3</sup>. The Local Government Act 1972 provided that the relevant provisions of the Public Health Act 1875<sup>4</sup> should apply to those areas and only those areas to which they applied immediately before 1 April 1974<sup>5</sup>, but enabled a local authority after giving the requisite notice<sup>6</sup> to resolve that those provisions should apply throughout its area or should cease to apply throughout its area (whether or not, in either case, those provisions applied to only part of its area)<sup>7</sup>. The licensing of hackney carriages under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 was extended to all areas of England and Wales outside the metropolitan police district and the City of London by the Transport Act 1985<sup>8</sup>. This provided that where, immediately before the commencement of the relevant provision of the Transport Act 1985<sup>9</sup>, the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 with respect to hackney carriages and the Town Police Clauses Act 1889 (as incorporated in each case in the Public Health Act 1875) were not in force throughout the whole area of a district council in England and Wales whose area lay outside the area to which the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 applied<sup>10</sup>, those provisions (as so incorporated) were, if not in force in any part of the council's area, to apply throughout that area and, if in force in part only of its area, to apply also in the remainder of that area<sup>11</sup>.

Where the whole or any part of the area of a district council ceases to be within the metropolitan police district<sup>12</sup> certain provisions of the Greater London Authority Act 1999 are to have effect<sup>13</sup>. In such a case the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 with respect to hackney carriages (as incorporated in the Public Health Act 1875) are to apply throughout the council's area<sup>14</sup>. The council's area constitutes a single licensing area for the purposes of those provisions, without the passing of any resolution under the relevant provision of the Local Government Act 1972<sup>15</sup>, and the provisions of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>16</sup> apply throughout the council's area without the passing of any resolution under the relevant provisions of that Act<sup>17</sup>.

Under the Local Government Act 1894 s 21(1) (repealed) urban sanitary authorities became urban district councils (and their districts were called urban districts), except where the area constituted a borough. Under the Local Government Act 1933 the relevant areas for hackney carriage licensing were county districts, which could either be urban districts or non-county boroughs, and county boroughs. In a few cases hackney carriage licensing was extended to rural districts by virtue of orders under the Public Health Act 1875 s 276 (repealed).

1432 Application of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847

NOTE 7--Local Government Act 1972 Sch 14 para 25(1) amended, Sch 14 para 25(4) repealed: SI 2008/2840.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/15. TAXIS AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES/(1) LEGISLATION/1433. Application of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976.

1433. Application of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976.

The provisions of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>1</sup>, with one exception<sup>2</sup>, come into force in an area in accordance with the following provisions<sup>3</sup>. If the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>4</sup> is in force in the area of a district council<sup>5</sup>, the council may resolve that the relevant provisions of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>6</sup>, with one exception<sup>7</sup>, are to apply to the relevant area<sup>8</sup>, and if the council does so resolve, those provisions come into force in the relevant area on the day specified in that behalf in the resolution (which must not be before the expiration of the period of one month beginning with the day on which the resolution is passed)<sup>9</sup>.

A council must not pass such a resolution<sup>10</sup> unless it has published in two consecutive weeks, in a local newspaper circulating in its area, notice of its intention to pass the resolution<sup>11</sup> and served a copy of the notice, not later than the date on which it is so first published, on the council of each parish or community which would be affected by the resolution or, in the case of such a parish which has no parish council, on the chairman of the parish meeting<sup>12</sup>. If after a council has passed such a resolution<sup>13</sup> the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 comes into force for any part of the area of the council for which it was not in force when the council passed the resolution, the council may pass a resolution<sup>14</sup> in respect of that part as if that part were included in the relevant area for the above purposes<sup>15</sup>.

Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 was also brought into force in districts which ceased, in whole or in part, to be within the metropolitan police district by virtue of the operation of the Greater London Authority Act 1999<sup>16</sup>.

5    In the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 Pt II (as amended), except where the context otherwise requires, references to a district council, in relation to Wales, are to be construed as references to a county council or county borough council: s 80(4) (added by the Local Government Reorganisation (Wales) (Consequential Amendments No 3) Order 1996, SI 1996/3071, art 2, Schedule para 1(8)). See further LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARAS 18, 37 et seq.

8    For these purposes, 'the relevant area', in relation to a council, means: (1) if the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 is in force throughout the area of the council, that area (Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 45(2)(a)); and (2) if the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 is in force for part only of the area of the council, that part of that area (Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 45(2)(b)).

13   Ie in pursuance of ibid s 45(2): see the text and notes 4-9 supra.

14   Ie in accordance with ibid s 45(1)-(3): see the text and notes 1-12 supra.

15   Ibid s 45(4). The purposes referred to in the text are those of s 45(2): see the text and notes 4-9 supra.

(2) TAXIS OUTSIDE LONDON

1434. Meaning of 'hackney carriage'.

For the purposes of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847, 'hackney carriage'<sup>1</sup> does not include a stage coach used for the purpose of standing or plying for passengers to be carried for hire at separate fares<sup>2</sup>. With this exception it includes every wheeled carriage, whatever may be its form or construction, used in standing or plying for hire<sup>3</sup> in any street<sup>4</sup> within the prescribed distance<sup>5</sup> and every carriage standing upon any street within the prescribed distance, and having on it any numbered plate required<sup>6</sup> to be fixed upon a hackney carriage or any plate resembling or intended to resemble such a plate<sup>7</sup>.

In the Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>8</sup>, unless the subject or the context otherwise requires, 'hackney carriage' has the same meaning as in the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>9</sup>.

1    Apart from any statutory definition, 'hackney carriage' means a carriage exposed for hire to the public, whether standing in the public street or a private yard: Bateson v Oddy (1874) 38 JP 598, DC. The name is derived from an old French word denoting an ambling horse or mare: Oxford English Dictionary.

2    See the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 38 proviso. See also R v Cambridge City Council, ex p Lane (1998) 96 LGR 817, [1999] RTR 182, CA.

3    A licensed hackney carriage is nonetheless 'used in standing or plying for hire' even though at the time it is employed otherwise: Hawkins v Edwards [1901] 2 KB 169, DC; Yates v Gates [1970] 2 QB 27, [1970] 1 All ER 754, DC. A carriage plies for hire even though the driver only asks for voluntary contributions from passengers:

Cocks v Mayner (1893) 58 JP 104, DC. In the absence of touting, a specially engaged carriage which is not exhibited outside the proprietor's premises does not ply for hire: Cavill v Amos (1900) 64 JP 309, DC; Cogley v Sherwood [1959] 2 QB 311, [1959] 2 All ER 313, DC. As to unattended vehicles see Vant v Cripps (1963) 62 LGR 88, DC. An unlicensed private hire vehicle ought to have been found to be plying for hire when waiting beside a hackney carriage stand: Pettigrew v Barry (1984) Times, 12 July. When the driver of a marked licensed private hire vehicle agreed to carry two persons who had enquired as to his availability to do so, the vehicle was held to be plying for hire: Nottingham City Council v Woodings [1994] RTR 72, DC. As to taxis in London see PARAS 1477-1494 post.

4 'Street' includes any road, square, court, alley, thoroughfare or public passage: Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 3. However, subject to what follows, it does not include a roadway to a station which is owned by the railway or other private property: Case v Storey (1869) LR 4 Exch 319; Curtis v Embery (1872) LR 7 Exch 369; Skinner v Usher (1872) LR 7 QB 423, DC; Jones v Short (1900) 64 JP 247, DC. See, however, Eastbourne Borough Council v Stirling [2001] RTR 65, DC ('plying for hire in any street' included a situation in which a private hire vehicle was in a prominent position just off the street and the public were in numbers on the street); Marks v Ford (1880) 45 JP 157, DC. In the area within which the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 with respect to hackney carriages are in force (see PARA 1432 ante), those provisions and any byelaws of the local authority are as fully applicable in all respects to hackney carriages standing or plying for hire at any railway station or railway premises within such area as if such railway station or railway premises were a stand for hackney carriages or a street: Public Health Act 1925 s 76. However, the provisions of s 76 do not apply to any vehicles belonging to or used by any railway company for the purpose of carrying passengers and their luggage to or from any of its railway stations or railway premises, or to the driver or conductor of such vehicle: s 76 proviso (a). Nothing in s 76 empowers the local authority to fix the site of the stand or starting place of any hackney carriage in any railway station or railway premises, except with the consent of that company: s 76 proviso (b). Section 76 extends the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 to railway property and does not give a right to ply for hire without the permission necessary under railway byelaws: see Hulin v Cook [1977] RTR 345, DC.

Apart from the qualifying words 'in any street', a carriage may be said to ply for hire if it stands ready to take up passengers on private property: Clarke and Goodge v Stanford (1871) LR 6 QB 357, DC; Allen v Tunbridge (1871) LR 6 CP 481; Bateson v Oddy (1874) 38 JP 598, DC; Foinett v Clark (1877) 41 JP 359, DC; Birmingham and Midland Motor Omnibus Co v Thompson [1918] 2 KB 105, DC; White v Cubitt [1930] 1 KB 443, DC. The vehicle must, however, be exhibited to the public as available for hire: Cogley v Sherwood [1959] 2 QB 311, [1959] 2 All ER 313, DC; Vant v Cripps (1963) 62 LGR 88, DC.

5 The 'prescribed distance' is either the area of the local authority or, if the area is divided into hackney carriage zones, the zone for which the hackney carriage is licensed: see PARA 1432 ante; and the Department of Transport Circular 8/86 (17 November 1986) and Advice Notes issued by the Department of Transport (May 1997) and the Welsh Office (February 1998). As to the concept of hackney carriage zones see the Circular and the Advice Notes.

6 Ie by the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 or the special Act. The expression 'special Act' is construed to mean any Act which is passed for the improvement or regulation of any town or district defined or comprised in it and with which the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 is to be incorporated: see s 2.

1435. Hackney carriage licences which may be granted.

A district council<sup>1</sup> may from time to time license hackney carriages<sup>2</sup> to ply for hire<sup>3</sup> within the prescribed distance<sup>4</sup> and persons to act as drivers of licensed hackney carriages<sup>5</sup>. In granting or refusing licences the council must exercise a just and reasonable discretion<sup>6</sup>, and in the case of drivers may require the applicant to attend in person<sup>7</sup>.

1405 (1)     any test of the mechanical condition or fitness of the hackney carriage or its equipment carried out for the purposes of the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 45 (as amended) (see PARA 660 ante) (tests of satisfactory condition of vehicles other than goods vehicles) or for the purposes of any requirements with respect to such condition or fitness imposed by or under any other enactment (Transport Act 1985 s 139(2), Sch 7 para 3(a) (amended by the Road Traffic (Consequential Provisions) Act 1988 s 4, Sch 3 para 31)); or

1436. Licensing of vehicles as hackney carriages.

Each hackney carriage<sup>1</sup> requires a separate licence<sup>2</sup> which must, except in relation to an area to which Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>3</sup> applies, be under the seal of the district council<sup>4</sup> and must specify the name and surname and place of abode of every person who is a proprietor or part proprietor of the vehicle or person concerned in keeping or hiring it, the number corresponding with that to be affixed to the vehicle and such other particulars as the council thinks fit<sup>5</sup>.

A requisition for a licence, in such form as the council provides, must be made and signed by the proprietor or one of the proprietors, as the case may be, and must give those details required to be recorded on the licence<sup>6</sup>. The licence must be made out by the proper officer of the council<sup>7</sup> and entered in a register which is to be open for inspection by any person, without fee, at all reasonable times, and is to contain spaces for recording any offences by the proprietor, driver or conductor of, or any person attending, the vehicle<sup>8</sup>. Notice of any change of abode must be given within seven days, and the licence must be produced for the necessary changes to be endorsed on it<sup>9</sup>.

A district council<sup>10</sup> for an area to which the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 applies<sup>11</sup> may attach to the grant of a licence of a hackney carriage under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 such conditions as the district council may consider reasonably necessary<sup>12</sup>. Without prejudice to the generality of the above, a district council may require any hackney carriage licensed by it under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 to be of such design or appearance or bear such distinguishing marks as must clearly identify it as a hackney carriage<sup>13</sup>. Any person aggrieved by any conditions attached to a licence may appeal to a magistrates' court<sup>14</sup>.

A licence for a vehicle normally enures for a year from its date, or until the next annual licensing day, where one is fixed<sup>15</sup>, but it may be granted for any less period specified in it<sup>16</sup>.

The grant of a licence for a vehicle may be refused for the purpose of limiting the number of hackney carriages in respect of which licences are granted, if, but only if, the person authorised to grant the licence is satisfied that there is no significant demand for the services of hackney carriages (within the area to which the licence would apply) which is unmet<sup>17</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'hackney carriage' see PARA 1434 ante.

2 The licence attaches to the vehicle and not to the proprietor and, therefore, when the vehicle changes hands, the new owner is entitled to have his name and address entered on the licence and in the register: R v Weymouth Borough Council, ex p Teletax (Weymouth) Ltd [1947] KB 583, [1947] 1 All ER 779, DC. A proprietor of a hackney carriage in respect of which a vehicle licence has been granted by a district council must notify the council in writing of the name and address of any person to whom he transfers his interest in the vehicle within 14 days after the transfer: see the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 49(1); and PARA 1455 post. ### 1437. Licences for drivers of hackney carriages.

No person may act as the driver of a licensed hackney carriage<sup>1</sup> unless he has obtained a licence from the local authority<sup>2</sup> to do so<sup>3</sup>. If Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>4</sup> applies in its area<sup>5</sup>, the council may not grant a licence to drive a hackney carriage: (1) unless it is satisfied that he is a fit and proper person<sup>6</sup> to hold a driver's licence<sup>7</sup>; or (2) to any person who has not for at least 12 months<sup>8</sup> been, and is not at the date of the application for a driver's licence, authorised<sup>9</sup> to drive a motor car<sup>10</sup>. The licence, for which there is a fee<sup>11</sup>, must be registered by the proper officer of the council<sup>12</sup>. It must be delivered to the proprietor of the vehicle and be retained by him whilst the licensee remains in his employ; and it must be produced by the proprietor if he is summoned to answer any complaint or to produce the licence<sup>13</sup>. It must be returned forthwith to the licensee if he leaves his employment without having been guilty of any misconduct<sup>14</sup>. If he has been so guilty, the proprietor must retain the licence and forthwith issue a summons to have his cause of complaint determined<sup>15</sup>. Every licence granted by a district council under the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>16</sup> to any person remains in force for three years from the date of such licence or for such lesser period as the district council may specify<sup>17</sup>, and must be produced for inspection at the request of any authorised officer<sup>18</sup> of the council or a police constable<sup>19</sup>.

1    I.e. a hackney carriage licensed under the provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847: see PARA 1436 ante. For the meaning of 'hackney carriage' see PARA 1434 ante.

6    The initial consideration by a local authority of an application under ibid s 59 (as amended) (see notes 7-10 infra) for a hackney carriage driver's licence is a proceeding before a judicial authority within the meaning given in the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 s 4(6): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 663. 8    A person who has held a licence for 12 months in the past, and does in fact hold a licence at the date of the application, is entitled to qualify, notwithstanding that there is no continuity between the periods: Crawley Borough Council v Crabb [1996] RTR 201.

9    For the purposes of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 59(1) a person is authorised to drive a motor car if: (1) he holds a licence granted under the Road Traffic Act 1988 Pt III (ss 87-122) (as amended) (not being a provisional licence) authorising him to drive a motor car; or (2) he is authorised by virtue of s 99A (as added) or s 109(1) (as amended) to drive in Great Britain a motor car: Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 59(1A) (added by the Driving Licences (Community Driving Licence) Regulations 1996 SI 1996/1974, reg 5, Sch 4 para 2(1), (4), (5); and amended by the Deregulation (Taxis and Private Hire Vehicles) Order 1998, SI 1998/1946, art 3).

10   Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 59(1)(b) (amended by the Road Traffic (Consequential Provisions) Act 1988 s 4, Sch 3 para 16(3)). A district council may require an applicant to submit to it such information as it reasonably considers necessary to enable it to determine whether a licence should be granted and whether conditions should be attached to it: Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 57(1). It may require an applicant to: (1) produce a medical certificate stating that he is physically fit to be the driver of a hackney carriage or omnibus (see s 57(2)(a)(i)); and (2) whether or not such a certificate has been produced, to submit to an examination by a registered medical practitioner selected by the district council as to his physical fitness to be the driver of a hackney carriage or private hire vehicle (s 57(2)(a)(ii)). Any applicant aggrieved by the refusal of a district council to grant a driver's licence on the ground that he is not a fit and proper person to hold such a licence may appeal to a magistrates' court: see s 59(2); and PARA 1467 post.

11 See the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 46 (amended by the Local Government, Planning and Land Act 1980 s 1(6), Sch 6 para 1). The fee payable is such as the council determines: Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 46 (as so amended). As to fees for vehicle and operator's licences see PARA 1465 post.

It is an offence for a proprietor to neglect to obtain delivery of and to retain the licence of each driver and conductor in his employ or to neglect to produce it when required to do so: s 48. A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: s 48 (amended by the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(6); and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. If a driver is found guilty of an offence, his licence must be endorsed: Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 48. As to the failure by a proprietor to retain or produce a licence see PARA 1457 post. The licence is the property of the licensee and the proprietor must not make endorsements on it: Hurrell v Ellis (1845) 2 CB 295; Rogers v Macnamara (1853) 14 CB 27; Heath v Brewer (1864) 15 CBNS 803; Norris v Birch [1895] 1 QB 639, DC.

18 'Authorised officer' means any officer of a district council authorised in writing by the council for the purposes of ibid Pt II (as amended): s 80(1).

19 See ibid s 53(3). The licence must be produced either forthwith (s 53(3)); or, in the case of a request by an authorised officer, at the principal offices of the council before the expiration of the period of five days beginning with the day following that on which the request was made (s 53(3)(a)); or, in the case of a request by a constable, before the expiration of that period at any police station which is within the area of the council and is nominated by the driver when the request is made (s 53(3)(b)). Contravention of s 53 without reasonable excuse is an offence: see s 53(4); and PARA 1457 post. As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

1439. Stands for hackney carriages.

- 2293 (1) so as unreasonably to prevent access to any premises<sup>16</sup>;
- 2294 (2) so as to impede the use of any points authorised to be used in connection with a local service within the meaning of the Transport Act 1985<sup>17</sup> or PSV operator's licence granted under the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>18</sup>, as points for the taking up or setting down of passengers, or in such a position as to interfere unreasonably with access to any station or depot of any passenger road transport operators, except with the consent of those operators<sup>19</sup>;
- 2295 (3) on any highway except with the consent of the highway authority<sup>20</sup>, and in deciding the position of stands a district council must have regard to the position of any bus stops for the time being in use<sup>21</sup>.

Any hackney carriage byelaws<sup>22</sup> for fixing stands for hackney carriages which were made by a district council before a certain date<sup>23</sup> in the area of the council and were in force immediately before that date cease to have effect, but any stands fixed by such byelaws are deemed to have been appointed<sup>24</sup>.

1 As to the devolution of powers to district councils see PARA 1432 ante.

2 As to byelaws see PARA 1438 ante. As to the effect on existing byelaws of the passing by a district council of a resolution bringing into force within its area the provisions of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 Pt II (ss 45-80) (as amended) see the text and notes 22-24 infra.

3 Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 68. A byelaw may not fix the site of the stand or starting place of any hackney carriage on railway property without the consent of the railway company: see PARA 1434 note 4 ante. A byelaw need not define the position of a stand otherwise than as such stand as may from time to time be indicated by notice boards: Blackpool Local Board of Health v Bennett (1859) 4 H & N 127. Byelaws may prohibit plying for hire in forbidden places, touting and loitering: see the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 68; and the cases cited in PARA 1438 note 12 ante. For the meaning of 'hackney carriage' see PARA 1434 ante.

6 I.e. the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 Pt II (as amended).

7 As to the application of ibid Pt II (as amended) see PARA 1433 ante.

8 The power to appoint stands for hackney carriages under ibid s 63(1) includes power to revoke such appointment and to alter any stand so appointed; and 'appointing' and 'appoint' in s 63(2) (see the text and notes 12-14 infra) and s 63(3) (see the text and notes 15-21 infra) are to be construed accordingly: s 63(5).

9 'The district', in relation to a district council in whose area the provisions of ibid Pt II (as amended) are in force, means if those provisions are in force throughout the area of the council, that area, and if those provisions are in force for part only of the area of the council, that part of that area: s 80(1).

1440. Prohibition of other vehicles on hackney carriage stands.

In an area to which Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>1</sup> applies, no person may cause or permit any vehicle other than a hackney carriage<sup>2</sup> to wait on any stand for hackney carriages during any period for which that stand has been appointed, or is deemed to have been appointed, by a district council<sup>3</sup>. Notice of this prohibition must be indicated by such traffic signs as may be prescribed or authorised for the purpose by the Secretary of State in pursuance of his powers<sup>4</sup>. If any person without reasonable excuse contravenes<sup>5</sup> these provisions, he is guilty of an offence<sup>6</sup>. In any proceedings<sup>7</sup> against the driver of a public service vehicle<sup>8</sup> it is a defence to show that, by reason of obstruction to traffic or for other compelling reason, he caused his vehicle to wait on a stand or part of a stand and that he caused or permitted his vehicle so to wait only for so long as was reasonably necessary for the taking up or setting down of passengers<sup>9</sup>.

1441. Fixing of fares for hackney carriages.

Under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847, the fares to be charged to hirers of hackney carriages<sup>1</sup> are determined by the district council<sup>2</sup>, which may make byelaws<sup>3</sup> for fixing the rates or fares, as well for time as distance, to be paid for hackney carriages within its district, and for securing the due publication of those fares<sup>4</sup>.

The district council for an area to which Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>5</sup> applies may fix the rates or fares within the district<sup>6</sup> as well for time as distance, and all other charges in connection with the hire of a vehicle or with the arrangements for the hire of a vehicle, to be paid in respect of the hire of hackney carriages by means of a table (referred to as a 'table of fares') made or varied in accordance with these provisions<sup>7</sup>. When a district council makes or varies a table of fares it must publish in at least one local newspaper circulating in the district a notice setting out the table of fares or the variation of it and specifying the period, which must not be less than 14 days from the date of the first publication of the notice, within which and the manner in which objections to the table of fares or variation can be made<sup>8</sup>. For the period of 14 days from the date of its first publication, a copy of such a notice must be deposited at the offices of the council which published the notice, and must at all reasonable hours be open to public inspection without payment<sup>9</sup>. If no objection to a table of fares or variation is duly made within the period specified in the notice, or if all objections so made are withdrawn, the table of fares or variations comes into operation on the date of the expiration of the period specified in the notice or the date of withdrawal of the objection or, if more than one, of the last objection, whichever date is the later<sup>10</sup>. If objection is duly made and is not withdrawn, the district council must set a further date, not later than two months after the first specified date, on which the table of fares is to come into force with or without modifications as decided by it after consideration of the objections<sup>11</sup>. A table of fares so made or varied is to have effect for the purposes of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>12</sup> as if it were included in hackney carriage byelaws<sup>13</sup> made under that Act<sup>14</sup>. On the coming into operation of a table of fares so made by a council for the district, any hackney carriage byelaws fixing the rates and fares or any table of fares previously made<sup>15</sup> for the district, as the case may be, cease to have effect<sup>16</sup>.

If a hackney carriage is hired and taken to any place and there required to wait, the driver may demand his fare to that place and also a deposit over and above that, calculated according to the time he is required to wait<sup>17</sup>.

If a person refuses to pay the legal fare it may be recovered summarily as a civil debt<sup>18</sup> with costs<sup>19</sup>.

1446. Rights and liabilities of proprietors.

It seems that, having regard to the nature of the legislation<sup>1</sup> as to hackney carriages<sup>2</sup>, the proprietor is liable to third persons for torts committed by the driver within the apparent scope of the driver's authority, even where the relationship between the proprietor and driver is strictly that of bailor and bailee and not that of employer and employee<sup>3</sup>.

By statute, whenever any damage to person or property has been caused by a driver of a hackney carriage, any justice convicting him may order a sum to be paid as compensation by the proprietor, who may recover it from the guilty person<sup>4</sup>. Consent by an injured person to the exercise of this power bars his ordinary right of action<sup>5</sup>.

1448. Licensing of private hire vehicles.

Subject to the provisions of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>1</sup>, in an area to which those provisions apply, a district council<sup>2</sup> may, on the receipt of an application from the proprietor<sup>3</sup> of any vehicle for the grant in respect of such vehicle of a licence<sup>4</sup> to use the vehicle as a private hire vehicle<sup>5</sup>, grant in respect of it a vehicle licence<sup>6</sup>. However, a district council must not grant such a licence unless it is satisfied:

- 2301 (1) that the vehicle is suitable in type, size and design for use as a private hire vehicle, that it is not of such design and appearance as to lead any person to believe that the vehicle is a hackney carriage<sup>7</sup>, that it is in a suitable mechanical condition, safe, and comfortable<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2302 (2) that there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle a policy of insurance or such security as complies with the requirements of the Road Traffic Act 1988<sup>9</sup>, and it must not refuse such a licence for the purpose of limiting the number of vehicles in respect of which such licences are granted by the council<sup>10</sup>.

A district council may attach to the grant of such a licence such conditions as it may consider reasonably necessary including, without prejudice to the generality of the above provisions<sup>11</sup>, conditions requiring or prohibiting the display of signs on or from the vehicle to which the licence relates<sup>12</sup>. In every vehicle licence so granted there must be specified:

- 2303 (a) the name and address of the applicant<sup>13</sup>, and every other person who is a proprietor of the private hire vehicle in respect of which the licence is granted, or who is concerned, either solely or in partnership with any other person, in the keeping, employing or letting on hire of the private hire vehicle<sup>14</sup>;
- 2304 (b) the number of the licence which must correspond with the number to be painted or marked on the plate or disc to be exhibited on the private hire vehicle<sup>15</sup>;
- 2305 (c) the conditions attached to the grant of the licence<sup>16</sup>; and
- 2306 (d) such other particulars as the district council considers reasonably necessary<sup>17</sup>.

Every licence granted<sup>18</sup> must be signed by an authorised officer<sup>19</sup> of the council which granted it<sup>20</sup>. It must relate to not more than one private hire vehicle<sup>21</sup>, and remains in force for such period not being longer than one year as the district council may specify in the licence<sup>22</sup>. Where a district council so grants a vehicle licence in respect of a private hire vehicle it must issue a plate or disc identifying that vehicle as a private hire vehicle in respect of which a vehicle licence has been granted<sup>23</sup>. Subject to the provisions of Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>24</sup>, no person may use or permit to be used in a controlled district<sup>25</sup> as a private hire vehicle a vehicle in respect of which a licence has been so granted unless the plate or disc issued<sup>26</sup> is exhibited on the vehicle in such manner as is prescribed by the district council by condition attached to the grant of the licence<sup>27</sup>.

Any person aggrieved by the refusal of a district council so to grant a vehicle licence or by any conditions specified in such a licence, may appeal to a magistrates' court<sup>28</sup>.

TAXIS AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES/(4) LEGISLATION APPLICABLE TO BOTH TAXIS AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES OUTSIDE LONDON/1465. Fees for vehicle licences and operators' licences.

1465. Fees for vehicle licences and operators' licences.

A district council<sup>1</sup> for an area to which Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>2</sup> applies may charge such fees for the grant of vehicle licences and operators' licences<sup>3</sup> as may be resolved by it from time to time and as may be sufficient in the aggregate to cover in whole or in part<sup>4</sup>:

- 2330 (1) the reasonable cost of the carrying out by or on behalf of the district council of inspections of hackney carriages<sup>5</sup> and private hire vehicles<sup>6</sup> for the purpose of determining whether any such licence should be granted or renewed<sup>7</sup>;
- 2331 (2) the reasonable cost of providing hackney carriage stands<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2332 (3) any reasonable administrative or other costs in connection with the foregoing and with the control and supervision of hackney carriages and private hire vehicles<sup>9</sup>.

The fees chargeable<sup>10</sup> must not exceed the specified maximums<sup>11</sup> or such other sums as a district council may, subject to the following provisions, from time to time determine<sup>12</sup>.

If a district council determines that the specified maximum fees are to be varied it must publish in at least one local newspaper circulating in the district a notice setting out the variation proposed, drawing attention to certain requirements<sup>13</sup> and specifying the period, which must not be less than 28 days from the date of the first publication of the notice, within which and the manner in which objections to the variation can be made<sup>14</sup>. A copy of the notice must be deposited, for the period of 28 days from the date of the first publication, at the offices of the council which published the notice and must at all reasonable hours be open to public inspection without payment<sup>15</sup>. If no objection to a variation is duly made within the period specified in the notice, or if all objections so made are withdrawn, the variation is to come into operation on the date of the expiration of the period specified in the notice or the date of withdrawal of the objection or, if more than one, of the last objection, whichever date is the later<sup>16</sup>. If objection is duly made and is not withdrawn, the district council must set a further date, not later than two months after the first specified date, on which the variation is to come into force with or without modification as decided by the district council after consideration of the objections<sup>17</sup>.

A district council may remit the whole or part of any fee chargeable in pursuance of the above provisions for the grant of a licence<sup>18</sup> in any case in which it thinks it appropriate to do so<sup>19</sup>.

1467. Appeals.

Certain provisions of the Public Health Act 1936<sup>1</sup> relating to appeals have effect as if Part II of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>2</sup> were part of the Public Health Act 1936<sup>3</sup>. If any requirement, refusal or other decision of a district council<sup>4</sup> against which a right of appeal is conferred by the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>5</sup> involves the execution of any work or the taking of any action<sup>6</sup>, or makes it unlawful for any person to carry on a business which he was lawfully carrying on up to the time of the requirement, refusal or decision<sup>7</sup>, then, until the time for appealing has expired, or, when an appeal is lodged, until the appeal is disposed of or withdrawn or fails for want of prosecution, no proceedings may be taken in respect of any failure to execute the work, or take the action, and that person may carry on that business<sup>8</sup>.

Application of hackney carriage legislation to omnibuses.

1471. Application of hackney carriage legislation to omnibuses.

The several terms 'hackney carriages'<sup>1</sup>, 'hackney coach', 'carriages', and 'carriage', whenever used in certain provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847<sup>2</sup> are deemed to include<sup>3</sup> every omnibus<sup>4</sup>.

The power to make byelaws for specified purposes in relation to omnibuses is conferred by the Town Police Clauses Act 1889<sup>5</sup>. The Town Police Clauses Act 1889 was, however, repealed by the Road Traffic Act 1930<sup>6</sup> so far as it related to public service vehicles, the definition of which was limited to motor vehicles<sup>7</sup>. Accordingly, the Town Police Clauses Act 1889 is now virtually obsolete since it only applies to omnibuses falling within the statutory definition<sup>8</sup> which are not motor vehicles<sup>9</sup>.

- 1 For the meaning of 'hackney carriage' see PARA 1434 ante.
- 2 The specified provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 are ss 37, 40-52, 54, 58, 60-66 (all as amended): Town Police Clauses Act 1889 s 4(1). The Town Police Clauses Act 1889 is to be construed as one with the Town Police Clauses Act 1847: Town Police Clauses Act 1889 s 2(1). The Town Police Clauses Act 1889 is also deemed to be incorporated with the Public Health Act 1875 by s 171 (as amended): Town Police Clauses Act 1889 s 2(2).
- 3 In notwithstanding anything contained in the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 38: see PARA 1434 ante.

- 6 See the Road Traffic Act 1930 s 122, Sch 5 (repealed).
- 7 See ibid s 121 (repealed).
- 8 See PARA 1470 ante.
- 9 In practice this means horse-drawn omnibuses. However, byelaws have been made in relation to pedal rickshaws carrying passengers at separate fares.

No vehicle which is used for carrying passengers for hire or reward, other than a taxi<sup>1</sup>, may display on or above its roof, in any part of England and Wales outside the metropolitan police district and the City of London<sup>2</sup>, any sign which consists of or includes the word 'taxi' or 'cab', whether in the singular or plural, or 'hire', or any word of similar meaning or appearance to any of those words, whether alone or as part of another word, or any sign, notice, mark, illumination or other feature which may suggest that the vehicle is a taxi<sup>3</sup>. ## (7) TAXIS IN LONDON

1477. Introduction.

1 As to the metropolitan police district see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 137.

2 The application of the provisions relating to hackney carriages and cabs is limited to the metropolitan police district and the City of London by the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 ss 20, 21; the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 2 (amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1989); and the London Cab and Stage Carriage Act 1907 s 6(3). As to the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 31.

3 For the meanings of 'hackney carriages' and 'cabs' see PARA 1478 post.

4 So much of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 as relates to hackney carriages and is not repealed extends and applies to hackney carriages within the meaning of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843: s 3 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1874 (No 2); and the Statute Law Revision Act 1891).

5 As to taxis outside London see PARAS 1434-1446 ante.

6 As to the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 see PARA 1478 et seq post. All the provisions relating to hackney carriages in force at the time of the commencement of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 are, subject to any alteration made therein by the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 or by any London cab order made in pursuance of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869, to continue in force, and all such provisions as relate to licences granted, are, subject to any alteration as mentioned, to apply to licences granted under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869: s 15 (amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976; and the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 Pt I para 5(1), (11), Pt II para 14). Private hire vehicles in London are also governed by the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998: see PARA 1500 et seq post. As to London cab orders see PARA 1484 post.

7 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante.

1478. Meaning of 'hackney carriage'.

Within the metropolitan police district<sup>1</sup> and the City of London<sup>2</sup>, for the purposes of the relevant enactments<sup>3</sup>, 'hackney carriage' or 'cab'<sup>4</sup> means any such vehicle for the conveyance of passengers which plies for hire<sup>5</sup>, whether drawn or propelled by animal or mechanical power<sup>6</sup>, and which is not a stage carriage<sup>7</sup> or a tramcar<sup>8</sup>. 'Stage carriage' means any carriage for the conveyance of passengers which plies for hire in any public street, road or place within those limits, and in which passengers or any of them are charged to pay separate and distinct, or at the rate of separate and distinct, fares<sup>9</sup> for their respective places or seats<sup>10</sup>. A motor vehicle which plies for hire but does not carry passengers at separate fares and is not adapted to carry eight or more passengers is accordingly a hackney carriage<sup>11</sup>.

Legislation relating to hackney carriages and stage carriages in London no longer applies to public service vehicles, and such vehicles are accordingly excluded from the meaning of 'hackney carriage'<sup>12</sup>.

1 As to the metropolitan police district see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 137.

A cab which is in a parking place designated under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (see PARA 808 note 4 ante) is not deemed to be plying for hire: see the London Cab Act 1968 s 3(2) (amended by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 146, Sch 13 para 4).

As to the display of signs on vehicles other than taxis and the use of words in advertisements in relation to vehicles offered for hire which are not taxis see the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 30 (as amended), s 31; and PARAS 1524-1525 post.

1485. Procedure for licensing of cabs.

Application for a cab licence<sup>1</sup> must be made to Transport for London<sup>2</sup> on a form to be obtained from Transport for London, signed by the owner<sup>3</sup> or one of the owners of the cab<sup>4</sup>. Transport for London at its discretion may refuse a licence<sup>5</sup> if the applicant<sup>6</sup> has been convicted of an indictable offence<sup>7</sup>, or if the applicant appears to Transport for London to be unfit to hold a cab licence on specified grounds<sup>8</sup>, or fails to satisfy Transport for London as to certain other matters<sup>9</sup>. The owner and driver of a cab must be covered by a policy of third party insurance covering not only death and bodily injury<sup>10</sup> but also damage to property<sup>11</sup>.

If Transport for London does not approve the application, it must notify the applicant of the refusal to grant a licence<sup>12</sup>. If Transport for London approves the application, it must return the application form to the applicant<sup>13</sup>, who must, in the case of a motor cab<sup>14</sup>, send the cab to a passing station<sup>15</sup> for examination by a public carriage examiner<sup>16</sup> along with the application form, the current revenue licence and the certificate or other evidence of insurance<sup>17</sup>.

If, after examining a cab which has been presented to him for examination, the public carriage examiner finds that it conforms to the conditions of fitness laid down by Transport for London and is fit for public use, he must give a certificate<sup>18</sup>, and cause the plates and notices<sup>19</sup> to be affixed to the cab in the positions required<sup>20</sup>, and such notices or marks to be placed upon the cab as Transport for London may from time to time direct<sup>21</sup>.

The certificate with the application is submitted to Transport for London, who then grants the licence unless circumstances rendering its grant improper have arisen or come to knowledge since the approval of the application<sup>22</sup>. The licence<sup>23</sup> remains in force for one year<sup>24</sup>, and is subject to certain conditions<sup>25</sup>, but it may be revoked or suspended by Transport for London on certain grounds<sup>26</sup>.

1 'Cab licence' means a licence in pursuance of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 6 (as substituted) (see PARA 1479 ante) and of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, Pt III (arts 5-22) (as amended) in respect of a cab: art 2(1). 'Cab' has the same meaning as the expression 'hackney carriage' has in the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 (see PARA 1478 ante): London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 2(1).

2 As to Transport for London see PARA 246 ante; and LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 269 et seq.

3 'Owner' or 'cab owner' in relation to a cab which is the subject of a hiring agreement or hire purchase agreement means the person in possession of the cab under that agreement: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 2(1). See R v Metropolitan Police Comr, ex p Randall, R v Metropolitan Police Comr, ex p Humphreys (1911) 75 JP 486, DC; Kemp v Elisha [1918] 1 KB 228, CA.

Where the owner is a partnership firm or a limited liability company, the application may be signed by the senior partner of the firm or by the authorised officer of the company: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 5. Where a cab licence is held on behalf of a firm or company, both the person holding it and the firm or company are deemed to be the licensee and are liable for any breach of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended) or for any failure to comply with any provisions or conditions subject to which the licence is granted: art 22. 'Licensee' means any person to whom a licence is granted: art 2(1). As to penalties for breach of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended) see PARA 1484 text and notes 17-21 ante.

5 London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 7 (amended by SI 2000/1666).

6 A cab licence will not be granted to a person under the age of 21, and if granted to such a person is void: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 6.

7 Ibid art 7(1).

8 Ibid art 7(2) (as amended: see note 5 supra). The specified grounds referred to are:

1407 (1) that he, or any person in partnership with him, or any company of which he was at the material time a responsible officer, or any company on behalf of which the application is being made by him, or any other responsible officer of that company, has been convicted of any offence in relation to the use of a hackney or stage carriage within the meaning of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 4 (as amended) (see PARA 1478 ante), or of a public service vehicle as defined in the Road Traffic Act 1930 (see PARA 1136 ante), or has been found by the Industrial Court to have been guilty of a breach of the Road Traffic Act 1930 s 93 (repealed) (London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 7(2)(a)); or

1408 (2) that at any time when he or any such person or company as aforesaid held a licence in respect of such carriage or vehicle the licence was revoked or suspended or the holder thereof either was convicted of any offence against any Act under which the licence was granted or failed to comply with any of the provisions or conditions subject to which the licence was granted (art 7(2)(b)); or

1409 (3) in the case of an application for a licence in respect of a horse cab, that he or any such person or company as aforesaid has been convicted of an offence of cruelty within the meaning of the Protection of Animals Act 1911 (see ANIMALS vol 2 (2008) PARAS 817, 819) (London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 7(2)(c)).

'Horse cab' means any cab drawn by animal power, and 'horse' includes any animal used to draw a cab: para 2(1).

If any person for the purpose of obtaining the grant of a cab licence to himself or to any other person knowingly makes any false statement or withholds any material information, he is guilty of a breach of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended): art 15.

9 Ibid art 7(3) (as amended: see note 5 supra). The matters referred to are:

1410 (1) that the cab in respect of which the application is made conforms to the conditions of fitness from time to time laid down by Transport for London and is fit for public use (art 7(3)(a) (as so amended));

1411 (2) that the applicant is of good character (see art 7(3)(b));

1412 (3) that the owner of the cab in respect of which the application is made, being either the applicant himself or the firm or company on whose behalf he has made the application, is of good business repute, fulfils the requirements of art 8 (see the text and note 11 infra) as to liability to third parties, and is, having regard to his general financial position, a fit and proper person to hold a cab licence (art 7(3)(c)).

10 As to third party motor insurance see PARA 937 et seq ante; and INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 706 et seq.

11 See the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 8 (amended by SI 2000/1666). The special requirements may be waived where the owner's financial situation is satisfactory: see the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 8(3) (as so amended).

12 See ibid art 9 (amended by SI 2000/1666).

13 See the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 9 (as amended: see note 12 supra).

14 'Motor cab' means any mechanically propelled cab: ibid art 2(1).

15 'Passing station' means any place appointed by Transport for London as a place where cabs may be examined for the purposes of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended); and if it appoints any passing station for the examination of any particular cab or cabs, that passing station is deemed to be the appointed passing station for that cab or those cabs: art 2(1) (amended by SI 2000/1666).

16 'Public carriage examiner' means any person appointed by Transport for London to examine and inspect public carriages for the purposes of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 (see PARA 1479 ante): London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 2(1) (as amended: see note 15 supra).

17 See ibid art 10 (amended by SI 2000/1666). As to the presentation of horse cabs for licensing see the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 11 (amended by SI 1982/311; SI 2000/1666).

18 Ie specified in the form contained in the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 12, Sch A (amended by SI 2000/1666): London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 12(1).

19 Ie the plates and notices described in the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 12, Sch B (amended by SI 1971/333; SI 2000/1666): London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 12(1).

20 Ie the positions required by ibid Sch B (as amended: see note 19 supra): art 12(1).

21 Ibid art 12(1) (amended by SI 2000/1666). The plates remain the property of Transport for London: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 12(1) (as so amended).

If the public carriage examiner, after examining a cab which has been presented to him for examination, does not give the certificate mentioned, he must so inform the applicant and return to him the application form, and must report the fact to Transport for London, who must thereupon refuse to grant a cab licence unless it thinks fit to cause the cab to be re-examined and is thereupon satisfied that such a licence can properly be granted, and if Transport for London refuses to grant the licence, it must so inform the applicant, who is thereupon entitled to the refund of any fee paid by him in respect thereof: art 13 (amended by SI 1982/311; SI 2000/1666).

It is a breach of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended) for the owner of a cab, or for a licensee where the owner is a firm or company, to permit it to ply for hire without the proper plates or marks or with them defaced, or for any person without lawful authority to remove, conceal, obliterate or alter a plate or mark: art 16 (amended by SI 2000/1666). New plates or marks must be affixed by the public carriage examiner in place of any which are lost, defaced, obliterated or indistinct: see the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 16 (as so amended). It is a breach of the order for any person without lawful authority to use or possess any altered or irregular or counterfeit cab licence, plate or mark: art 18.

23 The form of licence is laid down by the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 14, Sch C (amended by SI 1982/311; SI 2000/1666).

24 London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 14 (amended by SI 2000/1666). A licence is transferable to the personal representative of a deceased licensee or to his widow or child or to the husband of a woman licensee who marries, if the proposed transferee is of full age and fit to hold it: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 20 (amended by SI 2000/1666). A licence held on behalf of a firm or company may be transferred to any other fit person of full age who would be entitled to apply for a licence on behalf of the firm or company: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 20 (as so amended). The licence and the plates affixed to the cab must be surrendered on the expiry of the licence: art 21 (amended by SI 2000/1666).

25 Thus the licensee must produce the licence and evidence of third party insurance when required by any of certain authorised persons so to do; must notify a change of address, which must be indorsed on the licence, or of the place where the cab is ordinarily kept; must not deface the licence; must not permit an unlicensed driver to drive the cab; must produce the licences of his employees when required to do so; must allow inspection of the cab; must not remove or conceal plates or notices or alter or obliterate marks; must not knowingly permit the cab to be used for illegal purposes; must keep it in good order and, unless and in so far as Transport for London otherwise directs, free from advertising matter; must not permit any person to appear or be carried on the cab by way of advertisement; and must return the licence and plate on change of ownership: see the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 14 (as amended: see note 24 supra). A defaced or altered licence is void: art 17.

26 See ibid art 19 (amended by SI 1962/289; SI 2000/1666). The grounds are: (1) that the licence has been obtained by misrepresentation, fraud or concealment; (2) that circumstances arising or coming to the knowledge of Transport for London after the grant of the licence are or the condition of the cab is such that a new licence could not properly be granted; (3) failure to comply with any provision or condition subject to which the licence was granted; or (4) any ground on which a hackney carriage licence might at the time of the commencement of the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 have been revoked or suspended: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 19(1) (as so amended). Where more than one licence granted to the same licensee becomes liable to revocation or suspension and Transport for London is of opinion that it would be contrary to the public interest to revoke or suspend them all, it may revoke or suspend only such of them as it thinks fit: art 19(1) (as so amended).

Licences which have been revoked or suspended must be sent or delivered to the public carriage examiner and the plates affixed to the cab must, if so required, be delivered up: see art 19(2) (as so amended). The licence, if unexpired, must be returned to the licensee and the plates reattached: see art 19(3).

As to the nature of the power to revoke see R v Metropolitan Police Comr, ex p Parker [1953] 2 All ER 717, [1953] 1 WLR 1150, DC. A power of suspension on grounds of unfitness for public use is also conferred on Transport for London by the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 2 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1892; the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976; and the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 Pt I para 3(1), (2), Pt II para 12).

1486. Procedure for the granting of cab drivers' licences.

Transport for London<sup>1</sup> must on demand furnish to any applicant for a cab driver's licence<sup>2</sup> the form of requisition appointed for that purpose<sup>3</sup>. The licence must not be granted to a person under 21 years of age<sup>4</sup> and may be refused if the applicant is not of good character or is unfit to act as a cab driver, or has failed to act as a cab driver during certain periods when he had a licence<sup>5</sup>. The licence, which may be limited to particular types of cabs and particular areas, is issued with a copy, both of which must be signed by the applicant<sup>6</sup>. The cab driver's licence may be revoked or suspended by Transport for London if it is satisfied by reason of any circumstances arising or coming to its knowledge after the licence was granted that the licensee<sup>7</sup> is not a fit person to hold a licence<sup>8</sup>. The driver must have his copy with him during his employment or when appearing before a court and must produce it for inspection on demand by a police constable<sup>9</sup>, a public carriage examiner<sup>10</sup> or an officer of a court<sup>11</sup>.

A cab driver who changes his address during the currency of his licence must notify Transport for London of the change, which must be indorsed on his licence: see art 32(1) (amended by SI 2000/1666). Failure on his part to do so is a breach of the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346 (as amended): art 32(2).

1487. Licence and badge.

The London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 contains additional provisions with regard to cab drivers' licences. It is lawful for Transport for London<sup>1</sup> to grant a licence to act as driver of hackney carriages to any person who produces a certificate which satisfies Transport for London of his good behaviour and fitness for such situation<sup>2</sup>. In every such licence there is to be specified the number of the licence and the proper name and surname, place of abode, age and description of the person to whom the licence is granted<sup>3</sup>. On every licence Transport for London must cause proper columns to be prepared in which every proprietor<sup>4</sup> employing the driver named in the licence must enter his own name and address and the days on which the driver enters and quits his service<sup>5</sup>. If any of the particulars entered or endorsed upon any licence in pursuance of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 are erased or defaced the licence is to be wholly void and of no effect<sup>6</sup>.

Every person to whom such a licence and ticket have been granted who, except in compliance with the provisions of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843, transfers or lends the licence, or permits any other person to use or wear the ticket, must for every offence forfeit a sum<sup>7</sup>. Every proprietor who knowingly suffers any person not duly licensed under that Act to act as driver of any hackney carriage of which he is the proprietor, must for every such offence forfeit a sum<sup>8</sup>. Before any such licence is granted, a requisition for it, in such form as Transport for London from time to time appoints for the purpose, and accompanied by a certificate as required by the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843<sup>9</sup> must be made and signed by the person by whom the licence is required<sup>10</sup>. In every such requisition all such particulars as Transport for London may require must be truly set forth<sup>11</sup>. The particulars of every licence must be entered in books to be kept for the purpose at the office of Transport for London and every person applying at all reasonable times must be furnished with a certified copy of the particulars respecting any licensed person without payment of any fee<sup>12</sup>.

Every licensed driver must at all times during his employment and when he is required to attend before any justice of the peace, wear his ticket conspicuously on his breast, in such manner that the whole of the writing is distinctly legible<sup>13</sup>. Upon the expiration of any licence granted under the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 the person to whom the licence was granted must deliver the licence and the ticket relating to it to Transport for London<sup>14</sup>. Whenever the writing on any ticket becomes obliterated or defaced, so that it is not distinctly legible, and also whenever any ticket is proved to the satisfaction of Transport for London to have been lost or mislaid, the person to whom the licence relating to any such ticket has been granted must deliver the ticket (if he has it in his possession) and must produce the licence to Transport for London, and that person is then entitled to have a new ticket delivered to him, upon payment to Transport for London of such sum of money as Transport for London from time to time appoints<sup>15</sup>.

Every proprietor of a hackney carriage who permits or employs any licensed person to act as the driver of it must require to be delivered to him, and must retain in his possession, the licence of the driver while the driver remains in his service<sup>16</sup>. It is lawful for any justice of the peace before whom any driver is convicted of any offence<sup>17</sup>, if such justice in his discretion thinks fit, to revoke the licence of such driver and also any other licence which he holds under the provisions of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843, or to suspend the same for such time as the justice thinks proper<sup>18</sup>. A magistrates' court that makes an order revoking or suspending any licence under this provision may, if the court thinks fit, suspend the effect of the order pending an appeal against the order<sup>19</sup>.

1 All the jurisdiction, powers, authorities, privileges, interests and duties which were vested in or exercisable by the Metropolitan Police Commissioner (see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 183 et seq) by virtue of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1850 s 2 (repealed) (transfer of functions of registrar of metropolitan public carriages to Metropolitan Police Commissioner) were transferred to and vested in Transport for London: Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 para 1(1), (2), (3). As to Transport for London see PARA 246 ante; and LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 269 et seq.

2 London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 s 8 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1874 (No 2); the Statute Law Revision Act 1891; the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976; and the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 para 1). The provisions of the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843, except s 3 (as amended) and s 33 (as amended), apply in relation to a licensed taxi which is licensed under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869, at any time when that vehicle is being used to provide a local service under a special licence: Local Services (Operation by Taxis) (London) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/566, regs 3, 4.

3 London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 s 8 (as amended: see note 2 supra).

4 In the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843, 'proprietor' includes every person who, either alone or in partnership with any other person, keeps any hackney carriage or who is concerned otherwise than as a driver or attendant in employing for hire any hackney carriage: s 2 (amended by the Statute Law Revision (No 2) Act 1888; the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1989). As to proceedings where there is more than one proprietor of a hackney carriage see the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 s 44 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1891; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976). As to all complaints under the provisions of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 or the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 see ss 38, 39 (both amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1891; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976).

1488. Appeals.

Where the licensing authority<sup>1</sup> has refused to grant or has suspended or revoked a licence<sup>2</sup>, the applicant for the licence or (as the case may be) the holder of the licence may, before the expiry of the designated period<sup>3</sup>, require the authority to reconsider<sup>4</sup> its decision or appeal to a magistrates' court<sup>5</sup>. If the person calling for a decision to be reconsidered under these provisions is dissatisfied with the decision of the licensing authority on reconsideration, he may, before the expiry of the designated period, appeal to a magistrates' court<sup>6</sup>. On any appeal under these provisions, the court may make such order as it thinks fit, and any order which it makes is binding on the licensing authority<sup>7</sup>. Where a person holds a licence which is in force when he applies for a new licence in substitution for it, the existing licence continues in force until the application for the new licence, or any appeal under these provisions in relation to that application, is disposed of, but without prejudice to the exercise in the meantime of any power of the licensing authority to revoke the existing licence<sup>8</sup>. Where the licensing authority suspends or revokes a licence, or confirms a decision to do so, it may, if the holder of the licence so requests, direct that its decision is not to have effect until the expiry of the designated period<sup>9</sup>.

1 In the Transport Act 1985 s 17 (as amended), 'licensing authority' means the person empowered to grant a licence: s 17(1); and see PARA 1479 ante. In relation to such licences the licensing authority is Transport for London: see PARA 1479 ante. As to Transport for London see PARA 246 ante; and LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 269 et seq.

2 In ibid s 17 (as amended), 'licence' means a licence under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 6 (as substituted) (taxi licences) (see PARA 1479 ante) or under s 8 (as substituted) (taxi driver licences) (see PARA 1481 ante): Transport Act 1985 s 17(1).

3 In ibid s 17 (as amended), 'designated period' means such period as may be specified for the purpose by London cab order: s 17(10) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 para 8(1), (3)). 'London cab order' means an order made by Transport for London: Transport Act 1985 s 17(10) (as so amended). Any power to make a London cab order under s 17 (as amended) includes power to make or revoke a previous order: s 17(11) (added by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 para 8(3)). As to London cab orders see PARA 1484 ante.

4 Any call for reconsideration under the Transport Act 1985 s 17(2) (as amended) must be made to the licensing authority in writing: s 17(3). On any reconsideration under s 17 (as amended) the person calling for the decision is entitled to be heard either in person or by his representative: s 17(4).

5 Ibid s 17(2) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 para 8(3); and the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 293(1), (2)). See the London Taxis (Licensing Appeals) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1188, made under the Transport Act 1985 s 17(2), (5) (as originally enacted).

6 Ibid s 17(5) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 para 8(3); and the Courts Act 2003 Sch 8 para 293(2)).

7 Transport Act 1985 s 17(6).

8 Ibid s 17(7). For the purposes of s 17(7), where the licensing authority refuses to grant the new licence the application is not to be treated as disposed of: (1) where no call for a reconsideration of the authority's decision is made under s 17(2) (as amended) (see the text and note 5 supra), until the expiry of the designated period; (2) where such a reconsideration is called for, until the expiry of the designated period which begins by reference to the decision of the authority on reconsideration: s 17(8) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 para 8(3)).

1489. Compellability.

Every hackney carriage<sup>1</sup> found standing in any street or place<sup>2</sup> is, unless actually hired, deemed to be plying for hire<sup>3</sup>, although such hackney carriage is not on any standing or place usually appropriate for the purpose of hackney carriages standing or plying for hire<sup>4</sup>. The driver of every such hackney carriage which is not actually hired is obliged and compellable to go with any person desirous of hiring such hackney carriage<sup>5</sup>. Upon the hearing of any complaint against the driver of any such hackney carriage for any such refusal the driver is obliged to adduce evidence of having been actually hired at the time of such refusal<sup>6</sup>. The driver of every hackney carriage who plies for hire at any place<sup>7</sup> within the limits of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 must, unless such driver has reasonable excuse (to be allowed by the justice before whom the matter is brought in question), drive such hackney carriage to any place to which he is required by the hirer to drive it, not exceeding six miles from where it was hired, or for any time not exceeding one hour from the time when hired<sup>8</sup>.

The driver of any hackney carriage who plies for hire at any place within the limits of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 must, if required by the hirer, carry in and by such carriage the number of persons painted or marked on it, or any less number of persons<sup>9</sup>. The driver of every hackney carriage within the limits of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 must carry in or upon such carriage a reasonable quantity of luggage for every person hiring such carriage<sup>10</sup>.

Where any hackney carriage is hired and taken to any place of public resort or elsewhere, and the driver is required to wait with the hackney carriage, it is lawful for the driver to demand and receive from the person so hiring and requiring him to wait a reasonable sum as a deposit over and above the fare so which the driver is entitled for driving<sup>11</sup>. If a driver who has received any such deposit refuses to wait, or if the driver goes away, or permits the hackney carriage to be driven or taken away, without the consent of the person making the deposit, before the expiration of the time for which the sum so deposited is a sufficient compensation, he commits an offence<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'hackney carriage' see PARA 1478 ante.

2 The reference to a street or place does not include a reference to any parking place for the time being designated by an order in force under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 or to any part the use of which as a parking place is for the time being authorised by an order in force under that Act: London Cab Act 1968 s 3(2) (amended by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 146, Sch 13 para 4). As to cabs standing at airports and railway stations see PARA 1493 post.

3 As to the meaning of 'ply for hire' see PARA 1478 note 5 ante.

4 London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 35 (amended by the Statute Law Revision (No 2) Act 1888; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976).

5 London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 35 (as amended: see note 4 supra).

6 Ibid s 35 (as amended: see note 4 supra). If the driver fails to produce sufficient evidence of his having been hired he must forfeit a sum not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: s 35 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 38, 46). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. As to compensation for drivers improperly summoned for refusing to carry any person see the London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 36 (amended by the Statute Law Revision (No 2) Act 1888; and the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1976). The provisions of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 35 (as amended) and of the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 17(2) (as amended) do not apply in the case of a cab driver who is in any part of the metropolitan area in which by a condition attached to his licence he is prohibited from plying for hire: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 31(2). As to the imposition of such conditions see art 31(1). As to plying for hire by hackney carriages elsewhere than at some standing or place appointed, and loitering or obstruction by drivers of hackney carriages, see the London Hackney Carriages Act 1843 s 33 (as amended); and PARA 1491 note 9 post. Plying for hire on private property is not prohibited: Skinner v Usher (1872) LR 7 QB 423, DC; Benjamin v Cooper [1951] 2 All ER 907, DC. 'Standing' does not mean standing still, but rather waiting or parking: Eldridge v British Airports Authority [1970] 2 QB 387, [1970] 2 All ER 92, DC.

7 As to plying for hire at railway stations and airports see PARA 1493 post.

8 London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 7 (amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1973). By the London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 34(1) (art 34 substituted by the London Cab (No 2) Order 2001 arts 2, 3), for the reference to six miles in the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 7 (as amended) there is substituted a reference to 12 miles. This does not affect the London Cab Order 1972, SI 1972/1047: London Cab Order 1934, SR & O 1934/1346, art 34(2) (as so substituted).

Transport for London may by London cab order direct that for the reference to the distance of six miles in the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 7 (as amended) and s 17(2) (as amended) (being the length of a journey which the driver of a cab is by law obliged to undertake) there may be substituted a reference to such greater distance as appears to Transport for London to be appropriate: London Cab Act 1968 s 2(1) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 Pt I para 7(1), (4)(a), Pt II para 16(1)). The London Cab Order 1972, SI 1972/1047, has been made under this power, prescribing a distance of 20 miles in the case of Heathrow airport. A London cab order under the London Cab Act 1968 s 2(1) (as amended) may be limited to apply only in relation to hirings which begin, or which end, at such places as may be specified in the order, and may substitute different distances in relation to such hirings or any of them and in relation to other hirings: s 2(2) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 Pt I para 7(4)(b)). The power to make London cab orders under the London Cab Act 1968 s 2 (as amended) includes power to vary or revoke a previous such order: s 2(3) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 ss 253, 423, Sch 20 Pt I para 7(4)(c), Sch 34 Pt V). Before making any London cab order under the London Cab Act 1968 s 2 (as amended), Transport for London must consult with such bodies appearing to it to represent the owners and drivers of cabs as it considers appropriate: s 2(4) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 Pt I para 7(4)(d)).

As to the offence of refusing to go see the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 17(2) (as amended); and PARA 1491 post. For the exclusion of s 17 (as amended) in the case of certain drivers in specified circumstances see note 6 ante.

9 Ibid s 9 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1892). For the offence of allowing any person to ride without the consent of the hirer see the London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 50 (amended by the Statute Law Revision (No 2) Act 1888; the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 36(1); and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982, ss 37, 46). For the offence of refusing to carry the authorised number of persons see the London Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 17 (as amended); and PARA 1491 post.

10 Ibid s 10 (amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1973). For the offence of refusing to carry luggage see the Hackney Carriage Act 1853 s 17 (as amended); and PARA 1491 post.

11 London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 47 (amended by the Statute Law Revision Act 1874). The sum so demanded and received must be accounted for by the driver when the hackney carriage is finally discharged: London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 47 (as so amended). If the driver refuses to account for the deposit he is guilty of an offence and is liable to forfeit a fine not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: s 47 (as so amended; and further amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 46).

12 London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 47 (amended by the Statute Law Revision (No 2) Act 1888). A person guilty of such an offence is liable to forfeit a fine not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: London Hackney Carriage Act 1831 s 47 (as so amended; and further amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 46).

1493. Taxis at railway stations and airports.

By virtue of local legislation applying in London<sup>1</sup>, railway stations in London and their approaches and precincts are deemed to be public streets or places<sup>2</sup>. In the admission of cabs<sup>5</sup> to a railway station, or in the treatment of cabs while in a railway station<sup>6</sup>, the company having control of the station must not show any preference to any cab, or give any cab a privilege, which is not given to other cabs, and where any charge is made in respect of the admission of any cab to a railway station for the purpose of plying for hire<sup>7</sup> therein, the charge must not exceed such sum as may be allowed by Transport for London<sup>8</sup>. If it is proved to the satisfaction of Transport for London that it will not be possible to obtain a sufficient supply of cabs at a railway station for the proper accommodation of the public, unless the operation of this provision<sup>9</sup> is suspended or modified as respects that provision, Transport for London may by London cab order<sup>10</sup> so modify or suspend that provision with respect to that station subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order<sup>11</sup>.

(8) LEGISLATION APPLICABLE TO TAXIS BOTH IN AND OUTSIDE LONDON

1495. Immediate hiring of taxis and advance booking of taxis and hire cars at separate fares.

If:

- 2358 (1) a licensed taxi<sup>1</sup> is hired in an area where a scheme for the hiring of taxis at separate fares<sup>2</sup> is in operation<sup>3</sup>;
- 2359 (2) the taxi is licensed by the licensing authority<sup>4</sup> for that area<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2360 (3) the hiring falls within the terms of the scheme<sup>6</sup>, that licensed taxi may be hired for use for the carriage of passengers for hire or reward at separate fares without becoming a public service vehicle<sup>7</sup> for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 or any related enactment<sup>8</sup>, or ceasing<sup>9</sup> to be subject to the taxi code<sup>10</sup>. For these purposes<sup>11</sup>, a licensing authority may make a scheme<sup>12</sup> for its area and must make a scheme if the holders of at least 10 per cent of the current taxi licences issued by the authority request the authority in writing to do so<sup>13</sup>. Any scheme must:

- 2361 (a) designate the places in the area from which taxis may be hired under the scheme ('the authorised places')<sup>14</sup>;
- 2362 (b) specify the requirements to be met for the purposes of the scheme in relation to the hiring of taxis at separate fares<sup>15</sup>;
- 2363 (c) include such provision, or provision of such description, as may be prescribed for the purpose<sup>16</sup>; and
- 2364 (d) not include provisions of any such description as may be prescribed for the purpose<sup>17</sup>.

1 For these purposes, 'licensed taxi' means a vehicle licensed under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 37 (see PARA 1435 ante) or the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 6 (as substituted) (see PARA 1479 ante): Transport Act 1985 s 13(3).

2 le under ibid s 10 (as amended).

3 Ibid s 10(2)(a).

4 For these purposes, 'licensing authority' means, in relation to the London taxi area, Transport for London or the holder for the time being of any office designated by Transport for London for the purposes of ibid s 10 (as amended); and, in relation to any other area in England and Wales, the authority having responsibility for licensing taxis in that area: s 10(3) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 253, Sch 20 Pt I para 8(1), Pt II para 17(1)). 'London taxi area' means the area to which the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 applies (see PARA 1477 ante): Transport Act 1985 s 13(3). As to Transport for London see PARA 246 ante; and LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 269 et seq.

5 Ibid s 10(2)(b).

6 Ibid s 10(2)(c). For the purposes of s 10 (as amended), the hiring of a taxi falls within the terms of a scheme if: (1) it is hired from an authorised place and the hiring meets the requirements specified by the licensing authority as to those to be met for the purposes of the scheme; and (2) a taxi is hired from an authorised place if it is standing at that place when it is hired and the persons hiring it are all present there: s 10(9).

7 For the meaning of 'public service vehicle' see PARA 1136 ante.

8 'Related enactment' in relation to the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 means any statutory provision (whenever passed or made) relating to public service vehicles in which 'public service vehicle' is defined directly or indirectly by reference to provisions of that Act: Transport Act 1985 s 13(3).

9 Ie otherwise than by virtue of any provision made under ibid s 13 (as amended): see PARA 1498 post.

10 Ibid s 10(1). The 'taxi code', in relation to a taxi used as mentioned in s 10 (as amended), s 11 or s 12 (as amended) means those provisions made by or under any enactment which would apply if the vehicle were plying for hire (see PARAS 1496-1497 post) and were hired by a single passenger for his exclusive use: s 13(3). As to the meaning of 'ply for hire' see PARA 1434 note 3 ante.

11 Ie for the purposes of ibid s 10 (as amended).

12 A licensing authority may, subject to ibid s 10(5), vary any scheme made by it under s 10 (as amended): s 10(7). Any scheme under s 10 (as amended), and any variation of such a scheme, must be made in accordance with the prescribed procedure: s 10(8) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 ss 253, 423, Sch 20 Pt I para 8(1), Sch 34 Pt V). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations: Transport Act 1985 s 137(1).

13 Ibid s 10(4).

14 Ibid s 10(5)(a). As to the regulations that have been made under s 10(5) (as amended) and s 10(8) see the Taxis (Schemes for Hire at Separate Fares) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1779. Subject to the Transport Act 1985 s 10(5) (as amended), any scheme under s 10 (as amended) may, in particular, make provision with respect to: (1) fares; (2) the display of any document, plate, mark or sign for indicating an authorised place is available for the carriage of passengers at separate fares; (3) the manner in which arrangements are to be made for the carriage of passengers on any such hiring as is mentioned in s 10(1); and (4) the conditions to apply to the use of any such hiring: s 10(6).

15 Ibid s 10(5)(b).

16 Ibid s 10(5)(c)(i) (s 10(5)(c) amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 20 Pt I para 8(1), (2) (c), Sch 34, Pt V).

TAXIS AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES/ (8) LEGISLATION APPLICABLE TO TAXIS BOTH IN AND OUTSIDE LONDON/1496. Advance booking of taxis and hire cars at separate fares.

1496. Advance booking of taxis and hire cars at separate fares.

If:

- 2365 (1) all the passengers carried on the occasion in question booked their journeys in advance<sup>1</sup>; and
- 2366 (2) each of them consented, when booking his journey, to sharing the use of the vehicle on that occasion with the others on the basis that a separate fare would be payable by each passenger for his own journey on that occasion<sup>2</sup>, then a licensed taxi<sup>3</sup> or licensed hire car<sup>4</sup> may be used for the carriage of passengers at separate fares for hire or reward at separate fares without: (a) becoming a public service vehicle for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 or any related enactment; or (b) ceasing<sup>5</sup> to be subject to the taxi code<sup>6</sup> or, as the case may be, the hire car code<sup>7</sup>.

Without prejudice to his powers to attach other conditions<sup>9</sup>, any traffic commissioner granting a special licence<sup>10</sup> must attach specified conditions to it<sup>11</sup>. The conditions are: (a) that every vehicle<sup>12</sup> used under the licence must be one for which the holder of the licence has a taxi licence; and (b) that no vehicle is to be used under the licence otherwise than for providing a local service<sup>13</sup> with one or more stopping places within the area of the authority which granted the taxi licence of the vehicle in question<sup>14</sup>. At any time when a licensed taxi is being used for the provision of a local service under a special licence it must carry such documents, plates and marks, in such manner, as may be prescribed<sup>15</sup>. Such provisions of the taxi code<sup>16</sup> as may be prescribed apply in relation to a licensed taxi at any time when it is being so used, and any such provision may be so applied subject to such modifications as may be prescribed<sup>17</sup>. A person may hold more than one special licence but may not at the same time hold more than one such licence granted by the traffic commissioner for a particular traffic area<sup>18</sup>.

1 'Taxi licence' means a licence under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 6 (see PARA 1479 ante), the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 37 (see PARA 1435 ante), or any similar enactment: Transport Act 1985 s 13(3).

10 For these purposes, 'special licence' means a restricted PSV operator's licence granted by virtue of the Transport Act 1985 s 12 (as amended): s 12(2). The Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 1(2) (vehicle used as a public service vehicle to be treated as such until that use is permanently discontinued) (see PARA 1136 ante) does not apply to any use of a licensed taxi for the provision of a local service under a special licence: Transport Act 1985 s 12(8). For the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 12(3) (as amended) (which provides that where two or more PSV operators' licences are held they must be granted by traffic commissioners for different areas) (see PARA 1144 ante), special licences must be disregarded: Transport Act 1985 s 12(11). The Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 16(1A) (as added), s 16(2), s 17(3)(d), ss 18-20 (all as amended), s 26 (as amended) and the Transport Act 1985 s 26(5), (6) do not apply in relation to special licences or (as the case may be) the use of vehicles under such licences and, for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 12 (as amended), the Transport Act 1985 s 12 (as amended) must be treated as if it were in the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 Pt II (ss 6-29) (as amended): Transport Act 1985 s 12(13) (amended by the Road Traffic (Driver Licensing and Information Systems) Act 1989 s 16, Sch 6).

11 Transport Act 1985 s 12(4).

12 The maximum number of vehicles which the holder of a special licence may at any time use under the licence is the number of vehicles for which (for the time being) he holds taxi licences; and a condition to that effect must be attached to every special licence under the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 16(1) (as amended) (see PARA 1153 ante): Transport Act 1985 s 12(7).

13 For the purposes of ibid s 12(5)(b) (see head (b) in the text), 'local service' does not include an excursion or tour: s 12(6).

16. PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES IN LONDON

(1) INTRODUCTION

1500. Legislation.

The licensing and regulation of private hire vehicles in London<sup>1</sup>, and drivers and operators of such vehicles, are governed by the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>2</sup>. For these purposes, 'private hire vehicle' means a vehicle<sup>3</sup> constructed or adapted to seat fewer than nine passengers which is made available with a driver to the public for hire for the purpose of carrying passengers, other than a licensed taxi<sup>4</sup> or a public service vehicle<sup>5</sup>. Nothing in the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 applies to any vehicle whose use as a private hire vehicle is limited to use in connection with funerals or weddings<sup>6</sup>. The Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 was amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 so as to transfer the functions of the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup> under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to Transport for London as licensing authority for the purposes of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>8</sup>.

1 In the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998, 'London' means the area consisting of the metropolitan police district and the City of London (including the Temples): s 36. This area corresponds to the administrative area of Greater London: see the London Government Act 1963 ss 2(1), 76 (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 323). As to the metropolitan police district see the London Government Act 1963 s 76 (as amended); and POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 137. As to the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 31; and as to the Temples see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 32. As to the administrative area of Greater London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 29. As to taxis in London see PARA 1477 et seq ante.

2 As to the commencement of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 see s 40(2). All the provisions of the Act have been brought into force.

The Secretary of State has power by regulations to make transitional provisions and savings: see s 37(1). Such regulations may modify any provision of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 or any other Act: s 37(2). Before making regulations the Secretary of State must consult the licensing authority (see PARA 1502 note 1 post): s 37(3) (added by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(3), Sch 21 para 18). Such regulations are to be made by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 32(3) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 21 para 16). The following regulations have been made under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 37: the Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Operators' Licences) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3146; the Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Transitional and Saving Provisions) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/655; the Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Transitional and Saving Provisions) (Amendment) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3028; the Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Transitional Provisions) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/242; and the Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Transitional and Saving Provisions) (Amendment) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/584.

3 'Vehicle' means a mechanically propelled vehicle (other than a tramcar) intended or adapted for use on roads: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36. 'Road' means any length of highway or of any other road to which the public has access (including bridges over which a road passes): s 36. As to the construction of the similar definition of 'road' in the road traffic legislation see PARA 206 ante. As to the meaning of 'tramcar' see PARA 1538 post.

4 'Licensed taxi' means a hackney carriage, a London cab or a taxi licensed under the Civic Government (Scotland) Act 1982 Pt II: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36. 'Hackney carriage' means a vehicle licensed under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 s 37 (as amended) (see PARAS 1434-1435 ante) or any similar enactment: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36. 'London cab' means a vehicle licensed under the Metropolitan Public Carriage Act 1869 s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 1479 ante); Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36.

6 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 29.

7 The functions of the Secretary of State under ibid s 37 (as amended), s 38 (repealed), s 40 are excluded: Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(2). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante.

8 See the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(1); and the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36 (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(3), Sch 21 paras 1, 2, 17). See also PARA 1502 note 1 post.

NOTE 2--SI 2004/242 amended: SI 2007/3453.

NOTE 5--Day appointed in relation to Road Safety Act 2006 s 54 is 31 March 2008: SI 2007/3492.

(2) LONDON OPERATORS' LICENCES

1501. Requirement for London operator's licence.

No person may in London<sup>1</sup> make provision for the invitation or acceptance of, or accept, private hire bookings<sup>2</sup> unless he is the holder of a private hire vehicle operator's licence for London (a 'London PHV operator's licence')<sup>3</sup>. A person who makes provision for the invitation or acceptance of private hire bookings, or who accepts such a booking, in contravention of this provision is guilty of an offence<sup>4</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'London' see PARA 1500 note 1 ante.

2 'Private hire booking' means a booking for the hire of a private hire vehicle for the purpose of carrying one or more passengers (including a booking to carry out as sub-contractor a private hire booking accepted by another operator): Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 1(4). For the meaning of 'private hire vehicle' see PARA 1500 ante. 'Operator' means a person who makes provision for the invitation or acceptance of, or who accepts, private hire bookings: s 1(1)(b). Any reference in the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to the operator of a vehicle which is being used as a private hire vehicle is a reference to the operator who accepted the booking for the hiring or to whom the vehicle is immediately available, as the case may be: s 1(3).

3 Ibid s 2(1).

4 Ibid s 2(2). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 2(2). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. Where an offence by any person under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 is due to the act or default of another person, then (whether proceedings are taken against the first mentioned person or not) that other person is guilty of the offence and is liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 33(1). Where an offence under the Act committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate (or any person purporting to act in that capacity), he as well as the body corporate is guilty of the offence and is liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 33(2).

1502. Grant of London operator's licence.

Any person may apply to the licensing authority<sup>1</sup> for a London PHV operator's licence<sup>2</sup>. The application must state the address of any premises in London<sup>3</sup> which the applicant proposes to use as an operating centre<sup>4</sup>. The licensing authority must grant a London PHV operator's licence to the applicant if it is satisfied that<sup>5</sup> the applicant is a fit and proper person to hold a London PHV operator's licence<sup>6</sup>, and that any further requirements that may be prescribed<sup>7</sup> (which may include requirements relating to operating centres) are met<sup>8</sup>.

A London PHV operator's licence is to be granted subject to such conditions as may be prescribed and such other conditions as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>9</sup>, and is to be granted for five years or such shorter period as the licensing authority may consider appropriate in the circumstances of the case<sup>10</sup>. A London PHV operator's licence must specify the address of any premises in London which the holder of the licence may use as an operating centre<sup>11</sup>; and is to be in such form and contain such particulars as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>12</sup>.

An applicant for a London PHV operator's licence may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision not to grant such a licence<sup>13</sup>, or against a decision not to specify an address proposed in the application as an operating centre<sup>14</sup>, or against any condition (other than a prescribed condition) to which the licence is subject<sup>15</sup>.

1 'The licensing authority' means Transport for London: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36 (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(3), Sch 21 para 17). The functions of the Secretary of State under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 as originally enacted (except ss 37, 38, 40) were transferred to Transport for London by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 s 254(1), (2). References in the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to the Secretary of State are replaced by references to the licensing authority (except in ss 37, 38, 40): Greater London Authority Act 1999, Sch 21 para 2. See also PARA 1500 text and notes 7-8 ante. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante. As to Transport for London see PARA 246 ante; and LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARA 269 et seq. As to the delegation of functions of the licensing authority see PARA 1529 post.

2 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 3(1) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 21 para 2). 'London PHV operator's licence' means a licence under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 2 (see PARA 1501 ante): s 36. As to applications for licences, and as to fees, see PARAS 1514-1515 post.

3 For the meaning of 'London' see PARA 1500 note 1 ante.

4 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 3(2). 'Operating centre' means premises at which private hire bookings are accepted by an operator: ss 1(5), 36. For the meanings of 'private hire booking' and 'operator' see PARA 1501 note 2 ante.

5 Ibid s 3(3) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 21 paras 2, 3).

6 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 3(3)(a).

7 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations made under ibid s 32(1) (see PARA 1530 post): s 36.

8 Ibid s 3(3)(b). Where the decision has been made to approve an application for the grant of a licence, the licensing authority, provided that any fee prescribed for such a grant is received within the specified time limit, must grant the licence and send it to the applicant: Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Operators' Licences) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3146, reg 6(1).

9 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 3(4) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 21 paras 1, 2). Every licence must be granted subject to prescribed conditions, which include requirements as to insurance, agreement or estimation of fares, giving the licensing authority notice of certain matters, wireless telegraphy apparatus, the keeping of records, and maintaining a procedure as to complaints and lost property: Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Operators' Licences) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3146, reg 9. The licensing authority must issue a replacement licence where an operator notifies it that: (1) he has adopted, altered or dispensed with a business name; (2) he has changed his name; or (3) his licence has been lost, destroyed or defaced: reg 18(1). Except where a licence has been lost or destroyed, no replacement may be issued until the original licence has been returned to the licensing authority: reg 18(2). In relation to a licence granted in the sole name of an individual, if that individual dies, becomes bankrupt or becomes a person who lacks capacity under the Mental Capacity Act 2005, the licensing authority may direct that a person carrying on the business of the operator is to be treated for the purposes of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 as if he were the operator for such purpose and to such extent as is specified in the direction for a period not exceeding six months from the date of the coming into force of that direction or, if less, the remainder of the period of the licence: Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Operators' Licences) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3146, reg 19(1), (3). These provisions refer to a patient under the Mental Health Act 1983 Pt VII (ss 93-113), but that Part has been repealed by the Mental Capacity Act 2005 and replaced by provisions of that Act relating to persons who lack capacity. As to persons who lack capacity see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARA 641 et seq. In the event of the individual's death, the licensing authority may direct that the licence is not to be treated as terminated when the individual died but suspended until the date when the direction comes into force: Private Hire Vehicles (London) (Operators' Licences) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3146, reg 19(2). Temporary permits could be issued where an application for the grant of a licence was received by the licensing authority before 22 August 2001 but no determination had been made in relation to that application before 22 October 2001: reg 20.

10 Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 3(5) (amended by the Greater London Authority Act 1999 Sch 21 paras 1, 2). As to the suspension or revocation of licences see PARA 1516 post. As to the variation of licences see PARAS 1517-1518 post.

1503. Obligations of London operators.

The holder of a London PHV operator's licence<sup>1</sup> (a 'London PHV operator') may not in London<sup>2</sup> accept a private hire booking<sup>3</sup> other than at an operating centre<sup>4</sup> specified in his licence<sup>5</sup>. A London PHV operator must secure that any vehicle<sup>6</sup> which is provided by him for carrying out a private hire booking accepted by him in London is either a vehicle for which a London PHV licence<sup>7</sup> is in force driven by a person holding a London PHV driver's licence<sup>8</sup>, or a London cab<sup>9</sup> driven by a person holding a London cab driver's licence<sup>10</sup>.

A London PHV operator must:

- 2370 (1) display a copy of his licence at each operating centre specified in the licence<sup>11</sup>;

- 2371 (2) keep at each specified operating centre a record in the prescribed<sup>12</sup> form of the private hire bookings accepted by him there<sup>13</sup>;
- 2372 (3) before the commencement of each journey booked at a specified operating centre, enter in the record kept under head (2) above the prescribed particulars of the booking<sup>14</sup>;
- 2373 (4) keep at each specified operating centre such records as may be prescribed of particulars of the private hire vehicles<sup>15</sup> and drivers which are available to him for carrying out bookings accepted by him at that centre<sup>16</sup>;
- 2374 (5) at the request of a constable or authorised officer<sup>17</sup>, produce for inspection any record required by these provisions to be kept<sup>18</sup>;
- 2375 (6) keep at each operating centre specified in his licence a record containing: (a) specified details of any complaint made in respect of a private hire booking accepted by him at that centre; and (b) specified details of any other complaint made in respect of his undertaking as an operator at that centre<sup>19</sup>; and
- 2376 (7) keep at each operating centre specified in his licence a record containing specified details of: (a) any lost property found at that centre or in any private hire vehicle used to carry out a booking accepted by him there; and (b) any property reported to him at that centre as having been lost<sup>20</sup>.

If a London PHV operator ceases to use an operating centre specified in his licence he must preserve any record he was required by this provision to keep there for such period as may be prescribed<sup>21</sup>.

A London PHV operator who contravenes any of the above provisions is guilty of an offence<sup>22</sup>. It is a defence in proceedings for an offence under this provision for an operator<sup>23</sup> to show that he exercised all due diligence to avoid committing such an offence<sup>24</sup>.

1504. Hirings accepted on behalf of another operator.

A London PHV operator<sup>1</sup> ('the first operator') who has in London<sup>2</sup> accepted a private hire booking<sup>3</sup> may not arrange for another operator<sup>4</sup> to provide a vehicle<sup>5</sup> to carry out that booking as sub-contractor unless:

- 2377 (1) the other operator is a London PHV operator and the sub-contracted booking is accepted at an operating centre<sup>6</sup> in London<sup>7</sup>;
- 2378 (2) the other operator is licensed<sup>8</sup> by the council of a district and the sub-contracted booking is accepted in that district<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2379 (3) the other operator accepts the sub-contracted booking in Scotland<sup>10</sup>.

A London PHV operator who contravenes the above provision is guilty of an offence<sup>11</sup>. It is a defence in proceedings for such an offence for an operator to show that he exercised all due diligence to avoid committing an offence<sup>12</sup>. It is immaterial for the above purposes whether or not sub-contracting is permitted by the contract between the first operator and the person who made the booking<sup>13</sup>.

For the avoidance of doubt (and subject to any relevant contract terms), a contract of hire between a person who made a private hire booking at an operating centre in London and the London PHV operator who accepted the booking remains in force despite the making of arrangements by that operator for another contractor to provide a vehicle to carry out that booking as sub-contractor<sup>14</sup>.

1505. Requirement for private hire vehicle licence.

A vehicle<sup>1</sup> may not be used as a private hire vehicle<sup>2</sup> on a road<sup>3</sup> in London<sup>4</sup> unless a private hire vehicle licence<sup>5</sup> is in force for that vehicle<sup>6</sup>. The driver and operator of a vehicle used in contravention of this provision are each guilty of an offence<sup>7</sup>. The owner<sup>8</sup> of a vehicle who permits it to be so used is also guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>.

The above provisions do not apply to a vehicle used for the purposes of a hiring for a journey beginning outside London in an area of England and Wales which is not a controlled district<sup>10</sup>.

- 1 For the meaning of 'vehicle' see PARA 1500 note 3 ante.
- 2 For the meaning of 'private hire vehicle' see PARA 1500 ante. Any reference in the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to a vehicle being 'used as a private hire vehicle' is a reference to a private hire vehicle which: (1) is in use in connection with a hiring for the purpose of carrying one or more passengers (s 1(2)(a)); or (2) is immediately available to an operator to carry out a private hire booking (s 1(2)(b)). For the meaning of 'operator' see PARA 1501 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'private hire booking' see PARA 1501 note 2 ante.
- 3 For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 1500 note 3 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'London' see PARA 1500 note 1 ante.

5 'Private hire vehicle licence' means:

1413 (1) except where head (2) or head (3) infra applies, a London PHV licence;

1414 (2) if the vehicle is in use for the purposes of a hiring the booking for which was accepted outside London in a controlled district, a licence under the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 s 48 (as amended) (see PARA 1448 ante) issued by the council for that district; and

1415 (3) if the vehicle is in use for the purposes of a hiring the booking for which was accepted in Scotland, a licence under the Civic Government (Scotland) Act 1982 s 10, and for the purposes of head (2) or head (3) supra it is immaterial that the booking in question is a sub-contracted booking: Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 6(6). 'Controlled district' means an area for which the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 Pt II (ss 45-80) (see PARA 1433 et seq ante) is in force by virtue of a resolution passed by a district council under s 45 (see PARA 1433 ante): Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 36.

6 Ibid s 6(1).

7 Ibid s 6(2). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 6(5). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. However, it is a defence in proceedings for an offence under s 6(2) for the driver or operator to show that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the vehicle being so used: s 6(4). As to offences generally see PARA 1501 note 4 ante.

8 For the purposes of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998, the owner of a vehicle is to be taken to be the person by whom it is kept: s 35(1). In determining, in the course of any proceedings for an offence under the Act, who was the owner of a vehicle at any time, it must be presumed that the owner was the person who was the registered keeper of the vehicle at that time: s 35(2). Notwithstanding that presumption, it is open to the defence to show that the person who was the registered keeper of a vehicle at any particular time was not the person by whom the vehicle was kept at that time; and it is open to the prosecution to prove that the vehicle was kept at that time by some person other than the registered keeper: s 35(3). 'Registered keeper', in relation to a vehicle, means the person in whose name the vehicle was registered under the Vehicle Excise and Registration Act 1994 (see PARA 518 et seq ante): Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 s 35(4).

9 Ibid s 6(3). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: s 6(5).

PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES IN LONDON/(3) PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLE LICENCES/1506. Application for and grant of a London PHV licence.

1506. Application for and grant of a London PHV licence.

The owner of any vehicle<sup>1</sup> constructed or adapted to seat fewer than nine passengers may apply to the licensing authority<sup>2</sup> for a private hire vehicle<sup>3</sup> licence for London<sup>4</sup> (a 'London PHV licence') for that vehicle<sup>5</sup>. The licensing authority must grant a London PHV licence for a vehicle if it is satisfied<sup>6</sup>:

2380 (1) that the vehicle: (a) is suitable in type, size and design for use as a private hire vehicle; (b) is safe, comfortable and in a suitable mechanical condition for that use; and (c) is not of such design and appearance as would lead any person to believe that the vehicle is a London cab<sup>7</sup>;

- 2381 (2) that there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle a policy of insurance or such security as complies with the requirements of Part VI of the Road Traffic Act 1988<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2382 (3) that any further requirements that may be prescribed<sup>9</sup> are met<sup>10</sup>.

A London PHV licence may not be granted in respect of more than one vehicle<sup>11</sup>, and is to be granted subject to such conditions as may be prescribed and such other conditions as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>12</sup>. A London PHV licence must be in such form and must contain such particulars as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>13</sup>, and is to be granted for one year or for such shorter period as the licensing authority may consider appropriate in the circumstances of the case<sup>14</sup>.

An applicant for a London PHV licence may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision not to grant such a licence or against any condition (other than a prescribed condition) to which the licence is subject<sup>15</sup>.

1508. Fitness of licensed vehicles.

A constable or authorised officer<sup>1</sup> has power at all reasonable times to inspect and test, for the purpose of ascertaining its fitness, any vehicle<sup>2</sup> to which a London PHV licence<sup>3</sup> relates<sup>4</sup>. If a constable or authorised officer is not satisfied as to the fitness of such a vehicle he may by notice<sup>5</sup> to the owner of the vehicle<sup>6</sup>:

- 2383 (1) require the owner to make the vehicle available for further inspection and testing at such reasonable time and place as may be specified in the notice<sup>7</sup>; and
- 2384 (2) if he thinks fit, suspend the London PHV licence relating to that vehicle until such time as a constable or authorised officer is satisfied as to the fitness of the vehicle<sup>8</sup>.

A notice suspending a London PHV licence must state the grounds on which the licence is being suspended and the suspension takes effect on the day on which the notice is served on the owner<sup>9</sup>. A suspended licence remains suspended until such time as a constable or authorised officer by notice to the owner directs that the licence is again in force<sup>10</sup>. If a licence remains suspended at the end of the period of two months beginning with the day on which notice of suspension was served on the owner of the vehicle, a constable or authorised officer may by notice to the owner direct that the licence is revoked<sup>11</sup>, and the revocation takes effect at the end of the period of 21 days beginning with the day on which the owner is served with that notice<sup>12</sup>.

An owner may appeal against a notice suspending or revoking a London PHV licence to a magistrates' court<sup>13</sup>.

1509. Identification of licensed vehicles.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must issue a disc or plate for each vehicle<sup>2</sup> to which a London PHV licence<sup>3</sup> relates which identifies that vehicle as a vehicle for which such a licence is in force<sup>4</sup>. No vehicle to which a London PHV licence relates may be used as a private hire vehicle<sup>5</sup> on a road<sup>6</sup> in London<sup>7</sup> unless such a disc or plate is exhibited on the vehicle in such manner as may be prescribed<sup>8</sup>. The licensing authority may by notice<sup>9</sup> exempt a vehicle from this requirement when it is being used to provide a service specified in the notice if the authority considers it inappropriate (having regard to that service) to require the disc or plate in question to be exhibited<sup>10</sup>.

The driver and operator<sup>11</sup> of a vehicle used in contravention of the above provisions are each guilty of an offence<sup>12</sup>. The owner of a vehicle<sup>13</sup> who permits it to be so used is also guilty of an offence<sup>14</sup>.

1511. Requirement for private hire vehicle driver's licence.

No vehicle<sup>1</sup> may be used as a private hire vehicle<sup>2</sup> on a road<sup>3</sup> in London<sup>4</sup> unless the driver holds a private hire vehicle driver's licence<sup>5</sup>. The driver and operator<sup>6</sup> of a vehicle used in contravention of this provision are each guilty of an offence<sup>7</sup>. The owner of a vehicle<sup>8</sup> who permits it to be so used is also guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>.

This prohibition does not apply to the use of a vehicle for the purposes of a hiring for a journey beginning outside London in an area of England and Wales which is not a controlled district<sup>10</sup>.

1512. London PHV driver's licence.

Any person may apply to the licensing authority<sup>1</sup> for a private hire vehicle<sup>2</sup> driver's licence for London<sup>3</sup> (referred to as a 'London PHV driver's licence')<sup>4</sup>. The licensing authority must grant a London PHV driver's licence to an applicant if it is satisfied that<sup>5</sup>:

2385 (1) the applicant has attained the age of 21, is (and has for at least three years been) authorised to drive a motor car<sup>6</sup> and is a fit and proper person to hold a London PHV driver's licence<sup>7</sup>; and

2386 (2) the requirement specified below<sup>8</sup>, and any further requirements prescribed<sup>9</sup> by the licensing authority, are met<sup>10</sup>.

The licensing authority must require applicants to show to the authority's satisfaction (whether by taking a test or otherwise) that they possess a level of knowledge of London or parts of London, and of general topographical skills, which appears to the authority to be appropriate<sup>11</sup>. The licensing authority may impose different requirements in relation to different applicants<sup>12</sup>. The licensing authority may send a copy of an application to the Metropolitan Police Commissioner or the City of London Police Commissioner with a request for the Commissioner's observations; and the Commissioner must respond to the request<sup>13</sup>.

A London PHV driver's licence:

2387 (a) may be granted subject to such conditions as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>14</sup>;

- 2388 (b) must be in such form and must contain such particulars as the licensing authority may think fit<sup>15</sup>; and
- 2389 (c) must be granted for three years or for such shorter period as the licensing authority may consider appropriate in the circumstances of the particular case<sup>16</sup>.

An applicant may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision not to grant a London PHV driver's licence or against any condition to which such a licence is subject<sup>17</sup>.

1513. Issue of driver's badges.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must issue a badge to each person to whom it has granted a London PHV driver's licence<sup>2</sup>. The licensing authority may prescribe<sup>3</sup> the form of such badges<sup>4</sup>. A person issued with such a badge must, when he is the driver of a vehicle being used as a private hire vehicle<sup>5</sup>, wear the badge in such position and manner as to be plainly and distinctly visible<sup>6</sup>. The licensing authority may by notice<sup>7</sup> exempt a person from this requirement when he is the driver of a vehicle<sup>8</sup> being used to provide a service specified in the notice if the authority considers it inappropriate (having regard to that service) to require the badge to be worn<sup>9</sup>.

Any person who without reasonable excuse contravenes the above requirement is guilty of an offence<sup>10</sup>.

(5) SUSPENSION, REVOCATION AND VARIATION OF LICENCES

1516. Power to suspend or revoke licences.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> may suspend or revoke a licence under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 for any reasonable cause including (without prejudice to the generality of this provision) any ground mentioned below<sup>2</sup>.

A London PHV operator's licence<sup>3</sup> may be suspended or revoked where the licensing authority is no longer satisfied that the licence holder is fit to hold such a licence<sup>4</sup>, or the licence holder has failed to comply with any condition of the licence or any other obligation imposed on him by or under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>5</sup>.

A London PHV licence<sup>6</sup> may be suspended or revoked where the licensing authority is no longer satisfied that the vehicle<sup>7</sup> to which it relates is fit for use as a private hire vehicle<sup>8</sup>, or the owner has failed to comply with any condition of the licence or any other obligation imposed on him by or under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>9</sup>.

A London PHV driver's licence<sup>10</sup> may be suspended or revoked where:

2400 (1) the licence holder has, since the grant of the licence, been convicted of an offence involving dishonesty, indecency or violence<sup>11</sup>;

2401 (2) the licensing authority is for any other reason no longer satisfied that the licence holder is fit to hold such a licence<sup>12</sup>; or 2402 (3) the licence holder has failed to comply with any condition of the licence or any other obligation imposed on him by or under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998<sup>13</sup>.

Where the licensing authority has so decided to suspend or revoke a licence: (a) the authority must give notice<sup>14</sup> of the decision and the grounds for the decision to the licence holder or, in the case of a London PHV licence, the owner of the vehicle to which the licence relates<sup>15</sup>; and (b) the suspension or revocation takes effect at the end of the period of 21 days beginning with the day on which that notice is served on the licence holder or the owner<sup>16</sup>. If the licensing authority is of the opinion that the interests of public safety require the suspension or revocation of a licence to have immediate effect, and the authority includes a statement of that opinion and the reasons for it in the notice of suspension or revocation, the suspension or revocation takes effect when the notice is served on the licence holder or vehicle owner (as the case may be)<sup>17</sup>.

A suspended licence remains suspended until such time as the licensing authority by notice directs that the licence is again in force<sup>18</sup>.

The holder of a London PHV operator's or driver's licence, or the owner of a vehicle to which a PHV licence relates, may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision to suspend or revoke that licence<sup>19</sup>.

PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES IN LONDON/(5) SUSPENSION, REVOCATION AND VARIATION OF LICENCES/1517. Variation of operator's licence at the request of the operator.

1517. Variation of operator's licence at the request of the operator.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> may, on the application of a London PHV operator<sup>2</sup>, vary his licence by adding a reference to a new operating centre<sup>3</sup> or removing an existing reference to an operating centre<sup>4</sup>. An application for variation must be made in such form, and include such declarations and information, as the licensing authority may require<sup>5</sup>, and the authority may require an applicant to furnish such further information as it may consider necessary for dealing with the application<sup>6</sup>. The licensing authority may not add a reference to a new operating centre unless it is satisfied that the premises in question meet certain prescribed requirements<sup>7</sup>.

An applicant for the variation of a London PHV operator's licence<sup>9</sup> under the above provision may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision not to add a new operating centre to the licence<sup>10</sup>.

1518. Variation of operator's licence by licensing authority.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> may suspend the operation of a London PHV operator's licence<sup>2</sup> so far as relating to any operating centre<sup>3</sup> specified in the licence, or vary such a licence by removing a reference to an operating centre previously specified in the licence, if the authority is no longer satisfied that the operating centre in question meets certain prescribed<sup>4</sup> requirements<sup>5</sup> or for any other reasonable cause<sup>6</sup>. Where the licensing authority has decided so to suspend the operation of a licence or vary a licence<sup>7</sup> it must give notice<sup>8</sup> of the decision and the grounds for it to the licence holder<sup>9</sup>; and the decision takes effect at the end of the period of 21 days beginning with the day on which the licence holder is served with that notice<sup>10</sup>.

If the licensing authority is of the opinion that the interests of public safety require its decision to have immediate effect, and the authority includes a statement of that opinion and the reasons for it in the notice, its decision takes effect when the notice is served on the licence holder<sup>11</sup>.

If a licence is suspended in relation to an operating centre, the premises in question are not to be regarded for the purposes of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 as premises at which the licence holder is authorised to accept private hire bookings<sup>12</sup>, until such time as the licensing authority by notice states that the licence is no longer suspended in relation to those premises<sup>13</sup>.

The holder of a London PHV operator's licence may appeal to a magistrates' court against a decision under these provisions<sup>14</sup>.

(6) APPEALS AND NOTICES

1519. Procedure on appeal.

The following provisions apply to any appeal which lies under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to a magistrates' court against a decision of the licensing authority<sup>1</sup>, a constable or an authorised officer<sup>2</sup> in relation to, or to an application for, a licence under the Act<sup>3</sup>. If the licensing authority has exercised the power to delegate functions<sup>4</sup>, such an appeal must be heard by a magistrates' court<sup>5</sup>.

Any such appeal is to be by way of complaint for an order and the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980<sup>6</sup> applies to the proceedings<sup>7</sup>. The time within which a person may bring such an appeal is 21 days from the date on which notice of the decision appealed against is served<sup>8</sup> on him<sup>9</sup>. In the case of a decision where an appeal lies, the notice of the decision must state the right of appeal to a magistrates' court and the time within which an appeal may be brought<sup>10</sup>.

An appeal against any decision of a magistrates' court in pursuance of an appeal to which this provision applies lies to the Crown Court at the instance of any party to the proceedings in the magistrates' court<sup>11</sup>.

Where on appeal a court varies or reverses any decision of the licensing authority, a constable or an authorised officer, the order of the court must be given effect by the licensing authority or, as the case may be, a constable or authorised officer<sup>12</sup>.

1520. Effect of appeal on decision appealed against.

If any decision of the licensing authority<sup>1</sup> against which a right of appeal is conferred by the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998:

- 2403 (1) involves the execution of any work or the taking of any action;
- 2404 (2) makes it unlawful for any person to carry on a business which he was lawfully carrying on at the time of the decision, the decision is not to take effect until the time for appealing has expired or (where an appeal is brought) until the appeal is disposed of or withdrawn<sup>2</sup>. However, this does not apply in relation to a decision to suspend, vary or revoke a licence if the notice of suspension, variation or revocation directs that, in the interests of public safety, the decision is to have immediate effect<sup>3</sup>.

Any notice<sup>1</sup> authorised or required under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to be given to any person may be served by post<sup>2</sup>. For the purposes of the Interpretation Act 1978<sup>3</sup> any such notice is properly addressed to a London PHV operator<sup>4</sup> if it is addressed to him at any operating centre<sup>5</sup> of his in London<sup>6</sup>. Any notice authorised or required under the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 to be given to the owner of a vehicle<sup>7</sup> is deemed to have been effectively given if it is given to the person who is for the time being notified to the licensing authority<sup>8</sup> for the purposes of the Private Hire Vehicles (London) Act 1998 as the owner of the vehicle (or, if more than one person is currently notified as the owner, if it is given to any of them)<sup>9</sup>.

1523. Return of licences etc.

The holder of a London PHV operator's licence<sup>1</sup> must return the licence to the licensing authority<sup>2</sup> after the expiry or revocation of that licence, within the period of 7 days after the day on which the licence expires or the revocation takes effect<sup>3</sup>. The owner of a vehicle<sup>4</sup> to which a London PHV licence<sup>5</sup> relates must return the licence and the plate or disc which was issued for the vehicle<sup>6</sup> to the licensing authority after the expiry or revocation of that licence within the period of seven days after the day on which the licence expires or the revocation takes effect<sup>7</sup>. The holder of a London PHV driver's licence<sup>8</sup> must return the licence and his driver's badge<sup>9</sup> to the licensing authority after the expiry or revocation of that licence, within the period of seven days after the day on which the licence expires or the revocation takes effect<sup>10</sup>.

A person who without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any such requirement or direction to return a licence, disc, plate or badge is guilty of an offence<sup>17</sup>.

A constable or authorised officer is entitled to remove and retain the plate or disc from a vehicle to which an expired, suspended or revoked London PHV licence relates following a failure to return the plate or disc within the time allowed<sup>18</sup>, or following a suspension or revocation of the licence having immediate effect<sup>19</sup>.

- 2408 (2) indicating that vehicles can be hired by telephone on a telephone number<sup>4</sup> being the number of premises in London<sup>5</sup>; or

No such advertisement may include any of the following words, namely 'taxi', 'taxis', 'cab' or 'cabs' or any word so closely resembling any of those words as to be likely to be mistaken for it (whether alone or as part of another word), unless the vehicles offered for hire are London cabs<sup>7</sup>. An advertisement which includes the word 'minicab', 'mini-cab' or 'mini cab' (whether in the singular or plural) does not by reason only of that fact contravene this provision<sup>8</sup>.

Any person who issues, or causes to be issued, an advertisement which contravenes these provisions is guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>. However, it is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to prove that:

For these purposes, a car-sharing scheme is a scheme for the provision of private cars<sup>5</sup> for use on journeys in the course of which one or more passengers may be carried at separate fares, and the participants in a car-sharing scheme are those who make private cars available for use under the scheme or who are eligible for carriage as passengers under the scheme<sup>6</sup>.

(i) History of the Legislation

1532. Origins.

Tramways owe their origin to the construction of mineral lines in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries which used wooden beams to guide and support tubs and skips carrying materials from mines. In the eighteenth century these lines developed into wagonways with metal strips placed on the timber. Eventually the wagons were equipped with flanged wheels to maintain them in position<sup>1</sup>. The nineteenth century saw the development of both railways and tramways from these beginnings. The former were for the most part designed to operate on their own right of way, segregated from public roads<sup>2</sup>, whereas tramways tended to be street-running. Tramways of this character appeared in England in the early 1860s and were installed without statutory authority<sup>3</sup>. By the mid-1880s they had become the dominant mode of urban transport and remained so for some fifty years.

1533. Early tramway legislation.

Although a tramway could be constructed without statutory authority<sup>1</sup>, persons wishing to lay tramway rails along a public highway had first to obtain the protection of the legislature as, if the evidence showed that the rails laid in a public highway were a nuisance<sup>2</sup>, and were dangerous and mischievous to passengers on the highway, the persons laying the rails were liable to be convicted of a criminal offence<sup>3</sup>, and it made no difference that the owner of the rails allowed the public to use them<sup>4</sup>. Although an arrangement of the highway to the advantage of one class might have been allowable even when mischievous to another class, the laying of tramway rails was not an arrangement of the highway for use in the ordinary manner of using it<sup>5</sup>.

Statutory authority to construct and operate a tramway could be secured by private Act of Parliament<sup>6</sup>. From 1870 it was also possible to secure such authority under Part I of the Tramways Act 1870. This entailed obtaining a provisional order from the Board of Trade<sup>7</sup>, which had subsequently to be confirmed by Act of Parliament<sup>8</sup>. A provisional order procedure was also introduced by the Military Tramways Act 1887<sup>9</sup>, a statute designed to facilitate the construction of tramways for military purposes. Under that Act, the provisional order had to be confirmed by Act of Parliament (when objections to the order had been made) or by the Privy Council (if no objections had been made)<sup>10</sup>. Similar legislation was later enacted to facilitate the construction of tramways for naval purposes<sup>11</sup>. A tramway may in rare instances be authorised under a licence granted by a local authority under parliamentary powers<sup>12</sup>.

Without statutory authority, it is now generally an offence to place tramway apparatus in or under a street, or break up or open a street for that purpose<sup>13</sup>. This is also the case with regard to the installation in a street of overhead wires to permit the operation of an electric tramway, unless the consent of the Secretary of State has been obtained<sup>14</sup>.

1 A tramway so constructed may, however, be subject to general legislation affecting railways: see eg London and South Western Rly Co v Myers (1881) 45 JP 731, DC, where speed limits under the Locomotives Act 1865 were considered applicable. Cf, however, Matson v Baird & Co (1878) 3 App Cas 1082, HL, where it was held that statutory obligations to provide gates and gatekeepers did not apply to a private railway on private property used exclusively for the owner's purposes. Even though a tramway is laid on private ground, the owner may be liable for injury suffered by persons, whether or not they are there by permission of the owner: see the Occupiers' Liability Act 1957; the Occupiers' Liability Act 1984; and NEGLIGENCE vol 78 (2010) PARAS 29-40. ### 1534. Light railway legislation.

A separate mode of transport, occupying an intermediate position between railways and tramways, was the light railway<sup>1</sup>. That mode is considered in this context because in many instances it closely approximates to tramways. The Regulation of Railways Act 1868 permitted the Board of Trade<sup>2</sup> by licence to authorise a company<sup>3</sup> to construct and work, or to work as a light railway, the whole or any part of a railway which the company had power to construct or work<sup>4</sup>. A light railway so authorised could be subjected to conditions and regulations as to weight and speed<sup>5</sup>. Of wider import was the Light Railways Act 1896<sup>6</sup>, which introduced an order-making procedure<sup>7</sup>. Such an order, when made, had effect as if enacted by Parliament<sup>8</sup>. The procedure offered several advantages over those contained in the Tramways Act 1870, notably in avoiding parliamentary expenses and limiting the rating assessment for a light railway to one fourth of that for a tramway<sup>9</sup>. This encouraged the promotion of many light railways which were in physical terms indistinguishable from tramways<sup>10</sup>.

1535. Recent legislation.

Tramways experienced a decline in the middle years of the twentieth century, but there has since been a limited, but significant, revival<sup>1</sup>. The new tramways secured statutory authority by way of the private Bill procedure<sup>2</sup>. The influx of such Bills was a contributory factor which led to a review of that procedure<sup>3</sup> and this in turn led to the enactment of Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>4</sup>. Under that Act, the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may make an order<sup>6</sup> relating to, or to matters ancillary to, the construction or operation in England and Wales of certain transport systems<sup>7</sup>, including tramways<sup>8</sup>.

With the coming into force of Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>9</sup>, certain of the provisions of the Tramways Act 1870 were totally repealed and the remaining provisions were largely repealed except as incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order<sup>10</sup>. From the same date, the Military Tramways Act 1887 was also repealed<sup>11</sup> as was the Light Railways Act 1896<sup>12</sup>, except in relation to Scotland<sup>13</sup>. This latter repeal, together with the earlier repeal of the light railway provisions of the Regulation of Railways Act 1868<sup>14</sup> therefore had the additional effect of precluding in future the introduction in England and Wales of what would otherwise have been, in legal terms, new light railways.

1 The only tramways to survive in Great Britain during the decline were the Blackpool system and the Great Orme Tramway at Llandudno.

(ii) Nature of Tramways

1536. Meaning of 'tramway': earlier authorities.

Before the passing of the Tramways Act 1870, no distinction was drawn in legal terms between tramways and railways<sup>1</sup>. Later legislation, albeit in special circumstances, occasionally continued to adopt this same practice<sup>2</sup>. It has been said that whether an undertaking is a railway or a tramway is largely a question of fact<sup>3</sup>. The Tramways Act 1870 constituted tramways as a separate system of transport, but it did not define the term. It is nevertheless evident from the Act that street running was assumed<sup>4</sup>. The Military Tramways Act 1887<sup>5</sup> contained a limited definition<sup>6</sup>. In its primary and natural sense, 'tramway' denotes nothing more than the fabric of the lines on which traffic is carried, but the word may be used so as to embrace the use and occupation of the fabric as well as the fabric itself, and even to include the whole stock and goodwill of the tramway undertaking<sup>7</sup>.

Neither the Regulation of Railways Act 1868 nor the Light Railways Act 1896<sup>8</sup> contained a definition of 'light railway'. For reasons earlier explained<sup>9</sup>, many undertakings physically resembling tramways were constituted under the provisions of the Light Railways Act 1896, but such undertakings were classed as railways<sup>10</sup>. This led to the introduction of a sub-category: a light railway in the nature of a tramway<sup>11</sup>. The term 'tramroad' has been applied to a system in which the rails are laid on sleepers above the surface and fixed in a way usual in railways<sup>12</sup>.

1 The two were referred to together without distinction for the purposes of the Regulation of Railways Act 1868: see s 2 (definition of 'railway').

2 Eg the Railway Fires Act 1905 s 4, which defines 'railway' to include 'any light railway and any tramway worked by steam power'; and the Highways Act 1980 s 118A(8) (added by the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 47(1), Sch 2 paras 1, 3), in which 'railway' includes tramway but does not include any part of a system where rails are laid along a carriageway.

1537. Meaning of 'tramway': recent authorities.

The New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 contains a definition of 'tramway' which was designed to be wide enough also to include a trolley vehicle system and a guided bus system<sup>1</sup>. The Transport and Works Act 1992 introduced definitions for both 'railway'<sup>2</sup> and 'tramway'<sup>3</sup>, for the purposes of that Act. With the need for modern tramways to be more precisely defined in the context of their immediate surroundings, the model clauses prescribed for incorporation in orders made under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>4</sup> contain definitions of 'street tramway' and 'tramroad'<sup>5</sup>.

Recent private Acts have adopted further terms to describe the systems of transport which they authorise, notably 'light rapid transit'<sup>6</sup> and 'light rail transit'<sup>7</sup>, expressions which, while possessing no legal significance (the undertakings concerned are either railways or tramways for legal purposes), are intended to emphasise that the lines in question adopt an advanced form of tramway, often providing a greater degree of segregation from other traffic and thus higher speeds. In the context of safety legislation<sup>8</sup>, the Health and Safety Executive<sup>9</sup> has classified tramways into the following types: (1) integrated on-street; (2) segregated on-street; and (3) off-street<sup>10</sup>.

1 In the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 Pt III (ss 48-106) (as amended), 'tramway' means a system, mainly or exclusively for the carriage of passengers, using vehicles guided, or powered by energy transmitted, by rails or other fixed apparatus installed exclusively or mainly in a street: s 105(1).

2 In the Transport and Works Act 1992, 'railway' means a system of transport employing parallel rails which: (1) provide support and guidance for vehicles carried on flanged wheels; and (2) form a track which either is of a gauge of at least 350 mm or crosses a carriageway (whether or not at the same level), but does not include a tramway: s 67(1).

3 In the Transport and Works Act 1992, 'tramway' means a system of transport used wholly or mainly for the carriage of passengers and employing parallel rails which: (1) provide support and guidance for vehicles carried on flanged wheels; and (2) are laid wholly or mainly along a street or in any other place to which the public has access (including a place to which the public has access only on making a payment): s 67(1). See further PARA 1586 post.

10 See Railway Safety Principles and Guidance Part 2 Section G: Guidance on Tramways (Health and Safety Guidance Series 153/8, HSE Books, 1997). 'Integrated on-street' is a type of tramway in which the rails are laid in a part of the highway capable of being used by other road vehicles or by pedestrians; 'segregated on-street' is a type of tramway in which the rails are laid in a part of the highway which may be crossed by pedestrians but not normally shared with other road vehicles; and 'off-street' is a type of tramway which is totally segregated from a highway on an alignment wholly separate from a highway.

1538. Terminology and status of tramway vehicles.

Vehicles which operate on a tramway are referred to in the Tramways Act 1870 as carriages<sup>1</sup>. The Town Police Clauses Act 1889 uses the expression 'tramcar or tram carriage' and for the purposes of that Act vehicles of those descriptions are excluded from the definition of 'omnibus'<sup>2</sup>. In particular cases a tramcar has been held to be a coach<sup>3</sup>. For the purposes of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 and the Road Traffic Act 1988, the term 'tramcar' is employed and is defined as including any carriage used on any road by virtue of an order under the Light Railways Act 1896<sup>4</sup>. For the purposes of the model clauses prescribed for incorporation in orders made under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>5</sup>, 'tramcar' means any vehicle (whether or not used for the carriage of passengers) carried on flanged wheels along the rails of a tramway<sup>6</sup>.

A tramcar is not a public service vehicle<sup>7</sup> for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>8</sup> and it is no longer a hackney carriage for the purpose of legislation regulating hackney carriages<sup>9</sup>. It is also excluded from the definition of 'private hire vehicle' for the purposes of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976<sup>10</sup>. The abbreviated form 'tram' is used in ordinary speech and has been adopted in certain private Acts<sup>11</sup> and in regulations dealing with road traffic signs and signals<sup>12</sup>. Other terms have been employed to refer to vehicles on a tramway which are not designed or used to carry passengers<sup>13</sup>.

Tramway operators are under the same liabilities to passengers as other common carriers<sup>14</sup>.

8 See the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 1(1); and PARA 1136 ante. However, provisions of the Act have been applied to tramcars: see PARA 1623 post. Also, tramcars are to be taken as public service vehicles for the purposes of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 122(2)(c) (duty of local authorities to facilitate passage of public service vehicles and secure safety and security of their users): see the Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, Sch 2 para 40(5) (in cases where that provision has been incorporated in orders made under the Transport and Works Act 1992).

9 Originally, the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 ss 37-68 (as amended) (licensing of hackney carriages etc) were applied to tramcars and persons working on them by the Tramways Act 1870 s 48 (repealed). The provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act 1847 ss 37-68 (as amended) never applied to light railway vehicles: Yorkshire (Woollen District) Electric Tramways v Ellis [1905] 1 KB 396. ### 1539. Functions of Secretary of State.

Matters relating to tramways were historically under the jurisdiction of the Board of Trade<sup>1</sup>, but the duty of implementing the Light Railways Act 1896 was given to Light Railway Commissioners<sup>2</sup>. In 1919 the Ministry of Transport was created for the purpose of improving the means of, and the facilities for, locomotion and transport<sup>3</sup>. At the same time all the powers and duties of other government departments, including those of the Board of Trade, in relation to tramways and light railways, were transferred to the Minister of Transport<sup>4</sup>. These powers are now exercised by the Secretary of State for Transport<sup>5</sup>.

Certain functions of a safety character relating to railways and tramways have been transferred from the Secretary of State to the Health and Safety Executive<sup>6</sup>. Responsibility for certain other safety legislation has also passed to the Health and Safety Executive<sup>7</sup>, and the Secretary of State is no longer empowered to direct the holding of inquiries or investigations into railway and tramway accidents<sup>8</sup>.

6 See the Railway Safety (Miscellaneous Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/553, reg 10 (amended by SI 2006/557). The functions transferred were those conferred on the Secretary of State by the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 41 (as amended) (approval of works, plant and equipment) and s 45 (as amended) (directions limiting speeds and loads): see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARAS 204, 208. 7 See the Railways Act 1993 s 117; and PARAS 1615-1616 post.

8 The power of direction was conferred by the Regulation of Railways Act 1871 s 6, which has been repealed. The holding of such inquiries or investigations may now be directed by the Health and Safety Commission under powers conferred by the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 s 14 (as amended).

(i) General Statutory Position

1540. Authorisation of tramways.

With the repeal of Part I of the Tramways Act 1870<sup>1</sup>, it is no longer possible to authorise the construction or operation of a tramway by means of a provisional order<sup>2</sup> made under that Act. The normal method of obtaining statutory authority for a tramway is now by means of an order made under Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>3</sup>. This same procedure is applicable in cases where an amendment or modification is sought to, or repeal or revocation is sought of, an existing Act of Parliament or provisional order which has authorised a tramway<sup>4</sup>.

1541. Continuing application of the Tramways Act 1870.

Although in general the Tramways Act 1870 has been repealed, certain provisions of that Act continue to have effect to the extent that they have been incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order<sup>1</sup>. Certain private Acts have incorporated, or otherwise applied, provisions of the Tramways Act 1870 where authority to construct or operate a tramway has been conferred. Such authorisation has been secured in respect of tramways in the following localities: Llandudno<sup>2</sup>, Blackpool<sup>3</sup>, Greater Manchester<sup>4</sup>, South Yorkshire<sup>5</sup>, West Midlands<sup>6</sup>, Leeds<sup>7</sup> and Croydon<sup>8</sup>. An Act of Parliament or provisional order which incorporates certain provisions of the Tramways Act 1870 is referred to in that Act as a 'special Act'<sup>9</sup>.

9 'Special Act', in the Tramways Act 1870 Pt II (ss 22-33) and Pt III (ss 34-63) (as amended), means any Act of Parliament passed after 9 August 1870 or any provisional order authorising the construction of a tramway, and with which Pts II and III are to be incorporated: s 23. Those Parts, save in so far as they are expressly varied or excepted, are to be incorporated with the special Act under s 22.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/18. TRAMWAYS/(2) TRAMWAYS ACT 1870/(ii) Construction and Maintenance of Tramways/1542. Construction of track.

(ii) Construction and Maintenance of Tramways

1542. Construction of track.

Every tramway authorised under the Tramways Act 1870 must be constructed to the gauge prescribed<sup>1</sup> by the special Act<sup>2</sup>, or, if no gauge is so prescribed, to such gauge as will admit of the use of carriages<sup>3</sup> constructed for use upon railways of a gauge of four feet eight and a half inches, and must be so laid and maintained that the uppermost surface of the rail is on a level with the surface of the road<sup>4</sup>.

1 'Prescribed' means prescribed by any rules made in pursuance of the Tramways Act 1870: s 3. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. As to the power to make rules see s 64; and PARA 1573 post.

2 For the meaning of 'special Act' see PARA 1541 note 9 ante.

3 As to the exclusive right of user of carriages given to promoters see the Tramways Act 1870 ss 34, 54 (as amended); and PARA 1555 post.

4 Ibid s 25. The degree of tolerance in the requirement for tramway rails to be level with the surface of the road depends on the technical feasibility of laying the rails level and the risk of injury if they are not level: Roe v Sheffield City Council [2003] EWCA Civ 01, [2004] QB 653.

1543. Interference with roads.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> may open and break up<sup>2</sup> any road<sup>3</sup> for the purpose of making, forming, laying down, maintaining and renewing a duly authorised tramway or any part of it<sup>4</sup>. The following regulations must, however, be observed by the promoters:

- 2415 (1) they must give notice of their intention to the road authority<sup>5</sup> at least<sup>6</sup> seven days before the commencement of the works, specifying the time of commencement of the works and the portion of the road proposed to be dealt with<sup>7</sup>;
- 2416 (2) they may not open or break up or alter the level of any road except under the superintendence and to the satisfaction of the road authority, unless such superintendence is withheld at the time specified in the notice or discontinued during the work<sup>8</sup>;
- 2417 (3) they must pay all reasonable expenses of that authority with respect to the superintendence<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2418 (4) without the consent of the road authority, they may not deal at any time with a greater length than 100 yards of any road not exceeding a quarter of a mile in length, and in the case of roads exceeding that length, must leave an interval of at least a quarter of a mile between any two places at which they open or break up the road, and may not open or break up a greater length than 100 yards at any such place<sup>10</sup>.

Where, however, the works in question are street works or major transport works within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>11</sup>, then in so far as they are executed in a street<sup>12</sup> within the meaning of that Act, the manner of carrying out the works is regulated by Part III of that Act<sup>13</sup>.

1 'Promoters' means any person, persons, corporation, company or local authority authorised by special Act to construct a tramway: Tramways Act 1870 s 24. For the meaning of 'special Act' see PARA 1541 note 9 ante. It seems that 'promoters' also comprises the permitted assigns of such persons (see ss 43, 44; and PARAS 1565-1566 post), but does not include debenture holders (see Marshall v South Staffordshire Tramways Co [1895] 2 Ch 36 at 51, CA) or lessees or licensees (see Edinburgh Street Tramways Co v Edinburgh Corpn [1894] AC 456 at 469, HL).

2 For the meaning of 'open and break up' see St Luke's Vestry v North Metropolitan Tramways Co (1876) 1 QBD 760, 35 LT 329.

3 'Road' means any carriageway being a public highway, and the carriageway of any bridge forming part of or leading to the same: Tramways Act 1870 s 3. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. A road does not include a footway: Hyde Corpn v Oldham, Ashton and Hyde Electric Tramway Ltd (1900) 64 JP 596, CA. Unauthorised interference with a road or street may lead to prosecution under the Highways Act 1980 s 131 (as amended) (see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 345) or, in certain cases, under the Criminal Damage Act 1971 s 1 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 334): see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 525.

4 Tramways Act 1870 s 26.

5 'Road authority' means the local authority or other body having power to maintain or repair the road: see ibid s 3, Sch A Pt II. For the body responsible for the maintenance of different categories of roads see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARAS 56 et seq, 412-413.

6 For the effect of the words 'at least' see TIME vol 97 (2010) PARA 335. Notice may be dispensed with in cases of urgency: see St Luke's Vestry v North Metropolitan Tramways Co (1876) 1 QBD 760 at 767, obiter, per Blackburn J.

1544. Interference with bridges.

Where the carriageway over any bridge forms part of, or is, a road<sup>1</sup> within the jurisdiction of the road authority<sup>2</sup>, but the bridge is vested in any person, corporation or company distinct from that authority, any work the promoters<sup>3</sup> are empowered to construct affecting or in any way interfering with the structural works of the bridge must be constructed under the superintendence (at the cost of the promoters) and to the reasonable satisfaction of that person, corporation or company, unless such superintendence has been refused or withheld after notice given seven days before the commencement of the work by the promoters<sup>4</sup>.

Where the carriageway in question is a street within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>5</sup> and the work concerned constitutes street works<sup>6</sup> or major transport works<sup>7</sup> which an undertaker<sup>8</sup> proposes to execute affecting the structure of a bridge within the meaning of that Act<sup>9</sup>, then the manner in which the work is to be carried out is regulated by Part III of that Act<sup>10</sup>.

1545. Interference with level crossings.

Where the carriageway in or upon which any tramway is proposed to be laid down is crossed by any railway or tramway on the level, any work which the promoters<sup>1</sup> are empowered to construct affecting or interfering with the railway or tramway, or the traffic on it, must be constructed and maintained under the superintendence (at the cost of the promoters) and to the reasonable satisfaction of the person, corporation or company owning the railway or tramway, unless such superintendence is refused or withheld after notice given seven days before the commencement of the work of the promoters<sup>2</sup>.

1546. Reinstatement of roads.

When the promoters<sup>1</sup> have opened or broken up<sup>2</sup> any portion of any road<sup>3</sup>, they must with all convenient speed, and in all cases within four weeks, unless the road authority<sup>4</sup> otherwise consents in writing, complete the work on account of which the road was opened or broken up, and, subject to the formation, maintenance or renewal of the tramway, fill in the ground and make good the surface, restoring to the satisfaction of the road authority the road to as good a condition as it was in before the opening or breaking up, and clear away all surplus paving or metalling material or rubbish occasioned by it<sup>5</sup>. In the meantime, the promoters must cause the place where the road is opened or broken up to be fenced and watched and properly lit at night<sup>6</sup>. The promoters must pay all reasonable expenses of the repair of the road for six months after its restoration, so far as those expenses are increased by the opening or breaking up<sup>7</sup>.

Where the road opened or broken up is a street within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>8</sup> and the works concerned constitute street works<sup>9</sup> or major transport works<sup>10</sup> within the meaning of that Act, then requirements in respect of reinstatement<sup>11</sup> are regulated by Part III of that Act<sup>12</sup>.

Failure by the promoters to comply with s 27 is punishable by a penalty not exceeding level 2 on the standard scale, and a further daily penalty of £5 on continuance, without prejudice to the enforcement by specific performance of the requirements of the Tramways Act 1870 or to any other remedy against them: s 27 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(5), (6)(b), (9); and by the Criminal Justice Act 1982 s 46(1), (4)). ### 1547. Repair of roads.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> must, at their own expense, maintain and repair to the satisfaction of the road authority<sup>2</sup>, and with such materials and in such manner as that authority directs, so much of any road<sup>3</sup> upon which a tramway belonging to them is laid as lies between the rails; and where two tramways are laid by the same promoters in any road not more than four feet apart, the portion of road between the tramways; and in each case so much of the road as extends eighteen inches beyond the rails and on each side of the tramway<sup>4</sup>. If the promoters abandon<sup>5</sup> the whole or any part of their undertaking and take up any part of their tramway, they must with all convenient speed and within six weeks (unless the road authority otherwise consents in writing) fill in the ground and make good the surface, restoring to the satisfaction of that authority that portion of the road to as good a condition as it was in before the tramway was laid, and clear away all surplus paving or metalling material or rubbish occasioned by the work; and in the meantime must provide for the fencing, watching and lighting at night of the place where the road is open or broken up<sup>6</sup>. In the event of non-compliance the road authority itself may, after seven days' notice to the promoters, open and break up the road and do the necessary works of repair, maintenance or restoration, and recover its expenses from the promoters<sup>7</sup>.

If the part of the tramway abandoned is in a street within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>8</sup> and the abandonment works concerned constitute the execution of street works<sup>9</sup> or major transport works<sup>10</sup> within the meaning of that Act, then the requirements as to the manner of carrying out the works are regulated by Part III of that Act<sup>11</sup>, as are the circumstances in which a street authority<sup>12</sup> may carry out the necessary work and recover the cost from the promoters<sup>13</sup>.

In addition to these statutory requirements, the promoters must keep the part of the highway which they are liable to repair in a fit and safe condition for passing traffic, and if they fail to do so they are liable in damages to any person injured<sup>14</sup>. They are not, however, bound to remove snow, except perhaps where the snow amounts to an actual obstruction<sup>15</sup>.

1548. Agreements with road authorities.

The road authority<sup>1</sup> and the promoters<sup>2</sup> may enter into, carry into effect, alter, renew or vary contracts, agreements or arrangements for paving and keeping in repair the whole or any portion of the roadway of any road<sup>3</sup> in which a tramway has been laid by the promoters, and the proportion to be paid by either of the parties of the expense of such paving and keeping in repair<sup>4</sup>. TRAMWAYS/(2) TRAMWAYS ACT 1870/(ii) Construction and Maintenance of Tramways/1549. Interference with particular apparatus of other undertakers.

1549. Interference with particular apparatus of other undertakers.

For the purposes of making, forming, laying down, maintaining, repairing or renewing any of their tramways, and where it appears necessary or expedient in order to prevent frequent interruption of traffic by repairs or works connected with the tramway, the promoters<sup>1</sup> may from time to time alter the position of any mains or pipes for the supply of gas or water, or any tubes, wires or apparatus for telegraphic or other purposes<sup>2</sup>. However, this is subject to the following restrictions<sup>3</sup>:

- 2419 (1) before laying down a tramway in a road<sup>4</sup> in which any mains or pipes, tubes, wires or apparatus may be laid, whether or not the promoters contemplate altering the position of any of them, the promoters must give seven days' notice of their intentions to the board, company or persons owning or controlling those mains etc, and deliver a plan and section of the proposed work; and, if the board, company or persons are of the opinion that the proposed construction or alteration would endanger their works or apparatus or interfere with the supply<sup>5</sup> of gas, water or telegraphic or other communication, they may give notice<sup>6</sup> to the promoters to lower or alter the position of the mains etc in such a manner as may be considered necessary, any difference as to the necessity of lowering or alteration being settled in accordance with the provisions of the Tramways Act 1870 with respect to the settlement of the difference<sup>7</sup>;
- 2420 (2) the promoters may not remove or displace any of the mains or pipes, valves, syphons, plugs, tubes, wires or apparatus or works belonging to or controlled by any such board, company or persons, or in any way impede the passage of water, gas or telegraphic or other communication, without the consent of, and except in the manner approved by, such board, company or persons until a satisfactory alternative supply has been provided at the promoters' expense<sup>8</sup>;

2421 (3) the promoters must make good all damage done by them to property belonging to or controlled by such board, company or persons, and make full compensation to all parties for loss or damage arising from interference with such property or with the private service pipes of any persons supplied with water or gas<sup>9</sup>; and are liable to a penalty not exceeding £50 for every day upon which interference occurs if by any of their operations they interrupt the supply of water or gas in or through any main or main pipe<sup>10</sup>.

1550. Interference with sewers and drains.

Where any tramway, or other work connected with it, interferes with any sewer, drain, watercourse, subway, defence or other work, or in anyway affects the sewerage or drainage of any district, the promoters<sup>1</sup> may not commence any work until fourteen days' previous written notice<sup>2</sup> of their intention, with all necessary particulars<sup>3</sup>, has been left<sup>4</sup> at the principal office<sup>5</sup> of the proper authority or authorities<sup>6</sup>, and that authority or (if more than one) any of them, unless it fails or they fail to do so within fourteen days after service of the notice and particulars, has or have signified approval<sup>7</sup>. The promoters must also comply with and conform to the authority's reasonable directions and regulations in executing the works, and provide, by such new, altered or substituted works as the authority may require, for the protection of, and prevention of injury or impediment to, the sewers and works, and must save harmless the authority against all expense occasioned by the works<sup>8</sup>. All the works must be done at the promoters' reasonable expense under the direction, superintendence and control of the authority's engineers or other officers, and any such new, altered or substituted works are afterwards as completely under the jurisdiction and control of, and as fully maintainable by, the authority as any other sewers or works<sup>9</sup>.

The promoters may be subject to further requirements if the work in question is in a street<sup>10</sup> and constitutes the execution of street works<sup>11</sup> or major transport works<sup>12</sup> within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 and the sewers, drains and other works concerned constitute apparatus within the meaning of that Act<sup>13</sup>. The manner of carrying out the work is regulated by Part III of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>14</sup>.

1551. Electrical interference.

Given that at the time that the Tramways Act 1870 was enacted, the operation of tramways by means of electricity was not a practical proposition, the Act is silent on this aspect. Accordingly, in later years it became usual for the special Act<sup>1</sup> by which the tramway was constituted to contain special provisions for the protection of other works from electrical interference caused by operation of the tramway. Thus such an Act may provide that the tramway company must operate its undertaking with due regard to the mains, pipes or apparatus for the supply of gas or water, or the mains, cables or wires for the supply of electricity or for telecommunications purposes, and use every reasonable means to prevent injurious affection caused by the operation of the tramway and arising from electro-magnetic interference or electrolytic damage, and that the company must meet the expense of any equipment or alteration necessary to prevent or remedy the injurious affection<sup>2</sup>. In such a case, if it is proved that such mains, pipes, apparatus, cables or wires have been injuriously affected by electro-magnetic interference or electrolytic damage as a result of the tramway, it is no answer for the tramway company to prove that the owner of the equipment so affected has been negligent in selecting the place in which to lay that equipment; in order to succeed, the company must prove that the injurious affection was entirely due to the negligence of the owner of the equipment and not to the tramway at all<sup>3</sup>.

If, however, the tramway company operates the tramway in conformity with its statutory powers, the company will not be liable for the effects of stray electrical currents, either under the rule in Rylands v Fletcher<sup>4</sup> or in an action for nuisance<sup>5</sup>.

TRAMWAYS/(2) TRAMWAYS ACT 1870/(ii) Construction and Maintenance of Tramways/1552. Right to break open roads in which tramways lie.

1552. Right to break open roads in which tramways lie.

The powers of breaking up any road<sup>1</sup> along or across which any tramway is laid, and the powers vested in local<sup>2</sup> or road<sup>3</sup> authorities for any of the purposes for which they are constituted<sup>4</sup>, or in any company, body or person for any purposes with respect to gas<sup>5</sup> or telegraphic or other purposes<sup>6</sup>, are unaffected by the Tramways Act 1870<sup>7</sup>. The exercise of those powers is, however, limited by the following restrictions<sup>8</sup>:

- 2422 (1) the authority, company, body or person must cause as little detriment to the promoters<sup>9</sup> as circumstances admit<sup>10</sup>;
- 2423 (2) except in cases of urgency<sup>11</sup>, they must give to the promoters, and their lessees, if any, eighteen hours' notice at least of their intention to commence any works which will interrupt<sup>12</sup> the traffic on the tramway, specifying the time at which the work will begin<sup>13</sup>, but they are not liable to pay to the promoters or lessees any compensation for injury done to the tramway<sup>14</sup> by the execution of the work, or for loss of traffic occasioned by it, or for the reasonable exercise of the powers vested in them<sup>15</sup>;
- 2424 (3) whenever a local or road authority so requires for the purpose of executing such work, the promoters or their lessees must either stop traffic on the tramway referred to in the notice, or shore up or secure it at their own risk and cost during the execution of the work<sup>16</sup>, although the work must be completed by the local or road authority with all reasonable speed<sup>17</sup>;
- 2425 (4) no company, body or person may execute any such work so far as it immediately affects the tramway except under the superintendence and to the reasonable satisfaction of the promoters, unless they refuse or neglect to give such superintendence at the time specified in the notice or discontinue it during the progress of the work, and the expenses of the execution must be borne by the company, body or person executing it<sup>18</sup>.

If the work in question is in a street<sup>19</sup> and constitutes the execution of street works<sup>20</sup> within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991, then the manner of carrying out the work is regulated by Part III of that Act<sup>21</sup>.

1553. Obstruction of construction works.

The obstruction of any person acting under the authority of the promoters<sup>1</sup> of a tramway in the lawful exercise of their powers in setting out, making, forming, laying down, repairing or renewing any tramway, or the defacement or destruction of any mark made for setting out the line of the tramway, or the damage or destruction of any property of the promoters or their lessees<sup>2</sup> or licensees<sup>3</sup>, is an offence<sup>4</sup>.

The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. Such an offence is punishable by a fine not exceeding level 2 on the standard scale: see s 49 (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. #### 1554. Settlement of differences.

In the case of any difference between the promoters<sup>1</sup> or lessees<sup>2</sup> and any local authority<sup>3</sup> or road authority<sup>4</sup>, or gas<sup>5</sup>, water<sup>6</sup> or electricity<sup>7</sup> undertaking or company or person possessing sewers, drains, tubes, wires or apparatus for telegraphic<sup>8</sup> or other purposes with respect to any interference or control exercised by, or claimed to be exercised by, either of the parties in relation to any tramway or work, or in relation to any work or proceeding or the propriety or mode of execution of the work, or the amount of any compensation to be made by or to the promoters or lessees, or the question whether any work is such as ought reasonably to satisfy the authority, board, company or person concerned, or any other subject or thing regulated by the Tramways Act 1870<sup>9</sup>, then the matter in difference must, unless it is otherwise specially provided by the Act, be settled by an engineer or other fit person nominated as a referee by the Secretary of State<sup>10</sup> on the application of either party, the expenses of the reference being borne and paid as the referee directs<sup>11</sup>.

No difference arises within these provisions where the local authority is seeking to exercise rights arising otherwise than under the tramway legislation<sup>12</sup>, or where the tramway company may have a right to damages at common law against the local authority<sup>13</sup>; and, pending arbitration, there is no jurisdiction in a court to deal with a case in which a difference to which these provisions apply is in issue<sup>14</sup>.

If, however, any matter in dispute arises out of issues regulated by Part III of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 as a result of the application of those provisions in the circumstances previously described<sup>15</sup>, the matter is to be settled by arbitration by reference to a single arbitrator appointed by agreement between the parties concerned or, in default of agreement, by the President of the Institution of Civil Engineers<sup>16</sup>.

(iii) Operation of Tramways

1555. Carriages.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> and their lessees<sup>2</sup> may use on their tramways carriages with flange wheels or wheels suitable only to run on the rail prescribed<sup>3</sup> by the special Act<sup>4</sup>, and, subject to the provisions of that special Act and of the Tramways Act 1870, they are entitled to the exclusive use<sup>5</sup> of their tramways for carriages having such wheels<sup>6</sup>. No carriages may extend more than eleven inches on each side beyond the outer edge of the wheels<sup>7</sup>.

The motive power to be used on any tramway is prescribed by the special Act<sup>8</sup>, and where no such power is prescribed all carriages used on any tramway must be moved by animal power only<sup>9</sup>.

4 For the meaning of 'special Act' see PARA 1541 note 9 ante.

5 In consequence of the provision for exclusive use, the promoters are occupiers of the land which is de facto occupied by the tramway, and are therefore rateable in respect of it: Pimlico Tramway Co v Greenwich Union (1873) LR 9 QB 9. ## 1556. Charging of fares.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> or lessees<sup>2</sup> of a tramway authorised by a special Act<sup>3</sup> may demand and take, in respect of their tramway, tolls and charges not exceeding the sum specified in that Act, subject and according to the regulations specified in it, and a list of the authorised tolls and charges must be exhibited in a conspicuous place inside and outside each of the carriages used on the tramway<sup>4</sup>. A tramway company which is required by its special Act to provide carriages for the convenience of workmen travelling at reduced fares may set apart special cars for their use<sup>5</sup>. It has become custom in special Acts to make provision for the imposition of penalty fares<sup>6</sup>.

The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. Provision for the regulating of fares by traffic commissioners was substituted by the Transport Charges etc (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1954 s 2, Sch 1 and the provision in the text authorising the demanding of fares ceased to have effect by virtue of s 14(2). However, the 1954 Act provisions have been repealed: for the present position see PARA 1623 text and note 19 post. As to byelaws regulating fares see PARA 1558 post. ### 1557. Non-payment of fares.

Any person who:

- 2426 (1) travelling or having travelled in any carriage on a tramway avoids or attempts to avoid payment of his fare; or
- 2427 (2) having paid his fare for a certain distance, knowingly and wilfully proceeds in the carriage beyond such distance without paying the additional fare for the additional distance, or attempts to avoid that payment; or
- 2428 (3) knowingly and wilfully refuses or neglects to quit the carriage on arriving at the point to which he has paid his fare, is liable to a penalty<sup>1</sup> for every such offence<sup>2</sup>. Any officer or employee of the promoters<sup>3</sup> or lessees<sup>4</sup> of a tramway, and all persons called by him to his assistance, may seize and detain any person discovered either in or after committing or attempting to commit any such offence, and whose name or residence is unknown to that officer or employee, until he can be conveniently taken before a justice or otherwise discharged by due course of law<sup>5</sup>.

1 The penalty must not exceed level 1 on the standard scale: Tramways Act 1870 s 51 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 s 92(1), Sch 3 Pt I; and the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38(1), (6), (8), 46(1), (4)). ### 1558. Byelaws.

Subject to the provisions of the special Act<sup>1</sup> authorising tramways and of the Tramways Act 1870, a local authority<sup>2</sup> may frame byelaws for the regulation of: (1) the speed to be observed on any tramway in its district<sup>3</sup>; (2) the distances at which carriages using the tramway may be allowed to follow each other<sup>4</sup>; (3) the stopping of those carriages; and (4) the traffic in the road<sup>5</sup> in which the tramway is laid<sup>6</sup>. The promoters<sup>7</sup> of any tramway and their lessees<sup>8</sup> are similarly empowered to make byelaws: (a) for preventing the commission of any nuisance<sup>9</sup> in or upon any carriage or in or against any premises; and (b) for regulating the travelling in or upon any carriage belonging to them<sup>10</sup>. The power to make byelaws with respect to travelling includes the power to make byelaws requiring passengers to pay the proper fare<sup>11</sup> and to produce tickets upon demand<sup>12</sup>. In all cases, however, byelaws must be reasonable and not repugnant to the general law<sup>13</sup>. Any byelaw may impose reasonable penalties for offences against it<sup>14</sup>. There may be further penalties for continuing offences<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'special Act' see PARA 1541 note 9 ante.

2 'Local authority' means in London the Common Council of the City of London and the London borough councils (see the Tramways Act 1870 s 3, Sch A Pt I; the Local Government Act 1888 s 40(8) (repealed); the Local Government Act 1985 Pts I, II (ss 1, 2-17) (as amended); and the Local Law (Greater London Council and Inner London Boroughs) Order 1965, SI 1965/540, art 4(2), Table), and elsewhere a district council in respect of England (see the Tramways Act 1870 s 3, Sch A Pt I; the Municipal Corporations Act 1882 s 242(1), Sch 9; the Local Government Act 1933 ss 31, 32 (repealed); and the Local Government Act 1972 ss 1, 179(3)) and a principal council in respect of Wales (see the Local Government Act 1972 s 20 (substituted by the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 1(1))). 3 'District' in relation to a local authority (see note 2 supra) or a road authority (see PARA 1543 note 5 ante) means the area within the authority's jurisdiction: Tramways Act 1870 s 3.

4 A local authority having constructed tramways may be compelled by judicial review to comply with its local Act and make byelaws specifying the distance between which tramcars should follow one another: see R v Manchester Corp [1911] 1 KB 560, DC.

12 Heap v Day (1886) 51 JP 213, DC; Lowe v Volp [1896] 1 QB 256, DC. Cf Wilson v Fearnley (1905) 92 LT 647, DC, where a passenger who left a ticket on the floor and would not pick it up was held not to have offended against the byelaws.

13 See note 9 supra; and LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 553 et seq. In London Passenger Transport Board v Sumner (1935) 154 LT 108, DC, a byelaw which made failure to pay the fare an offence irrespective of whether there was an intent to avoid payment was held to be invalid as being unreasonable and repugnant. See also Lowe v Volp [1896] 1 QB 256 at 259, DC, where Kay J was of the opinion that a byelaw could not create an offence of fraudulent travel without intent to avoid payment. As to reasonableness see Apthorpe v Edinburgh Street Tramways Co (1882) 10 R 344, Ct of Sess; and the cases cited in note 10 supra. As to the construction of

The penalties must not exceed level 1 on the standard scale: see the Tramways Act 1870 s 47 (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. All byelaws must be so framed as to allow in every case part only of the maximum penalty to be ordered to be paid: s 47 (as so amended). As to offences involving non-payment of fares see PARA 1557 ante.

1559. Procedure for making byelaws.

Notice of the making of byelaws, made either by local authorities<sup>1</sup> or by the promoters<sup>2</sup> or their lessees<sup>3</sup>, must be published by the insertion of an advertisement within one month of the making of the byelaw at least once in each of two successive weeks in a newspaper published in the district<sup>4</sup> affected by the byelaw and at least once in the London Gazette<sup>5</sup>. A copy of every proposed byelaw must also be sent to the Secretary of State not less than two calendar months before it will come into operation, and if made by the local authority, must be delivered to the promoters, and, if made by the promoters, to the local authority<sup>6</sup>. No byelaw which has been disallowed by the Secretary of State within the two calendar months after it has been laid before him is of any effect<sup>7</sup>.

2 For the meaning of 'promoters' see PARA 1543 note 1 ante.

3 As to lessees see PARA 1567 post.

4 For the meaning of 'district' see PARA 1558 note 3 ante.

5 Tramways Act 1870 s 46, Sch C Pt II, which also makes provision for a case where there is no such local newspaper. Unless notice is so published, the Secretary of State must disallow the byelaw: s 46. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. ### 1560. Dangerous goods.

No person is entitled to carry or require to be carried any goods of a dangerous nature<sup>1</sup> on any tramway, and any person sending any such goods by any tramway without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing them, or otherwise giving written notice to the bookkeeper or other employee with whom they are left at the time of their sending, is liable to a fine<sup>2</sup> for every such offence<sup>3</sup>. The promoters<sup>4</sup> or their lessees may also refuse to take any parcel which they suspect to contain goods of a dangerous nature, or may require it to be opened to ascertain the fact<sup>5</sup>.

1 There is no definition in the Tramways Act 1870 of 'dangerous goods', and it would appear that the expression means goods which are declared by the promoters to be dangerous: cf North Eastern Rly Co v Reckitt & Sons Ltd (1913) 109 LT 327 at 332-333 per Bankes LJ.

2 le a fine not exceeding level 2 on the standard scale: see the Tramways Act 1870 s 53 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(5), (6)(b), (9); and the Criminal Justice Act 1982 s 46(1), (4)). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. As to recovery of penalties see PARA 1572 post. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante.

1561. Obstruction of operation.

It is an offence, punishable by a fine<sup>1</sup>, for any person without lawful excuse (the proof of which lies on him) wilfully to interfere with, remove or alter any part of a tramway or its works, to place or throw any material on any part of a tramway, to do or cause to be done anything in such manner as to obstruct any carriage using a tramway or to endanger the lives of people on it or in it, or knowingly to aid or assist in doing any such thing<sup>2</sup>.

Other road users must pay due regard to the presence of the tramway<sup>3</sup>.

1 The fine must not exceed level 1 on the standard scale: see the Tramways Act 1870 s 50 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(5), (6)(b), (9); and the Criminal Justice Act 1982 s 46(1), (4)). See note 2 infra. As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante.

2 Ibid s 50 (as amended: see note 1 supra). This liability is expressed to be in addition to any proceedings by way of indictment or otherwise to which the person may be subject. It is submitted that this does not make the offence under discussion an offence triable either way, and accordingly the £5 penalty referred to in the Tramways Act 1870 is increased as stated in note 1 supra.

(iv) Rights and Liabilities of Promoters

1562. Rights of promoters.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> of a tramway authorised by special Act<sup>2</sup> have a right to interfere with public highways by laying down and maintaining tramways upon them<sup>3</sup>, and they and their lessees have an exclusive right to use upon that tramway carriages with flange wheels<sup>4</sup>. These rights are rights of user only<sup>5</sup>. The user must in no way interfere with or limit the rights of any owner or lessee or occupier of mines or minerals lying under or adjacent to any road<sup>6</sup> along or across which the tramway is laid to work the mines or minerals, nor is the owner, lessee or occupier liable to make good or pay compensation for damage to the tramway occasioned by the ordinary working of the mines or minerals<sup>7</sup>. The rights of the promoters in no way affect the powers of road authorities<sup>8</sup>, or of the owners, commissioners or undertakers or lessees of railways, tramways or inland navigations with respect to widening, altering, diverting or improving any road, railway, tramway or inland navigation<sup>9</sup>, or of local or police authorities with respect to the regulation of traffic<sup>10</sup>, or the right of the public to pass along or across any part of a road on which a tramway is laid, whether on or off the tramway, with carriages not having flange wheels or wheels suitable only to run on the rails<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'promoters' see PARA 1543 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'special Act' see PARA 1541 note 9 ante.

3 Temporary rails may not be laid while an authorised tramway is being modified unless the laying of such rails is within the powers of the special Act authorising the modification: T Tilling Ltd v Dick, Kerr & Co Ltd [1905] 1 KB 562.

4 Edinburgh Street Tramways Co v Edinburgh Corp'n [1894] AC 456 at 463, HL, per Lord Herschell LC. See also the Tramways Act 1870 s 34; and PARA 1555 ante. These rights may be transferred from the promoters to the local authority under s 43 (see PARA 1565 post), or to the local authority or other body under s 44 (see PARA 1566 post). They cannot be transferred in any other way, and consequently are not rights in the nature of a commercial asset: Edinburgh Street Tramways Co v Edinburgh Corp'n supra; London Street Tramways Co v LCC [1894] AC 489, HL. See also PARA 1566 post.

5 Tramways Act 1870 s 57. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. Under the provisional order procedure (now repealed: see PARA 1533 ante), it was not possible for a provisional order to include a power to acquire land compulsorily (s 8 (repealed)), although such a power may be conferred by special Act. Although the rights are of user only, as this right is exclusive the promoters are regarded as occupiers of land for rating purposes: Pimlico Tramway Co v Greenwich Union (1873) LR 9 QB 9; and see RATING AND COUNCIL TAX vol 39(1B) (Reissue) PARAS 27, 103.

1563. Liabilities of promoters.

The promoters<sup>1</sup> of a tramway or their lessees<sup>2</sup> are liable for all accidents, damages and injuries caused by the act or default<sup>3</sup> of themselves or their employees by reason or in consequence of any of their works or carriages<sup>4</sup>, and they are required to save harmless all road<sup>5</sup> and other authorities, companies or bodies, collectively and individually, and their officers and employees, from all damages and costs in respect of such accidents, damages and injuries<sup>6</sup>. A tramway company will not be liable in an action for nuisance<sup>7</sup>, or under the rule in Rylands v Fletcher<sup>8</sup>, in respect of acts properly done in the exercise of its statutory powers<sup>9</sup>.

A tramway company and its employees must take proper steps to ensure the safety of passengers<sup>10</sup> both by ensuring that the condition of the tramway<sup>11</sup> and carriages<sup>12</sup> is as safe as reasonable care and skill can make them<sup>13</sup> and by driving and managing the carriages with due regard to the safety of passengers<sup>14</sup>. Moreover, carriages must be driven with due regard to the safety of other road users<sup>15</sup>, but other road users must pay due regard to the presence of the tramway<sup>16</sup>. A tramway company will be liable for wrongful acts, such as assault or malicious prosecution<sup>17</sup>, committed by employees acting within the scope of their authority<sup>18</sup>. An employee of a tramway company ordinarily has the authority to exclude from a carriage passengers who are drunk<sup>19</sup> or who do not pay the fare<sup>20</sup>, and to arrest or cause the arrest of passengers for certain offences<sup>21</sup>, but not to punish offenders<sup>22</sup>.

1663)/18. TRAMWAYS/(2) TRAMWAYS ACT 1870/(iv) Rights and Liabilities of Promoters/1564. Discontinuance and insolvency.

1564. Discontinuance and insolvency.

The former powers which enabled a local authority to acquire the whole or part of a tramway undertaking in the event of its discontinuance<sup>1</sup> or in the event of the insolvency of the promoters of the undertaking<sup>2</sup> have been repealed<sup>3</sup>.

Certain special Acts, in relation to the closure of the whole or part of the undertakings authorised by such Acts, have applied, with or without modification, railway enactments governing the procedure for closing parts of railway undertakings<sup>4</sup>. However, these provisions have ceased to have effect<sup>5</sup>.

A tramway company incorporated by special Act<sup>6</sup> can be wound up under the Insolvency Act 1986 as an unregistered company<sup>7</sup>. In the past, such companies have sometimes been dissolved by special Act<sup>8</sup>.

1 See the Tramways Act 1870 s 41. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante.

(v) Alienation of Powers and Interests

1565. Compulsory sale.

Where the promoters<sup>1</sup> of a tramway in any district<sup>2</sup> are not the local authority<sup>3</sup>, that authority may, by written notice with the approval of the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>, require the promoters to sell their undertaking<sup>5</sup>, or so much of it as is within that district, within six months after the expiration of 21 years from the time when they were empowered to construct it, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of seven years<sup>6</sup>. However, the purchase may only be made if the local authority has decided to effect it by resolution passed at a special meeting of which a month's previous notice has been given in the manner in which those notices are usually given, and at which two-thirds of the members are present and vote, and a majority of those present and voting concur in the resolution<sup>7</sup>.

The local authority must pay the then value of the tramway, exclusive of any allowance for past or future profits or any compensation for compulsory sale or other consideration whatsoever, and of all land, buildings, works, materials and plant of the promoters of the undertaking<sup>8</sup>, the value being determinable in case of difference by a referee<sup>9</sup> nominated by the Secretary of State on the application of either party, and the expenses of the reference being borne and paid as the referee directs<sup>10</sup>. The local authority may pay the purchase money and all expenses incurred by it in the purchase of any undertaking under this provision, and has like powers to borrow, as if such expenses were incurred in applying for, obtaining and carrying into effect a provisional order obtained by it under the Tramways Act 1870<sup>11</sup>.

When any such sale has been made, all the rights, powers and authorities of the promoters in respect of the undertaking are transferred to and vested in, and may be exercised by, the purchasing authority as if the tramway were constructed by it under a provisional order<sup>12</sup>, and it is deemed to be the promoter in reference to that order<sup>13</sup>. Subject to these provisions, two or more local authorities may jointly purchase any undertaking or so much of it as is within their districts<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'promoters' see PARA 1543 note 1 ante. For the purpose of statutory provisions regarding the disposal of tramways, 'promoters' may include the assigns of promoters: Hartlepool Electric Tramways Co Ltd v Hartlepool Corpn (1911) 75 JP 537, CA; Llandudno UDC v Great Orme Rly Ltd [1948] 2 All ER 782.

6 Tramways Act 1870 s 43. The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. A power to purchase within 15 years of construction is not inconsistent with, and does not exclude, the enactment: Wallasey United Tramways and Omnibus Co v Wallasey UDC (1900) 17 TLR 152, HL. The former powers enabling a local authority to acquire a tramway undertaking in the event of its discontinuance (conferred by the Tramways Act 1870 s 41) or the insolvency of its promoters (conferred by s 42) have been repealed: see the Transport and Works Act 1992 ss 65(1)(b), 68(1), Sch 4 Pt I; and see further PARA 1564 ante.

Buildings outside the district of the local authority may also be included: Manchester Carriage and Tramways Co Ltd v Swinton and Pendlebury UDC [1906] AC 277, HL.

9 The referee must be an engineer or other fit person: Tramways Act 1870 s 43.

1566. Voluntary sale.

Where a tramway has been operated in any district<sup>1</sup> for a period of six months, the promoters<sup>2</sup>, with the consent of the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup>, may sell their undertaking to any person, persons, corporation or company, or, provided that the purchase has been approved by a resolution passed at a special meeting under conditions similar to those as to compulsory sale<sup>4</sup>, to a local authority<sup>5</sup>. After the sale, all the rights, powers, authorities, obligations and liabilities of the promoters are transferred to and exercisable by the purchasers in the same manner as if the tramway had been constructed by them under the powers conferred by special Act<sup>6</sup>, and with reference to that Act they are deemed to be the promoters<sup>7</sup>. When the purchase is made by a local authority, that authority has the same powers and is subject to the same conditions as in the case of a compulsory sale<sup>8</sup>.

1567. Power to work tramway.

Nothing in the Tramways Act 1870 authorises any local authority<sup>1</sup> to place carriages and run them upon, or demand tolls and charges for the use of, a tramway constructed or acquired<sup>2</sup> by it<sup>3</sup>, but this power may be given by special provisions in a special Act<sup>4</sup> (or previously by a provisional order<sup>5</sup>). The power conferred by the Tramways Act 1870 on a local authority to lease a tramway, or to leave the tramway open to be used by the public, demanding and taking tolls and charges, has ceased to have effect<sup>6</sup>. However, the Transport and Works Act 1992 confers on any person authorised by or under an enactment to operate a tramway which was in operation at the date of passing of that Act<sup>7</sup> power, with the consent of the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup>, to grant the right to operate that tramway (or any part of it), together with any related statutory rights as may be agreed, to another person<sup>9</sup>. The terms of any agreement so made are subject to the approval of the Secretary of State<sup>10</sup>; and references in any enactment to the person granting the rights, if and to the extent that the agreement so provides, have effect as references to the person on whom the rights are conferred by the agreement<sup>11</sup>.

Parliamentary powers to run tramways conferred upon local authorities are, however, strictly construed: see LCC v A-G [1902] AC 165, HL (where a power to run tramways was held not to include a power to run omnibuses even though the tramway undertaking which had been acquired had such powers). ### 1568. Grant of licences to use tramway.

If, at any time after a tramway or part of a tramway has been opened for public traffic in any district<sup>1</sup>, on the written representation of the local<sup>2</sup> or road<sup>3</sup> authority or of twenty ratepayers in the district it is proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> that the public is deprived of the full benefit of any tramway, he may grant a licence, if necessary after inquiry by a referee<sup>5</sup>, to any company or person to use the tramway in addition to the promoters<sup>6</sup> for such traffic as is authorised by the special Act<sup>7</sup>, with carriages to be approved by him<sup>8</sup>.

The Tramways Act 1870 has been largely repealed except to the extent that it is incorporated in, or otherwise applied by, any Act of Parliament or provisional order: see PARAS 1535, 1541 ante. An inquiry under s 63 must be held in public and the referee must be appointed in writing by the Secretary of State: s 63 para 1. The referee must give ten days' notice of the inquiry to the parties on whose representation the inquiry was directed (s 63 para 2), and may summon witnesses, who may be examined on oath (see s 63 paras 4-6) (s 63 para 4 amended by the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(6); and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 46). The referee may adjourn the inquiry (Tramways Act 1870 s 63 para 3), and on its conclusion must report in writing to the Secretary of State and, on request, to the parties (s 63 para 7). A licence to use a tramway<sup>1</sup> may be for any period not less than one nor more than three years, and must be to use the whole of the tramway open for public traffic, or such part or parts as the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> thinks right<sup>3</sup>. The licence must specify the number of carriages, the mode in which and the times at which they are to be run, and the tolls to be paid for the use of the tramway by the licensee, who must permit one person, duly authorised for that purpose by the promoters<sup>4</sup> or their lessees<sup>5</sup>, to ride free of charge upon each of the licensee's carriages run upon the tramway for the whole or any part of the journey<sup>6</sup>.

On failure by the licensee to pay the tolls due in respect of passengers carried in any carriage, the promoters<sup>1</sup> may sell the carriage, or, if it be removed from the tramway or premises, any other carriage on the tramway or premises, retaining the amounts payable and the charges and expenses of the sale out of the money arising from the sale, and rendering any surplus, and such carriages as remain unsold, to the person entitled<sup>2</sup>. The promoters may also require the licensee to give a written account of the number of passengers to an officer authorised by them<sup>3</sup>, and any licensee who fails to do so, or with intent to avoid payment gives a false account, is liable to a penalty<sup>4</sup> in addition to any tolls payable in respect of any passengers carried<sup>5</sup>.

(i) General Statutory Position

1574. Authorisation of light railways.

With the repeal of the relevant provisions of the Regulation of Railways Act 1868<sup>1</sup> and of the Light Railways Act 1896<sup>2</sup>, it is no longer possible to authorise the construction or operation of a light railway by means of a licence issued under the former Act or by means of an order made under the latter Act. The normal method of obtaining statutory authority for what previously would have been described as a light railway is now by means of an order made under Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>3</sup>, but an application for a system of rail transport under that Act must be in respect of a railway<sup>4</sup>, a tramway<sup>5</sup>, a trolley vehicle system<sup>6</sup>, or some other prescribed mode of guided transport<sup>7</sup>, as it is not possible under that Act to secure statutory authority for a new light railway. The procedure under the Transport and Works Act 1992 is also applicable in respect of cases where an amendment or modification to, or a revocation of, an existing light railway order is required<sup>8</sup>.

TRAMWAYS/(3) LIGHT RAILWAYS ACT 1896/(i) General Statutory Position/1575. Continuing validity of previous light railway orders.

1575. Continuing validity of previous light railway orders.

The repeal of the Light Railways Act 1896 and associated enactments<sup>1</sup> did not affect the validity of orders made under them which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993<sup>2</sup>. Nor did the repeal affect the operation of the Light Railways Act 1896 and the associated enactments in relation to applications for, or the making of, orders thereunder, where the applications in question were made prior to that date<sup>3</sup>. There are about seventy light railway orders which continue to have effect as a consequence of these savings. The undertakings to which they relate provide diverse examples of the mode: lines forming part of the national rail network<sup>4</sup>, so-called heritage or preserved railways<sup>5</sup>, funiculars<sup>6</sup> and lines of a tramway nature<sup>7</sup>. However, the term 'light railway' has also been applied to undertakings which have not been authorised by light railway legislation<sup>8</sup>.

1 See the Light Railways Act 1896 (and amending enactments, the Light Railways Act 1912 and the Railways Act 1921 ss 68, 69, 71, 73, 74) (repealed). As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

Some of the light railway orders so preserved contain terms which in certain respects rely for their effectiveness on the continued operation of provisions of the Light Railways Act 1896 or the associated enactments, notably provisions conferring functions on the Secretary of State or a council. Notwithstanding the repeal of these statutes, these provisions may have continuing effect in appropriate circumstances. ## (ii) Provisions relating to Light Railway Orders

1576. Application of enactments and conferment of powers.

Any light railway order may contain provisions<sup>1</sup> for all or any of the following purposes:

- 2429 (1) the incorporation<sup>2</sup> of all or any of the provisions of the Clauses Acts<sup>3</sup>;
- 2430 (2) the application, so far as may be considered necessary, of certain enactments<sup>4</sup> which impose obligations on railway undertakers with respect to the safety of the public<sup>5</sup> and other matters<sup>6</sup>;

- 2431 (3) giving the necessary powers for constructing and working the railway and any works incidental to it, including power to make agreements with any railway or other company, or any authority, person or body of persons, for the purpose<sup>7</sup>;
- 2432 (4) giving any railway or other company, or any authority, person or body of persons, any power required for carrying the order into effect<sup>8</sup>.

However, subject to any special provisions in the order, the general enactments relating to railways apply to light railways in the same manner as they apply to other railways<sup>9</sup>.

- 1 The provisions contained in the order must be consistent with the Light Railways Act 1896: s 11. For further provisions which may be made by order see PARA 1577 et seq post. The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante.
- 2 Incorporation may be subject to any exceptions and variations mentioned in the order: ibid s 11(a).
- 3 Ibid s 11(a). The 'Clauses Acts' means the Lands Clauses Acts (see COMPULSORY ACQUISITION OF LAND vol 18 (2009) PARAS 509-511); the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act 1845 and the Railways Clauses Act 1863 (see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 343 et seq); and the Companies Clauses Acts 1845 to 1889 (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1667 et seq): Light Railways Act 1896 s 28. The Clauses Acts do not apply unless incorporated or applied by the order: Light Railways Act 1896 s 12(1).
- 4 Ie the enactments mentioned in ibid s 11(b), Sch 2 (amended by the Transport Act 1962 s 95(1), Sch 2 Pt I).
- 5 Where a section in a light railway order, inserted for the protection of a navigation company, also contained provisions to some extent for the benefit of the public, and provided, among other things, that the light railway company, which was authorised to carry the light railway over a canal by a swing bridge, might agree with the navigation company on any variation or alteration of the works, it was held that to substitute a fixed bridge for the swing bridge would be more than a mere alteration or variation of the works provided for, and that the section was not a mere contract that the parties could release or vary to the prejudice of the public, who were entitled, through the Attorney General, to restrain the companies from carrying out such an agreement: A-G v North Eastern Rly Co [1915] 1 Ch 905, CA.

1577. Light railway companies.

For the purposes of the Light Railways Act 1896, a light railway company includes any person or body of persons, whether or not incorporated, who are authorised to construct, or who are the owners or lessees of, any light railway authorised by that Act or who are operating the railway under any working agreement<sup>1</sup>.

A light railway company incorporated by an order under the Light Railways Act 1896, if insolvent, can be wound up under the Insolvency Act 1986 as an unregistered company<sup>2</sup>.

The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante. TRAMWAYS/(3) LIGHT RAILWAYS ACT 1896/(ii) Provisions relating to Light Railway Orders/1578. Managing body and working of railway as light railway.

1578. Managing body and working of railway as light railway.

Any light railway order may provide for the constitution of a company as a body corporate for carrying out the objects of the order<sup>1</sup>, and for the representation of any council advancing money, or agreeing to advance money, for the purpose of the railway on the managing body of the railway<sup>2</sup>. An order may authorise a company which has power to construct or work a railway to construct and work, or to work, that railway or any part of it as a light railway<sup>3</sup>.

1 Light Railways Act 1896 s 11(e). The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante. As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

2 Ibid s 11(f). Section 11(f) applies in respect of a guarantee under the Railways Act 1921 s 71(1) (see PARA 1579 post) as if the guarantee were an advance by the council: s 71(3). The Railways Act 1921 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante. As to the power of councils to give guarantees see PARA 1579 post.

1579. Financial provisions.

Any light railway order may authorise the council of any county, London borough or district to advance to a light railway company<sup>1</sup>, either by way of loan or as part of the share capital<sup>2</sup> of the company, or partly in one way and partly in the other, such amount as may be authorised by the order<sup>3</sup>, which may regulate the terms on which the money is to be advanced or borrowed<sup>4</sup>. The order may authorise the council to guarantee or join with any other council, person or body of persons to guarantee the whole or any part of the interest or dividends on any loan or share capital of a light railway company for such period and on such terms and subject to such conditions as may be approved by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup>. The order may also indicate the manner in which profits are to be divided<sup>6</sup> and the time within which the railway must be constructed<sup>7</sup>, and may provide for the proper audit of the accounts of the managing body of the light railway<sup>8</sup>.

If the railway for which the advance is proposed to be made is wholly or partly outside the council's area, the council must join with the council of the outside area, or must prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> that the advance is expedient in the interests of the area of the first-mentioned council<sup>10</sup>. The expenditure, if authorised, must be limited by the order to such amount as the Secretary of State thinks fit in the circumstances<sup>11</sup>. Any expenses incurred by a council in satisfying any guarantee entered into by it as described above are to be defrayed, in the case of a county council, as general expenses out of the county fund<sup>12</sup>, and, in the case of a London borough or a district council, out of the general fund<sup>13</sup>. Any council making a profit in respect of a light railway must apply the same in aid of the fund out of which the expenses of the council are payable<sup>14</sup>.

1 As to the meaning of 'light railway company' see PARA 1577 ante. As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

2 'Share capital' includes any capital, whether consisting of shares or stock, which is not raised by means of borrowing: Light Railways Act 1896 s 28. The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante.

A council may join any other council or person or body of persons for this purpose: Light Railways Act 1896 s 3(1)(c). No order authorising a council to advance money to a light railway company may be made except on an application by the council in pursuance of a special resolution as directed by the Light Railways Act 1896: see s 3(2)(a), Sch 1; and PARA 1581 note 1 post.

4 Ibid s 11(g). Section 11(g) applies in respect of a guarantee under the Railways Act 1921 s 71(1) (see the text and note 5 infra) as if the guarantee were an advance by the council: s 71(3). The Railways Act 1921 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante. The Secretary of State, from time to time, on the application of any council, may extend the limit of the amount which the council is authorised by an order to borrow, and the limit so extended must be substituted for the limit fixed by the order: Light Railways Act 1896 s 16(3). As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. 11 Ibid s 3(2)(b) (amended by the Light Railways Act 1912 s 5(1)). The Secretary of State has power from time to time to extend the amount which a council is authorised to advance on the council's application, and the limit so extended must then be substituted for the time limit fixed by the order: Light Railways Act 1896 s 16(3).

12 Railways Act 1921 s 71(2). Expenses incurred by a county council may be declared by the order authorising the railway to be chargeable exclusively on certain parishes or communities or parts of parishes or communities only: Light Railways Act 1896 s 16(1) proviso; Local Government Act 1972 s 179(1), (4). As to the county fund see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 29(1) (Reissue) PARA 550.

Where a rate is levied for meeting any expenditure, the demand note for the rate must state, in a form prescribed by the Secretary of State, the proportion of the rate levied for that expenditure: Light Railways Act 1896 s 16(6). These provisions refer to the general rate fund, but this has been replaced by the general fund: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 29(1) (Reissue) PARA 545 et seq.

TRAMWAYS/(3) LIGHT RAILWAYS ACT 1896/(ii) Provisions relating to Light Railway Orders/1580. Acquisition of light railways by other bodies.

1580. Acquisition of light railways by other bodies.

Any light railway order may empower any local authority to acquire the railway<sup>1</sup> or, in the case of a light railway which is not of the nature of a tramway<sup>2</sup>, may empower a railway company to acquire it<sup>3</sup>. Where an authority is authorised and agrees to buy a light railway at a price to be settled in case of difference by arbitration, the proper basis of valuation is not the value to the light railway company or the railway as an income-earning concern, but that of the railway as it exists capable of earning a profit<sup>4</sup>.

1 Light Railways Act 1896 s 11(l). This power to acquire has always been given in the case of a railway laid on a public road, either to the road authority or to a local authority at the expiration of a certain period or successive periods prescribed by the order. Neither 'local authority' nor 'road authority' is defined in the Act. 'Local authority', in this context, would appear to mean the council of a county, London borough, district, parish or community: see the London Government Act 1963 s 1(1), Sch 1 Pt I (s 1(1) as amended); the Local Government Act 1972 ss 1, 9 (as amended), s 20 (as substituted), s 27(2) (as substituted); and LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 22 et seq; LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARAS 30, 35 et seq. 'Road authority' appears to be a reference to a local highway authority, as to which see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 56 et seq. The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante.

TRAMWAYS/(3) LIGHT RAILWAYS ACT 1896/(ii) Provisions relating to Light Railway Orders/1581. Power of local authority to construct.

1581. Power of local authority to construct.

A light railway order may authorise the council of any county, London borough or district to undertake to construct and work, or to contract for the construction or working of, the authorised light railway<sup>1</sup>, or do any other act incidental to that construction and working<sup>2</sup>. If the undertaking is wholly or partly outside the council's area, the council must join with the council of the outside area, or must prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> that the construction or working is expedient in the interests of the area of the first-mentioned council<sup>4</sup>. If a council is so authorised under these provisions, any expenditure must be limited by the order to such amount as the Secretary of State thinks fit in the circumstances<sup>5</sup>.

1 See the Light Railways Act 1896 s 3(1)(a); and see also the London Government Act 1963 s 1(1), Sch 1 Pt I (s 1(1) as amended); and the Local Government Act 1972 ss 1, 20, 179(3) (s 20 as substituted). A council may join any other council or person or body of persons for this purpose: Light Railways Act 1896 s 3(1)(c). No order authorising a council to undertake to construct and work or to contract for the construction or working of a light railway may be made except on an application made by the council in pursuance of a special resolution as directed by the Light Railways Act 1896 Sch 1: s 3(2)(a). A special resolution must be passed at a meeting of the council (Sch 1 para 1), and it may not be passed unless: (1) a month's previous notice of the resolution has been given in the usual manner (Sch 1 para 2); and (2) two-thirds of the members present and voting concur in the resolution (Sch 1 para 3). The Light Railways Act 1896 has been repealed, but the repeal does not affect the validity of orders made under it which were in force immediately before 1 January 1993: see PARA 1575 ante. ## 1582. Power of a local authority to raise money.

The council of a county, London borough or district authorised by a light railway order to expend money may raise the money required by borrowing, if the expenditure is capital expenditure<sup>1</sup>. If the expenditure is not capital expenditure, the money is raised as if it were on account of the expense of an application for a light railway order<sup>2</sup>.

In addition to the specific provisions which may be contained in a light railway order<sup>1</sup>, provisions relating to any other matters which, whether or not similar to the specific provisions, may be considered ancillary to the objects of the order or expedient for carrying those objects into effect may be included<sup>2</sup>. However, the sale and transfer, under a light railway order, of a railway for which powers had been obtained under an Act of Parliament has been held inadmissible<sup>3</sup>, and provisions giving a corporation powers to supply electrical energy outside its own district<sup>4</sup>, or provisions which, although agreed between the parties, are not called for by any special circumstances and depart from decisions in previous applications, have been disallowed<sup>5</sup>.

1585. Evolution and effect of the Transport and Works Act 1992.

Prior to the coming into force of Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup>, the practice had developed of securing statutory authority for new tramways by means of private Act of Parliament<sup>2</sup>, although all of these Acts incorporated, or otherwise applied, some at least of the provisions of the Tramways Act 1870<sup>3</sup>. The increasing number of Bills seeking such authorisation was one of the factors giving rise to concern within Parliament<sup>4</sup>. This led to the establishment of a Joint Committee of Parliament to report on the issue<sup>5</sup>, to be followed by a government consultation document<sup>6</sup>.

These proposals, somewhat modified, culminated in the enactment of Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>7</sup>, which provides for an order-making procedure administered by the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> and with no parliamentary stage, save in certain exceptional circumstances<sup>9</sup>. If the powers sought are capable of being secured by means of an order under that Act, then resort to the private Bill procedure is no longer available to a promoter<sup>10</sup>.

1 le on 1 January 1993.

2 As to the private Bill procedure see PARLIAMENT vol 34 (Reissue) PARA 845 et seq.

3 As to these Acts see PARA 1541 notes 2-8 ante.

4 Apart from the excessive demands on parliamentary time arising from the number, and intensity of opposition to, private Bills, it was thought somewhat anomalous that tramway and railway works needed to be authorised by Parliament, whereas equally extensive (and contentious) road works were authorised by means of government order-making machinery (see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 138 et seq).

5 See the Report of the Joint Committee on Private Bill Procedure (July 1988) (HL Paper 97 (1987-88); HC Paper 625 (1987-88)); and PARLIAMENT vol 34 (Reissue) PARA 846.

8 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

9 As to the exceptions see the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 9 (as amended) (schemes of national significance), s 12 (orders requiring special parliamentary procedure (compulsory acquisition of National Trust land, commons, etc)), s 24 (schemes extending into Scotland). The agreement of the Welsh Ministers is required in respect of the order, rule and regulation functions of the Secretary of State under ss 1, 3, 6, 7(4), 8, 10, 15 (s 6 as amended) so far as they are exercisable in relation to Wales (including cases in which the application of an order would straddle the border between England and Wales): National Assembly for Wales (Transfer of Functions) Order 1999, SI 1999/672, art 5(1), Sch 2.

10 The Transport and Works Act 1992 contains no express provision prohibiting resort to the private Bill procedure, but it is an essential feature of that procedure that it may only be employed if the promoters of such Bills are able to maintain the averment, which the preamble to any private Bill has to contain, that the purposes of the Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament: see PARLIAMENT vol 34 (Reissue) PARA 846.

1586. Scope of the Transport and Works Act 1992.

The provisions of Part I of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup> empower the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> to make orders<sup>3</sup> relating to, or to matters ancillary to, the construction or operation of certain transport systems<sup>4</sup>. These transport systems are: (1) railways<sup>5</sup>; (2) tramways<sup>6</sup>; (3) trolley vehicle systems<sup>7</sup>; or (4) systems using a mode of guided transport<sup>8</sup> prescribed by order<sup>9</sup>.

For the purposes of the Transport and Works Act 1992, 'tramway' means a system of transport used wholly or mainly<sup>10</sup> for the carriage of passengers<sup>11</sup> and employing parallel rails which: (a) provide support and guidance for vehicles carried on flanged wheels; and (b) are laid wholly or mainly along a street<sup>12</sup> or in any other place to which the public<sup>13</sup> has access<sup>14</sup> (including a place to which the public has access only on making a payment)<sup>15</sup>.

1 See the Transport and Works Act 1992 Pt I (ss 1-25) (as amended).

2 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

3 The power to make orders as to transport systems is exercisable by statutory instrument: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 1(2). As to the validity of orders see PARA 1594 post.

4 Ibid s 1(1). The transport systems must be located entirely within England and Wales: s 1(1). As to those that extend into Scotland see s 24. The Secretary of State may also make orders under the Act relating to, or to matters ancillary to, an inland waterway or the carrying out of certain works which interfere with rights of navigation: see s 3; and WATER AND WATERWAYS vol 101 (2009) PARA 713 et seq.

5 Ibid s 1(1)(a). For the meaning of 'railway' see s 67(1); and PARA 1537 note 2 ante. As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

6 Ibid s 1(1)(b). For the meaning of 'tramway' see s 67(1); and the text and notes 9-14 infra.

7 Ibid s 1(1)(c). For the meaning of 'trolley vehicle system' see s 67(1); and PARA 1628 note 3 post.

8 'Guided transport' means transport by vehicles guided by means external to the vehicles (whether or not the vehicles are also capable of being operated in some other way): ibid s 67(1).

9 Ibid s 1(1)(d). The Secretary of State may prescribe modes of guided transport for the purposes of s 1(1)(d): s 2(1). The power to make orders under s 2 is exercisable by statutory instrument; but no order is to be made unless a draft of it has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament: s 2(2). See the Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231 (amended by SI 1997/1951) (monorail, magnetic levitation, aerial cableway and various road/rail guidance systems); and see further PARA 1633 post.

10 In the phrase 'wholly or mainly', 'mainly' probably means 'more than half' although there is nothing here to indicate by reference to what this is to be calculated: cf Fawcett Properties Ltd v Buckingham County Council [1961] AC 636 at 669, HL, per Lord Morton of Henryton. As to the meaning of 'wholly or mainly' (or 'exclusively or mainly') in various contexts see also Re Hatschek's Patents, ex p Zerrenner [1909] 2 Ch 68; Miller v Otilie (Owners) [1944] KB 188, [1944] 1 All ER 277, CA; Franklin v Gramophone Co Ltd [1948] 1 KB 542 at 555, CA, per Somervell LJ; Berthelemy v Neale [1952] 1 All ER 437, CA.

11 The mention of 'passengers' makes it clear that lines used solely to convey goods, spoil and similar traffic are excluded from the definition.

12 'Street' means a street within the meaning of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 48 (see PARA 1598 note 4 post), together with land on the verge of a street or between two carriageways: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 67(1).

1587. Orders involving European sites.

The procedures relating to applications for transport and works orders<sup>1</sup>, and for their making or refusal, must have regard to the effect which such orders might have, if made, on environmental and cultural concerns<sup>2</sup>. However, an entirely separate procedure prevails where such concerns are related to a European site<sup>3</sup>.

Where the making of a transport and works order would be likely to have a significant effect on a European site (either alone or in combination with other plans or projects), the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> must carry out an appropriate assessment of the implications for the site in view of its conservation objectives<sup>5</sup>, and where in such a case the Secretary of State considers (after appropriate consultations and relevant representations)<sup>6</sup> that any adverse effects of the plan or project on the integrity of the site would be avoided by making modifications to the proposals, he may make an order subject to these modifications<sup>7</sup>. The Secretary of State is also required to review existing transport and works orders, and if he considers on such review that any adverse effects on the integrity of a European site of the carrying out or, as the case may be, the continuation of the plan or project would be avoided by a variation of the order, he may vary it accordingly<sup>8</sup>. However, the power to review or vary such an order does not apply if the works to which the order relates have been completed before the site has become a European site<sup>9</sup>. The Secretary of State, in conjunction with any review, may also vary or revoke any direction deeming planning permission to be granted for the plan or project<sup>10</sup>. Further provisions regulate the review procedure<sup>11</sup>, the effect of the review<sup>12</sup> and the payment of compensation in the event of a revocation or variation of an existing order<sup>13</sup>. However, if the Secretary of State is satisfied that, there being no alternative solutions, the plan or project must be carried out for imperative reasons of overriding public interest, he may agree the plan or project notwithstanding a negative assessment of the implications for the site<sup>14</sup>.

(ii) Transport and Works Orders

1588. General procedures.

Transport and works orders<sup>1</sup> are considered in greater detail elsewhere in this work<sup>2</sup>. Matters covered include the procedure for applying for and the making (or refusing) of such orders<sup>3</sup>, the bodies which may apply for (or object to) them<sup>4</sup>, orders which may be made by the Secretary of State without application<sup>5</sup>, the subject matter of orders<sup>6</sup> and orders relating to schemes of national significance<sup>7</sup>.

The Transport and Works Act 1992 s 6 (applications for orders under ss 1, 3) and s 14 (publicity for making or refusal of orders) have been amended, and s 6A added, so as to widen the rule-making powers of s 6 and the publicity requirements of s 14 to take account of the requirements of EC Council Directive 337/85 (OJ L175, 5. 7.85, p 4) on the assessment of the effects of certain public and private projects on the environment (as amended): see the Transport and Works (Assessment of Environmental Effects) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1541, reg 2; and the Transport and Works (Assessment of Environmental Effects) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2226, regs 2-4. 6 See RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 303. Such orders may include those relating to, or matters ancillary to, the construction or operation of a railway, tramway or other system for naval, military, air force or other defence purposes. This power replaces those formerly conferred by the Military Tramways Act 1887 and the Naval Works Act 1899 (see PARAS 1533, 1535 ante).

TRAMWAYS/(4) TRANSPORT AND WORKS ACT 1992/(ii) Transport and Works Orders/1589. Model clauses for incorporation in orders: general.

1589. Model clauses for incorporation in orders: general.

The Transport and Works Act 1992 empowers the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> by order<sup>2</sup> to prescribe model provisions for incorporation in any draft orders which, in accordance with rules made under the Act<sup>3</sup>, may be required to be submitted with applications for a transport and works order<sup>4</sup>. Model clauses have been prescribed in pursuance of this power<sup>5</sup>. The prescribing of a model provision does not of itself make it mandatory for a provision in the terms of the model to be incorporated in a draft order or in any order eventually made by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

2 The power to make such orders is exercisable by statutory instrument: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 8(4).

3 The under ibid s 6 (as amended). See the Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2006, SI 2006/1466. These rules came into force on 11 September 2006, replacing the Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2000, SI 2000/2190. For transitional provisions see the Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2006, SI 2006/1466, r 3.

1590. Model clauses: works powers.

An order under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup> appertaining to a tramway<sup>2</sup> may incorporate model clauses prescribed under that Act<sup>3</sup> which provide for the construction and maintenance of the works authorised by the order. Such clauses may confer power:

- 2433 (1) to deviate laterally<sup>4</sup> or vertically<sup>5</sup>, or to substitute different trackwork arrangements<sup>6</sup>;
- 2434 (2) to construct and maintain<sup>7</sup> the scheduled works<sup>8</sup> and such of the following works as may be necessary or expedient for the purposes of, or for purposes ancillary to, the construction of the scheduled works<sup>9</sup>, namely: (a) stations, platforms and tram stops<sup>10</sup>; (b) works required for, or in connection with, the control of vehicular and pedestrian traffic on the authorised tramway<sup>11</sup>; (c) works to alter the position of apparatus<sup>12</sup>, including mains, sewers, drains and cables<sup>13</sup>; (d) works to alter the course of, or otherwise interfere with, a watercourse other than a navigable watercourse<sup>14</sup>; (e) landscaping and other works to mitigate any adverse effects of the construction, maintenance or operation of the scheduled works<sup>15</sup>; and (f) works for the benefit or protection of premises affected by the scheduled works<sup>16</sup>;
- 2435 (3) to alter the layout of streets<sup>17</sup>, stop up streets permanently<sup>18</sup> or temporarily<sup>19</sup>, construct and maintain new or altered streets<sup>20</sup>, construct bridges and tunnels<sup>21</sup>, construct temporary tramways<sup>22</sup>, install level crossings<sup>23</sup>, attach equipment to buildings to support overhead electric wires and other equipment and apparatus<sup>24</sup>, and enter into agreements with street authorities<sup>25</sup>;
- 2436 (4) to gain access to works<sup>26</sup>;
- 2437 (5) to survey and investigate land<sup>27</sup>.

The clauses may impose certain obligations on the undertaker<sup>28</sup> of the tramway in relation to the works, including:

- 2438 (i) to construct the tramway to a specified gauge<sup>29</sup> and, when the tramway is constructed along a street or in any place to which the public has access (including any place to which the public has access only on making a payment), to take such care as in all the circumstances is reasonable to ensure that the tramway is constructed and maintained so that the street or other place is safe for other users<sup>30</sup>;
- 2439 (ii) to operate the tramway by electricity only<sup>31</sup>; and
- 2440 (iii) in the event of a tramway laid in a street being permanently discontinued, to remove the rails and restore the surface of the road after such removal<sup>32</sup>.

1 le under the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 1(1)(b): see PARA 1586 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1586 ante.

3 As to the prescribing of model clauses see PARA 1589 ante.

4 The works may deviate laterally from the lines or situations shown on the works plan within the limits of deviation for that work or, if no limits are shown on the plan, and the works are situated in a street, within the boundaries of that street: Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, art 3(b), Sch 2 para 5(1)(a), (2). 'The works plan' means the plan prepared in pursuance of the Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2006, SI 2006/1466, r 12(1)(a) and certified by the Secretary of State as the works plan for the purposes of the Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954: Sch 2 para 1(1). 'The limits of deviation' means the limits of deviation for the scheduled works shown on the works plan: Sch 2 para 1(1). As to certification of plans see Sch 2 para 55. As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

5 The works may deviate vertically from the levels shown on the sections: ibid Sch 2 para 5(1)(b). 'The sections' means the sections prepared in pursuance of the Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2006, SI 2006/1466, r 12(3) and certified by the Secretary of State as the sections for the purposes of the Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954: Sch 2 para 1(1). The order will normally specify the amount of permitted deviation: see Sch 2 para 5(1)(b)(i), (ii).

6 le double lines of rails for single rails, single lines for double lines, interlacing lines for either double or single lines (or vice versa): ibid Sch 2 para 5(3). If the rails are in a street, the consent of the street authority is required to the change, but is not to be unreasonably withheld: Sch 2 para 5(4). 'Street authority' has the same meaning as in the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 Pt III (ss 48-106) (as amended) (see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 412): Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, Sch 2 para 1(1).

7 'Maintain' includes inspect, repair, adjust, alter, remove, reconstruct and replace; and 'maintenance' is to be construed accordingly: ibid Sch 2 para 1(1). As to the temporary use of land for maintenance of works see Sch 2 para 31.

8 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(1). 'The scheduled works' means the works specified in Sch 1 to the tramway order or any part of them: Sch 2 para 1(1). Subject to Sch 2 para 5 (power to deviate), the scheduled works may only be constructed in the lines or situations shown on the works plan and in accordance with the levels shown on the sections: Sch 2 para 4(2).

9 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3).

10 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(a).

11 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(b). As to the placing and maintenance of traffic signs in connection with such control see Sch 2 para 40.

12 'Apparatus' is not defined, but as to placing and maintaining apparatus in a street, see ibid Sch 2 para 7(1); and the definition of apparatus in Sch 2 para 7(2)(a). As to executing such works see Sch 2 para 8.

13 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(c).

14 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(d).

15 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(e). Note also the power to discharge water into any watercourse or any public sewer or drain for the drainage of water in connection with the construction or maintenance of the authorised works: see Sch 2 para 18(1). As to the limitation of these powers see Sch 2 para 18(2)-(7).

16 Ibid Sch 2 para 4(3)(f). As to safeguarding works for buildings see Sch 2 para 19. As to the disclosure of confidential information obtained entering premises see Sch 2 para 51.

17 Ibid Sch 2 para 6. Alterations include increasing the width of carriageways, reducing the width or altering the level of adjacent areas, reducing the width of carriageways to accommodate stopping places and other works, carrying out works to prevent or deter other vehicles from using the tramway, and making and maintaining crossovers, sidings and passing places: Sch 2 para 6(1), (2). These powers require the consent of the street authority, but this is not to be unreasonably withheld: Sch 2 para 6(3).

- 19 Ibid Sch 2 para 10.
- 20 Ibid Sch 2 para 12.
- 21 Ibid Sch 2 para 13.

- 23 Ibid Sch 2 para 16. The level of the highway may be altered: Sch 2 para 16(2). The highway authority may enter into an agreement with the undertaker (see note 28 infra) with respect to the construction and maintenance of the crossing: Sch 2 para 16(3).
- 24 Ibid Sch 2 para 17. 'Building' includes any structure or erection or any part of a building, structure or erection: Sch 2 para 1(1). The undertaker is not to affix any apparatus without the consent of the owner of the building and such consent may be given subject to reasonable conditions (including payment of rent) but is not to be unreasonably withheld: Sch 2 para 17(2). When apparatus has been so affixed, the owner of the building may require its removal during the demolition, reconstruction or repair of the building if such removal is reasonably necessary: Sch 2 para 17(5).
- 25 Ibid Sch 2 para 14. - 29 The gauge will normally be standard (1,435 mm): ibid Sch 2 para 22(2).
- 30 Ibid Sch 2 para 22(3).
- 31 Ibid Sch 2 para 22(1). In an emergency, or for maintenance purposes, diesel or other power may be used: Sch 2 para 22(1).
- 32 Ibid Sch 2 para 15. The removal has to be carried out as soon as reasonably practicable (Sch 2 para 15) and unless otherwise agreed with the street authority: (1) apart from the rails, extends to any other works, equipment and apparatus which have become redundant (Sch 2 para 15(a)); and (2) restoration of the portion of the street along which the discontinued tramway was laid must be made to as good a condition as that in which it was before the tramway was laid, and carried out to the reasonable satisfaction of the street authority (Sch 2 para 15(b)).

TRAMWAYS/(4) TRANSPORT AND WORKS ACT 1992/(ii) Transport and Works Orders/1591. Model clauses: powers of compulsory acquisition.

1591. Model clauses: powers of compulsory acquisition.

An order under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup> appertaining to the construction or operation of a tramway<sup>2</sup> may incorporate model clauses prescribed under the Act which make provision for the acquisition of land, whether compulsorily or by agreement<sup>3</sup>. Where compulsory acquisition powers are sought, the powers may include:

- 2441 (1) powers to acquire new rights<sup>4</sup>;
- 2442 (2) powers to acquire subsoil only<sup>5</sup> (including rights under streets)<sup>6</sup>;
- 2443 (3) temporary use of land for construction works<sup>7</sup>;
- 2444 (4) temporary use of land for maintenance works<sup>8</sup>;
- 2445 (5) powers to extinguish rights of statutory undertakers and to remove or re-site the apparatus of statutory undertakers<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2446 (6) a time limit for exercise of powers of acquisition<sup>10</sup>.

The model clauses provide for Part I of the Compulsory Purchase Act 1965<sup>11</sup>, in so far as not modified by or inconsistent with the provisions of the order, to apply to the acquisition of land under that order: (a) as it applies to a compulsory purchase to which the Acquisition of Land Act 1981 applies; and (b) as if the order were a compulsory purchase order under that Act<sup>12</sup>.

If the appropriate authority<sup>13</sup> agrees, an interest which subsists in land in which there is a Crown or Duchy interest<sup>14</sup>, but is not itself a Crown or Duchy interest, may be acquired compulsorily by virtue of an order under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>15</sup>, and any provision of that Act or of such an order (other than a provision by virtue of which an interest in land is compulsorily acquired) may apply in relation to land in which there is a Crown or Duchy interest<sup>16</sup>.

There may be occasions when an undertaker (see PARA 1590 note 28 ante) wishes to acquire only an easement or other rights over land rather than any greater interest (such as a freehold or lease). As to rights over land generally see EASEMENTS AND PROFITS A PRENDRE; LANDLORD AND TENANT; REAL PROPERTY. As to the extinction or suspension of private rights of way see Sch 2 para 35. As to the acquisition of part of certain properties see Sch 2 para 34.

5    See ibid Sch 2 paras 27, 28 (eg for the construction of a tunnel or the laying of underground cables).

6    See ibid Sch 2 para 29. This power does not apply in relation to any subway or underground building or any cellar, vault, arch or other construction in or on a street which forms part of a building fronting on to the street: see Sch 2 para 29(4).

7    See ibid Sch 2 para 30. The power extends to entering upon and taking temporary possession of the land, removing any buildings and vegetation from the land and constructing temporary works (including the provision of means of access) and buildings on the land (see Sch 2 para 30(1)), but is subject to notification requirements (see Sch 2 para 30(2)), time limits for remaining in possession (see Sch 2 para 30(3)), restoration requirements (see Sch 2 para 30(4)) and compensation requirements (see Sch 2 para 30(5)-(7)). As to the service of notices see Sch 2 para 56. As to matters disregarded in the assessment of compensation see Sch 2 paras 32, 33. Double recovery of compensation is prohibited: see Sch 2 para 57.

8    See ibid Sch 2 para 31. The power does not extend to the undertaker taking temporary possession of: (1) any house or garden belonging to a house; or (2) any building (other than a house) if it is for the time being occupied: Sch 2 para 31(2). There are provisions for notification (see Sch 2 para 31(3)), time limits for remaining in possession (see Sch 2 para 31(4)), restoration requirements (see Sch 2 para 31(5)) and compensation requirements (see Sch 2 para 31(6)-(8)).

9    See ibid Sch 2 para 52, Sch 12.

10 Both compulsory purchase powers and the power to enter land for temporary use cease at the end of five years beginning on the day that the order comes into force: see ibid Sch 2 para 36(1).

13 'The appropriate authority' means: (1) in the case of land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown and forming part of the Crown Estate, the Crown Estate Commissioners; (2) in the case of other land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown, the government department having the management of the land; (3) in the case of land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Duchy of Lancaster, the Chancellor of the Duchy; (4) in the case of land belonging to the Duchy of Cornwall, such person as the Duke of Cornwall, or the possessor for the time being of the Duchy of Cornwall, appoints; and (5) in the case of land belonging to a government department or held in trust for Her Majesty for the purposes of a government department, that department: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 25(3). If any question arises as to what authority is the appropriate authority in relation to any land, that question must be referred to the Treasury, whose decision is final: s 25(4). As to land belonging to the Crown etc see CROWN PROPERTY vol 12(1) (Reissue) PARA 201 et seq. As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517.

14 'Crown or Duchy interest' means an interest belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown or of the Duchy of Lancaster, or belonging to the Duchy of Cornwall, or belonging to a government department, or held in trust for Her Majesty for the purposes of a government department: ibid s 25(2).

TEXT AND NOTES 1-12--SI 2006/1954 Sch 2 amended: SI 2008/2831, SI 2009/1307.

1592. Model clauses: operating powers.

An order made under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup> appertaining to a tramway<sup>2</sup> may include model clauses prescribed by that Act which make provision for the operation of the tramway<sup>3</sup>. Such clauses may confer on an undertaker<sup>4</sup> power:

- 2447 (1) to operate and use the tramway and other works authorised by the order for the carriage of passengers and goods<sup>5</sup>;
- 2448 (2) to charge (or waive) fares for carrying passengers or goods on the tramway or for services or facilities provided in connection with its operation<sup>6</sup>;
- 2449 (3) to remove obstructions caused to tramcars using the tramway<sup>7</sup>;
- 2450 (4) to lop or fell trees overhanging the tramway<sup>8</sup>;
- 2451 (5) to make byelaws regulating the use and operation of, and travel on, the tramway and on tramway premises or other facilities provided in connection with the tramway and the conduct of all persons, including employees of the undertaker, while on tramway premises<sup>9</sup>; and 2452 (6) to contract for police services<sup>10</sup>.

Clauses may also make it an offence for a person: (a) to trespass on a tramroad<sup>11</sup> authorised by the order, or on any land of the undertaker in dangerous proximity to the tramroad or to any electrical or other apparatus used for or in connection with the operation of the tramroad<sup>12</sup>; (b) without reasonable excuse to obstruct another person from constructing a tramway authorised by the order or any other authorised work, or to interfere with, move or remove any apparatus belonging to any person acting under the authority of the undertaker<sup>13</sup>.

1 le under the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 1(1)(b): see PARA 1586 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1586 ante.

3 See the Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, art 3(b), Sch 2 paras 37-46.

4 For the meaning of 'undertaker' see PARA 1590 note 28 ante.

5 Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, Sch 2 para 37(1). Subject to the rights of any lessee or chargee (see Sch 2 para 47), the power confers an exclusive right to use the rails and other apparatus and to occupy any part of a street in which that apparatus is situated: Sch 2 para 37(2). A person who, without the consent of the undertaker or other reasonable excuse, uses the apparatus is guilty of an offence and liable to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Sch 2 para 37(3). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. Nothing in Sch 2 para 37 is to be taken as restricting the exercise of any public right of way over any part of a street in which the apparatus is situated, except to the extent that the exercise of the right is constrained by the presence of the apparatus: Sch 2 para 37(4). The exclusive nature of the rights conferred by Sch 2 para 34(2) renders the tramway rateable: see PARA 1555 note 5 ante.

6 Ibid Sch 2 para 38.

7 See ibid Sch 2 para 39. If any obstruction is caused by vehicles waiting, loading, unloading or breaking down on any part of the tramway or by a load falling on the tramway from a vehicle, then the person in charge of the vehicle must forthwith remove the obstruction, failing which the undertaker may take reasonable steps to remove the obstruction and recover the expenses reasonably incurred in so doing from the person by whom the vehicle was put or left or from which the load fell: Sch 2 para 39(1)(a), (2)(a). Alternatively, the expenses may be recovered from the owner of the vehicle, unless he can show that he was not concerned in, or aware of, the vehicle being so put or left or being in the place at which the load fell from it: Sch 2 para 39(1)(b), (2)(b).

8 Ibid Sch 2 para 42. The power extends to shrubs and additionally to cutting back the roots of the trees or shrubs: see Sch 2 para 42(1). The undertaker must reasonably believe it to be necessary to carry out the work to prevent the tree or shrub concerned from obstructing or interfering with the construction, maintenance or operation of the tramway or any apparatus used for the purposes of the tramway, or to prevent it constituting a danger to passengers or other persons using the tramway: Sch 2 para 42(1). The undertaker must do no unnecessary damage and must pay compensation to any person for any loss or damage arising from the exercise of the powers: Sch 2 para 42(2). There are also exceptions in favour of tramway and other statutory undertakers from restrictions on the felling of growing trees imposed by the Forestry Act 1967 s 9 (as amended): see the Forestry (Exceptions from Restrictions of Felling) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/792 reg 4 (as amended); and FORESTRY vol 52 (2009) PARA 122.

9 Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, Sch 2 para 45(1). In particular, byelaws may make provision: (1) with respect to travel tickets, the payment of fares and charges and the evasion of their payment; (2) with respect to interference with, or obstruction of, the operation of the tramway or other facilities provided in that connection; (3) with respect to the use of tobacco or other substances, the consumption of alcohol and food and the prevention of other nuisances; (4) for regulating the passage of bicycles and other vehicles on ways and other places intended for use of persons on foot within tramway premises; (5) for the safe custody and re-delivery or disposal of any property found on tramway premises and for fixing the charges made in respect of any such property; and (6) for prohibiting or restricting the placing or leaving of any vehicle without its driver on any part of the tramway or on tramway premises: Sch 2 para 45(2). As to the meaning of 'tramway premises' see Sch 2 para 45(3). Provision may be made for breach of a byelaw to constitute an offence with liability on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Sch 2 para 45(4). The undertaker may also summarily take action, if breach of a byelaw is attended with danger or annoyance to the public, or hindrance to the undertaker in the operation of the tramway, to obviate or remove the danger, annoyance or hindrance: Sch 2 para 45(5). Before any byelaw may come into operation, it must be confirmed by the Secretary of State (see PARAS 236, 1539 ante): Sch 2 para 45(6). As to the procedure for making byelaws see Sch 2 para 45(7)-(12). As to certification of byelaws see Sch 2 para 45(13).

10 Ibid Sch 2 para 46. The agreements may be made with the local police authority or with the British Transport Police Force (as to which see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 281 et seq).

11 'Tramroad' means any part of a tramway which is not a street tramway: see ibid Sch 2 para 1(1). 'Street tramway' means any part of a tramway which is laid along a street, whether or not the section of the street in which its rails are laid may be used by other traffic: Sch 2 para 1(1).

12 Ibid Sch 2 para 44(1). Any person guilty of the offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Sch 2 para 44(1). However, no person is to be convicted unless it can be shown that a notice warning the public not to trespass on the tramroad was clearly exhibited and maintained at the station or other stopping place nearest the place where the offence is alleged to have been committed: Sch 2 para 44(2).

13 Ibid Sch 2 para 43. A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Sch 2 para 43.

Any local authority<sup>7</sup>, or any two local authorities acting jointly, may make payments, upon such terms and conditions as it or they think fit, to any other person towards expenditure appearing to the authority or authorities in question to be of a capital nature incurred, or to be incurred, by that other person for the purpose of the provision, improvement or development of any facilities for public passenger transport if it appears to the authority, or each of the authorities, in question that facilities are or will be of benefit to the area of that authority<sup>8</sup>.

The Secretary of State has power, with the approval of the Treasury, to make grants upon such terms and conditions as he thinks fit to any person towards expenditure incurred, or to be incurred, by that person: (i) in carrying out research in connection with the provision or improvement of transport services by land<sup>9</sup> or other transport purposes; or (ii) in developing for the purposes of the provision or improvement of such services the results of any research carried out by, or any invention or idea of, that or any other person<sup>10</sup>.

Special procedures apply for the award of supply, works and services contracts in relation to a system which provides a service to the public in the field of transport<sup>1</sup>. This includes a tramway system which provides such service<sup>2</sup>.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works/1598. Prohibition of unauthorised street works.

(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works

1598. Prohibition of unauthorised street works.

By virtue of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>1</sup>, a person<sup>2</sup> may not:

- 2464 (1) place in<sup>3</sup> a street<sup>4</sup> any tramway<sup>5</sup> apparatus which constitutes apparatus<sup>6</sup> for the purposes of that Act; or
- 2465 (2) break up or open a street, or a sewer<sup>7</sup>, drain or tunnel under it, or tunnel or bore under a street, for the purposes of placing, inspecting, maintaining, adjusting, repairing, altering or renewing such apparatus, or of changing its position or removing it, otherwise than in pursuance of a statutory right<sup>8</sup> or a street works licence<sup>9</sup>. A contravention of this provision constitutes an offence<sup>10</sup>. Powers are conferred on the street authority<sup>11</sup> for the street concerned to give directions to a person committing such an offence to remove the apparatus in question and reinstate the street, and in the event of a refusal to comply to carry out the works itself and recover the reasonable costs so incurred<sup>12</sup>.

1 See the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 51 (as amended); and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 423.

2 'Person' includes a body of persons corporate or unincorporate: see the Interpretation Act 1978 s 5, Sch 1.

3 'In', in relation to works, apparatus or property in a street or other place, includes a reference to works, apparatus or property under, over, across, along or upon it: New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 ss 105(1), 106. Where a street is carried or crossed by a bridge, any statutory right (see note 8 infra) to place apparatus in the street includes the right to place it in, or attach it to, the structure of the bridge, and other rights to execute works in relation to apparatus placed in a street extend accordingly; and references to apparatus in the street include references to apparatus so placed or attached: s 88(3).

4 'Street' means the whole or any part of any of the following, irrespective of whether it is a thoroughfare:

1421 (1) any highway, road, lane, footway, alley or passage;

1422 (2) any square or court; and

1423 (3) any land laid out as a way whether it is for the time being formed as a way or not,

and where a street passes over a bridge or through a tunnel, references to the street include that bridge or tunnel: ibid s 48(1). See further HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 9.

5 'Tramway' means a system, mainly or exclusively for the carriage of passengers, using vehicles guided, or powered by energy transmitted, by rails or other fixed apparatus installed exclusively or mainly in a street: ibid ss 105(1), 106.

6 'Apparatus' includes any structure for the lodging therein of apparatus or for gaining access to apparatus, and includes a sewer, drain or tunnel: ibid ss 89(3), 105(1), 106.

7 'Sewer' has the same meaning as in the Water Industry Act 1991 (see WATER AND WATERWAYS vol 100 (2009) PARA 138): New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 ss 89(1)(a), 106 (s 89(1)(a) amended by the Water Consolidation (Consequential Provisions) Act 1991 s 2, Sch 1 para 57(1)).

8 'Statutory right' means a right (whether expressed as a right, power or otherwise) conferred by an enactment (whenever passed or made) other than a right exercisable by a street works licence (as to which see note 9 infra); and 'enactment' includes an enactment contained in subordinate legislation within the meaning of the Interpretation Act 1978 (see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) PARAS 1232, 1381): New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 ss 105(1), 106. A right to execute works which extends both to a street and to other land is included in references to a right to execute works in a street in so far as it extends to the street: s 105(2). Similarly, a right to execute works which extends to part but not the whole of a street is included in such references: see s 105(3).

9 Ibid s 51(1). 'Street works licence' means a licence granted under s 50(1): see ss 50(1), 106; and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 414.

10 Ibid s 51(1). A person committing such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale: s 51(2) (amended by the Traffic Management Act 2004 s 40(1), (2), Sch 1). At the date at which this volume states the law the amendment made by the Traffic Management Act 2004 had not been brought into force in relation to Wales; and until the amendment takes effect, the maximum fine is level 3 on the standard scale. As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. An offence is not committed if the person carrying out the activities is the street authority (see note 11 infra) for the street concerned: New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 51(1). As to offences committed by a body corporate see s 166(1); and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 483.

11 For the meaning of 'street authority' see ibid ss 49(1), 106; and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 412.

12 Ibid s 51(4). As to the recovery of costs see s 96.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works/1599. Works subject to control.

1599. Works subject to control.

Tramway<sup>1</sup> works constitute street works for the purposes of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 if the works in question are executed in<sup>2</sup> a street<sup>3</sup> in pursuance of a statutory right<sup>4</sup> or a street works licence<sup>5</sup> and are concerned with any of the following (other than works for road purposes<sup>6</sup>): (1) the placing of tramway apparatus which constitutes apparatus for the purposes of that Act<sup>7</sup> or inspecting, maintaining, adjusting, repairing, altering or removing such apparatus, changing the position of it or removing it; (2) works required for or incidental to any such works, including in particular breaking up or opening the street, or any sewer, drain or tunnel under it, or tunnelling or boring under the street<sup>8</sup>. Such works are controlled both in relation to streets which are maintainable highways<sup>9</sup> and also in relation to streets which are not so maintainable<sup>10</sup>, but in the latter case exceptions and adaptations to the code may be prescribed<sup>11</sup>.

UPDATE

1599 Works subject to control

NOTE 8--For the purposes of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 48(3), the works that are street works by virtue of being works required for or incidental to street works of any particular kind include (1) reinstatement of the street; and (2) where an undertaker has failed to comply with his duties under Pt III (ss 48-106) with respect to reinstatement of the street, any remedial work: New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 48(3A) (added by the Local Transport Act 2008 s 124(2)).

1600. Undertakers.

- 2 For the meaning of 'statutory right' see PARA 1598 note 8 ante.
- 3 For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1598 note 5 ante.
- 4 References to the licensee are to the person for the time being entitled by virtue of the licence to do anything permitted by it: New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 50(5).
- 5 For the meaning of 'street works licence' see PARA 1598 note 9 ante.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works/1601. Relevant transport authorities.

1601. Relevant transport authorities.

For the purposes of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991, the relevant authorities in relation to any works in a street<sup>1</sup> are the street authority<sup>2</sup> and, where the street is carried or crossed by a bridge<sup>3</sup> vested in a transport authority<sup>4</sup> or crosses or is crossed by any other property held or used for the purposes of a transport authority, that authority<sup>5</sup>.

References to a street which crosses or is crossed by property held or used for the purposes of a transport undertaking extend to cases in which the street and the property in question are at different levels, but the transport authority is not treated as a relevant authority as regards undertakers<sup>6</sup> works in such a street where the property in question consists only of: (1) subsoil of the street which is held by the transport authority but is not used, and has not been adapted for use, for the purposes of the transport undertaking<sup>7</sup>; or (2) property underground at such depth that there is no reasonable possibility of the works affecting it<sup>8</sup>.

- 1 For the meaning of 'street' see PARA 1598 note 4 ante. As to the meaning of 'in' in relation to works, apparatus or property in a street see PARA 1598 note 3 ante.
- 2 New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 49(6); and see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 413. For the meaning of 'street authority' see s 49(1); and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 412.
- 3 As to the meaning of 'bridge' see ibid ss 88(1)(a), 106; and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 407.
- 4 'Transport authority' means the authority, body or person having the control or management of a transport undertaking; and 'transport undertaking' means a railway, tramway, dock, harbour, pier, canal or inland navigation undertaking of which the activities, or some of the activities, are carried on under statutory authority: ibid s 91(1).

5 Ibid s 49(6)(b).

6 For the meaning of 'undertakers' see PARA 1600 ante.

7 New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 91(3). These provisions apply to a street which is or forms part of a towing-path or other way running along a canal or inland navigation, provided the path or way is held or used, or the subsoil of it is held, for the purposes of the canal or inland navigation undertaking: s 91(4).

8 Ibid s 91(3). This provision could apply to property of a railway, tramway or canal located in a deep tunnel.

1602. Major transport works.

Where an undertaker's<sup>1</sup> apparatus<sup>2</sup> in<sup>3</sup> a street<sup>4</sup> is or may be affected by, inter alia, major transport works<sup>5</sup>, the transport authority<sup>6</sup> concerned and the undertaker must take such steps as are reasonably required:

- 2466 (1) to identify any measures needing to be taken in relation to the apparatus in consequence of, or in order to facilitate, the execution of the authority's works<sup>7</sup>;
- 2467 (2) to settle a specification of the necessary measures and determine by whom they are to be taken<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2468 (3) to co-ordinate the taking of those measures and the execution of the authority's works<sup>9</sup>, so as to secure the efficient implementation of the necessary work and the avoidance of unnecessary delay<sup>10</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>11</sup> may issue or approve for these purposes a code of practice as to these matters<sup>12</sup> and the steps to be taken by the authority and the undertaker<sup>13</sup>. Any dispute between the authority and the undertaker must, in default of agreement, be settled by arbitration<sup>14</sup>. If the authority or the undertaker fails to comply with an agreement between them as to any of those matters, or with the decision of the arbitrator, the authority or undertaker is liable to compensate the other in respect of any loss or damage resulting from the failure<sup>15</sup>.

1604. Streets with special engineering difficulties.

Where a street<sup>1</sup> is designated by a street authority<sup>2</sup> as a street with special engineering difficulties, an undertaker<sup>3</sup> is required to settle plans and sections of street works<sup>4</sup> to be executed in<sup>5</sup> such a street<sup>6</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>7</sup> may prescribe<sup>8</sup> the criteria for designating a street as having special engineering difficulties, the procedure for making and withdrawing such a designation<sup>9</sup>, and the information to be made available<sup>10</sup> by a street authority as to the streets for the time being so designated<sup>11</sup>.

Where a local highway authority<sup>12</sup> is asked to designate a street as having special engineering difficulties: (1) by a transport authority<sup>13</sup> on the ground of proximity of the street to a structure belonging to, or under the management or control of, the authority; or (2) by an undertaker having apparatus<sup>14</sup> in the street, and declines to do so, the transport authority or undertaker may appeal to the Secretary of State who may direct that the street be so designated<sup>15</sup>.

1604 Streets with special engineering difficulties

NOTES 8, 10--SI 1992/2985 replaced: Street Works (Registers, Notices, Directions and Designations) (England) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1951; Street Works (Registers, Notices, Directions and Designations) (Wales) Regulations 2008, SI 2008/540.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works/1605. Works affecting level crossings or tramways.

1605. Works affecting level crossings or tramways.

An undertaker<sup>1</sup> proposing to begin to execute street works<sup>2</sup> at a crossing of a railway<sup>3</sup> on the level, or which affect a tramway<sup>4</sup>, must give the prescribed notice<sup>5</sup> to the relevant transport authority<sup>6</sup>. An undertaker executing such works must comply with any reasonable requirements made by the relevant transport authority: (1) for securing the safety of persons employed in connection with the works; or (2) for securing that interference with traffic on the railway or tramway caused by the execution of the works is reduced so far as practicable<sup>7</sup>.

Except where the submission of a plan and section is required<sup>8</sup>, the undertaker must defer beginning the works for such further period as the relevant transport authority may reasonably request as needed for formulating its requirements, or making its traffic arrangements<sup>9</sup>.

Nothing in these provisions affects the right of an undertaker to execute emergency works<sup>10</sup>. An undertaker executing emergency works must give notice of its intention to the relevant transport authority as soon as reasonably practicable<sup>11</sup>, notwithstanding that notice is not otherwise required<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'undertaker' see PARA 1600 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'street works' see the New Roads and Street Works 1991 ss 48(3), 106; and HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 407. See also PARA 1599 ante.

3 'Railway' includes light railway other than one in the nature of a tramway (as to which see note 4 infra): ibid ss 105(1), 106. As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

4 For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1598 note 5 ante. The words 'works which affect a tramway' would appear to be wide enough to include a crossing of a tramway (not otherwise in street) on the level and a crossing of a railway on the level by a tramway (in street).

5 Ie prescribed by regulations: New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 s 163(1). At the date at which this volume states the law no regulations have been made for this purpose.

The provisions of s 55(2)-(7) (as amended) (notice of starting date: see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 426) apply to the notice required by s 93(2) as they apply in relation to a notice under s 55(1): s 93(2).

As from a day to be appointed, the provisions of s 55(2)-(9) (s 55(2) as prospectively amended; s 55(5) as amended; s 55(8), (9) as prospectively added) apply to the notice required by s 93(2): s 93(2) (amended by the Traffic Management Act 2004 s 49(3)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(ii) Provisions relating to Street Works/1606. Precautions as to lights.

1606. Precautions as to lights.

An undertaker<sup>1</sup> executing street works<sup>2</sup> in a street<sup>3</sup> which crosses, or is crossed by, or is in the vicinity of, a railway<sup>4</sup>, tramway<sup>5</sup>, dock, harbour, pier, canal or inland navigation, must comply with any reasonable requirement imposed by the transport authority<sup>6</sup> concerned with respect to the displaying of lights so as to avoid any risk of their: (1) being mistaken for any signal light or other light needed for controlling, directing or securing the safety of traffic thereon; or (2) being a hindrance to the ready interpretation of any such signal or other light<sup>7</sup>. An undertaker who fails to comply with any such requirement commits an offence<sup>8</sup>. In proceedings for such an offence, it is a defence for the undertaker to show that all reasonable care was taken by it, and by its contractors and by persons in its employ or that of its contractors, to secure that no such failure occurred<sup>9</sup>.

(iii) Rail Crossings

1607. Rail crossing extinguishment orders.

A council<sup>1</sup> has power by way of a rail crossing extinguishment order<sup>2</sup> to stop up a footpath<sup>3</sup>, bridleway<sup>4</sup> or restricted byway<sup>5</sup> in its area which crosses a tramway<sup>6</sup>, other than where the footpath or bridleway crosses the tramway by a tunnel or bridge<sup>7</sup>. The council may make such an order where it appears expedient to do so in the interests of the safety of members of the public using or likely to use the footpath, bridleway or restricted byway<sup>8</sup>. The order may extinguish the public right of way over the path or way: (1) on the crossing itself; and (2) for so much of its length as the council deems expedient from the crossing to its intersection with another highway<sup>9</sup> over which there subsists a like right of way (whether or not other rights of way also subsist over it)<sup>10</sup>. Supplemental provisions as to rail crossing extinguishment orders are contained in the Highways Act 1980 and in regulations made under it<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to the meaning of 'council' see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 56.

2 Ie an order under the Highways Act 1980 s 118A (as added): s 118A(3) (added by the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 47(1), Sch 2 paras 1, 3).

3 'Footpath' means a highway over which the public has a right of way on foot, not being a footway: see the Highways Act 1980 s 329(1). See further HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 64.

4 'Bridleway' means a highway over which the public has the following, but no other, rights of way, namely: a right of way on foot and a right of way on horseback or leading a horse with or without a right to drive animals of any description along the highway: see ibid s 329(1). See further HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 64.

5 'Restricted byway' has the same meaning as in the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 Pt II Pt II (ss 47-72) (see HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 603): Highways Act 1980 s 329(1) (definition added by the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 s 51, Sch 5 Pt II para 16(a)).

6 The reference in this provision is to 'railway', which is defined to include 'tramway' but not any part of a system where rails are laid along a carriageway: Highways Act 1980 s 118A(8) (as added: see note 2 supra). 'Tramway' is not defined in the Highways Act 1980. 'Carriageway' means a way constituting or comprised in a highway, being a way (other than a cycle track) over which the public has a right of way for the passage of vehicles: s 329(1). See further HIGHWAYS, STREETS AND BRIDGES vol 21 (2004 Reissue) PARA 64. As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

1608. Rail crossing diversion orders.

A council<sup>1</sup> has power by way of a rail crossing diversion order<sup>2</sup> to divert a footpath<sup>3</sup>, bridleway<sup>4</sup> or restricted byway<sup>5</sup> in its area which crosses a tramway<sup>6</sup>, otherwise than by a tunnel or bridge<sup>7</sup>. The council may make such an order where it appears expedient to do so in the interests of safety of members of the public using or likely to use the footpath or bridleway<sup>8</sup>. The order may: (1) create from a date specified in the order any such new path or way as appears to the council requisite for effecting the diversion<sup>9</sup>; and (2) extinguish, as from a date specified in the order or determined by the council<sup>10</sup>, the public right of way over the crossing and over so much of the path or way as appears requisite<sup>11</sup>. However, such an order may not alter a point of termination of the path or way: (a) if that point is not on a highway<sup>11</sup>; or (b) where it is on a highway, otherwise than to another point which is on the same highway, or a highway connected with it<sup>12</sup>. Supplemental provisions as to rail crossing diversion orders are contained in the Highways Act 1980 and in regulations made under it<sup>13</sup>.

8 Highways Act 1980 s 119A(1) (as added: see note 2 supra).

9 Ibid s 119A(2)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra). Where it appears to the council that work requires to be done to bring the new site of the footpath, bridleway or restricted byway into a fit condition for use by the public, the council must specify a date under s 119A(2)(a) (as added), and provide that so much of the order as extinguishes (in accordance with s 119A(2)(b) (as added and amended)) a public right of way is not to come into force until the local highway authority for the new path or way certifies that the work has been carried out: s 119A(7) (as so added; substituted by the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 s 57, Sch 6 Pt I para 11(1), (3); and amended by the Restricted Byways (Application and Consequential Amendment of Provisions) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/1177, Schedule Pt I).

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(iii) Rail Crossings/1609. Alternatives to rail crossing extinguishment or diversion orders.

1609. Alternatives to rail crossing extinguishment or diversion orders.

Where: (1) a public right of way over a footpath<sup>1</sup>, bridleway<sup>2</sup> or restricted byway<sup>3</sup> crosses a tramway<sup>4</sup> otherwise than by a tunnel or bridge<sup>5</sup>; (2) the operator<sup>6</sup> of the tramway has made a closure or diversion application<sup>7</sup> in respect of the crossing; and (3) in the opinion of the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> the crossing constitutes a danger to members of the public using it, then the Secretary of State may by order require the operator to provide a tunnel or bridge, or improve an existing tunnel or bridge, to carry the path or way over or under the tramway, at or reasonably near to the crossing to which the closure or diversion application relates<sup>9</sup>.

The Secretary of State may not make such an order after the end of two years from the date on which the closure or diversion application was made, and not less than two months before making an order he must give written notice<sup>10</sup> of his proposed order to the operator and to each local authority<sup>11</sup> in whose area the crossing (or proposed new crossing) is situated<sup>12</sup>.

An operator is not to be regarded as in breach of a duty imposed by such an order if he has used his best endeavours to comply with the order<sup>13</sup>.

1611. Protection of private crossings.

The operator<sup>1</sup> of a tramway<sup>2</sup> which is crossed<sup>3</sup> in any place by a private road or path<sup>4</sup> may cause or permit crossing signs<sup>5</sup> or barriers<sup>6</sup> of a character<sup>7</sup> prescribed in regulations<sup>8</sup> made by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>, or otherwise authorised by him, to be placed<sup>10</sup> on or near the road or path near the crossing<sup>11</sup>. The Secretary of State may give directions to the operator of a tramway which is crossed in any place by a private road or path for the placing of crossing signs or barriers of a character specified in the directions on or near the road or path near the crossing<sup>12</sup>. Powers are given to operators of tramways to enter land owned by third parties to erect crossing signs and barriers subject to compliance with prescribed procedures<sup>13</sup>, and default powers are reserved to the Secretary of State to carry out work<sup>14</sup>.

1 'Operator', in relation to a transport system, means any person carrying on an undertaking which includes the system or any part of it, or the provision of transport services on the system: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 67(1). In the case of a railway or tramway which has more than one operator, the powers conferred by ss 52-54 (see the text and notes 2-14 infra; and PARAS 1612-1613 post) are only exercisable by or in relation to the operator carrying on the undertaking which includes maintaining the permanent way: s 56(2). 'Maintain' includes repair and replace: s 56(1).

5 'Crossing sign', in relation to a private road or path and any place where it crosses a tramway, means: (1) any object or device (whether fixed or portable); or (2) any line or mark on the road or path, for conveying to users of the road or path warnings, information, requirements, restrictions or prohibitions relating to the crossing: ibid s 56(1).

6 'Barrier' includes gate: ibid s 56(1).

7 The size and colour of a crossing sign and whether or not it is illuminated (by lighting or the use of reflectors or reflecting material), and the nature of the warnings, information, requirements, restrictions or prohibitions conveyed by it, are to be regarded as part of the sign's character: ibid s 52(3).

8 The power to make regulations under this provision is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: ibid s 52(4). For regulations made under s 52 see the Private Crossings (Signs and Barriers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1786.

11 Ibid s 52(1). As to offences see PARA 1614 post.

12 Ibid s 52(2). A direction given under s 52(2), if relating to a private road or path, is enforceable on the application of the Secretary of State by a mandatory order: s 54(3)(a). As to mandatory orders (formerly orders of mandamus) see JUDICIAL REVIEW vol 61 (2010) PARA 703 et seq.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(iii) Rail Crossings/1612. Rights to enter land to put in place signs and barriers.

1612. Rights to enter land to put in place signs and barriers.

The operator<sup>1</sup> of a tramway<sup>2</sup> may not enter or do anything on any land for the purpose of exercising his statutory powers in relation to the placing<sup>3</sup> of signs and barriers<sup>4</sup> except with the consent of every owner of the land<sup>5</sup>, or in accordance with an authorisation given by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>.

Where the operator of a tramway proposes to enter or do anything on any land for the purpose of exercising his statutory powers, but has not obtained the consent of every owner of the land to his proposals (after making reasonable efforts to do so), he must serve on every owner whose consent he has not obtained a notice<sup>7</sup> giving details of the proposals and stating that: (1) he is referring the proposals to the Secretary of State for a decision as to whether or not they should be carried out; and (2) in making that decision, the Secretary of State will consider any written representations made to him by the owner within the period of 42 days beginning with the date of the notice<sup>8</sup>. The operator must also: (a) submit a copy of every such notice served by him to the Secretary of State; and (b) provide the Secretary of State with such further information about the proposals as he may require<sup>9</sup>.

Where proposals are referred to the Secretary of State, he must after the expiry of the period of 42 days beginning with the date of the latest notice of proposed entry served<sup>10</sup> and after considering any representations made to him: (i) authorise the operator to carry out the proposals (either without modifications or with such modifications as the Secretary of State may specify); or (ii) direct him not to carry out the proposals; and he must serve notice of his decision on every owner served with a notice of entry<sup>11</sup>. Any such authorisation may be given subject to such conditions as the Secretary of State may specify, including conditions that compensation is to be payable by the operator<sup>12</sup>.

The operator of a tramway may enter any land and do anything necessary on it (without the consent of the owners of the land) for the purpose of: (A) complying with any directions given by the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup>; or (B) maintaining<sup>14</sup> a crossing sign<sup>15</sup> or barrier<sup>16</sup> lawfully placed<sup>17</sup> on or near a private road or path<sup>18</sup> near a place where it crosses the tramway<sup>19</sup>.

The Secretary of State may enter any land and do anything necessary on it (without the consent of the owners of the land) for the purpose of exercising his statutory default powers<sup>20</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'operator' see PARA 1611 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1586 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'place' see PARA 1611 note 10 ante.

4 I.e. under the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 52(1): see PARA 1611 ante. For the meaning of 'barrier' see PARA 1611 note 6 ante.

5 For these purposes, 'owner', in relation to any land, means a person, other than a mortgagee not in possession, who is for the time being entitled to dispose of the fee simple (whether in possession or reversion) and includes also a person holding, or entitled to the rents and profits of, the land under a tenancy, other than a tenancy for a month or any period less than a month: ibid s 53(9)(a). #### (iv) Safety and Welfare

1615. Responsibility for safety.

The prime responsibility for ensuring safety of a tramway lies with the party who controls the activity in question. Thus the operator of a tramway is responsible for the safe operation of the tramcars<sup>1</sup> which it runs and an infrastructure operator is similarly responsible for the safe operation of that infrastructure. To achieve this level of responsibility in legal terms, the provisions of Part I of the Health and Safety of Work etc Act 1974<sup>2</sup> have been extended to tramways<sup>3</sup> and various regulations have been made which are applicable to them<sup>4</sup>. Certain governmental responsibilities for rail transport safety have been transferred from the Secretary of State to the Health and Safety Executive<sup>5</sup>.

The provisions of Part I of the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974<sup>1</sup> have been extended<sup>2</sup> in relation to transport systems, including tramways<sup>3</sup>, and it has been made clear that the general purposes of that Part<sup>4</sup> extend to securing the proper construction and safe operation of transport systems and their vehicles, and the protection of tramway employees and the general public (whether passengers or not) from injury and risks arising from such construction and operation<sup>5</sup>.

1617. Prevention, reporting and investigation of accidents.

Regulations have been made under the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 concerning the prevention of unauthorised access to the infrastructure of a transport system<sup>1</sup> (including a tramway<sup>2</sup>), the provision and maintenance of means of communication on vehicles<sup>3</sup>, the prevention of collisions between, and derailments of, vehicles<sup>4</sup>, the provision and maintenance of suitable and sufficient vehicle brakes<sup>5</sup> and the prevention of accidents to persons at work from moving vehicles<sup>6</sup>.

Further regulations have been made under the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 which require the reporting of accidents, including those involving tramways<sup>7</sup>. Tramway operators may also be obliged to furnish information concerning accidents pursuant to regulations made under the Social Security Administration Act 1992<sup>8</sup>. The investigation of accidents concerning tramways is governed by the general health and safety at work legislation<sup>9</sup>.

However, any part of a tramway which runs along and at the same level as a street or in any other place to which the public has access (including a place to which the public has access only on making a payment) is excluded from these regulations: see reg 2(1)(d). TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(iv) Safety and Welfare/1618. Approval of works, plant and equipment.

1618. Approval of works, plant and equipment.

The consent of the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> is required under the Electricity Act 1989 to the installation, or the keeping installed, of an electric line<sup>9</sup> above ground<sup>10</sup>, but such consent is not required where the line is, or is to be, installed for the purposes of a tramway which has been authorised by or under statute<sup>11</sup>. In London, local authority consent is also required to the placing and retention of overhead wires over streets<sup>12</sup>, but there is an exemption for tramway or light railway undertakers<sup>13</sup>.

1 See the Railways and Other Transport Systems (Approval of Works, Plant and Equipment) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/157 (revoked; but continuing in force up to and including 1 October 2008 for certain purposes: see the Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, regs 29, 34, Sch 7). See RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 204.

2 See the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 41(1) (amended by the Health and Safety (Enforcing Authority for Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/557, reg 6, Schedule para 1(1), (2) (a)). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument, subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 41(8).

4 In the Railways and Other Transport Systems (Approval of Works, Plant and Equipment) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/157 (see note 1 supra), 'relevant transport system' means, inter alia, a tramway: reg 2(a). For the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1586 ante.

5 For these purposes, 'relevant authority' means: (1) the Office of Rail Regulation where it is made responsible for the enforcement of the relevant statutory provisions in relation to the operation of a relevant transport system by the Health and Safety (Enforcing Authority for Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/557, reg 3(1); and (2) the Health and Safety Executive in any other case: Railway Safety (Miscellaneous Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/553, reg 2(a) (definition added by SI 2006/557). 'The relevant statutory provisions' has the same meaning as in the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 s 53 (as amended) (see HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 52 (2009) PARA 425): Railway Safety (Miscellaneous Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/553, reg 2(a) (definition added by SI 2006/557). The Office of Rail Regulation is responsible for the enforcement of the relevant statutory provisions to the extent that they relate to the operation of a tramway or the operation of any other system of guided transport: Health and Safety (Enforcing Authority for Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/557, reg 3(1), (2). As to the Office of Rail Regulation see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 49 et seq. ### 1619. Other safety provisions.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> have been made under the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 to regulate the undertaking of safety critical work<sup>2</sup> on transport systems<sup>3</sup>, including tramways<sup>4</sup>. The controller of critical work<sup>5</sup> is required, so far as is reasonably practicable, to ensure that a person under his management, supervision or control, with the exception of where that person is receiving practical training in a safety critical task, only carries out safety critical work where: (1) that person has been assessed as being competent and fit to carry out that work following an assessment by an assessor; (2) there is an accurate and up to date record in writing of that person's competence and fitness which references any criteria for determining competence and fitness against which that assessment of competence was made; (3) the record, or an accurate summary of the record referred to in head (2) above is available for inspection, on reasonable request, by any other controller of safety critical work or any operator who may be affected by any safety critical work carried out or to be carried out by that person, for the purposes of establishing that person's competence and fitness to carry out safety critical work; and (4) there are in place arrangements for monitoring the competence and fitness of that person<sup>6</sup>. Every controller of safety critical work must without unreasonable delay review any person's competence or fitness assessment where they have reason to doubt the competence or fitness of a person to carry out that safety critical work or there has been a significant change in the matters to which the assessment relates, and where, as a result of any such review a reassessment of competence or fitness is required, that reassessment of competence or fitness must be carried out to ensure that the requirements of heads (1) to (3) above are met<sup>7</sup>.

In addition, every controller of safety critical work is required to have in place arrangements to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that a safety critical worker under his management, supervision or control does not carry out safety critical work in circumstances where he is so fatigued or where he would be liable to become so fatigued that his health or safety or the health or safety of other persons on a transport system could be significantly affected<sup>8</sup>.

There is also power, exercisable by the Health and Safety Executive<sup>9</sup>, to give directions with respect to the limitation of speeds and loads on a tramway<sup>10</sup>. Certain other regulations do not apply to tramways but may apply to those systems which, although tramway in character, are railways for the purposes of the regulations<sup>11</sup>.

1 See the Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, Pt 4 (regs 23-26): see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARAS 253-256.

2 For the meaning of 'safety critical work' see ibid reg 23(1); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 253.

3 For these purposes, 'transport system' means a railway, a tramway, or any other system using guided transport where that other system is used wholly or mainly for the carriage of passengers, but a transport system does not include:

1424 (1) a guided bus system;

1425 (2) a trolley vehicle system;

1426 (3) any part of a transport system: (a) within a harbour or harbour area or which is part of a factory, mine or quarry; (b) used solely for the purpose of carrying out a building operation or work of engineering construction; (c) within a maintenance or goods depot; (d) within a siding except where Pt 4 applies; or (e) which is within a military establishment;

1427 (4) any fairground equipment;

1428 (5) any cableway installation; or

1429 (6) any transport system where the track forms a gauge of less than 350mm except where such a track crosses a carriageway (whether or not on the same level), except where the transport system in question forms part of the mainline railway: reg 2(1). 'Tramway' means a system of transport used wholly or mainly for the carriage of passengers: (i) which employs parallel rails which provide support and guidance for vehicles carried on flanged wheels and are laid wholly or partly along a road or in any other place to which the public has access (including a place to which the public has access only on making a payment); and (ii) on any part of which the permitted maximum speed is such as to enable the driver to stop a vehicle in the distance he can see to be clear ahead: reg 2(1).

4 See note 3 supra.

5 'Controller of safety critical work' means any person controlling the carrying out of safety critical work on a transport system or in relation to a vehicle used on a transport system: Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, reg 23(1).

6 See ibid reg 24(1).

7 Ibid reg 24(2). Where a reassessment of competence or fitness is required, the controller of safety critical work must, so far as is reasonably practicable ensure that, as a result, the health and safety of persons on a transport system is not prejudiced: reg 24(3).

8 Ibid reg 25(1). Such arrangements must be reviewed by the controller of safety critical work where he has reason to doubt the effectiveness of those arrangements: reg 25(2).

9 This function was transferred to the Health and Safety Executive by the Railways (Miscellaneous Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/553, reg 10(1). As to the Health and Safety Executive see HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 52 (2009) PARA 361 et seq.

10 See the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 45 (as amended); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 208.

1620. Access for the disabled.

- 2469 (1) for disabled persons<sup>4</sup>: (a) to get on to and off regulated rail vehicles<sup>5</sup> in safety and without unreasonable difficulty; (b) to be carried in such vehicles in safety and reasonable comfort<sup>6</sup>; and
- 2470 (2) for disabled persons in wheelchairs: (a) to get on to and off such vehicles in safety and without unreasonable difficulty while remaining in their wheelchairs; and (b) to be carried in such vehicles in safety and in reasonable comfort while remaining in their wheelchairs<sup>7</sup>.

The Secretary of State may, by an exemption order<sup>8</sup>: (i) authorise the use for carriage of a regulated rail vehicle even though the vehicle does not conform with the provisions of rail vehicle accessibility regulations with which it is required to conform; (ii) authorise a regulated rail vehicle to be used for carriage otherwise than in conformity with the provisions of rail vehicle accessibility regulations with which use of the vehicle is required to conform<sup>9</sup>.

1621. Liability for noise.

Pursuant to a power contained in the Land Compensation Act 1973<sup>1</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> has made regulations to provide insulation against noise caused by vehicles using a tramway<sup>3</sup>. These provide that when tramway works<sup>4</sup> have been brought into use after 1 March 1996, a duty is imposed on the responsible authority<sup>5</sup> to provide eligible buildings<sup>6</sup> with insulation against noise caused by the movement of vehicles using the tramway<sup>7</sup> or to pay grant for insulation work<sup>8</sup> to be carried out to such buildings<sup>9</sup>. There is also a discretionary power to provide such insulation or pay such grant for insulation work where an existing tramway is altered, or where noise from construction work is expected to affect such buildings<sup>10</sup>.

The regulations apply the definition of 'tramway' contained in the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 67(1) (see PARA 1586 ante), save that the system has to be provided or used in the exercise of statutory powers.

4 'Works' means the permanent way of the tramway: see the Noise Insulation (Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/428, reg 2(1). Note that works are classified as initial, additional or altered: see reg 2(1).

5 'Responsible authority' means the person managing the works in question: ibid reg 2(1).

6 For the meaning of 'eligible building' see ibid reg 7.

7 As to the level of noise see ibid reg 9 (amended by SI 1998/1701). The regulations do not apply to noise resulting from ground-borne vibration: Noise Insulation (Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/428, reg 3(2).

8 'Insulation work' means work carried out to insulate a building against noise, including work making provision for ventilation and solar control: ibid reg 2(1).

1622. Insurance.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> is empowered to give directions to the operator<sup>2</sup> of a tramway<sup>3</sup> requiring the operator to ensure that there are at all times in force policies of insurance against liability for death or personal injury<sup>4</sup>. Before giving such a direction, the Secretary of State must consult the person to whom he intends to give it<sup>5</sup>. If a direction is contravened, the person to whom the direction has been given is guilty of an offence<sup>6</sup>.

Employees of tramway undertakings must ordinarily be insured under the provisions of the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992<sup>7</sup>. Employers are also obliged to insure against their liability for personal injury to their employees<sup>8</sup>.

TRAMWAYS/(5) OTHER LEGISLATION RELATING TO TRAMWAYS/(v) Road Traffic/1623. Application of public passenger vehicle legislation.

(v) Road Traffic

1623. Application of public passenger vehicle legislation.

For the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>1</sup>, a tramcar<sup>2</sup> is not a public passenger vehicle<sup>3</sup> and accordingly the provisions of that Act do not, in general, apply to tramcars. However, certain provisions of the Act may be applied to tramcars by regulations<sup>4</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> is empowered to regulate the conduct of drivers, inspectors and conductors<sup>6</sup>, the conduct of passengers<sup>7</sup>, the carriage of luggage and goods<sup>8</sup> and the safe custody and re-delivery or disposal of any property accidentally left in a tramcar and the fixing of charges in respect thereof<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations made under any provision of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 and applying to tramcars may amend or exclude any provision of an Act or instrument of local application where the subject-matter is the same as that covered by a regulation dealing with any of the topics described above<sup>10</sup>. However, the power to control the number of passengers carried on a tramcar has been repealed<sup>11</sup> and the power to specify the hours to be worked by drivers of tramcars is generally excluded<sup>12</sup>.

Under the model clauses prescribed for incorporation in orders relating to tramways made under the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>13</sup>, tramcars are to be regarded as public service vehicles for the purposes of the duty imposed on local authorities by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984<sup>14</sup> to facilitate the passage of public service vehicles and secure the safety and security of their users<sup>15</sup>.

A tramcar is not a public service vehicle for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>16</sup>. The provisions of the Transport Act 1985 with respect to London local service licences do not apply to tramcars<sup>17</sup>. Accordingly, the traffic commissioners<sup>18</sup> have no control over the fares and charges which may be fixed by the undertaking operating a tramway<sup>19</sup>. Vehicles which operate on a tramway are exempt from the requirement to pay vehicle excise duty<sup>20</sup>.

1 As to the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 generally see PARA 1132 et seq ante.

2 'Tramcar' includes any carriage used on any road by virtue of an order made under the Light Railways Act 1896: Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 82(1). As to the Light Railways Act 1896 see PARA 1574 et seq ante.

3 See the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 1(1); and PARA 1136 ante.

10 See the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 60(1B) (added by the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 61(6)); and PARA 1134 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no regulations had been made in relation to tramcars under the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 24 (as amended) (see PARA 1172 ante), s 25 (as amended) (see PARA 1173 ante) or s 60 (as amended) (see PARA 1134 ante), but power has been taken in certain Acts of local application to apply some of these provisions to vehicles operating on a tramway or railway: see eg the Greater Manchester (Light Rapid Transit System) Act 1988 s 46; the South Yorkshire Light Rail Transit Act 1988 s 42; the Midland Metro Act 1989 s 51; the Leeds Supertram Act 1993 s 60; the Croydon Tramlink Act 1994 s 47; and the Greater Nottingham Light Rapid Transit Act 1994 s 63.

11 The Transport Charges etc (Miscellaneous Powers) 1954 s 9 was repealed by the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 68(1), Sch 4 Pt I. Byelaws may be employed to achieve this purpose: see PARAS 1558, 1592 ante.

12 Transport Act 1968 s 102A (added by the Road Traffic (Consequential Provisions) Act 1988 s 4, Sch 3 para 6(7)). This excludes tramcars operated under statutory powers from the requirements of the Transport Act 1968 Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) (drivers' hours): see PARA 1380 et seq ante. The exclusion has effect subject to any provision to the contrary in any Act or order conferring such statutory powers. But note the Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, reg 25 (see PARA 1619 ante; and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 255), which provides that a safety critical worker must not carry out safety critical work in circumstances where he is so fatigued or where he would be liable to become so fatigued that his health or safety or the health or safety of other persons on a transport system could be significantly affected.

19 Previously, the commissioners had similar powers with respect to tramcars as to buses, but these powers, under the Transport Charges etc (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1954 s 2, have ended with the repeal of that provision, thereby putting tramcars and buses in analogous positions so far as the regulation of their fares is concerned.

1624. Application of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

The Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984<sup>1</sup> generally applies to tramcars<sup>2</sup>, but the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> may provide by regulations for certain provisions<sup>4</sup> of the Act not to apply, or to apply with modifications, to all tramcars or to tramcars of any specified class<sup>5</sup>. Such regulations may make different provision for different cases, may include transitional provisions and may make amendments to any local Act passed before 1 July 1992<sup>6</sup> which authorises or regulates the use of tramcars<sup>7</sup>. Regulations have been made pursuant to these powers<sup>8</sup>.

The Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 also allows an exception in favour of the owners or operators of tramways<sup>9</sup> to the general prohibition against the placing of traffic signs<sup>10</sup> on or near a road<sup>11</sup> otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of Part V<sup>12</sup> of that Act<sup>13</sup>.

2 'Tramcar' includes any carriage used on any road by virtue of an order under the Light Railways Act 1896: Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141A(4) (added by the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 46(1)). As to the Light Railways Act 1896 see further PARA 1574 et seq ante.

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

4 The provisions concerned are the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 ss 1-11 (as amended) (see PARAS 742-753 ante), s 12 (repealed), s 13 (repealed) (general provisions for traffic regulation), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante) (temporary prohibition or restriction on roads), ss 16A-16C (as added) (see PARAS 759-762 ante) (prohibition or restriction on roads in connection with certain events), s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 766 ante) (one-way traffic on trunk roads) and s 81 (see PARA 847 ante), ss 82-86 (as amended) (see PARAS 847-850 ante), ss 87-89 (see PARAS 854-856 ante) (speed limits): s 141A(2) (as added: see note 2 supra).

5 Ibid s 141A(1)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra).

6 Ie the date on which ibid s 141A (as added) was brought into force: see the Road Traffic Act 1991 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions) Order 1992, SI 1992/1286.

7 Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141A(3) (as added: see note 2 supra).

8 See the Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, which in relation to tramcars provide:

1430 (1) that, with modifications, the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 742 ante), s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 747 ante), s 9 (as amended) (see PARA 751 ante), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante) and s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 766 ante) have effect, on and after 1 July 1992, so that tramcars are exempt from any order or notice under any of those provisions (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, regs 3, 4); and

1431 (2) that an order made before 1 July 1992 under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 742 ante), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante), s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 766 ante) or s 84 (as amended) (see PARA 848 ante), or, as respects any road outside Greater London, under s 9 (as amended) (see PARA 751 ante), is not to apply to tramcars (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 15).

However, nothing under head (1) or head (2) supra is to affect the operation of any provision in an order or notice under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante) restricting the speed of vehicles: Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 4(2).

For general provisions as to the making of regulations see the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 134(1)-(3) (as amended); and PARA 720 ante.

9 See ibid s 64(4)(b). The exception extends to any traffic sign placed, in pursuance of powers conferred by a special Act of Parliament or order having the force of an Act, by the owners or operators of a tramway, light railway or trolley vehicle undertaking, a dock undertaking or a harbour undertaking. The Transport and Works (Model Clauses for Railways and Tramways) Order 2006, SI 2006/1954, art 3(b), Sch 2 para 40 makes provision for incorporation in a transport and works order of power for a tramway operator to place and maintain traffic signs in a street: see further PARA 1590 ante. As to transport and works orders see PARA 1586 ante.

10 For the meaning of 'traffic sign' see PARA 830 ante. As to 'placing' see the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 64(6); and PARA 770 note 2 ante.

Regulations made pursuant to s 64 (as amended) (see PARA 830 ante) and s 134 (as amended) (see PARA 720 ante) have prescribed traffic signs, signals and road markings for use in connection with the operation of tramcars: see the Traffic Signs Regulations and General Directions 2002, SI 2002/3113 (as amended).

1625. Application of the Road Traffic Acts.

The Road Traffic Act 1988<sup>1</sup> generally applies to tramcars<sup>2</sup>, but the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> may provide by regulations for certain provisions<sup>4</sup> of the Act not to apply, or to apply with modifications, to all tramcars or to tramcars of any specified class<sup>5</sup>. Such regulations may make different provision for different cases, may include transitional provisions and may make amendments to any local Act passed before 1 July 1992<sup>6</sup> which authorises or regulates the use of tramcars<sup>7</sup>.

A similar power to make regulations in relation to tramcars has been provided in respect of certain provisions<sup>8</sup> of the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988<sup>9</sup>.

The requirements imposed by the Road Traffic Act 1988 for the construction and condition of a motor vehicle to be examined, and for a test certificate to be issued on compliance with such examination, before the vehicle may be used on a road at any time do not apply to tramcars<sup>10</sup>. The further requirements imposed by the Act for regulating the use on roads of motor vehicles, their condition and equipment and the conditions under which they may be so used, do not apply to tramcars, either generally<sup>11</sup> or in particular regard to vehicle lighting<sup>12</sup>.

Provisions of the Road Traffic Act 1988 concerned with offences involving drink and drugs<sup>13</sup> (to the extent that otherwise they might do so) do not apply to vehicles on any transport system to which Chapter I of Part II of the Transport and Works Act 1992 applies<sup>14</sup>.

1626. Offences involving drink and drugs.

If a person works<sup>1</sup> on a transport system<sup>2</sup>:

2471 (1) as a driver, guard, conductor or signaller or in any other capacity in which he can control or affect the movement of a vehicle<sup>3</sup>; or

2472 (2) in a maintenance capacity<sup>4</sup> or as a supervisor of, or look out for, persons working in a maintenance capacity<sup>5</sup>, either: (a) when he is unfit to carry out that work<sup>6</sup> through drink or drugs<sup>7</sup>; or (b) after consuming so much alcohol that the proportion of it in his breath, blood or urine exceeds the prescribed limit<sup>8</sup>, he is guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>.

If a person commits such an offence, the responsible operator<sup>10</sup> is also guilty of an offence<sup>11</sup>. However, no offence is committed if the responsible operator has exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission on the transport system of any offence involving drink or drugs<sup>12</sup>.

If a person commits such an offence in the course of his employment with a person other than the responsible operator, his employer is (without prejudice to any liability of that operator<sup>13</sup>) also guilty of an offence<sup>14</sup>. However, no such offence is committed by the employer if he has exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission on the transport system by any of his employees of any offence involving drink or drugs<sup>15</sup>.

Further provision in respect of offences involving drink or drugs is made in connection with the power to arrest without warrant, the carrying out of breath tests, the provision of specimens for analysis, the choice of specimens for breath, the protection of hospital patients, and the provision of evidence in proceedings<sup>16</sup>.

1 It is immaterial whether a person who works on a transport system does so in the course of his employment, under a contract for services, voluntarily or otherwise: Transport and Works Act 1992 s 38(3). See EMPLOYMENT.

2 Ibid Pt II Ch I (ss 26-40) (as amended) applies to transport systems of the following kinds: a railway, a tramway, or a system which uses another mode of guided transport and is specified for the purposes of Pt II Ch I (as amended) by an order made by the Secretary of State: s 26(1). For the meaning of 'railway' see PARA 1537 note 2 ante; for the meaning of 'tramway' see PARA 1586 ante; for systems using other modes of guided transport so specified see PARA 1634 text and note 4 post. As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. 4 A person works on a transport system in a maintenance capacity: (1) if his work on the system involves maintenance, repair or alteration of: (a) the permanent way or other means of guiding or supporting vehicles; (b) signals or any other means of controlling the movement of vehicles; or (c) any means of supplying electricity to vehicles or to the means of guiding or supporting vehicles; or (2) if his work involves coupling or uncoupling vehicles or checking that they are working properly before they are used on any occasion: ibid s 27(3).

5 Ibid s 27(2)(a), (2)(b).

6 A person is taken to be unfit to carry out any work if his ability to carry out that work properly is for the time being impaired: ibid s 27(4).

7 'Drug' includes any intoxicant other than alcohol: ibid s 38(1).

8 For the meaning of 'prescribed limit' see ibid s 38(2); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 377.

10 'The responsible operator' means: (1) in a case where the transport system on which the offence under ibid s 27 is committed has only one operator, that operator; and (2) in a case where the transport system on which the offence under s 27 is committed has more than one operator, whichever of them is responsible for the work giving rise to the offence: s 28(2). For the meaning of 'operator' see PARA 1611 note 1 ante.

11 Ibid s 28(1). A person guilty of an offence under s 28 is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale, or to both: s 36(1).

Where an offence under Pt II (ss 26-59) (as amended) committed by a body corporate is committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, a director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body, or a person purporting to act in such a capacity, he as well as the body corporate is guilty of the offence: s 59(1). For this purpose, 'director', in relation to a body corporate whose affairs are managed by its members, means a member of the body corporate: s 59(2).

(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES

(i) Trolley Vehicles

1627. General position.

Trolley vehicles (also known as 'trolleybuses') first operated in passenger-carrying service in 1911<sup>1</sup>. A substantial number of systems were in operation during the mid decades of the twentieth century, some serving as a replacement for tramways. The mode of transport thereafter went into decline, with the last system closing in 1972<sup>2</sup>. There have been recent attempts to re-introduce the mode<sup>3</sup>.

It should be noted that a trolley vehicle system is not a guided form of transport, as the vehicles are steered manually from on board the vehicle. It should also be noted that with some designs of trolley vehicle, apart from receiving power from an external source to propel the vehicle, it may also be equipped with additional means of propulsion on board the vehicle<sup>4</sup>.

1 Separate trolley vehicle systems opened in Leeds and Bradford in that year.

2 This last system was in Bradford. A line operated on an experimental basis in Doncaster during the mid-1980s. Trolley vehicles continue to be operated in certain transport museums.

3 Notably in Liverpool, where in 1998 Merseyside Passenger Transport Executive applied for a transport and works order to operate trolley vehicles there. The application was later refused.

4 Eg electric batteries or an internal combustion engine. See PARA 1629 note 6 post (in reference to 'duobus'); and see PARA 1630 note 11 post (in reference to 'auxiliary trolley vehicle').

TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/(i) Trolley Vehicles/1628. Requirement for statutory authorisation.

1628. Requirement for statutory authorisation.

As with tramways, trolley vehicles require statutory authority if their apparatus is to be installed and operated in, under or over a public highway<sup>1</sup>. Statutory authority was usually secured by means of private Acts of Parliament although, as trolley vehicles have been provided with no legislative code of their own, these Acts incorporated, or otherwise applied, relevant provisions taken from the Tramways Act 1870<sup>2</sup>.

The Transport and Works Act 1992 now enables trolley vehicle systems to receive authorisation by means of orders made under that Act<sup>3</sup> in like manner to that appertaining to tramways<sup>4</sup>. However, no separate model clauses have been prescribed for trolley vehicle systems<sup>5</sup>, although many of those prescribed for tramways<sup>6</sup> should be capable of adaptation to meet the requirements of trolley vehicle operation.

2 See eg the West Yorkshire (Parking and Transport) Act 1982; and the South Yorkshire Passenger Transport Act 1986.

3 Transport and Works Act 1992 s 1(1)(c). 'Trolley vehicle system' means a system of transport by vehicles constructed or adapted for use on roads without rails under electric power transmitted to them by overhead wires (whether or not there is in addition a source of power on board the vehicles): s 67(1). TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/(i) Trolley Vehicles/1629. Application of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

1629. Application of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

The provisions of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984<sup>1</sup> in general apply to trolley vehicles<sup>2</sup>, but the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> may provide by regulations for certain provisions<sup>4</sup> of the Act not to apply, or to apply with modifications, to all trolley vehicles or to trolley vehicles of any specified class<sup>5</sup>. In exercise of this power, regulations have been made in respect of a specific class of trolley vehicle<sup>6</sup>. The power to make regulations also extends to making different provision for different cases, to including transitional provisions and to making such amendments to any local Act passed before 1 July 1992<sup>7</sup> as may authorise or regulate the use of trolley vehicles<sup>8</sup>. Regulations have been made pursuant to these powers<sup>9</sup>.

The exception under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 which allows owners or operators of tramways to put in place traffic signs on or near a road otherwise than in accordance with Part V of that Act<sup>10</sup> also applies to owners or operators of trolley vehicle undertakings<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 generally see PARA 718 et seq ante.

2 'Trolley vehicle' means a mechanically propelled vehicle adapted for use on roads without rails under power transmitted to it from some external source (whether or not there is in addition a source of power on board the vehicle): Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141A(4) (s 141A added by the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 46(1)).

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

4 The provisions concerned are the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 ss 1-11 (as amended) (see PARAS 742-753 ante), s 12 (repealed), s 13 (repealed) (general provisions for traffic regulation), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante) (temporary prohibition or restriction on roads), ss 16A-16C (as added) (see PARAS 759-762 ante) (prohibition or restriction on roads in connection with certain events), s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 766 ante) (one-way traffic on trunk roads), s 81 (see PARA 847 ante), ss 82-86 (as amended) (see PARAS 847-850 ante), ss 87-89 (see PARAS 854-856 ante) (speed limits): s 141A(1)(a), (2) (as added (see note 2 supra); and s 141A(2) amended by the Road Traffic Regulation (Special Events) Act 1994 s 3(1), Schedule para 4).

5 Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141A(3) (as added: see note 2 supra).

1434 (1) is adapted to operate under power provided from a source on board when it is not operating from power transmitted to it from some external source;

1435 (2) has a maximum speed when it is operating solely under power provided from a source on board which is at least:

3. (a) 75% of its maximum speed when it is operating solely under power transmitted to it from an external source; or

4. (b) 30 mph,

and 'maximum speed' means in relation to a source of power, the speed which the trolley vehicle is incapable, by reason of its construction, of exceeding on the level under that source of power when unladen: Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 2(1).

7 The date on which the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141A (as added) was brought into force: see the Road Traffic Act 1991 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions) Order 1992, SI 1992/1286.

9 See the Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, which in relation to trolley vehicles provide:

1438 (1) that, with modifications and subject to reg 11, the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 742 ante), s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 747 ante), s 9 (as amended) (see PARA 751 ante), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante) and s 18 (see PARA 766 ante) are to have effect, on and after 1 July 1992, so that trolley vehicles are exempt from any order or notice under any of those provisions (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 5);

1439 (2) that the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 applies without modification to duobuses (see note 6 supra) (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 11); and

1440 (3) that an order made before 1 July 1992 under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 742 ante), s 14 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 755 ante), s 18 (see PARA 766 ante) or s 84 (as amended) (see PARA 848 ante), or, as respects any road outside Greater London, under s 9 (as amended) (see PARA 751 ante), is not to apply to trolley vehicles (other than duobuses) (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 15), and that any such order has effect thereafter, in relation to duobuses, as if the provisions of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 141 (repealed) and the corresponding provisions of earlier enactments had never been passed (Tramcars and Trolley Vehicles (Modification of Enactments) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1217, reg 16).

TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/(i) Trolley Vehicles/1630. Application of the Road Traffic Acts.

1630. Application of the Road Traffic Acts.

The Road Traffic Act 1988<sup>1</sup> generally applies to trolley vehicles<sup>2</sup>, but the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> may provide by regulations for certain provisions<sup>4</sup> of the Act not to apply, or to apply with modifications, to all trolley vehicles or to trolley vehicles of any specified class<sup>5</sup>. In exercise of this power, regulations have been made in respect of a specific class of trolley vehicle<sup>6</sup>. The power to make regulations also extends to making different provision for different cases, to including transitional provisions and to making such amendments to any local Act passed before 1 July 1992<sup>7</sup> as may authorise or regulate the use of trolley vehicles<sup>8</sup>.

A similar power to make regulations in relation to trolley vehicles has been provided in respect of certain provisions<sup>9</sup> of the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988<sup>10</sup>.

The requirements imposed by the Road Traffic Act 1988 for the construction and condition of a motor vehicle to be examined, and for a test certificate to be issued on compliance with such examination, before the vehicle may be used on a road at any time do not apply to trolley vehicles<sup>11</sup>.

1 See PARAS 201-202, 219 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'trolley vehicle' see PARA 219 ante.

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/(i) Trolley Vehicles/1631. Application of other legislation.

1631. Application of other legislation.

Trolley vehicles are public service vehicles for the purposes of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981<sup>1</sup> and as public service vehicles the provisions of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 also apply to them<sup>2</sup>.

The provisions of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 as they relate to tramways<sup>3</sup> are, where appropriate, also applicable to trolley vehicle systems, as the definition of tramway contained in that Act<sup>4</sup> is wide enough to include trolley vehicle systems.

Part I of the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974<sup>5</sup> has been applied to trolley vehicle systems<sup>6</sup>. Chapter II of Part II of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>7</sup> does not apply to trolley vehicles, but the power of the Secretary of State to give directions as to insurance does so<sup>8</sup>. Several regulations concerned with safety and welfare matters in relation to tramways also apply to trolley vehicle systems<sup>9</sup>, whereas this is not the case with other such regulations<sup>10</sup>.

1 See the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 1 (as amended); and PARA 1136 ante. Under previous legislation (ie the Road Traffic Act 1960 s 117 (repealed)) trolley vehicles were not included.

2 See the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 s 40; and DISCRIMINATION vol 13 (2007 Reissue) PARA 635 (power to make regulations in respect of public service vehicles). In exercise of this power, the Public Service Vehicles Accessibility Regulations 2000, SI 2000/1970 (amended by SI 2000/3318; SI 2002/2981; SI 2003/1818; SI 2005/2988; SI 2007/500), have been made: see DISCRIMINATION vol 13 (2007 Reissue) PARA 635.

3 See PARA 1598 et seq ante.

4 See PARA 1598 note 5 ante.

5 The Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 Pt I (ss 1-54) (as amended) is concerned with health, safety and welfare in connection with work: see further PARAS 1615-1616 ante.

6 See the Railways Act 1993 s 117(6)(a); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 194. For the meaning of 'trolley vehicle system' see PARA 1628 note 3 ante. See further PARA 1616 ante.

TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/ (ii) Guided Transport Modes/1632. Position under the Transport and Works Act 1992.

(ii) Guided Transport Modes

1632. Position under the Transport and Works Act 1992.

Prior to the Transport and Works Act 1992, statutory recognition of systems of guided transport apart from railways and tramways was extremely limited. If statutory authority was sought for a system of this nature, promoters had to rely on the private Bill procedure to secure such authority, but others have relied on traffic regulation powers<sup>1</sup>. The Transport and Works Act 1992 has classified such systems and made provision for them to obtain authority for their construction or operation (or ancillary matters) by means of an order made under that Act<sup>2</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> is empowered to prescribe modes of guided transport<sup>4</sup> for this purpose<sup>5</sup> and an order has been made to this effect<sup>6</sup>.

1 Eg a guided bus scheme in Leeds has relied for its operation on a traffic regulation order made under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 s 1 (see PARA 742 ante).

2 Transport and Works Act 1992 s 1(1)(d). As to the making of such orders see PARAS 1585-1586, 1588 ante.

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'guided transport' see PARA 1586 note 8 ante.

5 Transport and Works Act 1992 s 2(1). As to parliamentary control over the making of such orders see PARA 1586 note 9 ante.

6 See the Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231 (as amended); and PARA 1633 post.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/18. TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/ (ii) Guided Transport Modes/1633. Prescribed modes of guided transport.

1633. Prescribed modes of guided transport.

The modes of guided transport prescribed by order in pursuance of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>1</sup> are modes which employ vehicles used for the carriage of passengers or goods<sup>2</sup> and which belong to the following systems:

- 2473 (1) aerial cableway<sup>3</sup>;
- 2474 (2) lift<sup>4</sup>;
- 2475 (3) magnetic levitation<sup>5</sup>;
- 2476 (4) monorail<sup>6</sup>;
- 2477 (5) road-based with cable guidance<sup>7</sup>;
- 2478 (6) road-based with rail guidance<sup>8</sup>;
- 2479 (7) road-based with side guidance<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2480 (8) track-based with side guidance<sup>10</sup>.

1 See PARA 1632 ante.

2 Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231, art 3(2) (amended by SI 1997/1951). 'Goods' includes mail, parcels, animals, plants and any other creature, substance or thing capable of being transported, but does not include passengers: Railways Act 1993 s 83; definition applied by the Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231, art 3(2) (amended by SI 1997/1951).

3 'Aerial cableway' means a mode in which the vehicles are supported and guided by means of a cable, but does not include a funicular railway or a lift: Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231, art 3(1). A 'funicular railway' falls within the definition of 'railway' contained in the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 67(1) (see PARA 1537 note 2 ante). As to railways see further RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES.

4 'Lift' means a mode in which the vehicle: (1) is moved wholly or partly between guides which are vertical or inclined at an angle of less than 15 degrees to the vertical; and (2) provides direct access at more than one level to a street: Transport and Works (Guided Transport Modes) Order 1992, SI 1992/3231, art 3(1). Beyond the angle of inclination specified in head (1) supra, the lift becomes a funicular railway for the purposes of the order: see note 3 supra. The reference to 'street' in head (2) supra indicates that the concern is with lifts operating in outside locations, as between cliff top and beach.

5 'Magnetic levitation' means a mode in which the vehicles are supported and guided wholly or mainly by means of magnetic force: ibid art 3(1).

6 'Monorail' means a mode in which the vehicles are supported and guided wholly or mainly by means of a single rail or beam: ibid art 3(1).

7 'Road-based with cable guidance' means a mode in which the vehicles: (1) are capable of operating on a road; and (2) are guided wholly or mainly by means of a cable, wire or other device which is not in direct physical contact with the vehicles: ibid art 3(1). For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante; definition applied by art 3(2).

Examples of this mode have been employed in the Channel Tunnel (in the service tunnel).

8 'Road-based with rail guidance' means a mode in which the vehicles: (1) are capable of operating on a road; and (2) are guided wholly or mainly by a single rail or slot: ibid art 3(1).

9 'Road-based with side guidance' means a mode in which the vehicles: (1) are capable of operating on a road; and (2) are guided wholly or mainly by means of wheels bearing outwards against fixed apparatus: ibid art 3(1). The guided bus, which has been employed in Birmingham, Leeds and Ipswich, is an example of this mode.

10 'Track-based with side guidance' means a mode in which the vehicles: (1) are supported by means of a track or other structure not being a road; and (2) are guided wholly or mainly by means of wheels bearing outwards against fixed apparatus: ibid art 3(1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/18. TRAMWAYS/(6) TROLLEY VEHICLES AND OTHER GUIDED TRANSPORT MODES/ (ii) Guided Transport Modes/1634. Application of other legislation.

1634. Application of other legislation.

The Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981, the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 and the Road Traffic Act 1988 make no express mention of modes of guided transport (apart from railways and tramways). If, however, any vehicle from a guided system was able to operate on a public road (with or without its means of guidance) that vehicle would become subject, where appropriate, to the provisions of those Acts. Indeed, at least one of the modes currently does so operate<sup>1</sup>. The drink and drugs provisions of the Transport and Works Act 1992<sup>2</sup> apply to modes of guided transport if the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> so specifies by order<sup>4</sup>. The power for the Secretary of State to give directions as to insurance under that Act also applies<sup>5</sup>. Rail vehicles, for the purposes of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995, include vehicles constructed or adapted to carry passengers on a prescribed mode of guided transport and so to that extent the Act applies to them<sup>6</sup>.

Part I of the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974<sup>7</sup> has been extended to apply to modes of guided transport, additional to railways and tramways<sup>8</sup>, and certain regulations of a safety or welfare character also apply to such modes<sup>9</sup>. Those modes which are capable of operating in a street would appear to fall within the definition of 'tramway' in the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991<sup>10</sup> and, in so far as they do, that Act, where appropriate, will therefore apply to them.

If a vehicle<sup>11</sup> of a system uses or intends to use a mode of guided transport<sup>12</sup> which employs an electric line<sup>13</sup> installed or to be installed above ground, the consent of the Secretary of State<sup>14</sup> is required to such installation unless the mode of guided transport has been authorised by or under statute<sup>15</sup>.

1 The mode is road-based with side guidance: see PARAS 1633 text and note 9, 1632 note 1 ante.

2 See PARA 1626 ante.

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARAS 236, 1539 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

4 Transport and Works Act 1992 s 26(1)(c). The power to make orders is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 26(3). For an order so made see the Transport (Guided Systems) Order 1992, SI 1992/2044 (amended by SI 2005/2290), which relates to a track-based system with side guidance at Birmingham Airport, Gatwick Airport and Stansted Airport, and a monorail system at Merry Hill, Dudley.

5 Transport and Works Act 1992 s 46: see PARA 1622 ante.

6 See the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 s 46(6), (7); and DISCRIMINATION vol 13 (2007 Reissue) PARA 617. The Act adopts the definition of 'guided transport' in the Transport and Works Act 1992 s 67(1) (see PARAS 1586 note 8, 1633 ante). Regulations have been made under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 which apply the Act to monorail systems, magnetic levitation systems and systems which are track-based with side guidance: see the Rail Vehicle Accessibility Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2456, reg 3(1) (amended by SI 2000/3215); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 261. In certain circumstances, where a vehicle of a system of guided transport operates on a public road, and where it otherwise meets the requirements of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 s 40(5), the Public Service Vehicles Accessibility Regulations 2000, SI 2000/1970 (amended by SI 2000/3318; SI 2002/2981; SI 2003/1818; SI 2005/2988; SI 2007/500) apply: see DISCRIMINATION vol 13 (2007 Reissue) PARA 635.

7 The Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 Pt I (ss 1-54) (as amended) is concerned with health, safety and welfare in connection with work: see further PARAS 1615-1616 ante; and HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 52 (2009) PARAS 302 et seq, 420 et seq.

8 See the Railways Act 1993 s 117(6)(b); and RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 194. For the meaning of 'guided transport' see PARA 1586 note 8 ante; definition applied by s 117(7).

9 The Railways and Other Transport Systems (Approval of Works, Plant and Equipment) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/157 (revoked; but continuing in force up to and including 1 October 2008 for certain purposes: see the Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, regs 29, 34, Sch 7) apply to the following modes: (1) magnetic levitation; (2) monorail; (3) road-based with cable guidance; (4) road-based with rail guidance; (5) road-based with side guidance; and (6) track-based with side guidance: Railways and Other Transport Systems (Approval of Works, Plant and Equipment) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/157, reg 3, Sch 1. See RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 204.

The Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 1995, SI 1995/3163 (as amended) apply to the modes listed in heads (1)-(6) supra: see reg 2(1). See HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK 52 (2009) PARA 399 et seq.

The Noise Insulation (Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/428, apply to the modes listed in heads (1)-(6) supra, save that they have to be provided or used in the exercise of statutory powers: reg 3(1)(c), Sch 2. See RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 299.

The Railway Safety (Miscellaneous Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/553, apply to the modes listed in heads (1)-(6) supra: reg 2(1). See RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) PARA 267 et seq.

The Railways and Other Guided Transport Systems (Safety) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/599, apply to a railway, a tramway and certain other systems using guided transport where that other system is used wholly or mainly for the carriage of passengers: see reg 2(1); and PARA 1619 ante.

19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC

1635. Introduction.

This part of the title deals with the law applicable to international road traffic, that is to say, foreign visiting vehicles<sup>1</sup> and domestic vehicles<sup>2</sup> engaged in such traffic; it includes the requirements of European Union law which form part of English law, but only in so far as applicable to international road traffic<sup>3</sup>.

There are two types of provisions applicable to international road traffic:

- 2481 (1) exceptions for foreign visiting vehicles from the provisions of road traffic and transport legislation<sup>4</sup>; and
- 2482 (2) special provisions applying only to international transport operations<sup>5</sup>.

1 I.e. a vehicle brought temporarily into Great Britain by a person resident outside the United Kingdom: see the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Act 1952 s 1(1)(b); and PARA 1636 post. See also the definitions of 'foreign goods vehicle' and 'foreign public service vehicle' in the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(1): see PARA 1643 post. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 224 note 5 ante; and for the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 205 note 3 ante.

A person resides where he lives, and a temporary absence is immaterial provided there is an intention to return and a house or lodging to which to return: see R v St Leonard's, Shoreditch Inhabitants (1865) LR 1 QB 21; R v Glossop Union (1866) LR 1 QB 227. The word 'reside' implies a degree of permanence (Levene v IRC [1928] AC 217 at 222-223, HL, per Viscount Cave LC; Fox v Stirk [1970] 2 QB 463 at 477, [1970] 3 All ER 7 at 13, CA, per Widgery LJ; Brokelmann v Barr [1971] 2 QB 602, [1971] 3 All ER 29), but a person may be resident in more than one place at the same time (Levene v IRC supra; Langford Property Co Ltd v Tureman [1949] 1 KB 29, sub nom Langford Property Co Ltd v Athanassoglou [1948] 2 All ER 722, CA; Herbert v Byrne [1964] 1 All ER 882, [1964] 1 WLR 519, CA; cf Beck v Scholz [1953] 1 QB 570, [1953] 1 All ER 814, CA). Whether a person is resident in a particular place and whether that residence is permanent are questions of fact and degree and it is possible to be resident in accommodation such as a tent or a vehicle; moreover the legality or lawfulness or otherwise of the residence is not generally a relevant consideration: see Hipperson v Electoral Registration Officer for the District of Newbury [1985] QB 1060, [1985] 2 All ER 456, CA.

2 le vehicles driven by persons resident in the United Kingdom.

3 European Union law applicable to domestic road traffic is addressed in the context of the various subjects as it arises during this title.

(2) INTERNATIONAL CIRCULATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES

1636. Statutory provisions.

For the purpose of enabling effect to be given to any international agreement for the time being in force in respect of the United Kingdom<sup>1</sup>, Her Majesty may by Order in Council<sup>2</sup> provide<sup>3</sup>: (1) for the grant and authentication of any passes, certificates or other documents relating to vehicles or the drivers of vehicles which may be required for purposes of travel abroad by persons resident in the United Kingdom<sup>4</sup>; and (2) for modifying<sup>5</sup> in relation to vehicles brought temporarily into Great Britain<sup>6</sup> by persons resident outside the United Kingdom, and in relation to persons so resident who are temporarily in Great Britain<sup>7</sup>, any enactment<sup>8</sup> relating to vehicles or the drivers of vehicles<sup>9</sup>.

Effect has been given under this power<sup>10</sup> to certain provisions of the International Convention relative to Motor Traffic<sup>11</sup>, the Convention on Road Traffic of 1949<sup>12</sup>, the Convention on the Taxation of Road Vehicles for Private Use in International Traffic of 1956<sup>13</sup>, the Convention on the Taxation of Road Vehicles engaged in International Passenger Traffic of 1956<sup>14</sup>, the Convention on the Taxation of Road Vehicles engaged in International Goods Transport of 1956<sup>15</sup>, the Agreement regarding the Status of Forces of Parties to the North Atlantic Treaty<sup>16</sup>, the Decision of the Council of the Organisation for European Economic Co-operation relating to identification marks for hired chauffeur-driven vehicles going abroad from the United Kingdom and coming to Great Britain from abroad<sup>17</sup>, and the Convention on Road Traffic of 1968<sup>18</sup>.

For the meanings of 'certificate of insurance' and 'certificate of security' see PARA 947 ante; definitions applied by reg 3; Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). 'Insurance card' means an international motor insurance card issued under the authority of a Foreign Bureau or the British Bureau, which is green and sets out certain specified particulars: Motor Vehicles (International Motor Insurance Card) Regulations 1971, SI 1971/792, reg 3(1) (definition substituted by SI 1977/895); definition applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 3.

11 'Visitor's registration document' means: (1) in the case of a vehicle registered in a country outside the United Kingdom, a registration certificate issued under the law of any country in respect of which a nationality sign (see note 13 infra) has been assigned in, or notified to the Secretary General of the United Nations under, the International Convention relative to Motor Traffic (Paris, 24 April 1926; TS 11 (1930); Cmd 3510) or the Convention on Road Traffic (Vienna, 8 November 1968; Misc 14 (1969); Cmd 4032) whether or not that country is a party to any of the said Conventions and containing a registration mark, the name or the trade mark of the maker of the vehicle, the maker's identification or serial number, the date of its registration and the full name and permanent place of residence of the applicant for the said certificate; (2) a certificate in Form D of the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 1, Sch 1 (as amended) (see PARA 1637 ante), issued under the law of a country outside the United Kingdom which is a party to the International Convention relative to Motor Traffic (Paris, 24 April 1926; TS 11 (1930); Cmd 3510); or (3) in the case of a vehicle registered in accordance with the registration system of the British Authorities in Germany or the United States Authorities in Germany, a registration certificate specifying the registration letter and number allotted to the vehicle under the system: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 3.

13 See ibid reg 5, which is expressed to be subject to reg 8(5). The registration mark assigned to a visiting vehicle, being an exempted vehicle, is: (1) in the case of a vehicle in respect of which there has been issued and there is held by the driver a visitor's registration document recording a registration mark which consists of no letters or numerals other than Roman letters or ordinary European numerals or both, that mark; and (2) in any other case: (a) either the Northern Ireland registration mark; or (b) the letters in the group QA-QY and a number assigned by the registration authority: reg 5. The registration mark must be displayed on the vehicle (see reg 8(1)), and a nationality sign must be exhibited at the back (see reg 8(2)). 'Nationality sign' means a sign bearing the distinctive letters for the country of origin specified under the International Convention relative to Motor Traffic (Paris, 24 April 1926; TS 11 (1930); Cmd 3510) Annex C; the Convention on Road Traffic (Geneva, 19 September 1949; TS 49 (1958); Cmd 578) Annex 4; or the Convention on Road Traffic (Vienna, 8 November 1968; Misc 14 (1969), Cmd 4032) Annex C: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 3. Registration marks and nationality signs must also be shown by trailers towed by visiting vehicles: see reg 8(3), (4). A registration mark issued by a registration authority under reg 5 becomes void when relief from customs duty ceases to be afforded in respect of the vehicle under the provisions referred to in the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 5(2) (as substituted): Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 8(5).

14 See ibid reg 6. Where a registration authority assigns a registration mark to a visiting vehicle under reg 5(b)(ii) (see note 13 head (2)(b) supra), it must issue a registration card to the person who brought the vehicle into Great Britain: see reg 6(1). Where the registration card has been lost, stolen, mutilated or otherwise defaced a duplicate can be applied for: see the Road Vehicles (Registration and Licensing) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2742, reg 8; applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 6(2)(a); and see the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). The registration card must be produced if the registration authority so requires: see the Road Vehicles (Registration and Licensing) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2742, reg 12; applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Regulations 1985, SI 1985/610, reg 6(2)(b). Where such a vehicle is sold, transferred, removed to a country outside the United Kingdom or destroyed, then the holder of the registration card must surrender it and give the name and address of the new owner where appropriate: reg 6(3). Surrendered cards must be sent to the Secretary of State by other registration authorities: reg 6(4).

15 See ibid reg 9(1). When a registration authority assigns a registration mark under reg 5(b)(ii) (see note 13 head (2)(b) supra), it must record: (1) the name of the applicant and his address in the United Kingdom, and his home address if available; (2) the make, and chassis number or engine number of the vehicle; (3) the registration mark assigned and the date and place of assignment; and (4) (if available) the date and place of entry of the vehicle into the United Kingdom: reg 9(1).

16 See ibid reg 9(2)-(5). The particulars recorded (see note 15 supra) must be forwarded to the Secretary of State by other registration authorities: reg 9(2). The Secretary of State must preserve these records and any records made by himself for not less than two years (reg 9(3), (4)), and furnish particulars to prescribed authorities and, on payment of a fee, furnish the name and address shown in respect of any registration mark to any person showing reasonable cause (reg 9(5)).

1639. Visitors' driving permits.

Anyone<sup>1</sup> resident outside the United Kingdom who holds: (1) a Convention driving permit<sup>2</sup>; or (2) a domestic driving permit<sup>3</sup> issued in a country outside the United Kingdom<sup>4</sup> may, for 12 months following his last date of entry into the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>, drive, and any person may cause or permit such a person to drive, in Great Britain, a motor vehicle of any class other than a medium-sized goods vehicle<sup>6</sup>, a large goods vehicle<sup>7</sup>, a privately-operated passenger vehicle<sup>8</sup> or a passenger-carrying vehicle<sup>9</sup> which that permit or licence authorises him to drive, despite the fact that he does not hold a British driving licence<sup>10</sup>.

During a like period such a person<sup>11</sup> may also drive, and any person may cause or permit such a person to drive, in Great Britain: (a) in the case of any such person who is resident in an EEA State, the Isle of Man, Jersey or Guernsey, a medium-sized goods vehicle, a large goods vehicle, a privately-operated passenger vehicle or a passenger-carrying vehicle; and (b) in the case of any other such person, a medium-sized goods vehicle, a large goods vehicle, a privately-operated passenger vehicle or a passenger-carrying vehicle brought temporarily into Great Britain, which he is authorised by that permit to drive, notwithstanding that he is not the holder of a medium-sized goods vehicle driver's licence<sup>12</sup>, a large goods vehicle driver's licence<sup>13</sup>, a privately-operated passenger vehicle driver's licence<sup>14</sup> or a passenger-carrying vehicle driver's licence<sup>15</sup>.

1 This does not include a person who is disqualified for driving by reason of his age under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 101 (as amended) (see PARA 478 ante) or by reason of any conviction or court order under Pt III (ss 87-109) (as amended) (see PARA 442 et seq ante): see the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(4), (5) (art 2 substituted by SI 1989/993; and the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(4) amended by SI 1989/993; SI 1996/1929; SI 1996/1974). In the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 101 (as amended) (persons under age) the minimum age for driving is reduced from 21 to 18 in the case of a person resident outside the United Kingdom who is temporarily in Great Britain who is driving a vehicle which: (1) in the case of a person not resident in an EEA state, the Isle of Man, Jersey or Guernsey, is brought temporarily into Great Britain; (2) is within a class specified in s 101, Table item 7 (as substituted) (see PARA 478 ante); and (3) is either a vehicle registered in a Convention country or a goods vehicle in respect of which that person holds a certificate of competence which satisfies the international requirements: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(4) (as so substituted and amended; and further amended by SI 2004/1992). 'Convention country' means a country which is not an EEA state nor a party to the European Agreement concerning the Work of Crews of Vehicles engaged in International Road Transport (Geneva, 1 July 1970 1971; TS 103 (1978); Cmnd 7401) ('AETR'), but is a party to the Convention on Road Traffic (Geneva, 19 September 1949; TS 49 (1958); Cmnd 578) or the International Convention relative to Motor Traffic (Paris, 24 April 1926; TS 11 (1930); Cmd 3510): Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(4) (as so substituted). 'The international requirements' means: (a) in relation to a person who is driving a goods vehicle on a journey to which EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport applies, the requirements of art 5(1)(b) (conditions to be fulfilled by drivers) that Regulation; and (b) in relation to a person who is driving a goods vehicle on a journey to which the AETR applies, the requirements of art 5(1)(b) (conditions to be fulfilled by drivers) of that Agreement: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(4) (as so substituted and amended). As to the repeal by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) of EEC Council Regulation 3820/85 (OJ L370, 31.12.85, p 1) and the continued application of art 5(1) see PARA 1380 note 1 ante.

'EEA state' means a state which is a contracting party to the EEA Agreement; and 'EEA Agreement' means the Agreement on the European Economic Area signed at Oporto on 2 May 1992 as adjusted by the Protocol signed at Brussels on 17 March 1993: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definitions added by SI 1996/1974). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 224 note 5 ante; and for the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 205 note 3 ante.

In the event of a conviction of a person driving on a driving permit resulting in disqualification or endorsement, the court must send particulars to the Secretary of State: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 4, Sch 3 para 2(1). The court must not enter any particulars in a driving permit: Sch 3 para 2(2). In the event of a permit holder being disqualified, the court may require him to produce the permit within five days or such longer period as it may determine, and the court must then forward it to the Secretary of State: Sch 3 para 3(1). The Secretary of State must retain it until the disqualification ends or the holder leaves Great Britain, whichever is earlier, and send the holder's name and address with particulars of the disqualification to the authority which issued the permit, recording those particulars on the permit if it is a Convention driving permit: Sch 3 para 3(2) (substituted by SI 1989/993). Failure to produce a permit when so required is an offence, and is treated as an offence under the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 s 27(3) (as amended) (see PARA 1047 ante): Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, Sch 3 para 3(3); Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). Where a disqualification is removed under the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 s 42(2) (see PARA 1078 ante), particulars must be forwarded to the Secretary of State if particulars of the disqualification were forwarded to him, and he must enter particulars of the order removing the disqualification on the permit if the disqualification was so entered, send particulars of the order to the authority which issued the permit and return the permit to the holder: see the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, Sch 3 para 4 (amended by SI 1989/993).

In the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 164(1), (2), (6), (8) (as amended) (production of driving licence etc: see PARA 647 ante) and s 173(1), (2) (as amended) (driving licence offences: see PARA 1012 ante), references to a driving licence include references to a driving permit: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, Sch 3 para 5; Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). 'Driving permit' for these purposes, means a driving permit which by virtue of the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208 (as amended) authorises a person to drive a motor vehicle without holding a driving licence under the Road Traffic Act 1988 Pt III (as amended): Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, Sch 3 para 1; Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2). 'Convention driving permit' has the meaning given in note 2 infra: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, Sch 3 para 1 (amended by SI 1989/993).

2 Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(1)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). 'Convention driving permit' means a driving permit in Form A or B (see art 1, Sch 1 (as amended); and PARA 1637 ante), issued under the authority of a country outside the United Kingdom to a person who has given proof of his competence to drive: see art 2(7) (as substituted (see note 1 supra); and amended by SI 1996/1929). As from a day to be appointed by notice in the London Gazette, the definition of 'Convention driving permit' will also include a driving permit in Form C (see the Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, Sch 1; and PARA 1637 note 17 ante) and the requirement as to proof of competence to drive is omitted: art 2(7) (definition substituted by SI 1989/993). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

3 'Domestic driving permit' means a document issued under the law of a country outside the United Kingdom to a person who has given proof of his competence to drive and authorising the holder to drive motor vehicles or a specified class of motor vehicles in that country, and includes a driving permit issued to such a person by the armed forces of any such country for use in some other such country but does not include a Community licence (within the meaning of the Road Traffic Act 1988 Pt III (as amended) (see PARA 415 note 16 ante): Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

4 Ibid art 2(1)(b) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

5 This period applies provided the permit or licence is still valid: see ibid art 2(8) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

6 For the meaning of 'medium-sized goods vehicle' see PARA 474 note 4; definition applied by ibid art 2(7) (amended by SI 2004/1992).

7 For the meaning of 'large goods vehicle' see PARA 489 note 5 ante; definition applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 1991/771).

8 'Privately-operated passenger vehicle' means a vehicle, not used for carrying passengers for hire or reward, which is constructed or adapted to carry more than eight but not more than 16 passengers: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 2004/1992).

9 For the meaning of 'passenger-carrying vehicle' see PARA 489 note 6 ante; definition applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 1991/771).

10 Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(1) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). A British driving licence is one issued under the Road Traffic Act 1988 Pt III (as amended): see PARA 442 et seq ante. The Secretary of State for Transport may by order contained in a statutory instrument withdraw one or both of the rights conferred by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(1)(b), (2)(b) (as substituted), either in the case of all domestic driving permits, or in the case of such permits of a description specified in the order or held by such persons of a description so specified: art 2(6) (substituted by SI 2004/1992). It is not a breach of provisions of the Treaty Establishing the European Community (EEC Treaty) (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179) relating to free movement of workers, freedom of establishment or supply of services for a member state to require citizens of another state to have a driving licence of the state in which they are resident: Case 16/78 Re Choquet [1978] ECR 2293, ECJ.

11 I.e. a person holding a Convention driving permit or a domestic driving permit issued in a country outside the United Kingdom: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(2) (substituted by SI 2004/1992).

12 'Medium-sized goods vehicle driver's licence' means a licence under the Road Traffic Act 1998 Pt III (as amended) in so far as it authorises a person to drive medium sized goods vehicles of any class: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 2004/1992).

13 For the meaning of 'large goods vehicle driver's licence' see PARA 490 note 6 ante; definition applied by the Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 1991/771).

14 'Privately-operated passenger vehicle driver's licence' means a licence under the Road Traffic Act 1988 Pt III (as amended) in so far as it authorises a person to drive privately-operated passenger vehicles of any class: Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(7) (definition added by SI 2004/1992).

15 Motor Vehicles (International Circulation) Order 1975, SI 1975/1208, art 2(2) (as substituted: see note 11 supra). For the meaning of 'passenger-carrying vehicle driver's licence' see PARA 490 note 7 ante; definition applied by art 2(7) (definition added by SI 1991/771).

1641. Visiting forces and international headquarters.

Certain provisions of the road traffic legislation do not apply in relation to persons or vehicles in the service of a visiting force<sup>1</sup> or of a headquarters<sup>2</sup>. A visiting force or headquarters, members of such a force or headquarters, persons employed in the service of such a force, and property used for the purposes of such a force or headquarters are exempt from the operation of specified road traffic enactments<sup>3</sup> to the extent that, by virtue of the rule of law by which enactments do not bind the Crown<sup>4</sup>, such a force or headquarters, such members, such persons or such property would be so exempt if the force or headquarters were part of any of the home forces<sup>5</sup>. Except as stated above, the road traffic legislation applies to any such person or vehicle.

1 'Visiting force' means any body, contingent or detachment of the forces of a country, being a body, contingent or detachment for the time being present in the United Kingdom (including United Kingdom territorial waters), or in any place on, under or above an installation in a designated area within the meaning of the Continental Shelf Act 1964 s 1(7) (see INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS LAW vol 61 (2010) PARA 172) or any waters within 500 metres of such an installation, on the invitation of Her Majesty's government in the United Kingdom: see the Visiting Forces Act 1952 s 12(1) (as amended), s 12(1A) (as added); and ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) PARA 140.

Certain persons or indorsements mentioned in these paragraphs are specified for the purposes of Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 37, Schs 5, 6 (meaning of 'regulator' for the purposes of imposing civil sanctions): see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 196A.

INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(5) CONTROL OF FOREIGN VEHICLES/1643. Foreign goods vehicles and foreign public service vehicles.

(5) CONTROL OF FOREIGN VEHICLES

1643. Foreign goods vehicles and foreign public service vehicles.

'Foreign goods vehicle' means a goods vehicle<sup>1</sup> which has been brought into Great Britain<sup>2</sup> and which, if a motor vehicle, is not registered in the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup> or, if a trailer, is drawn by a motor vehicle not registered in the United Kingdom which has been brought into Great Britain<sup>4</sup>.

'Foreign public service vehicle' means a public service vehicle<sup>5</sup> which has been brought into Great Britain and is not registered in the United Kingdom<sup>6</sup>.

A motor vehicle which does not for the time being have exhibited on it a licence or trade plates<sup>7</sup> is presumed, unless the contrary is proved, not to be registered in the United Kingdom<sup>8</sup>. Where a motor vehicle is presumed not to be registered in the United Kingdom, but is subsequently proved to have been so registered, anything which has been done in relation to the vehicle, or in relation to a trailer drawn by it, by a person relying in good faith on that presumption and purporting to act by virtue of any of the statutory provisions<sup>9</sup>, which would have been lawfully done by virtue of the above provision if the vehicle had not been registered in the United Kingdom<sup>10</sup>, is to be treated as having been lawfully done by virtue of that provision<sup>11</sup>.

1 'Goods vehicle' means a motor vehicle constructed or adapted for use for the carriage or haulage of goods or burden of any description, or a trailer so constructed or adapted: Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(1).

2 For the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 205 note 3 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 224 note 5 ante.

4 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(1).

9 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(5)(a). The provisions referred to in the text are the provisions of the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972.

10 Ibid s 7(5)(b).

11 Ibid s 7(5).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131; VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(5) CONTROL OF FOREIGN VEHICLES/1644. Prohibition on driving foreign vehicles.

1644. Prohibition on driving foreign vehicles.

Where, in relation to any foreign goods vehicle<sup>1</sup> or foreign public service vehicle<sup>2</sup> or its driver<sup>3</sup>, an examiner<sup>4</sup> or authorised inspector<sup>5</sup> exercises specified functions<sup>6</sup> and the driver obstructs<sup>7</sup> the examiner or inspector in the exercise of his functions, or refuses, neglects<sup>8</sup> or otherwise fails to comply with any requirement made by him, the examiner or inspector may prohibit the driving of the vehicle on a road<sup>9</sup> either absolutely or for a specified purpose and either for a specified period or without any limitation of time<sup>10</sup>.

The examiner or inspector may also similarly prohibit the driving of a vehicle if it appears to him that, in relation to the vehicle or its driver, there has been a contravention, or that there will be a contravention if the vehicle is driven on a road, of certain provisions<sup>11</sup>.

Where, in relation to any foreign goods vehicle or foreign public service vehicle, an authorised person<sup>12</sup> exercises any functions under statutory provisions as to the weighing of vehicles<sup>13</sup>, and the driver obstructs that person in the exercise of his functions or refuses, neglects or otherwise fails to comply with any requirement made by him under those provisions<sup>14</sup>, or it appears to the authorised person that any limit of weight applicable to the vehicle<sup>15</sup> has been exceeded, or will be exceeded if the vehicle is driven on a road<sup>16</sup>, the authorised person may prohibit the driving of the vehicle on a road, either absolutely or for a specified purpose<sup>17</sup>.

Where an examiner, authorised inspector or authorised person prohibits the driving of a vehicle, he may also direct the driver to remove the vehicle (and, if it is drawing a trailer, also to remove the trailer) to such place and subject to such conditions as are specified in the direction<sup>18</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'foreign goods vehicle' see PARA 1643 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'foreign public service vehicle' see PARA 1643 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'driver' see PARA 207 ante. Any reference to driving a vehicle is, in relation to a trailer, to be construed as a reference to driving the motor vehicle by which the trailer is drawn: Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(2). See further PARA 210 ante.

4 'Examiner' means an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante) or a constable authorised to act for the purposes of the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 by or on behalf of a chief officer of police: s 7(1) (definition amended by the Road Traffic 1991 s 48, Sch 4 para 8(a)). As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq. As to chief officers of police see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARAS 165, 178 et seq.

5 As from a day to be appointed the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 is prospectively amended by the Transport Act 1982 s 10(4) so as to include a reference to an authorised inspector where there is a reference to an examiner. At the date at which this volume states the law these amendments had not been brought into force. References to an authorised inspector are references to a person authorised by the Secretary of State under the Transport Act 1982 s 8 (as amended) (see PARA 699 ante), to exercise the function to which s 8 (as amended) relates: Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 7(1A) (prospectively added by the Transport Act 1982 s 74, Sch 5 para 17).

6 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(1)(a) (amended by the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 22(1), (2); the Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 13(1)). As to the prospective amendment made by the Transport Act 1982 s 10(4) see note 5 supra. The specified functions are: (1) inspecting and copying records and other documents required to be carried on goods vehicles and public service vehicles (ie under the Transport Act 1968 s 99 (as amended) (see PARA 1426 ante)); (2) testing the condition of motor vehicles on roads (ie under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 67 (see PARA 684 ante)); (3) inspecting vehicles to secure proper maintenance (ie under s 68 (as amended) (see PARA 686 ante)); (4) requiring the production of, and inspecting, copying and marking documents required to be carried on certain passenger vehicles (ie under the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 16 (see PARA 1650 post)); (5) requiring the production of a certain document which is required to be kept on board certain passenger vehicles (ie under EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) on common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus, art 3 (as amended)); and (6) requiring the production of certain documents which are required to be kept on board certain passenger vehicles (ie under the Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 7 (see PARA 1656 post)); Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(1)(a) (as so amended); Sch 1 (amended by the Road Traffic (Consequential Provisions) Act 1988 s 4, Sch 3 para 9(4); the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 83, Sch 8; the Passenger and Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/1746, reg 3(9); the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 22; the Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 13(2); the Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 10(1)(a); the Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) (Modification of the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1415, reg 2(1), (2); and the Goods Vehicles (Recording Equipment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1904, reg 9).

7 Obstruction may amount to behaviour which is not violent but makes the task of the examiner or inspector more difficult: see Hinchcliffe v Sheldon [1955] 3 All ER 406, [1955] 1 WLR 1207, DC.

8 This implies failure to perform a duty of which the person knows or ought to know: see Re Hughes, Rea v Black [1943] Ch 296, [1943] 2 All ER 269.

9 For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante. For prohibitions on vehicles see PARA 1645 post.

As to the prospective amendment made by the Transport Act 1982 s 10(4) see note 5 supra. In performing his functions the examiner or inspector must act in accordance with any general directions given by the Secretary of State: Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 2(4)). As to the prospective amendment made by the Transport Act 1982 s 10(4) see note 5 supra. The Secretary of State may give information about vehicles or persons obtained from tests or inspections carried out under the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1 (as amended) to the competent authorities in other member states: see the Road Vehicles (Testing) (Disclosure of Information) (Great Britain) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2426.

11 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(2)(b)). As to the prospective amendment made by the Transport Act 1982 s 10(4) see note 5 supra. The provisions referred to are those: (1) requiring users of certain goods vehicles, unless exempted, to hold operators' licences (ie under the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 2 (see PARA 1329 ante)); (2) requiring goods vehicles to be identified by plates, marks etc (ie under regulations made under s 57(2)(d) (see PARA 1321 ante)); (3) limiting driving time and periods of duty of drivers of goods vehicles and public service vehicles and requiring the installation of recording equipment in and the keeping of records on such vehicles (ie under the Transport Act 1968 ss 96-98 (as amended) (see PARA 1380 et seq ante), and regulations and orders made under those provisions and applicable Community rules within the meaning of Pt VI (ss 95-103) (as amended) (see PARA 1380 ante)); (4) giving effect to international agreements relating to vehicles used on international journeys (ie under any order made under s 100 (see PARA 1381 ante)); (5) creating an offence of using a motor vehicle or trailer in a dangerous condition etc (ie under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 40A (as added) (see PARA 625 ante)); (6) regulating the construction, weight, equipment and use of motor vehicles and trailers on roads (ie under regulations made under s 41 (as amended) (see PARA 260 ante)); (7) imposing penalties for contravention of certain requirements relating to international passenger services (ie under the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 19 (as amended) (see PARA 1650 post), or under the Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, regs 3, 7 (see PARA 1652 post)); and (8) imposing penalties for contravention of certain requirements relating to national passenger services by a carrier registered in a foreign member state (ie under the Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, regs 3, 4, 7 (see PARA 1656 post)): Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(2)(b) (as so amended); Sch 2 (amended by the European Communities Act 1972 s 4(1), Sch 4 para 9(4); the Road Traffic (Drivers' Ages and Hours of Work) Act 1976 s 2(3); the Road Traffic (Consequential Provisions) Act 1988 ss 3, 4, Sch 1 Pt I, Sch 3 para 9(5); the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 48, Sch 4 para 9; the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act 1995 s 60(1), Sch 7 para 6; the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 22(4); the Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 13(3); the Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 10(1)(b); and the Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) (Modification of the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1415, reg 2(1), (3)).

In the case of a goods vehicle, a prohibition under the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(2)(b) (as amended) by reference to a supposed contravention of the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 40A (as added) (see PARA 625 ante) or of regulations under s 41 (as amended) (see PARA 260 ante) may be imposed with a direction making it irremovable unless and until the vehicle has been inspected at an official testing station: Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1(6)(a) (s 1(6) added by the Transport Act 1978 s 9(1), Sch 3 para 8; and amended by the Road Traffic Act 1991 s 48, Sch 4 para 6).

Where a prohibition on driving a foreign vehicle is imposed<sup>1</sup>, the examiner<sup>2</sup>, authorised inspector<sup>3</sup> or authorised person<sup>4</sup> must forthwith give written notice of the prohibition to the driver<sup>5</sup> of the vehicle, specifying the circumstances in consequence of which the prohibition is imposed<sup>6</sup>, and stating whether the prohibition is on all driving of the vehicle or only on driving it for a specified purpose<sup>7</sup>; and, where the prohibition is imposed under certain provisions<sup>8</sup>, also stating whether it is imposed only for a specified period or without limitation of time<sup>9</sup>.

A prohibition comes into force as soon as this notice has been given, and continues in force until it is removed or, in the case of a prohibition imposed only for a specified period, until it is removed or the period expires, whichever first occurs<sup>10</sup>. A written exemption for the use of the vehicle, in such manner, subject to such conditions and for such purposes as may be specified in the exemption, may be granted by any examiner, authorised inspector or authorised person, as the case may be<sup>11</sup>. A prohibition may be removed by any examiner or authorised inspector, or, as the case may be, by any authorised person, if he is satisfied that appropriate action has been taken to remove or remedy the circumstances in consequence of which the prohibition was imposed<sup>12</sup>.

In certain circumstances<sup>1</sup>, the examiner<sup>2</sup>, on production if so required of his authority, may require the driver<sup>3</sup> of a vehicle to produce a document of the description specified in regulations modifying the application of statutory provisions to vehicles brought temporarily into Great Britain<sup>4</sup> and to permit the examiner to inspect and copy it<sup>5</sup>, and may detain the vehicle for such time as is requisite for the purpose of inspecting and copying the document<sup>6</sup>. If the driver refuses or fails to comply with any such requirement the examiner may prohibit the driving of the vehicle on a road<sup>7</sup>, either absolutely or for a specified purpose, and either for a specified period or without limitation of time<sup>8</sup>. The circumstances in which the power may be exercised are:

2489 (1) where it appears to the examiner that the vehicle is a foreign goods vehicle<sup>9</sup> within the meaning of regulations modifying statutory provisions in their applications to vehicles brought temporarily into Great Britain<sup>10</sup>, and is being used, or has been brought into Great Britain for the purpose of being used, in such circumstances as, by virtue of the provisions as to operators' licences<sup>11</sup>, as modified by the regulations, to require a document of a description specified in the regulations to be carried on it<sup>12</sup>;

2490 (2) where it appears to the examiner that the vehicle is a foreign public service vehicle<sup>13</sup> and is being used, or has been brought into Great Britain for the purpose of being used, in such circumstances as, by virtue of the provisions as to public service vehicle operators' licences<sup>14</sup>, as modified by regulations as to public service vehicles registered outside Great Britain<sup>15</sup>, to require a document of a description specified in the regulations to be carried on it<sup>16</sup>.

Any person who drives<sup>1</sup> a vehicle on a road<sup>2</sup> in contravention of a prohibition<sup>3</sup>, or causes or permits<sup>4</sup> a vehicle to be driven on a road in contravention of a prohibition<sup>5</sup>, or refuses or neglects or otherwise fails to comply within a reasonable time with a direction to move the vehicle to a specified place<sup>6</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>7</sup>.

Where a constable<sup>8</sup> in uniform has reasonable cause to suspect that the driver of a vehicle has committed such an offence, the constable may detain the vehicle<sup>9</sup>. For this purpose he may give a direction, specifying an appropriate person<sup>10</sup> and directing the vehicle to be removed by that person to such place and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the direction<sup>11</sup>.

A vehicle which is removed to a place specified in a direction must be detained in that place, or in any other place to which it is removed in accordance with a further direction, until a constable, or, if the place is in the occupation of the Secretary of State<sup>12</sup>, the Secretary of State, authorises the vehicle to be released<sup>13</sup>. A constable or the Secretary of State may authorise the release of the vehicle<sup>14</sup> on being satisfied that:

- 2491 (1) the prohibition, if any, imposed in respect of the vehicle has been removed, or that no prohibition was imposed<sup>15</sup>;
- 2492 (2) appropriate arrangements have been made for removing or remedying the circumstances in consequence of which the prohibition was imposed<sup>16</sup>;
- 2493 (3) the vehicle will be taken forthwith to a place from which it will be taken out of Great Britain<sup>17</sup>; or
- 2494 (4) in the case of a vehicle detained under these provisions<sup>18</sup>, that the purpose for which the vehicle was detained has been fulfilled or that the trailer need no longer be detained for the purpose of safeguarding it or its load<sup>19</sup>.

Any person who drives a vehicle in accordance with a direction or is in charge of a place at which a vehicle is detained is not liable for any damage to or loss in respect of the vehicle or its load unless it is shown that he did not take reasonable care of the vehicle while driving it or, as the case may be, did not, while the vehicle was detained in that place, take reasonable care of the vehicle or did not take reasonable care of its load<sup>20</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'drives' see PARA 207 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante.

3 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 3(1)(a). The prohibition mentioned in the text is under s 1 (as amended): see PARA 1644 ante.

8 As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

9 Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 3(3).

10 'Appropriate person' in relation to a direction to remove a motor vehicle, other than a motor vehicle drawing a trailer, means a person licensed to drive vehicles of the class to which the vehicle belongs: ibid s 3(7) (a). In relation to a direction to remove a trailer or motor vehicle drawing a trailer, it means a person licensed to drive vehicles of a class which, when the direction is complied with, will include the motor vehicle drawing the trailer in accordance with that direction: s 3(7)(b).

11 Ibid s 3(3). The prohibition does not apply to the removal of the vehicle in accordance with such a direction: s 3(3). Where a constable detains a motor vehicle drawing a trailer, or detains a trailer drawn by a motor vehicle, then for the purpose of securing the removal of the trailer, he may also detain the trailer or detain the motor vehicle: s 3(4). A direction may require both the motor vehicle and the trailer to be removed to the place specified in the direction: s 3(4). As from a day to be appointed, the Road Safety Act 2006 s 11(3), Sch 4 (see PARA 1127 et seq ante) makes provision about the immobilisation of vehicles the driving of which has been prohibited under the Road Traffic (Foreign Vehicles) Act 1972 s 1 (as amended) and about their removal and disposal: s 3(8) (added by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 12(2)). ## UPDATE

NOTE 11--Day appointed is 5 January 2009: SI 2008/3164.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1648. International journeys by passenger vehicles registered in the United Kingdom.

(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS

1648. International journeys by passenger vehicles registered in the United Kingdom.

Where a vehicle registered in Northern Ireland is used for the carriage of passengers on Community regulated<sup>1</sup> carriage of passengers which are regular services<sup>2</sup>, shuttle services<sup>3</sup> or works services<sup>4</sup>, then, the requirements as to certificates of initial fitness, PSV operators' licences and operator's discs<sup>5</sup> are omitted<sup>6</sup>.

Where a vehicle registered in the United Kingdom<sup>7</sup> is used for the international carriage of passengers by road:

- 2495 (1) on occasional services<sup>8</sup>, whether Community regulated or not<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2496 (2) for international carriage which is ASOR regulated<sup>10</sup>; or
- 2497 (3) as a public service vehicle for the carriage of passengers which is not ASOR regulated or Community regulated but is a service of the same type as an occasional service<sup>11</sup>, then, in the case of vehicles registered in Northern Ireland the requirements as to certificates of initial fitness, PSV operators' licences and operator's discs do not apply<sup>12</sup>, and in the case of vehicles registered in Great Britain or Northern Ireland the statutory provision as to the registration of local services is varied so as to require a passenger waybill and the provision as to London local service licences is omitted<sup>13</sup>.

Where a public service vehicle<sup>14</sup> is registered in the United Kingdom and is used for the international carriage of passengers which is not Community regulated, but which is a regular service, a special regular service<sup>15</sup> or a shuttle service<sup>16</sup>, then in the case of a vehicle registered in Northern Ireland, the statutory requirements as to certificates of initial fitness, PSV operators' licences and operators' discs<sup>17</sup> do not apply, and in the case of vehicles registered in Great Britain or Northern Ireland the statutory provision as to the registration of local services is varied so as to require an international passenger transport authorisation<sup>18</sup> and the provision as to London local service licences does not apply<sup>19</sup>.

1 'Community regulated' in relation to the carriage of passengers means the international carriage of passengers by road to which EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) on the introduction of common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus (repealed) applies, namely in the circumstances mentioned in art 4(1) (repealed), ie where the place of departure is in the territory of a member state and the destination is in the territory of the same or another member state and the vehicle is registered in a member state and in construction and equipment is suitable for carrying more than nine persons including the driver, and is intended for that purpose, and references to the carriage of passengers which is Community regulated include unladen journeys of the vehicles concerned with such carriage: Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 2(1)(e).

EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688), EEC Council Regulation 516/72 (OJ L67, 19.3.72, p 13) (as amended) and EEC Council Regulation 517/72 (OJ L67, 19.3.72, p 19) (as amended) are repealed and replaced by EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) on common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1); and EC Council Regulation 1791/2006 (OJ L363, 20.12.2006, p 1)). EEC Commission Regulation 1016/68 (OJ L173, 21.7.68, p 8) (as amended) has been repealed and replaced by EC Commission Regulation 1839/92 (OJ L187, 7.7.92, p 5) (as amended). See EC Commission Regulation 2121/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10).

EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) provides that references to the regulations repealed are to be taken as references to EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended): see art 21(2). However, this provision refers to references in other Community legislation and does not modify national implementing legislation: see Case C-8/90 Criminal proceedings against Willy Kennes and Verkooyen PVBA [1991] ECR I-4391, sub nom Belgium v Kennes [1993] 3 CMLR 735, ECJ. It is therefore submitted that the references in the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748 (as amended) to EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) should not be replaced by references to the replacement provisions contained in EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended).

2 'Regular services' means services which provide for the carriage of passengers at specified intervals along specified routes, passengers being taken up or set down at predetermined stopping points: EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) art 1(1) (repealed: see note 1 supra). This definition is also applied by European Parliament and Council Regulation 561/2006 (OJ L102, 11.4.2006, p 1) art 4(n), as to the definition of 'regular passenger services': see PARA 1384 note 5 ante.

3 'Shuttle services' means services by which, by means of repeated outward and return journeys, previously formed groups of passengers are carried from a single place of departure to a single destination, each group being subsequently returned to the place of departure: EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) art 2(1) (repealed: see note 1 supra). The concept of shuttle services has been abolished by EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended).

4 See the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 4(1). 'Works services' means services operated by an undertaking for its own workers to carry them to or from their place of work or from one place of work of the undertaking to another: EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) art 6(1) (repealed: see note 1 supra).

5 See the requirements of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 1141 ante), s 12 (as amended) (see PARA 1144 ante), s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 1159 ante).

6 Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 4(2)(b). Regulation 4(2)(a) is now redundant as it refers to the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 30 (road service licensing) which has been repealed by the Transport Act 1985 ss 1, 139(3), Sch 8.

7 As to the registration of motor vehicles see PARA 518 et seq ante. For the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 205 note 3 ante.

8 'Occasional services' means services which are not regular services (see note 2 supra) nor shuttle services (see note 3 supra), and include services (called 'closed door tours') where the same group of passengers is carried throughout and brought back to its place of departure, and services where the outward journey is made carrying passengers and the return journey is made unladen: EEC Council Regulation 117/66 (OJ L147, 9.8.66, p 2688) art 3(1) (repealed: see note 1 supra).

9 Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(1)(a).

10 Ibid reg 6(1)(b). 'ASOR' means the Agreement on the International Carriage of Passengers by Road by means of Occasional Coach and Bus Services, approved on behalf of the Economic Community pursuant to EEC Council Decision of 20 July 1982 concluding the Agreement, entering into force for the Economic Community on 1 December 1983, as read with EEC Council Regulation 56/83 (OJ L10, 21.1.83, p 1) on measures implementing the Agreement: Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(5). 'ASOR regulated' means, in relation to the carriage of passengers, the international carriage of passengers by road to which ASOR applies, namely in the circumstances specified in art 1, that is to say, by means of occasional services (within the meaning of that Agreement) effected: (1) between the territories of two ASOR states, or starting and finishing in the territory of the same ASOR state; and (2) should the need arise during such services, in transit through the territory of another ASOR state or through the territory of a state which is not an ASOR state; and (3) using vehicles registered in the territory of an ASOR state which, by means of their construction and their equipment, are suitable for carrying more than nine persons, including the driver, and are intended for that purpose, and references to the carriage of passengers which is ASOR regulated include unladen journeys of the vehicles concerned with such carriage: Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(5). 'ASOR state' means: (a) a state, not being a member state, which is a contracting party to ASOR and to which the provisions of ASOR Sections II and III apply in accordance with ASOR art 18; or (b) the European Economic Community: Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(5).

11 Ibid reg 6(1)(c).

12 Ibid reg 6(2)(a) (amended by SI 1987/1755). The requirements referred to are those in the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 1141 ante), s 12 (as amended) (see PARA 1144 ante), s 18 (as amended) (see PARA 1159 ante), s 22 (repealed).

13 Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(2)(b) (amended by SI 1987/1755) (which substitutes the Transport Act 1985 s 6 (see PARA 1178 ante) for this purpose and omits the Transport Act 1985 s 35 (prospectively repealed and replaced: see PARA 1246 ante)).

No person may cause or permit a vehicle to be used on a road for the international carriage of passengers unless: (1) in the case of such carriage which is ASOR regulated, the requirements of ASOR arts 7-9, Annex (which provide for the completion by the person by whom, or on whose behalf, a vehicle is used to provide an occasional service of a passenger waybill in respect of the service in question and for the carrying of the top copy of such waybill on the vehicle at all times while it is used on that service) are complied with, and, in the case of any other such carriage, the requirements of EEC Commission Regulation 1016/68 (OJ L173, 21.7.68, p 8) arts 2-4, Annex 2 (repealed: see note 1 supra) (which require the production of a passenger waybill of which a copy must be kept with the vehicle) are complied with; and (2) the vehicle is used on the service in question in circumstances which accord in all respects with the particulars which have been specified in the said passenger waybill as applicable to that service: Transport Act 1985 s 6(1) (s 6 substituted by the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748, reg 6(2)(b)). INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1650. Documentation and enforcement of international services.

1650. Documentation and enforcement of international services.

A vehicle used to provide a works service<sup>1</sup> must have a certificate<sup>2</sup>, and a vehicle used to provide an occasional service<sup>3</sup> must have a control document consisting of a book of duplicate passenger waybills<sup>4</sup>. A vehicle examiner<sup>5</sup> may require the driver of a vehicle to produce his works service certificate<sup>6</sup>, and may require the driver of an occasional service to produce a passenger waybill, if the service is such that one has to be carried<sup>7</sup>, for inspection and stamping<sup>8</sup>.

If the Secretary of State is at any time satisfied that a holder of a regular, special regular or shuttle service authorisation issued by him has failed to comply with the relevant Council Regulation<sup>18</sup>, with the authorisation or any condition specified in it, or has failed to operate or is no longer operating a service under the authorisation, he may by notice in writing to the holder withdraw the authorisation<sup>19</sup>.

A person is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction with a fine<sup>20</sup> if, without reasonable excuse, he uses a vehicle for Community regulated<sup>21</sup> carriage of passengers by road, or causes or permits a vehicle to be so used<sup>22</sup>: (1) to provide a regular or special regular service (not being a works service) otherwise than in accordance with the terms of an authorisation<sup>23</sup>; (2) to provide a shuttle service (not being a works service) otherwise than under an authorisation<sup>24</sup>; or (3) to provide a works service without a certificate<sup>25</sup>. He is also guilty of an offence if, without reasonable excuse, he uses a vehicle for ASOR regulated<sup>26</sup> or Community regulated carriage by road, or causes or permits a vehicle to be so used, to provide an occasional service without a duly completed waybill, or without one being carried on the vehicle<sup>27</sup>. He is similarly guilty if he fails to comply with a requirement imposed under specified provisions<sup>28</sup> or wilfully obstructs an examiner<sup>29</sup>.

The provisions of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 relating to forgery and the making of false statements<sup>30</sup> are applied to authorisations, certificates or other documents required by the provisions relating to international passenger transport<sup>31</sup> to be in force in relation to a vehicle, or to be kept or carried on a vehicle, used for the international carriage of passengers<sup>32</sup>.

INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1651. International carriage by coach and bus.

1651. International carriage by coach and bus.

The international carriage of passengers by coach and bus within the territory of the European Community by carriers for hire or reward or own-account carriers established in a member state in accordance with its law, using vehicles registered in that member state which are suitable, by virtue of their construction and equipment, for carrying more than nine persons, including the driver, and are so intended, and the movement of such vehicles empty in connection with such carriage, are governed by European legislation<sup>1</sup>.

Any carrier for hire or reward must be permitted to carry out regular<sup>2</sup>, special regular<sup>3</sup> and occasional<sup>4</sup> services without discrimination as to nationality or place of establishment if he: (1) is authorised in the state of establishment to undertake carriage by means of regular services including special regular services or occasional services by coach and bus; (2) satisfies the conditions laid down in accordance with the Community rules on admission to the occupation of road passenger transport operator in national and international transport operations<sup>5</sup>; and (3) meets legal requirements on road safety as far as the standards for drivers and vehicles are concerned<sup>6</sup>.

Any own-account carrier must be permitted to carry out own-account transport operations<sup>7</sup>, without discrimination as to nationality or place of establishment if he: (a) is authorised in the state of establishment to undertake carriage by coach and bus in accordance with market-access conditions laid down by national legislation; and (b) meets legal requirements on road safety as far as the standards for drivers and vehicles concerned<sup>8</sup>.

Occasional services do not require authorisation<sup>9</sup>. Special regular services do not require authorisation if they are covered by a contract concluded between the organiser and the carrier<sup>10</sup>. Regular services and special regular services not covered by a contract between the organiser and the carrier do require authorisation<sup>11</sup>.

1 See EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) on common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1); and EC Council Regulation 1791/2006 (OJ L363, 20.12.2006, p 1)). EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended) repealed and replaced the Regulations referred to in the Road Transport (International Passenger Services) Regulations 1984, SI 1984/748 (as amended) (see PARAS 1648-1650 ante): EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 21; and see PARA 1648 note 1 ante. See also EC Commission Regulation 2121/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) laying down detailed rules for the application of EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended), and EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 10) as regards documents for the carriage of passengers by coach and bus.

2 Regular services are services which provide for the carriage of passengers at specified intervals along specified routes, passengers being taken up and set down at predetermined stopping points; regular services must be open for all, subject, where appropriate, to compulsory reservation; the regular nature of the service is not affected by any adjustment to the service operating conditions: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(1.1) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). The organisation of parallel temporary services, serving the same public as existing regular services, the non-serving of certain stops and the serving of additional stops on existing regular services are governed by the same rules as existing regular services: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(1.3) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

3 Special regular services are services which provide for the carriage of specified categories of passengers to the exclusion of other passengers, in so far as such services are operated under the conditions specified for regular services (see note 2 supra); they include:

1455 (2) carriage to and from the educational institution for school pupils and students; and

1456 (3) the carriage of soldiers and their families between their state of origin and the area of their barracks, and the fact that a special service may be varied according to the needs of the users does not affect its classification as a regular service: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(1.2) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

4 Occasional services are services which do not meet the definition of regular services, including special regular services, and which are characterised above all by the fact that they carry groups of passengers assembled on the initiative of the customer or the carrier himself; they do not include parallel or temporary services comparable to existing regular services and serving the same public as regular services: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(3.1) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). The services do not cease to be occasional services solely because they are provided at certain intervals: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(3.3). Occasional services may be provided by a group of carriers acting on behalf of the same contractor, and travellers may catch a connection en route, with a different carrier of the same group, in the territory of one of the member states: see art 2(3.4) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

5 le EC Council Directive 96/26 (OJ L124, 23.5.96, p 1) on admission to the occupation of road haulage operator and road passenger transport operator and mutual recognition of diplomas, certificates and other evidence of formal qualifications intended to facilitate for those operators the right of establishment in national and international transport operations (amended by EC Council Directive 98/76 (OJ L277, 14.10.98, p 17): see PARA 1657 post.

7 Own-account transport operations are those carried out for non-commercial and non-profit-making purposes by a natural or legal person, provided that the transport activity is only an ancillary activity for that natural or legal person, and the vehicles used are the property of that natural or legal person or have been obtained on deferred terms by him or it or have been the subject of a long term leasing contract and are driven by a member of the staff of the natural or legal person or by the natural person himself: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 2(3.4) (substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

8 EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 3(2). Own-account road transport operations are exempt from any system of authorisation but must be subject to a system of certificates: art 13(1). The certificates must be issued by the competent authority of the member state in which the vehicle is registered and be valid for the entire journey including transit: art 13(3).

9 Ibid art 4(1) (art 4 substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

10 EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 4(2) (as substituted: see note 9 supra). Empty journeys by vehicles in connection with the transport operations referred to in art 4(1), (2) (as substituted) do not require authorisation: art 4(3) (as so substituted).

11 Ibid art 4(4) (as substituted: see note 9 supra). Authorisation must be in accordance with arts 5-10 (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

NOTE 5--Directive 96/26 replaced with effect from 4 December 2011: see PARA 1657.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1652. Community licences.

1652. Community licences.

In order to carry out international transport by coach and bus<sup>1</sup> any carrier meeting certain criteria<sup>2</sup> must hold a Community licence<sup>3</sup> issued by the competent authorities<sup>4</sup> of the member state of establishment<sup>5</sup>. A person is entitled to be issued by the competent authority with a Community licence if he holds a standard licence<sup>6</sup> which authorises use on both national and international operations, or a restricted licence<sup>7</sup>. A Community licence is issued for a period of five years and is renewable<sup>8</sup>. The Community licence replaces the document issued by the competent authorities of the member state of establishment certifying that the carrier has access to the market for the international carriage of passengers by road<sup>9</sup>. When an application for a licence is submitted, and at least every five years thereafter, the competent authority must verify whether the carrier meets or continues to meet the conditions as to occasional services<sup>10</sup>. Where the conditions are not met, the competent authority must refuse to issue or renew a Community licence by means of a reasoned decision<sup>11</sup>. A person who is aggrieved by the refusal of the competent authority to issue a Community licence to him, or being the holder of a Community licence, is aggrieved by the decision of the competent authority who issued it to withdraw it, may appeal to the Transport Tribunal<sup>12</sup>.

A person who uses a vehicle in Great Britain in order to carry out international passenger transport operations by coach and bus without a Community licence is guilty of an offence<sup>13</sup>. A person who uses a public service vehicle in Great Britain under a Community licence and, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with any of the conditions governing the use of that licence<sup>14</sup>, is guilty of an offence<sup>15</sup>.

The holder of a Community licence must furnish such information as the competent authority which issued it may reasonably require from time to time to enable the authority to decide whether the holder is entitled to retain that licence<sup>16</sup>. A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to supply any information required is guilty of an offence<sup>17</sup>.

1 See PARA 1651 ante.

3 The Community licence must conform to the model in ibid Annex (substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

4 The competent authority, in relation to the operator of a public service vehicle who has an operating centre in a traffic area in Great Britain, is the traffic commissioner for that area: Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 4. For the meaning of 'public service vehicle' see PARA 1136 ante; for the meaning of 'operating centre' see PARA 1144 note 7 ante; and for the meaning of 'traffic commissioner' see PARA 1138 note 7 ante (definitions applied by reg 2(2)). The competent authority must issue the holder with the original of the Community licence which must be kept by the carrier, and the number of certified true copies corresponding to the number of vehicles used for the international carriage of passengers at the disposal of the holder of the Community licence, either in full ownership, or in another form, notably by an instalment-purchase contract, a hire contract or a leasing contract: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 3a(2) (as so added). The Community licence must be established in the name of the carrier and is non-transferable; a certified true copy must be carried on the vehicle and must be presented at the request of any authorised inspecting officer: art 3a(3) (as so added). An authorised inspecting officer in Great Britain is an examiner appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante) and a police constable: Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 8. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1653. Regular services subject to authorisation.

1653. Regular services subject to authorisation.

Authorisations<sup>1</sup> must be issued in the name of the transport undertaking; they may not be transferred to third parties<sup>2</sup>. The period of validity of an authorisation must not exceed five years<sup>3</sup>. Authorisations entitle their holders to operate regular services in the territories of all member states over which the routes of the services pass<sup>4</sup>. There are provisions governing the procedure for applications for authorisation<sup>5</sup>, the authorisation procedure<sup>6</sup>, the grant and renewal of authorisations<sup>7</sup> and the lapse of authorisation<sup>8</sup>. Save in the event of force majeure, the operator of a regular service must, until the authorisation expires, take all measures to guarantee a transport service that fulfils the standards of continuity, regularity and capacity and complies with the other conditions laid down by the competent authority<sup>9</sup>.

1     le those required by EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) on common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus, art 4(4) (as substituted): see PARA 1651 ante.

2     Ibid art 5(1). The carrier who has received the authorisation may, with the consent of the competent authority (see PARA 1652 note 4 ante) operate the service through a sub-contractor and, in this case, the name of the latter undertaking and its role as sub-contractor must be indicated in the authorisation and the sub-contractor must fulfil the conditions laid down in art 3(1) (as amended) (see PARA 1651 ante): art 5(1). In the case of undertakings associated for the purpose of operating a regular service, the authorisation must be issued in the names of all the undertakings, and must be given to the undertaking that manages the operation and copies must be given to the others: art 5(1) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). For the meaning of 'regular service' see PARA 1648 note 2 ante.

3     EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 5(2) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). It may be set at less, either at the request of the applicant or by mutual consent of the competent authorities of the member states on whose territories passengers are picked up or set down: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 5(2). Authorisations must specify: (1) the type of service; (2) the route of the service, giving in particular the place of departure and the place of destination; (3) the period of validity of the authorisation; and (4) the stops and the timetable: art 5(3) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). Authorisations must conform to the model drawn up by the European Commission in accordance with EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 16a (added by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)): EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 5(4) (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

4     EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 5(5) (substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). The operator of a regular service may use additional vehicles to deal with temporary and exceptional situations; in this case the carrier must ensure that there is carried on the vehicle a copy of the authorisation of the regular service, a copy of the contract between the operator of the regular service and the undertaking providing the additional vehicles or an equivalent document, and a certified true copy of the Community licence issued to the operator of the regular service: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 5(6) (added by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

8     See EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 9 (amended by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

9     EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 10(1). Conditions are laid down in accordance with art 5(3) (as amended): see note 3 supra. The carrier must display the route of the service, the bus stops, the timetable, the fares and the conditions of carriage, in so far as these are not laid down by law, in such a way as to ensure that such information is readily available to users: art 10(2). Without prejudice to EEC Council Regulation 1191/69 (OJ L156, 28.6.69, p 1) (as amended), it is possible for the member states concerned, by common agreement and in agreement with the holder of the authorisation, to make changes to the operating conditions governing a regular service: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 10(3).

1653 Regular services subject to authorisation

NOTE 9--EEC Council Regulation 1191/69 repealed and replaced from 3 December 2009 by European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1370/2007 (OJ L315, 3.12.07, p 1) on public passenger transport services by rail and by road. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1654. Occasional services and other services exempt from authorisation.

1654. Occasional services and other services exempt from authorisation.

Occasional services<sup>1</sup> must be carried out under cover of a journey form<sup>2</sup>. Within the framework of an international occasional service, a carrier may carry out occasional services (local excursions) in a member state other than that in which it is established<sup>3</sup>. Such services are intended for non-resident passengers previously carried by the same carrier on one of the international services and must be carried out with the same vehicle or another vehicle from the same carrier or group of carriers<sup>4</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occasional service' see PARA 1651 note 4 ante.

2 EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) on common rules for the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus, art 11(1) (art 11 substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). A carrier operating occasional services must fill out a journey form before each journey: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 11(2) (as so substituted). The journey form must contain at least the following information: (1) the type of service; (2) the main itinerary; and (3) the carriers involved: art 11(3) (as so substituted). The books of journey forms must be supplied by the competent authority of the member state where the transport undertaking is established or by a body appointed by that authority: art 11(4) (as so substituted). As to the competent authority see PARA 1652 note 4 ante. The European Commission has a duty to lay down the model for the journey form and the way in which it is to be used, in accordance with the procedure provided for in art 16a (added by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)): EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 11(5) (as so substituted).

1655. Controls and penalties.

Passengers using a regular service<sup>1</sup>, excluding a special regular service<sup>2</sup>, must throughout their journeys possess transport tickets, either individual or collective<sup>3</sup>, which must be presented at the request of an authorised inspecting officer<sup>4</sup>.

An authorisation or control document<sup>5</sup> must be carried on the vehicle and must be presented at the request of any authorised inspecting officer<sup>6</sup>.

Carriers operating coaches and buses in international passenger transport must allow all inspections intended to ensure that the operations are being conducted correctly, particularly as regards driving and rest periods<sup>7</sup>.

The competent authority<sup>8</sup> of the member state where the carrier is established must withdraw a Community licence<sup>9</sup> where the holder no longer meets the conditions laid down or has supplied inaccurate information concerning the data which were required for the issue of the licence<sup>10</sup>. The authorising authority must withdraw an authorisation if the holder no longer fulfils the conditions on the basis of which the authorisation was issued, in particular where the member state in which the carrier is established so requests<sup>11</sup>. The competent authorities of the member states concerned must prohibit a carrier from operating on their territory an international passenger service if he repeatedly commits serious breaches of the regulations governing road safety, in particular with regard to the rules applicable to vehicles and driving and rest periods for drivers<sup>12</sup>.

The tickets must indicate the points of departure and destination and, where appropriate, the return journey, the period of validity of the ticket and the price of the transport: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 14(1).

7 Ibid art 15(2). In the context of implementation of art 15, authorised inspecting officers are empowered to: (1) check the books and other documentation relating to the operation of the transport undertaking; (2) make copies of, or take extracts from, the books and documentation on the premises; (3) have access to all the transport undertaking's premises, sites and vehicles; and (4) require the production of any information contained in books, documentation or databases: art 15(2).

10 EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 16(1) (art 16 substituted by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)). Where a Community licence is withdrawn by the competent authority, the holder of that licence must within seven days of such withdrawal return to the competent authority which issued it the original licence and all certified true copies of it: Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 9(1). The holder of a Community licence must return to the competent authority which issued it such certified true copies of the licence as the authority may require pursuant to: (1) any decision of the authority to reduce the maximum number of vehicles (being vehicles having their operating centre in the area of the authority) which the holder is authorised, under the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 s 16(1) (as amended) (see PARA 1153 ante), to use under the PSV operator's licence held by him; or (2) any decision of the authority to suspend or withdraw certified true copies of the Community licence: Public Service Vehicles (Community Licences) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/1322, reg 9(2). A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with these provisions is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: reg 9(3). The authority must immediately inform the competent authorities of the member states concerned: EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) art 16(4) (as so added). In the case of a serious breach or repeated minor breaches of road safety regulations, in particular with regard to the rules applicable to vehicles, driving and rest periods for drivers and the provision without authorisation of parallel or temporary services as referred to in art 2(1.3) (as amended) (see PARA 1651 ante), the competent authority of the member state of establishment of the carrier who committed the breach may withdraw the Community licence or make temporary and/or partial withdrawals of the certified true copies of the Community licence; and these penalties must be determined in accordance with the seriousness of the breach committed by the holder of the Community licence and with the total number of certified true copies that he possesses in respect of his international trade: art 16(3) (as substituted: see note 10 supra). Member states must on request provide each other with any relevant information in their possession concerning breaches of the provisions relating to the international carriage of passengers by coach and bus committed in their territory by a carrier from another member state and the penalties imposed, and the penalties imposed on their own carriers in respect of breaches committed in the territory of another member state: art 16(5) (added by EC Council Regulation 11/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 1)).

Regulation 684/92 replaced with effect in part from 4 June 2010 and in part from 4 December 2011: European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 1073/2009 (OJ L300, 14.11.2009, p 88).

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-1663)/19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1656. Passenger vehicles cabotage.

1656. Passenger vehicles cabotage.

Any carrier who operates road passenger transport services for hire or reward, and who holds a Community licence<sup>1</sup> may, subject to certain conditions<sup>2</sup> and without discrimination on the grounds of the carrier's nationality or place of establishment, temporarily operate national road passenger services, called cabotage transport operations, for hire or reward in another member state (the 'host state') without being required to have a registered office or other establishment in that state<sup>3</sup>. Cabotage transport operations are authorised for: (1) special regular services<sup>4</sup> provided they are covered by a contract concluded between the organiser and the carrier; (2) occasional services; and (3) regular services, provided they are performed by a carrier not resident in the host state in the course of a regular international service<sup>5</sup>. Save as otherwise provided in Community legislation, the performance of cabotage transport operations is subject to the laws, regulations and administrative provisions in force in the host state in specified areas<sup>6</sup>. The Community licence or a certified true copy of it must be kept on board the vehicle and be produced when requested by an authorised inspecting officer<sup>7</sup>. Cabotage transport operations in the form of occasional services must be carried out under cover of a control document (the 'journey form') which must be kept on board the vehicle and be produced when requested by an authorised inspecting officer<sup>8</sup>.

A person commits an offence if he uses a vehicle on a road<sup>9</sup>, or causes or permits<sup>10</sup> a vehicle to be so used, for the purpose of cabotage transport operations in Great Britain or between Great Britain and Northern Ireland which are carried out by a road passenger transport carrier established in a member state other than the United Kingdom without a licence<sup>11</sup>. A person commits an offence if he uses a vehicle on a road, or causes or permits a vehicle to be so used, for the purposes of cabotage transport operations in Great Britain or between Great Britain and Northern Ireland which take the form of occasional services and are carried out without a control document<sup>12</sup>.

Without prejudice to criminal prosecution, the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> may impose penalties on non-resident carriers who have committed infringements of the European provisions relating to cabotage<sup>14</sup> or of Community or national transport regulations within the United Kingdom on the occasion of a cabotage transport operation<sup>15</sup>. The competent authority of the host state must inform the traffic commissioner<sup>16</sup> for the area in which the carrier has his operating centre of the infringements recorded and any penalties imposed on the carrier and may, in the event of serious or repeated infringements, at the same time transmit a request that a penalty be imposed<sup>17</sup>. A carrier who is aggrieved by an administrative penalty imposed on him by the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup> may request the Secretary of State to review that decision<sup>19</sup>. A carrier who is aggrieved by an administrative penalty imposed on him by the traffic commissioner for the area in which the carrier has his operating centre<sup>20</sup> may appeal to the Transport Tribunal<sup>21</sup>.

The provisions of the Public Passenger Vehicles Act 1981 concerning forgery and misuse of documents to obtain a licence<sup>26</sup> apply to the control document<sup>27</sup>.

1 As to Community licences see PARA 1652 ante.

2 The conditions specified in EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L4, 8.1.98, p 10) laying down the conditions under which non-resident carriers may operate national road passenger transport services within a member state. See also EC Commission Regulation 2121/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) laying down detailed rules for the application of EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended) and EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10).

3 EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 1.

4 'Regular services' means services which provide for the carriage of passengers at specified intervals along specified routes, passengers being taken up and set down at predetermined stopping points: ibid art 2(1). Regular services must be open to all, subject, where appropriate, to compulsory reservation: art 2(1). The fact that the operating conditions of the service may be adjusted does not affect its classification as a regular service: art 2(1). 'Special regular services' means regular services which provide for the carriage of specified categories of passengers, to the exclusion of other passengers, at specified intervals along specified routes, passengers being taken up and set down at predetermined stopping points; and include: (1) the carriage of workers between home and work; (2) carriage to and from the educational institution for school pupils and students; and (3) the carriage of soldiers and their families between their homes and the area of their barracks: art 2(2). The fact that a special service may be varied according to the needs of users does not affect its classification as a regular service: art 2(2).

5 Ibid art 3. A regular international service must be carried out in accordance with EC Council Regulation 684/92 (OJ L74, 20.3.92, p 1) (as amended): EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 3. Cabotage transport cannot be performed independently of such international service: art 3. Urban and suburban services, that is services meeting the needs of an urban centre or conurbation, and transport needs between it and the surrounding areas, are excluded from head (3) in the text: art 3.

6 Ibid art 4(1). The specified areas are: (1) rates and conditions governing the transport contract; (2) weights and dimensions of road vehicles (such weights and dimensions may, where appropriate, exceed those applicable in the carrier's member state of establishment, but they may under no circumstances exceed the technical standards set out in the certificate of conformity); (3) requirements relating to the carriage of certain categories of passengers (ie schoolchildren, children and persons with reduced mobility); (4) driving and rest time; and (5) value added tax on transport services (ie EC Council Directive 77/388 (OJ L145, 13.6.77, p 1) on the harmonisation of the laws of the member states relating to turnover taxes -- common system of value added tax: uniform basis of assessment, art 21(1)(a), which applies to the cabotage transport services): EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 4(1). Save as otherwise provided in Community legislation, the cabotage transport operations authorised by art 3(3) are subject to the existing laws, regulations and administrative provisions in force in the host state regarding authorisations, tendering procedures, the routes to be operated and the regularity, continuity and frequency of services as well as itineraries: art 4(2). The technical standards of construction and equipment which must be met by vehicles used to carry out cabotage transport operations are those laid down for vehicles put into circulation in international transport: art 4(3). The national provisions referred to in art 4(1), (2) must be applied by member states to non-resident carriers on the same conditions as those imposed on their own nationals, so as effectively to prevent any open or hidden discrimination on grounds of nationality or place of establishment: art 4(4). The list of areas covered in art 4(1) may be amended: see art 4(5).

7 Ibid art 5. The driver of a vehicle which is required under art 5 to have on board a Community licence or a certified true copy commits an offence if he fails, without reasonable cause, to produce the licence or copy when requested to do so by an authorised inspecting officer and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 7(1), (2), (4). As to offences committed by bodies corporate see reg 9. As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. For the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 205 note 3 ante. Authorised inspecting officers for these purposes in Great Britain are constables in uniform and examiners appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 66A (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante): Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 8. As to constables see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 101 et seq.

8 EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 6(1). The driver of a vehicle which is required, under art 6(1), to have on board a control document commits an offence if he fails, without reasonable cause, to produce the control document when requested to do so by an authorised inspecting officer and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 7(3), (4). The journey form must comprise the points of departure and destination of the service, and the date of departure and the date on which the service ends: EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 6(2). The journey forms must be supplied in books certified by the competent authority or agency in the member state of establishment: art 6(3). In the case of special regular services, the contract concluded between the carrier and the transport organiser, or a certified true copy of it, will serve as the control document but the journey form must be completed in the form of a monthly statement: art 6(4). The journey forms used must be returned to the competent authority or agency in the member state of establishment in accordance with procedures to be laid down by the authority or agency: art 6(5).

9 For the meaning of 'road' see PARA 206 ante; definition applied by the Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 1(2).

10 As to the meaning of 'causes or permits' see PARA 261 note 6 ante.

11 Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 3(1). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: reg 3(2).

12 Ibid reg 4(1). As to the requirement for the control document see note 8 supra. A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: reg 4(2).

13 The Secretary of State is designated as the competent authority for the purposes of EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 11(2): Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 5(2) (substituted by SI 2000/3114). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

14 Ie the provisions of EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10).

15 Ibid art 11(2). The penalties must be imposed on a non-discriminatory basis and may, inter alia, consist of a warning or, in the event of serious or repeated infringements, a temporary ban on cabotage transport operations within the United Kingdom: art 11(3). Where a falsified Community licence, falsified authorisation or falsified certified true copy of it is produced, the falsified document must be withdrawn immediately and, where appropriate, forwarded as soon as possible to the competent authority of the carrier's member state of establishment: art 11(3).

16 The traffic commissioner for the area in which the carrier has his operating centre ('the appropriate traffic commissioner') is designated as the competent authority for the purposes of ibid art 11(4): Road Transport (Passenger Vehicles Cabotage) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3413, reg 5(1). For the meaning of 'traffic commissioner' see PARA 1138 note 7 ante; definition applied by reg 1(2).

17 EC Council Regulation 12/98 (OJ L268, 3.10.98, p 10) art 11(4). In the event of serious or repeated infringements, the traffic commissioner must decide whether an appropriate penalty should be imposed on the carrier concerned; he must take into account any penalty already imposed in the host state and ensure that the penalties already imposed on the carrier concerned are, as a whole, proportional to the infringement or infringements which gave rise to such penalties: art 11(4). The penalty imposed by the traffic commissioner, after consulting the competent authority of the host state, may extend to withdrawal of authorisation to pursue the occupation of road passenger transport operator: art 11(4). The traffic commissioner may also arraign the carrier concerned before a competent national court or tribunal: art 11(4). The host state must be informed of any decisions taken pursuant to art 11: art 11(4).

TEXT AND NOTES 20, 21--SI 1999/3413 reg 6(2) amended: SI 2009/1885.

Halsbury's Laws of England/ROAD TRAFFIC (VOLUME 40(1) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 201-650; VOLUME 40(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 651-1131); VOLUME 40(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1132-

1663)/19. INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1657. International carriage of goods by road within the Community.

1657. International carriage of goods by road within the Community.

A European Regulation<sup>1</sup> abolished for the road hauliers of the member states the system of quotas of authorisations for the carriage of goods by road within the European Community and bilateral quotas of permits for the carriage of goods by road between member states<sup>2</sup> and replaced it with a system of Community authorisations issued without quota limits to carriers who satisfy qualitative criteria of good repute, financial standing and professional competence<sup>3</sup>. The Regulation does not affect the system of bilateral quotas of permits between member states and third countries until the necessary agreements are concluded between the Community and the third countries<sup>4</sup>. International carriage<sup>5</sup> must be carried out subject to Community authorisation<sup>6</sup> in conjunction with a driver attestation<sup>7</sup> if the driver is a national of a non-member country<sup>8</sup>.

The driver attestation must be issued by the competent authorities of the member state of establishment of the haulage undertaking<sup>9</sup>. A driver attestation must be issued by the member state at the request of the holder of the Community authorisation for each driver who is a national of a non-member country whom he lawfully employs or who is lawfully put at his disposal in accordance with the laws, regulations or administrative provisions and, as appropriate, the collective agreements, in accordance with the rules applicable in that member state, on the conditions of employment and of vocational training of drivers applicable in that same member state<sup>10</sup>. Each driver attestation must certify that the driver named therein is employed in accordance with the relevant conditions<sup>11</sup>. The driver attestation must certify that in the context of transport by road covered by Community authorisation, a driver who is a national of a non-member country carrying out such transport is employed in the haulier's member state of establishment in accordance with the laws, regulations or administrative provisions and, as appropriate, the collective agreements, in accordance with the rules applicable in that member state, on the conditions of employment and of vocational training of drivers to carry out road transport operations in that state<sup>12</sup>. A driver attestation must be issued for a period to be determined by the issuing member state, subject to a maximum validity of five years<sup>13</sup>. The driver attestation is valid only as long as the conditions under which it was issued are satisfied<sup>14</sup>. Member states must take appropriate measures to ensure that if those conditions are no longer met the haulier returns the attestation immediately to the issuing authorities<sup>15</sup>.

The Community authorisation is issued by the competent authority of the member state of establishment of the haulier<sup>16</sup>, must be made out in the name of the haulier and may not be transferred to any third party; a certified true copy must be kept in the vehicle and produced whenever required by an authorised inspecting officer<sup>17</sup>. The Community authorisation is issued for a renewable period of five years<sup>18</sup>. Whenever an application for a Community authorisation is lodged, not more than five years after issue and subsequently at least every five years, the competent authority must verify whether the haulier satisfies or still satisfies the conditions as to Community authorisation<sup>19</sup>.

If the conditions as to Community authorisation or driver attestation are not satisfied<sup>20</sup>, the competent authorities of the member state of establishment must reject an application for the issue or renewal of a Community authorisation or of a driver attestation, by means of a decision which states the reasons for doing so<sup>21</sup>. The competent authorities must withdraw a Community authorisation or a driver attestation where the holder: (1) no longer satisfies the relevant conditions; or (2) has supplied incorrect information in relation to the data required for the issue of a Community authorisation or of a driver attestation<sup>22</sup>. The member states must guarantee that the applicant or the holder of a Community authorisation is able to appeal against any decision by the competent authorities of the member state of establishment to refuse or withdraw an authorisation<sup>23</sup>. The member states must guarantee that the holder of a Community authorisation can appeal against any decision by the competent authorities of the member state of establishment to refuse or withdraw a driver attestation or to make the issue of driver attestations subject to additional conditions<sup>24</sup>.

A person who, being entitled to be issued with a Community authorisation<sup>25</sup>, is aggrieved by the refusal of the competent authority to issue such an authorisation to him, or, being the holder of a Community authorisation, is aggrieved by the decision of the competent authority who issued it to withdraw it, may appeal, if he is a haulier established in Great Britain, to the Transport Tribunal<sup>26</sup>.

A person who uses a vehicle in the United Kingdom for international carriage without a Community authorisation is guilty of an offence<sup>27</sup>. A person who uses a vehicle in the United Kingdom under a Community authorisation and, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with any of the conditions governing the use of that authorisation<sup>28</sup> is also guilty of an offence<sup>29</sup>.

As to the meaning of 'standard operator's licence' see PARA 1330 note 2 ante; definition applied by reg 2(2); and see the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2).

7     A driver attestation must be issued by a member state in accordance with EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 6 (as substituted) to any haulier who: (1) is the holder of a Community authorisation; (2) in that member state lawfully employs drivers who are nationals of non-member countries or lawfully uses drivers who are nationals of non-member countries put at his disposal in accordance with the conditions of employment and of vocational training laid down in that same member state by laws, regulations or administrative provisions, and, as appropriate, by collective agreements, in accordance with the rules applicable in that member state: art 3(3) (added by European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(2)(b)). 'Driver' means the person who drives a vehicle, or who is carried in that vehicle in order to be available for driving if necessary: EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 2 (amended by European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(1)).

10 EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 6(2) (as substituted: see note 9 supra). The Commission must examine the consequences of restricting the obligation to hold a driver attestation to drivers who are nationals of non-member countries and must, should there be sufficient justification for doing so, submit a proposal for the amendment of the relevant provisions: art 11(a) (added by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(10)).

11 EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 6(2) (as substituted: see note 9 supra). The conditions are those laid down in art 4 (see the text to note 12 infra).

12 Ibid art 4(2) (added by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(3)). The driver attestation must conform to the prescribed model, which also lays down the conditions governing its use: EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 6(3) (as substituted: see note 9 supra). As to the prescribed model see Annex III (added by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(11)). Member states must take all steps necessary to prevent the forgery of driver attestations and inform the European Commission of the steps taken: EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 6(3) (as so substituted). The driver attestation belongs to the haulier, who puts it at the disposal of the driver designated in it when that driver drives a vehicle using a Community authorisation issued to that haulier: art 6(4) (as so substituted). A certified true copy of the driver attestation must be kept at the haulier's premises and must be produced whenever required by an authorised inspecting officer: art 6(4) (as so substituted).

13 Ibid art 6(5) (as substituted: see note 9 supra).

14 Ibid art 6(5) (as substituted: see note 9 supra).

For the purposes of EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) (as amended) and the Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3077, the competent authority in relation to a haulier with an operating centre in a traffic area in Great Britain is the traffic commissioner for that area: reg 4(a). The holder must be issued with the original of the Community authorisation which must be kept by the haulage undertaking, and the number of certified true copies corresponding to the number of vehicles at the disposal of the holder of the Community authorisation, whether wholly owned or, for example, under hire purchase, hire or leasing contracts: EC Council Regulation (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 5(2). The Community authorisation must correspond to the model in Annex 1 which also lays down the conditions governing its use: art 5(3).

17 Ibid art 5(4). In Great Britain the authorised inspecting officers are police constables, and examiners appointed under the Road Traffic Act 1998 s 66A(1) (as added and amended) (see PARA 698 ante): Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3077, reg 8(a).

18 EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 5(5) (added by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(4)).

19 EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 7(1). The competent authorities of the member state of establishment must regularly verify, by carrying out checks each year, covering at least 20% of the valid attestations issued in that member state, whether the conditions referred to in art 3(3) (as added) (see note 7 supra) under which a driver attestation has been issued are still satisfied: art 7(2) (added by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(6)).

21 Ibid art 8(1) (art 8 substituted by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 1(7)).

22 EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 8(2) (as substituted: see note 21 supra). In the event of serious infringements or repeated minor infringements of carriage regulations, the competent authorities of the member state of establishment of the haulier who has committed such infringements may, inter alia, temporarily or partially withdraw the certified true copies of the Community authorisation and may withdraw driver attestations: art 8(3) (as so substituted). These sanctions must be determined having regard to the seriousness of the infringement committed by the holder of the Community authorisation and having regard to the total number of certified true copies of that authorisation that he holds in respect of international traffic: art 8(3) (as so substituted). In the event of serious infringements or repeated minor infringements regarding any misuse whatsoever of driver attestations, the competent authorities of the member state of establishment of the haulier who committed such infringements must impose appropriate sanctions such as: (1) suspension of the issue of driver attestations; (2) withdrawal of driver attestations; (3) making the issue of driver attestations subject to additional conditions in order to prevent misuse; and (4) temporary or partial withdrawal of the certified true copies of the Community authorisation: art 8(4) (as so substituted). These sanctions must be determined having regard to the seriousness of the infringement committed by the holder of the Community authorisation: art 8(4) (as so substituted).

The holder of a Community authorisation which is withdrawn by the competent authority in accordance with art 8(2) must within seven days of such withdrawal return to the competent authority which issued it the original authorisation and all certified true copies of it: Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3077, reg 9(1). The holder of a Community authorisation must return to the competent authority which issued it such certified true copies of the authorisation as the authority may require pursuant to any reduction in the number of vehicles at the disposal of the holder or any decision of the authority under EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) art 8(3) to suspend certified true copies of that authorisation: Goods Vehicles (Community Authorisations) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3077, reg 9(2). A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with any provision of reg 9(1), (2) is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: reg 9(3). As to the standard scale see PARA 230 note 3 ante. The holder of a Community authorisation must furnish such information as the competent authority which issued it may reasonably require from time to time to enable the authority to decide whether the holder is entitled to retain that authorisation: reg 10(1). A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to supply any information so required is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: reg 10(2). ### 1658. Community cabotage.

Any road haulage carrier for hire or reward who is a holder of the Community authorisation<sup>1</sup> and whose driver, if he is a national of a non-member country, holds a driver attestation in accordance with the relevant conditions<sup>2</sup>, is entitled to operate on a temporary basis national road haulage services for hire or reward in another member state ('cabotage'), without having a registered office or other establishment there<sup>3</sup>.

1     le an authorisation under EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) (as amended) on access to the market in the carriage of goods by road within the Community to or from the territory of a member state or passing across the territory of one or more member states (as amended): see PARA 1657 ante. The performance of cabotage transport operations is subject, save as otherwise provided in Community Regulations, to the laws, regulations and administrative provisions in force in the member state where it is performed in respect of: (1) rates and conditions governing the transport contract; (2) weights and dimensions of road vehicles (such weights and dimensions may, where appropriate, exceed those applicable in the carrier's member state of establishment, but they may under no circumstances exceed the technical standards certified by the proof of compliance referred to in EEC Council Directive 86/364 (OJ L221, 7.8.86, p 48) art 1(1)); (3) requirements relating to the carriage of certain categories of goods, in particular dangerous goods, perishable foodstuffs, and live animals; (4) driving and rest time; and (5) value added tax on transport services (EEC Council Directive 77/388 (OJ L145, 13.6.77, p 1) art 21(1)(a) applies to cabotage services); EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) (as amended) laying down the conditions under which non-resident carriers may operate national road haulage services within a member state, art 6(1). These provisions are applied to non-resident transport operators on the same conditions as those which the member state imposes on its own nationals, so as to prevent any open or hidden discrimination on grounds of nationality or place of establishment: art 6(3). The technical standards of construction and equipment which vehicles used to carry out cabotage operations must meet are those laid down for vehicles put into circulation in international transport: art 6(2).

2     le the conditions laid down in EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) (as amended): see PARA 1657 ante.

3     EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) art 1(1) (substituted by European Parliament and EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 2(1)). In addition, any carrier entitled in the member state of establishment, in accordance with that member state's legislation, to carry out the road haulage operations for hire or reward mentioned in EEC Council Directive 62/1001 (OJ L70, 6.8.62, p 2005) Annex I points 1, 2 and 3 (as amended) must be permitted, under the conditions set out in EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) (as amended), to carry out, as the case may be, cabotage operations of the same kind or cabotage operations with vehicles in the same category: art 1(2). If the driver is a national of a non-member country, he must also hold a driver attestation in accordance with the conditions laid down in EC Council Regulation 881/92 (OJ L95, 9.4.92, p 1) (as amended): EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) art 1(2) (amended by EC Council Regulation 484/2002 (OJ L76, 19.3.2002, p 1) art 2(2)).

Permission to carry out cabotage operations, within the framework of the types of carriage referred to in EEC Council Directive 62/1001 (OJ L70, 6.8.62, p 2005) Annex I point 5 (as amended), must be unrestricted: EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) art 1(3). Any undertaking entitled in the member state of establishment, in accordance with that member state's legislation, to carry out road haulage operations for own account must be permitted to carry out cabotage operations on own account as defined in EEC Council Directive 62/1001 (OJ L70, 6.8.62, p 2005) Annex I point 4 (as amended): EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) art 1(4). Any such undertakings are entitled to receive the cabotage authorisations referred to in art 2 (amended by EC Council Regulation 3315/94 (OJ L350, 21.12.94, p 9)) under the same conditions as undertakings performing road haulage operations for hire or reward: EC Commission Regulation 792/94 (OJ L92, 9.4.94, p 13) laying down detailed rules for the application of EC Council Regulation 3118/93 (OJ L279, 12.11.93, p 1) to road haulage operators on own account, art 1. The authorities of the member state where the cabotage operation is carried out must consider the cabotage authorisations as sufficient evidence that the undertaking is entitled to carry out road haulage operations on own account, as defined in EEC Council Directive 62/1001 (OJ L70, 6.8.62, p 2005) (as amended) Annex I point 4: EC Commission Regulation 792/94 (OJ L92, 9.4.94, p 13) art 2.

INTERNATIONAL ROAD TRAFFIC/(6) INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS/1660. Legislation implementing international conventions.

1660. Legislation implementing international conventions.

Certain statutory provisions give the force of law in the United Kingdom to certain international conventions in the transport field. In respect of road transport, the Carriage of Goods by Road Act 1965 gives the force of law to the Convention on the Contract for the International Carriage of Goods by Road ('CMR')<sup>1</sup>. This convention establishes the contract conditions for international carriage.

The International Carriage of Perishable Foodstuffs Act 1976 implements the Agreement on the International Carriage of Perishable Foodstuffs and on the Special Equipment to be Used for such Carriage ('ATP')<sup>2</sup>. Regulations prescribe the standards for transport equipment to be used for such carriage, the foodstuffs which are perishable foodstuffs, the temperature limits, the transport equipment to be used for different foodstuffs, and provide for exemptions and examination and testing<sup>3</sup>. Provision is also made for enforcement and penalties<sup>4</sup>.

1 See the Convention on the Contract for the International Carriage of Goods by Road (Geneva, 19 May 1956; TS 90 (1967); Cmd 3455) ('CMR'). The convention is known by its acronym CMR, taken from its French title 'Convention relative au Contrat de Transport International de Marchandises par Route'. The convention is in English and French and the two texts have equal status: see art 51. Whilst only the English text is given the force of law in the United Kingdom (see the Carriage of Goods by Road Act 1965 s 1), it is appropriate to have regard to the French text whenever the English text is unclear: see James Buchanan & Co Ltd v Babco Forwarding and Shipping (UK) Ltd [1978] AC 141, [1977] 3 All ER 1048, HL. See further CARRIAGE AND CARRIERS vol 7 (2008) PARA 650 et seq.

TRANSPORT OF RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES AND MATERIALS/1661. Power to make regulations relating to transport of radioactive material by road.

20. TRANSPORT OF RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES AND MATERIALS

1661. Power to make regulations relating to transport of radioactive material by road.

Under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991, the Secretary of State may make such regulations as appear to him to be necessary or expedient: (1) to prevent any injury to health, or any damage to property or to the environment, being caused by, or by any incident arising out of, the transport of radioactive material<sup>2</sup>; and (2) to give effect to such international regulations for the safe transport of radioactive material as may from time to time be published by the International Atomic Energy Agency<sup>3</sup>. Without prejudice to the generality of the enabling power, such regulations may make particular provision with respect to: (a) the design of packaging for radioactive material and the manufacture and maintenance of packaging components<sup>4</sup>; (b) the preparation, labelling, consignment, handling, transport, storage in transit and delivery of radioactive packages<sup>5</sup>; (c) the placarding of vehicles used to transport such packages<sup>6</sup>; and (d) the keeping of records and the furnishing of information<sup>7</sup>.

Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with regulations made under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 is guilty of an offence<sup>8</sup>.

Provision was made for regulations made under earlier legislation<sup>9</sup> to have effect as if made under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991<sup>10</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 236 ante. As to the transfer of certain functions of the Secretary of State, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers see PARA 237 ante.

2 Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 2(1)(a). 'Transport' for these purposes means transport by road: s 1(2). 'Radioactive material' means any material having a specific activity in excess of 70 kilobecquerels per kilogram or such lesser specific activity as may be specified in an order made by the Secretary of State: s 1(1). The power to make regulations, or an order under s 1(1), is exercisable by statutory instrument which is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: ss 1(1), 2(5). For such an order see the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) (Definition of Radioactive Material) Order 2002, SI 2002/1092, specifying 0.1 kilobecquerels per kilogram as the specific activity for the purposes of the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 1(1) (see the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) (Definition of Radioactive Material) Order 2002, SI 2002/1092, art 2).

The Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1573 (see PARA 1663 post) have been made under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 2 to the extent necessary to revoke the regulations that had been previously made under s 2.

3 Ibid s 2(1)(b). As to the International Atomic Energy Agency see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(3) (2007 Reissue) PARA 1354.

4 Ibid s 2(2)(a). 'Packaging', in relation to radioactive material which has been consigned for transport, means an assembly of packaging components which encloses the material completely: s 1(2). 'Packaging components' means components intended for use as part of the packaging of such material, and includes: (1) receptacles, absorbent materials, spacing structures and radiation shielding; and (2) devices for cooling, for absorbing mechanical shocks and for thermal insulation: s 1(2).

5 Ibid s 2(2)(b). 'Radioactive package' means a package comprising radioactive material which has been consigned for transport and its packaging: s 1(2).

6 Ibid s 2(2)(c).

7 Ibid s 2(2)(d). As from a day to be appointed, s 2(2)(d) is substituted, and s 2(2)(e), (f) are added, by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 57(1), (2). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As from the appointed day, head (d) in the text is substituted so that regulations may make provision for the keeping of records and the production, inspection, removal, retention and copying of records and other documents (see the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 2(2)(d) (as so substituted)); and new heads are added providing that regulations may provide for the provision of information and the answering of questions (including the making of declarations as to the truth of answers and their admissibility in evidence), and for the provision of facilities and assistance in connection with the carrying out of functions conferred by the regulations (see s 2(2)(e), (f) (as so added)).

Regulations may also: (1) impose requirements by reference to the approval of the Secretary of State or of any person or body specified in the regulations; (2) make different provision for different cases or circumstances; and (3) provide for such exceptions, limitations and conditions, and make such supplementary, incidental, consequential or transitional provisions, as the Secretary of State considers necessary or expedient: s 2(3). As from a day to be appointed, regulations may also make provision for the imposition of requirements by inspectors and examiners: s 2(3)(za) (added by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 57(3)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

8 Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 2(4). Section 2(4) is amended by the Road Safety Act 2006 s 57(4), as from a day to be appointed, to the effect that for 'fails to comply with regulations' there is substituted 'fails to comply with any requirement imposed by or by virtue of regulations'. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. Any person guilty of an offence under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 s 2(4) is liable: (1) on conviction on indictment, to a fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to both; or (2) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two months or to both: s 6(3). As to the statutory maximum see PARA 359 note 11 ante. The court by or before which any person is convicted of such an offence in respect of any radioactive material may order the material to be destroyed or disposed of and any expenses reasonably incurred in connection with the destruction or disposal to be defrayed by that person: s 6(4).

1662. Appointment and powers of inspectors and examiners.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may appoint as inspectors, to assist him in the execution of the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991 and regulations made under it<sup>2</sup>, such number of persons appearing to him to be qualified for the purpose as he may consider necessary<sup>3</sup>; and he may make to or in respect of any person so appointed such payments by way of remuneration, allowances or otherwise as he may with the Treasury's approval determine<sup>4</sup>.

If it appears to an inspector<sup>5</sup> or examiner<sup>6</sup>, as respects any vehicle used to transport radioactive packages<sup>7</sup>: (1) that the vehicle, or any radioactive package which is being transported by it, fails to comply with any relevant regulations<sup>8</sup>; or (2) that the vehicle, or any radioactive package which is being transported by it, has been involved in an accident<sup>9</sup>; or (3) that any radioactive package which was being transported by the vehicle, or any radioactive material<sup>10</sup> which was contained in such a package, has been lost or stolen<sup>11</sup>, he may prohibit the driving of the vehicle<sup>12</sup>.

If it appears to an inspector that any radioactive package or packaging component fails to comply with any relevant regulations, he may prohibit the transport<sup>13</sup> of that package or, as the case may require, the use of that component as part of the packaging<sup>14</sup> of radioactive materials<sup>15</sup>.

Any such prohibition may apply either absolutely or for a specified purpose and either without any limitation of time or for a specified period<sup>16</sup>. Such a prohibition comes into force as soon as notice of it has been given and continues in force until it is removed<sup>17</sup> or, in the case of a prohibition imposed only for a specified period, until either it is removed or that period expires, whichever occurs first<sup>18</sup>.

If an inspector is of the opinion that any person is failing or is likely to fail to comply with any regulations which make provision for regulating the manufacture, or requiring the maintenance, of packaging components, he may serve a notice on that person: (a) stating that the inspector is of that opinion; (b) specifying the matters constituting the failure to comply with the regulations in question or making it likely that such a failure will occur; and (c) specifying the steps which must be taken in order to remedy those matters and the period within which these steps must be taken<sup>19</sup>.

Any person who contravenes a prohibition, or fails to comply with such a notice, is guilty of an offence<sup>20</sup>.

On producing, if so required, some duly authenticated document showing his authority, an inspector or examiner has a right at all reasonable hours: (i) to enter any vehicle used to transport radioactive packages for the purpose of ascertaining: (A) whether the vehicle, or any radioactive package which is being transported by it, fails to comply with any regulations<sup>21</sup>; (B) whether the vehicle, or any radioactive package which is or was being transported by it, has been involved in an accident; and (c) whether any radioactive package which was being transported by the vehicle, or any radioactive material which was contained in such a package, has been lost or stolen<sup>22</sup>; and (ii) in the case of an inspector, to enter any premises for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is on the premises any vehicle used for transporting radioactive packages, or any radioactive package or packaging component which fails to comply with regulations<sup>23</sup>. An inspector or examiner who enters any vehicle or premises by virtue of these provisions<sup>24</sup> may seize anything which he has reasonable grounds for believing is evidence in relation to an offence of contravening or failing to comply with regulations<sup>25</sup>. Any person who intentionally obstructs any person exercising any power conferred by these provisions<sup>26</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>27</sup>. If any person who enters any vehicle or premises by virtue of these provisions<sup>28</sup> discloses any information thereby obtained with respect to any manufacturing process or trade secret, he is, unless the disclosure was made in the performance of his duty, guilty of an offence<sup>29</sup>.

When an inspector or examiner imposes a prohibition under s 3(1) or (2) (see the text and notes 13-15 infra) he must forthwith give notice of the prohibition to the person in charge of the vehicle, package or packaging component specifying the failure to comply or, as the case may be, the accident or other incident in consequence of which the prohibition is imposed and: (1) stating whether the prohibition applies absolutely or for a specified purpose (and if the latter specifying the purpose); and (2) stating whether the prohibition applies without limitation of time or for a specified period; and any direction under s 3(4) may be given either in such a notice or in a separate notice given to the person in charge of the vehicle: s 3(5). TRANSPORT OF RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES AND MATERIALS/1663. The Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2007.

1663. The Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2007.

The Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Regulations 2002<sup>1</sup>, made under the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Act 1991<sup>2</sup>, have been revoked and replaced by the Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2007<sup>3</sup>, which also replace the Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2004<sup>4</sup>. The new regulations are much wider in scope than the Radioactive Material (Road Transport) Regulations 2002, dealing with the carriage of dangerous goods generally rather than radioactive material specifically, and applying to carriage by rail, as well as by road<sup>5</sup>. Provision is made for exceptions and derogations from the regulations<sup>6</sup>.

The Carriage of Dangerous Goods and Use of Transportable Pressure Equipment Regulations 2007 make provision as to who is the competent authority for the purposes of the regulations<sup>7</sup>, and as to the functions of that authority<sup>8</sup>, and for the making of appointments by that authority<sup>9</sup>.

The regulations impose requirements contained within ADR<sup>10</sup> and RID<sup>11</sup>. In addition to general requirements<sup>12</sup>, there are requirements relating to classification<sup>13</sup>; the dangerous goods list, special provisions and goods packed in limited quantities<sup>14</sup>; packing and tank provisions<sup>15</sup>; consignment procedures<sup>16</sup>; construction and testing<sup>17</sup>; carriage, loading, unloading and handling<sup>18</sup>; vehicle crews, equipment, operation and documentation<sup>19</sup>; and the construction and approval of vehicles<sup>20</sup>. The regulations also impose certain requirements that are additional or alternative to the requirements of ADR and RID<sup>21</sup>. These include requirements relating to the carriage of explosives (and, in some cases, certain goods) by road and rail<sup>22</sup>; the marshalling and formation of trains<sup>23</sup>; the keeping of information<sup>24</sup>; and placarding requirements for carriage within Great Britain<sup>25</sup>.

Provision is made as to the enforcement of the regulations<sup>26</sup>. The regulations provide a defence to any proceedings for an offence consisting of a contravention of the regulations for a person who can prove that the commission of the offence was due to the act or default of another person (not being one of his employees) and that he took all reasonable precautions and exercised all due diligence to avoid the commission of the offence<sup>27</sup>.
